Large And Capable Field In Historic Cesarewitch

Thirty-Odd Handicap Horses of Varying Experience Will Race in 88th Renewal of Hard Race, England's Best Autumn Handicap.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Next Wednesday, Oct. 15, over the Cesarewitch Course of 2 1/4 miles at Newmarket, a large field of the best English and French "stayers" will race in the 88th renewal of the Cesarewitch Stakes, the greatest autumn handicap of the English turf.

The invasion of French thoroughbreds, always dangerous in this great "doubtful race" as it is ever in the race next week, is the highest and second highest handicaps have been allotted to continental racers: Asterode 11 and Tricard. The former, noted as a very fine stayer, is to carry 128 lbs. Tricard's burden of 123 is equal to that of the best English colt owned by Sir Joel, and at present the favorite. Forseti, winner last year, will shoulder 125 pounds, and Vermilion 122. Two more French horses, Trac 11, and The Wolf, are high up in the table, with 121 each.

MANY HORSES ELIGIBLE Altogether 97 horses are eligible, and at least one third of this number will race the barrier on Wednesday. Large fields are the rule in this famous race, and the record is 37 starters, in 1892. Last year 33 ran, and the year before 34.

Besides those candidates meriting consideration on the handicap, there are several others who are regarded as serious contenders for Cesarewitch honors. Aga Khan's colt, in at 100 pounds; Motley, second last year; Confirmation, third last year; Lancogays, second in the Derby; Tournesol, Hildenis and Kyra, all experienced handicap horses.

An indication of the openness of the race this year is the fact that Glommen is the favorite at no better than 14 to one against in the advance betting lists. F. J. Try Again, winner of the Newbury Autumn Cup a few days ago, had been allotted the extremely low impost of 85 pounds, and this will not be much affected by his victory in the big Newbury event. Savernake is another lightweight with Cesarewitch aspirations. He was unplaced in the running last year, but third in 1924.

The Cesarewitch Stakes has been run without interruption since 1893, when it was established and named after the then heir to the Russian throne. The course, named after the race, is a severe test of stamina, and in this account does not attract so many of the three-year-olds, the younger horses concentrating on the Cambridge-shire, which is only half the distance.

The monetary value of the race, far outweighed by its historic significance, is in the neighborhood of $10,000, made up of stakes of 25 sovereigns each and 1,000 sovereigns added. MIDDLE PARK PLATE Another great race will be staged at the second October meeting, and with the Cesarewitch, will attract to Newmarket visitors from all over the country. This is the season's greatest races for two-year-olds. Frank Curzon's Call Boy, Lord Derby's Sickle, Sir J. Robinson's Bold Archer, and Mrs. S. Wilmshurst's Birthright appear the chief contenders. This race, besides the Criterion Stakes later, usually provides the winter favorite for the Epsom Derby. A severe loss is the sale of the Satrap, great two-year-old, to American interests on the condition that he is not to race in England in the future. His absence however, makes the two-year-old appear evenly matched.

All Hair Long Here

USHANT, Brittany, Oct. 7.—This little island claims to be the only point left in Europe wherein both men and women have long hair. All wear their hair long and down the back. Viewed from the rear it is difficult to discern among the female element, children, mothers or grand-mothers, as they all look like young girls of a generation past, when long curls were the rule.

Indian Children Well-Looked After In Federal Schools

Three-Fold Training Afforded Indian Pupils in Dominion Government's 344 Schools Nearly 15,000 Children Attend.

(Canadian Press.) OTTAWA, Oct. 8.—Nearly 15,000 Indian boys and girls are enrolled in the 344 schools under the direction of the department of Indian affairs, a departmental report notes. The department maintains in different sections of the Dominion 254 day schools, 74 residential schools and 16 combined schools. Attending the day schools are 8,242 children at the residential schools 6,327, and in the combined schools 213.

These interesting people looking directly to the Federal authorities for maintenance of their schools, receive a three-fold training. This is the inculcation of good habits, an elementary academic education and vocational instruction to fit the graduate for his or her later life. Following this general theory, the department's educational program must be prepared with a view to the particular needs of the various Indian groups, for a course of studies suitable for Indian children or reserves near Brantford or London has few points of contact with the thoughts and needs of the hunting and fishing groups north of the main line of the Canadian National Railways.

The residential schools are directly managed by the different churches under the department's constant inspection. Financial assistance is voted by Parliament. Forty of the 74 residential schools are Roman Catholic; 20 Church of England; 7 Methodist and 7 Presbyterian. Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia have the greatest number of Indian pupils, Ontario leading with 3,830. There are 2,263 in Manitoba and 2,552 in the coast province.

CAPTIVITY DOES NOT MAR POLAR BEAR'S HAPPINESS

OAKLAND, Oct. 7.—Wonder what a polar bear thinks about when he becomes listless in a public zoo? The Animal Shelter League and other civic organizations thought Wrangel, polar bear in the Oakland Municipal Zoo, was honing for a cake of ice and Arctic blasts when he seemed to be drooping. The park directors authorized a committee of five veterinarians to investigate.

BATHS OF OLD CROWN HEADS OPEN TO PARIS

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Parisians, when they take a notion to bathe, can splash around in the same baths patronized by the courtiers of Charles the Tenth, and later by the Emperor Napoleon III himself. These baths, known as the "Bains de la Seine," are towed up in front of the Chamber of Deputies. In winter they are taken down the river and out of Paris, in order to avoid the heavy stationing tax.

Built in 1801 The Deligny Baths, Turkish in design, were built between 1801 and 1803, and are among the few open Paris baths that have remained in Paris since the coming of modern plumbing. At one time it was the great fashion to bathe in the Seine, there being no fewer than thirty baths anchored in the river. The fashion of the bicycle ended the sufficient time for both sports.

The reign of Charles Tenth was the most flourishing time for the "Bains de la Seine." Only the aristocrats used them in those days. There was a surgeon and a hair-dresser always in attendance, the words "Benoit Coffeur" still being distinguishable under the coats of paint put on the walls from time to time. A restaurant had to be on the original baths in the old days, but the paintings of the old days are still to be seen on the walls.

Napoleon's Cabin

A catafalque intended, legend says, to convey the remains of the first Napoleon from Havre to Paris when his body was brought home from St. Helena, was built at the baths. But the river froze that winter, and Napoleon's body had to be brought overland from Havre. There is one cabin in the Deligny baths called the Cabin of the Emperor. That is where Napoleon lay, used to lay away the summer months. Napoleon's body had to see Deputies leave the Chamber and enter the Emperor's Cabin to put on a bathing costume.

St. Louis Team $39,000 Crew; Average 27 Years

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—The Cardinals, whose roster of 31 players cost only $39,000, are a young crew. The average age of Manager Rogers Hornsby's sluggers is 27 years.

The average age of the outfielders and infielders is a few months less than 26; that of the catchers is 28, and the pitchers less than 28. Eleven of the squad are playing their first full season in a major league, and only seven of the crew have been with the Cardinals over a span of years. The latter are Hornsby, Sherdel, Haines, Blades, Bottomley, Sotthorn and Topocor, while the eleven who are playing their initial full-year swing in the big time circuit are Pitchers Reinhart, Herman Bell, Halahan and Hart, Catchers Vick and Warwick, and Fielders Douthit, Holm, Hates, Theyenow and Flowers.

Clough tips the age beam the highest with 20 years, while Grover Cleveland Alexander, 39-year-old campaigner of many major league seasons and a Cardinal acquisition from the Chicago Cubs, is the oldest. Clough has not pitched a full inning this season on account of his inexperience.

SAYS COORDINATED CAR AND BUS SERVICE BUILDS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7.—Local transportation is being strengthened nationally by coordinated car and bus service, Frank R. Coates of New York, president of the American Electric Railway Association, told its convention here today.

The street railway has shown itself to be a necessity, but it is the duty of electric railway managers to use the bus in rendering the best form of coordinated service," he said.

Mr. Coates predicted that in the future street railway and bus riders would pay in fares only the actual cost of carrying passengers. Expenditures for plant and depreciation, he said, would be met by taxes levied on property owners. Public holdings were made more valuable by the presence of transportation lines.

Fast Arctic Patrol Made by S.S. Beothic Govt. Steamer

Established Most Northerly Police Post in World at Back Peninsula, 79 Degrees North.

(Canadian Press.) OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 8.—Establishment of the most northerly police post in the world was effected on the recent Arctic trip of the Canadian government steamer Beothic. The steamer which sailed from North Sydney, N.S., on July 15th, to patrol the Canadian Arctic archipelago and re-provision the posts in the district, carried out the operations rapidly, and the wireless apparatus kept the northwest territories and the Yukon branch of the department of the Interior in touch with her movements at all points in the patrol.

After visiting Godhavn, Greenland, and Pond Inlet and Dundas Harbour the Beothic on July 30th touched at Craig Harbor, and on August 2 called at Etah, Greenland. The next day she was at Rice Strait, Ellesmere Island, and taking up the supplies left last year at the depot at Fram Haven, reached Backe Peninsula on August 20, where a new post was established. Three days were spent here unloading supplies and assisting the detachment of police in erecting barracks. Backe Peninsula, 79 04 deg. north latitude and 76 13 deg. west longitude, is the farthest north police post, customs house, and post office in the world.

On August 9th the Beothic started on her homeward journey, and reached Dundas on August 13, and Pangnirtung on August 20. After a good run southward from that post she reached North Sydney on August 29.

Early Symptoms Of Tuberculosis

Tuberculosis begins in different ways. Usually the beginning is gradual. The patient develops a slight cough, often, but not always in the morning, which will not yield to treatment. A cough that lasts more than three weeks should be regarded as suspicious. A chronic cough with spitting lasting for years, even though it has never made its owner sick, is very suspicious.

Often, however, long before a cough appears there are other symptoms which warn us, and of these none is more common than an unexplained sense of tiredness, exhaustion or weariness, coming on without any good reason. This is often supposed to be only laziness, or is ascribed to "malaria," "nervous prostration," or "other conditions." It usually comes on in the afternoon between 2 and 6 o'clock, and may be accompanied by flushed cheeks, bright eyes and feverishness. Often the patient will wake up just as tired as he went to sleep. Just as with the cough, persistent weariness should cause you to consult your doctor.

Again, a long-continued hoarseness is suspicious. An important symptom of the trouble is a steady and unexplained loss of weight, and this should always excite one's thought. A very suggestive early sign is loss of appetite or persistent indigestion or "stomach trouble." The indigestion may have lasted for years and when a new sort of treatment, and when a cough appears, it is spoken of as "stomach cough." The only safe way is to have a careful physician investigate why you are having indigestion and why you cough. Frequently the trouble begins with a slight blood-spitting, which may not be followed for a long time by the development of real trouble, and where the doctor can find no changes in the lungs; but such blood-spitting or blood-streaked sputum, is practically always a sign of tuberculosis and must never be neglected or explained away without a long and careful study of the case.

Night sweats will at times be the first symptoms, but they are usually preceded for a long time by other symptoms. A persistent pain in the chest, especially in the shoulder, should be carefully investigated, and not passed off as "rheumatism" or "neuralgia," as at times it is the first manifestation of a tuberculous pleurisy of the top of the lung. An attack of pleurisy is sooner or later followed by tuberculosis in a large percentage of cases and calls for a careful watching of the after life of the patient.

Fever is usually an early symptom, and the thermometer will often show that while the temperature is normal, or below normal in the morning, in the afternoon it rises from a degree to a degree and a half. Usually after the cough has lasted a little while, some sputum must never fail to be examined carefully, and often under the microscope by the local or Provincial Board of Health, or by your doctor. If the germs are found, it is certain that you have trouble, but remember that even if they are not found, the disease may be present, for the germs are often absent from the sputum for a long time.

DON'T WAIT UNTIL IT IS TOO LATE

Any or all of these symptoms are suspicious and should cause you to consult a careful doctor. If you cannot get to a doctor, or you are pretty safe in taking it for granted that when a person has a persistent, slight cough, with loss of weight, appetite and strength, with probably some tiredness and possibly some slight sweating, he has the beginnings of this disease.

EARLY DISCOVERY THE GREAT ESSENTIAL

Unfortunately, many doctors do not give special attention to this disease and overlook it until too late, or mistake it for other things, especially "grippe," "the chronic cold," "malaria," "stomach trouble" and "nervous prostration" holler.
