TORONTO BROKE ITS OWN BY-LAW

TORONTO, March 22—The discovery has been made by the civic works committee that the city has been violating its own smoke bye-law. The board of control, in its anxiety to make the tax rate 17 mills, allowed the use of soft coal at the high level pumping station. It costs $10,000 a year more to use hard coal but this will be done. A number of manufacturers have been fined for breaking the smoke by-law.

EXPLORER'S SAD CIRCUMSTANCE.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., March 24.—Dr Axton, a personal friend of Dr. Fredk Cook, has received a letter from Mrs Cook, dated Valparaiso, in which she says that the explorer is broken in health, without funds, and unable to continue the fight to establish his claim that he discovered the Pole.

Your Name is Worth Money to this Province

By placing your name on the below coupon and having other voters do likewise you are putting money in the pockets of every Provincialist— you are opening the door to the very best class of tourists—you are encouraging home industry, and this Province in general will reap the benefits one hundred fold.

We want the motor vehicle, civilization calls for it—industry demands it and every person will approve of it.

Every land under the sun has the motor vehicle—they are indispensible to the farmer, the merchant, the minister, the doctor and the common workman. The prices place them within reach of every person—a motor vehicle is a horse you don't have to feed or care for—one that's ready any time you are, and its the cheapest in the end

Every up-to-date land has motor vehicles—they have come to stay, and why should the "Garden of the Gulf" trail behind.

We want an amendment to the motor vehicle, Prohibitory Act, and substituting therefor a proper regulating measure—regulations that will appeal to every provincialist. Every person who desires to see this Province on equal footing with the rest of the civilized world should fill in this coupon and have as many other voters do likewise as possible.

The Legislative Assembly is now in session and every day counts. If you mean to do a service for your country, to-day is the day—right now please.

Coupons previously collected don't count, so that we want every legal voter to send in his coupon right away, and you will do a service for your country that will never be forgotten.

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY

claims could be finally handled at this conference. He read a letter to the Lieutenant Governor asking that the Province be represented at such conference.

MR. MATHIESON said he was informed Premier Hazen and the Attorney General of New Brunswick were to attend the conference and thought it was a pity that no arrangements had been made towards having the Province represented. The matter, he said, was liable to be of more importance than the letter received would indicate.

Hon. Mr. Hughes and Mr. McKinnon continued the debate briefly.

HON. MR. CUMMISKEY, replying further to a petition from inhabitants of Arlington or Bayside, said the matter would be attended to.

It was moved that the bill respecting the Island Cold Storage Bonds be read a third time.

MR. PROWSE submitted a resolution, seconded by Mr. McKinnon, as follows: That the third reading of the said bill be discharged and that the bill be recommitted for the purpose of being amended so as to provide that in case the company shall at any time during the continuance of the said guarantee fail or neglect to supply to the people of this Province proper cold storage accommodation at reasonable rates in conformity with the terms of said agreement, then the Governor-in-Council shall have power to declare the said mortgage due and payable and may proceed to realize upon the security of the said mortgage in the same manner as if default had been made in payment of the interest secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. That in case of default of the company to perform its part of the said agreement penalties should be provided and action therefor given to the parties aggrieved.

A discussion ensued as to whether or not the amendment should be put, after which the Speaker allowed the amendment to be voted on, which was lost by 13 to 11.

MR. MATHIESON claimed that the procedure followed was unparliamentary and unconstitutional and supported this contention by quoting from several authorities on Parliamentary procedure. He moved the following resolution, seconded by Mr. Wyatt: That the order for the third reading of the said bill be cancelled upon the following grounds: That the said bill provides by way of guarantee for a contingent or prospective charge upon the public revenue of the Province. That the said bill should have been introduced on the recommendation of the Lieutenant Governor on behalf of the Crown sanctioned by a resolution of the House in committee of the whole. That no such leave has been granted and no such resolution passed and in the absence thereof the proceedings on the said bill are unconstitutional and void.

On motion, the debate was adjourned at one o'clock to meet again Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock.

WAS NAPOLEON'S CABIN BOY.

SYDNEY, March 24—There is a man in a Sydney (New South Wales) institution, presided over by the French Sisters of the Little Company of Mary, who will be 106 years of age on March 26 next. His name is William Johnstone, and—writes our Sydney correspondent—in 1815 he was cabin boy in H. M. S. Northumberland, the British warship that took Napoleon to St. Helena. For a considerable time afterwards he remained on the island as one of the personal attendants of the fallen Emperor.

GENERAL PICKETT'S WIDOW TO DESCRIBE GETTYSBURG AT KEITH'S,

When it was announced a week ago that Mrs La Salle Corbell Pickett, widow of General George E. Pickett, who led the famous charge at Gettysburg, had been engaged by B. F. Keith to appear in the houses on his circuit, the news spread from one end of the country to the other, and everywhere the question was asked, "What is she going to do?" This was invariably followed by another question when it was remembered that it is more than 45 years since the Civil war, but those who know history remembered that Mrs Pickett was at that time known as the "Child Bride of the Confederacy," and no person living to-day has perhaps had a wider acquaintance with public men before and after the war, and few women are better known than Mrs. Pickett. For she has been a frequent contributor to the magazines, has written a number of books including "Pickett and His Men," and during the past few years has been delivering a lecture on the battle of Gettysburg which has attracted wide spread attention. In fact, it has been proclaimed the most graphic description of a battle ever delivered and on her recent tour she broke all records as a lecturer. Mrs. Pickett will make her vaudeville debut at Keith's theatre in Boston on Monday, March 28th, and will describe the charge that made her husband famous. On her opening night Governor Draper, Mayor Fitzgerald, officers of the G. A. R., and a host of public personages will be present to welcome her to Boston. Other features of the bill will be Theodore Friebus, late of the Castle Square stock company in a sketch "Charley Case, Williams and Van Aylstyne, and Gardner and Mrs Crane.

OUR WOODEN WAYS.

The Editor:

Sir:—Ever since Charlottetown became incorporated—fifty-five years ago—we had wooden side-walks. At first they were few and far apart, but year after year more were laid until at present the wooden walk is as familiar as a rubber shoe.

The first walk I remember seeing in Charlottetown was one in front of Mammy Carrol's place of business on Queen Street. It consisted of a single hemlock plank, two inches thick, eight inches wide and twelve feet long. It was laid parallel with the street. Not long after this James Duncan went one better and laid two planks side by side; and other citizens, seeing the benefit to be derived from keeping out of the mud, and following the example of these good citizens, went and did likewise.

The "city fathers" soon took the matter in hand and the wooden walk from this small beginning has grown and thrived. We have now Granolithic side-walks, and we feel good in consequence, but the wooden side-walks of the James Duncan pattern is still with us—put down in the same old way. Years ago I wondered why Charlottetown was called "Sleepy Hollow." In those days we were very much more isolated than we are today and that epithet should not now apply to this bright city.

When I am out for a walk on the broad, well kept streets of Charlottetown, breathing the pure air of heaven, and feeling in the happy mood of silently talking to myself, I ask the question, "How long will it be until we adopt the more modern way of cutting our planks into short lengths and laying them at right angles to the street?" I did say sometime ago, in talking to a friend, that Charlottetown was the only city or town in America that had its wooden side-walks built after the "Carrol-Duncan" pattern, except Pictou; but I found out since, that even Pictou had forsaken the old plan of laying plank walks, and I am now afraid that Charlottetown stands alone on the continent of America as a city slow in following the multitude, in this regard, at least.

Let us look this matter square in the face and see if there is any benefit to be derived from adopting the ways of the world. At first thought I would feel like saying that planks laid lengthwise or parallel with the street was the proper way and there is certainly some difficulty in convincing one that the other method is more lasting, easier laid, and better in every particular.

Did any keen observer notice how difficult it was to wheel a baby-carriage along our wooden walks? If he has, did he ever think of a way to keep the narrow-tired wheel from getting between the seams. The planks laid crosswise or at right angles to the street would remedy this trouble most effectually. It may be said that this is but a small matter and while I admit that babies are small things, they are the very made.

Then another reason why the long plank laid lengthwise is not so preferable, is, on account of it having to be butted to another, and both ends being laid together upon a sleeper or tie decays sooner at the ends than at other parts, on account of retaining the moisture, and the whole plank becomes useless in a very few years.

And then again the short planks are more easily laid, for, on account of being laid crosswise, there is no time lost in selecting widths to make the walk of an uniform breadth.

There are other reasons why the old pattern sidewalk should be discarded, but my letter is long enough, and, by way of concluding, I will venture the assertion that the short-plank side-walk with the planks laid at right angles to the street will last in good condition, at least two years longer than the universally discarded way, still in use in Charlottetown.

Apologizing for troubling you, I am,

Yours truly,
MARTHA.

HOW TO LIVE.

In this age of modern improvement, the best part of our time living in steam heated houses, and offices, the fact is altogether lost sight of that a complete change of diet is necessary, if we would keep up the normal health of the body.

The diet that was an absolute necessity to our forefathers, working most of their time in the open, is to the average city man of today, slow poison.

As the summer advances, it is conceded by most every one of average intelligence, that a change of food is conducive to health, but the fact is altogether forgotten that we are living the most of our time in a summer temperature, and in consequence should adapt ourselves to the existing circumstances.

In the "good old summer time" we all partake largely of fruits and green vegetables, why? partly because we know they are good for us, and again nature takes away our appetite for stronger foods.

The Americans are the most adeptative people in the world, thousands of acres of glass are used for the forcing of green vegetables such as lettuce, radish, cucumbers, dandelions, spinach, tomatoes, strawberries, etc. The home product commanding highest prices, besides thousands of cars of southern fruits and vegetables are rushed north in midwinter, bringing fancy prices, it is not our intention at this time to deliver a lecture but we would impress this one fact upon all intelligent thinking people, and it is this, the average city man's bill of fare should consist at least once a day of a liberal share of some green vegetables and fruits, winter and summer.

We might just say, we have for our Easter trade a liberal supply of lettuce, radish, cress, parsley, cucumbers, celery in limited quantities a full stock of beets, cabbage, carrots, parsnips, onions, potatoes, turnips, apples, oranges and lemons etc. Will be open Easter Saturday market, until 10 at night.
