

Triple Tragedy Narrowly Averted

Further details of the drowning on Dec. 31, of Mr. Edmund Perry are given in the following despatch from Shediac:

Edmund Perry, aged 22 and unmarried, son of Joseph Perry, of Alberton, P.E.I., was drowned at noon today in Shediac Bay about one mile and a half north of Shediac wharf, and two others, Maurice Perry and James McWheneey, first cousins of the deceased, both of Alberton, were saved by the heroism of Wilfred Pettipas, and Fred Gallant and Harold Pettipas, Pt. du Chene, Edward Pellerin and Dominique Fougere, both of Shediac. All are smelt fishermen. The Alberton trio have come to Point du Chene each year to fish smelts. The Alberton fisherman left Point du Chene shortly before noon to attend nets which had been set near Little Shediac Island and about a mile from the Shediac Cape shore. Suddenly all three went through the rapidly softening ice, during a streaming incoming tide, into five feet of water. At the time nobody was nearer than three quarters of a mile. Edmund Perry went to the bottom and the others managed to hold on to the thin ice and called for aid.

NARROW ESCAPE—Last night about 10 o'clock a fatal drowning accident almost occurred while John Webster, Ambrose Mitchell and Son's were crossing the East River with over a ton of smelts on a sleigh, which they were pushing across the ice. When nearing the channel the ice gave way, without any warning, the sleigh, load and all, went crashing through the ice. The boys who were pushing on the back of the sleigh went down into the icy water with the load. With the aid of a piece of rope, John Webster carried, both boys were quickly brought to the surface without serious results, except a good ducking in the icy water of the East River.

BEDEQUE

The special opening skate of the season, was held last Tuesday evening in the Central Bedeque rink, and was attended by a very large crowd of skaters, who came from Summerside, Freetown, Wilmot, Cape Traverse, to join in the delightful recreation.

The many friends of Mrs. George Schurman of New Annan, regretted very much to learn of her unfortunate accident, last Friday, when she fell and fractured her collar bone. She is much improved.

The election of officers, for the ensuing year then took place as follows: President, Mrs. A. S. MacCaull, Treasurer Mrs. Archie Stavert, Secretary, Mrs. Clark MacQuarrie. Two new members were cordially received. Discussions took place on the winter's program and some good ideas were received for making the necessary funds for the year. The gentlemen then joined the ladies in a very pleasant social hour. Later, in the evening, a delicious lunch was served by the ladies. All departed for their respective homes, after a very pleasant evening.

The many friends of Mr. Austin Cameron will regret to hear of his serious illness.

The opening hockey game of the season was played in the Central Bedeque rink last Friday evening, when the Bedeque Team played an exhibition fixture, with their old rivals the Cape Traverse team. Both teams put up a splendid struggle, the latter holding the game at intervals and thus winning a victory. It will be remembered that the Cape Traverse Bloodhounds were the Intermediate Champions, last season, and they still keep up their good work. This being the first work-out for the boys, they were not as active as will be seen later in the season. A fair crowd attended this game and a good sheet of ice was available.

The many friends of Miss Mary Dobson of Fernwood will regret to hear of her indisposition.

Mr. Bernard Croken of Charlottetown spent the holiday with relatives and friends in Freetown and vicinity.—B.

Sponsors Railway Bill

Convinced that the interests of the colony would be benefited by the construction of a railway connecting Charlottetown and Summerside in the first instance, but later to be extended to Alberton and Georgetown, he directed all his energies towards getting a bill passed by the Legislature authorizing the construction of this work.

Aided by a small band of ardent supporters, of whom J. G. (later Senator) Carvell was one of the most active, he successfully strove to enlist public sympathy. After a bitter struggle, in which feeling ran high, the bill was passed, but owing to difficulties arising from the diverse interests affected thereby, his government was defeated in 1872 after the famous six days' session. Having obtained a dissolution from the Lieutenant-Governor, a general election took place, at

Noted Statesman's Career Recalled In Death Of Miss Pope

The death on Sunday in Charlottetown of Miss Florence Pope is a reminder to many older people in this Province of the stirring events leading up to Confederation, in which Miss Pope's father, the late Hon. Joseph C. Pope, took a leading part. Other members of the family who predeceased Miss Pope were her sister, Miss Lucy, who died in England; her brothers Mr. Percy Pope, who for many years held the position of Assistant Receiver General at Charlottetown, and Mr. George Pope, formerly of the Finance Department, Ottawa, and later a member of the Provincial Legislature under the Bell Government. Mr. Colledge Pope, another brother, removed to Regina in the early days of the Northwest development, accumulated a substantial fortune in real estate and subsequently moved to California.

With Miss Pope's grandfather, the Hon. Joseph Pope, originated the proposal of erecting the present Provincial Building. He was also instrumental in bringing in the Road Compensation Act and united with Coles and Whelan in their struggle to obtain responsible government and in furthering the passage of the "Free Education Act." Under responsible government Hon. Mr. Pope held a seat in the government of Coles and Whelan. Subsequently he filled the positions of Provincial Treasurer and Dominion Auditor. The latter office he held until 1883, when, owing to the burden of advancing years, he applied for superannuation. He died at Charlottetown on Sept. 3, 1895.

Hon. Joseph C. Pope

The following sketch of the career of the late Miss Pope's father is from "Past and Present in Prince Edward Island."

James Colledge Pope, second son of the Hon. Joseph Pope, was born at Bedeque on June 11, 1826. When he reached the age of fourteen his father sent him home to Plymouth to attend school, and on his return gave him a place in his business at Bedeque. When the California gold fever broke out in 1849 he became affected and joined the party of adventurers who embarked for that place on the brig "Fanny." Shortly after his arrival he contracted "camp fever" and narrowly escaped with his life. He returned home to recuperate and again engaged in the shipping business, at first in association with his father, later on his own account. He first established himself at Green's Shore, the site of the present town of Summerside, of which he was the pioneer founder. In 1857 he entered political life, being elected for the Bedeque district, defeating the Hon. W. W. Lord, Commissioner of Public Lands in the Coles administration. He was again returned at the two general elections of 1858 and 1859, and upon the change of government accepted a seat in the Executive Council under the leadership of the Hon. Edward Palmer. At the next general election in 1863 he was re-elected and continued a member of the new government under the leadership of Hon. Colonel Grey until 1865, when he was called upon to form an administration. In this he succeeded and remained at the head of the government until March, 1867, when he resigned and did not offer for re-election. Having espoused the Roman Catholic minority on the school question, he in 1869 contested the Fifth District of Prince County, but was defeated. At the general election of 1870 he was again returned from Bedeque, and upon the 10th of September of that year became leader of the "Coalition Government."

While taking so prominent a part on the political stage, Mr. Pope was even more actively engaged in mercantile pursuits. A large shipowner, there was scarcely any line of business carried on in the Province in which he was not actively engaged, endeavoring to himself do the work of half a dozen men. When the hard times of 1876-1880 set in, which in his case were accentuated by heavy losses at sea and by fire, he, though a man of magnificent physique, gave way under the strain.

Retiring from public life, he lingered on until May 18, 1885, when he passed away deeply regretted.

SERMON ON CONSECRATION OF THE CHURCH

"Consecration of the Church," was the subject of an inspiring and thought-provoking sermon delivered by Rev. W. L. Outhouse in Zion Church last evening at the second service in the Week of Prayer. The church auditorium was well filled, and the congregation joined heartily in the singing. Other clergymen taking part in the service were Rev. G. C. Webster, Rev. Dr. E. H. Ramsay, Rev. R. M. Legate, Rev. C. N. Brown, Rev. H. D. Raymond and Rev. Dr. A. C. Vincent and Adjutant Kimmins. Mrs. Arthur Roper rendered a solo in fine voice.

In his sermon Mr. Outhouse made reference to the definition of consecration as given by Mr. Raymond on the previous night to the effect of "Making one holy together with God." The text was Romans 12: 1, 2. "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God that you present your bodies a living sacrifice wholly acceptable unto God which is your reasonable service; and be ye not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind that you may prove what is the good and acceptable and perfect will of God." Saintliness was mentioned as one of the outgrowths of consecration. The Church as a collective group of saints could not be thought of apart from consecration. The very name of the Church made consecration imperative absolute self-surrender. Every sin was directly traceable to selfishness. There was no place for selfishness in the consecrated church, and there was no room for comparative consecration, for it was not comparative consecration that would save the world. One should not be satisfied with being as good as some other person.

In conclusion the tremendous responsibility of the consecrated life was stressed, and reference was made to the various implications of consecration. To consecrate meant to slay or offer a victim, and that victim was one's own sinful self. Consecration meant to appoint to a religious use, to accept a burden. The extent of the consecration in the churches was dependent upon the extent in which one might measure up to all the strong implications.

A letter from Rev. Sister M. Paula of the City Hospital thanking the League for their splendid donation of $200.00 towards the Social Service work, was read. The President reported that a letter of thanks was sent to the K. of C. for their continued generosity in giving us the use of their Council Chamber to carry on the many branches of our work.

A report of the work of the St. Zita Society was favorably commented on and still further progress is looked for. The Collegiate Club which meets every Saturday evening was reported as carrying on successfully with an average attendance of about 80. During the Christmas season they sent a case of oranges to the Provincial Sanatorium for the patients.

Plans were made for a hot turkey dinner to be served in Holy Name Hall the third week in January, the proceeds to be used for charitable purposes. Committee were formed to take charge of the work.

Tickets for the lottery on a piano are being quickly disposed of and the drawing will take place when all the books are sold. At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served, after which adjournment was made.
