IDEAL WEATHER FOR THE SECOND DAYS RACING

Peter The Tramp Captures 3-year-old. Helen Aubrey Takes The 2.30 Pace. Mac Cresceus Makes it Three Straight in The 2.25. Best Time of The Day to Helen Aubrey, 2.17 1-4. Thousands Spend A Splendid Day at The Grounds And See Close Racing.

Thousands came in from far and near to visit the Charlottetown Exhibition grounds for the third day of the fair and the second days horse racing.

The weather was all that could be desired and had the necessary effort to stimulate a greater feeling of goodwill to everybody and gave the people more heart to go out and enjoy themselves, which they did. Those who did not get out on time or were not interested in the racing were afforded a splendid opportunity of finding good pastime and amusement on the outer grounds, and in the main building or viewing the large exhibit of live stock.

In this way everybody's time was fully occupied from the time they entered the gates until they left again and all seemed real satisfied.

The Halifax Rifles Band was heard to good advantage, it being sufficiently calm to enable the music to carry and the beautiful harmony of this wonderful organization of musical artists was fully appreciated throughout the afternoon and each number as rendered was loudly applauded.

The Radkia Sisters, in their splendid act of double trapese work was also well received and greatly appreciated, as was the swinging act of Miss Radkia, in her daring feats.

The races were of the usual high class, every heat a race, and every race pleasing the large number of spectators present.

In the three year old trot and pace Peter the Tramp, Glwendolyn Aubrey and Mary Volo made some splendid finishes, especially the Tramp and Aubrey mare who fought it out in every heat, although the time in the second and fourth heats were slower than the other two, yet the fight was there and that is what counts in a race. In the last heat of this race the Aubrey mare, winner of the third heat, got into a position from which there was no relief until it was too late, finishing a close second. Teddy Jackson went a steady race but was only able to draw fourth place. Dixie Marque was not working up to her usual standard. James Aubrey was also away off color.

In the 2.30 pace, Helen Aubrey and Major S. fought out a hard race for first, but after the first heat the Aubrey mare proved too fast on the stretch for the Major, who was going a great race, but was bad on the breaks. Marie Forbes steadied down after the first heat and came in for third money. Gordon Harvester, also showed speed but lost badly on the breaks. Prince Mac went a good race in the first and second heats, going to a break at the start of the third heat. He continued breaking throughout the heat and collected the Red Banner at the finish. Soldier Boy also had a day off and was in time to see the red flag at the end of the third heat. Miss Atlantic went bad early in the game and was drawn after the second heat.

In the 2.25 Trot, Mac Cresceus, the speedy bay gelding, owned by Ira Carr, Covehead, with George Hooper up, who drove him a splendid race and although hard pressed in the second and third heats by The Pup, was never in danger of being headed. Eileen Aubrey was working steady and showing nice speed on the stretch, drawing third money. British Ginger, after his race on Wednesday was not up to form, showing great bursts of speed only to be set back by a bad break. Eliza Todd was only able to collect fifth place in the summary. V. Peters, after going two bad heats was drawn.

Six horses faced the starter in the first heat of the 3 year old Trot and Pace, Teddy Jackson drawing the pole, Peter the Tramp, Mary Volo, Dixie Marque, James Aubrey and Gwendelyn Aubrey. They got away on the fourth score the Tramp going into the lead from which he was never headed. Gwlendelyn Aubrey came into the stretch very fast, coming from fourth to second position and racing the Tramp to the wire. Dixie Marque went to a break at the start and finished in fifth place. James Aubrey broke at the first turn and dropped to the rear, holding this place to the finish. Teddy Jackson came in second position to the half, but only was able to draw fourth place. Mary Volo raced steady in third place from start to finish. Time, 2.21¼.

In the second heat, getting away on the second score, the Tramp again took the lead and won easily. Gwendelyn Aubrey racing on his wheel made a close second, while Mary Volo made a very close third. Teddy Jackson plodding along steady in fourth place. James Aubrey broke on second turn, dropping to the rear, but regained and passed the Marque mare on the back stretch when she lost her feet, finishing in fifth and sixth place respectively. Time 2.26½.

The third heat they got away on the first score, the Tramp getting away in the lead, racing in this position to the stretch, where Gwendelyn Aubrey coming very fast drove to the wire, nosing him out in one of the best heats of the day. Mary Volo racing well in third place. James Aubrey fifth and Dixie Marque sixth and ruled out. Time 2.21¼.

In the fourth heat the horses in the money came to the wire and were sent off on the first score, the Tramp took the lead, holding it to the finish, the Aubrey horse second in a close position from which he was unable to release himself until too handy the wire, finishing second. Mary Volo third and Teddy Jackson fourth. Time, 2.29.

In the 2.30 class pace, seven starters came to the wire, Major S. drawing the pole, Helen Aubrey, Prince Mac, Miss Atlantic, Marie Forbes, Soldier Boy, Gordon Harvester. They got away on the fifth score, the Major leading to the half, where Helen Aubrey passed him, coming to the stretch in this position. Prince Mac came from fourth place and the three raced to the wire neck and neck, the Major winning out by a half length, Helen Aubrey second, and Prince Mac third, Soldier Boy and Gordon Harvester fighting for fourth place, Marie Forbes sixth, and Miss Atlantic seventh. Time, 2.18¼.

In the second heat they went away on the first trip down, the Major in the lead, holding to the half breaking on drive into stretch where he was passed by Helen Aubrey and Prince Mac, the latter two making a close finish, the Aubrey mare slightly in the lead. Major S. third, Marie Forbes holding fourth place all the way, Gordon Harvester who was putting up a splendid race with the Major broke on the back stretch and finished fifth, Miss Atlantic sixth and Soldier Boy seventh, both breaking badly on the turn from the half. Time, 2.17¼. The fastest time of the day. Miss Atlantic was drawn after this heat.

In the third heat, they got away on the fourth score, Major S. and Helen Aubrey going neck and neck to the half, the Aubrey mare gradually pulled away and finished first, Major S. second, Marie Forbes drawing third, Gordon Harvester, who was well up in front at the three quarters broke and finished fourth, Prince Mac and Soldier Boy breaking badly, each caught the flag. Time, 2.19¼.

The fourth heat took three scores for the horses in the money to get away, Helen Aubrey went into the lead at the first turn and held this position to the wire, Major S. broke on the second turn, regaining his stride he won back his position, finishing in second place and been set back one position for running. Marie Forbes second, Gordon Harvester fourth. Time 2.20¼.

Six horses came to the wire for the 2.25 class trot, British Ginger drawing the pole, Eileen Aubrey, Eliza Todd, V. Peters, The Pup, Mac Cresceus. They got the word on the sixth score, Eliza Todd going into the lead and holding to the half. They retained their positions to the stretch when Mac Cresceus coming fast took the lead and won out, the Pup going a good race from his break on the first turn finished third. Eileen Aubrey nosing the Pup out for second, Eliza Todd fourth, V. Peters fifth and British Ginger sixth. The last three named having broke after passing the three quarters. Time 2.22¼.

The second heat took five scores before they got away, the Cresceus horse taking the lead and winning without any trouble, the Pup broke at the start and at the three quarters, but put up a great burst of speed to the wire for a close second. British Ginger broke on the back stretch and finished fourth, V. Peters fifth and drawn, Eliza Todd sixth. Time 2.19¼.

The third heat got away on the first score, Cresceus going into the lead and winning out from the Pup in a close race to the wire. British Ginger broke on the first turn and went back to the rear. On regaining his stride he came fast, finishing in fourth place. Eliza Todd broke on the back stretch and lost her place, finishing fifth. Time, 2.18¼. The following is the summary:

SIR FIBIAN

War Graves Commission. There was one side of the question on which it was impossible for anybody to dwell, and he would only strive to give a simple account of the work that had been and was going to be done.

The lecturer then gave a short sketch of the history of the War Graves Commission, and took his audience back to the time when the soldiers of this Dominion had not yet arrived in France. It was then that the British Army took up the work begun by the Red Cross, of looking after the war graves. The Prince of Wales had then been in France, and with quick sympathy had shown a deep than once he had made tours of personal interest in the work. More the cemeteries, and in 1917, the dark year of the war, he had sent a memorandum to the Imperial Conference meeting in London, and asked that it consider what could be done to insure the care of the cemeteries. Therefore, said the speaker, it must be remembered that we owed the initiation of the Graves Commission to His Highness, who was, as he deserved to be the Honorary President of the organization.

The first important decision come to by the Commission, which was organized by the Imperial Conference was that the graves should be made permanent, and as real permanency is a very rare thing, a great deal of work and planning was necessary that this decision might be carried out. The next decision, which was more or less epoch making, was that all the Dominions and units of the Empire should co-operate on an equal footing. At the next meeting of the Imperial Conference, a year later, it was decided that the cost should be borne by all the Imperial units. The High Commissioner of Canada represented this Dominion. The Commission met once a month, while the Executive committee met eveyy fortnight. It was obviously the duty of the Commission to send somebody from time to time to tell the Dominions of the work being done. This labor was so stupendous that during the first part of his lecture he often found his hearers bewildered by its vastness.

Slides were shown showing on the map of the world the girdle formed by the cemeteries, which reached right around the globe also depicting in detail the amazing number of cemeteries in France, Italy, the Eastern Front, Africa, Palestine, England and in fact in every part of the world. In France alone there were about one thousand cemeteries and fifteen hundred places where soldiers were buried.

With the aid of lantern slides also, the lecturer described the headstones that were placed on each soldier's grave, specially designed to withstand the weather, and inserted in slot of a buried concrete beam that stretched along the heads of the parallel graves to insure stability. The inscription engraved on the stone conformed to the nationality and religion of the individual soldier. They were uniform for all ranks, it being the decision of the Cmmission that where there was equality of sacrifice there should be equally of treatment.

The work of supplying these headstones, of which 250,000 were already made was in the hands of ex-service men as was the work of caring for the graves. This last was done as simply as possible and here also the work was uniform, remote and secluded cemeteries receiving the same attention as those which are visited daily.

Slides were thrown on the screen of a great number of cemeteries of all sizes and localities, showing how the work was advancing and the great improvement that was being made in their appearance. Everything was done with a view to economy and beauty, but the individual stones, as well as the larger monuments, the Cross of Sacrifice and the Stone of Remembrance, which were erected in every cemetery, were designed by the greatest architects in the world. The different monuments to commemorate those who had no known graves were also shown, and revealed great simplicity and beauty of design, particularly those in honor of the sailors, which were erected where they could be seen as beacons by approaching ships. They all were engraved with the names of the men in whose memory they were raised. Perhaps the most beautify memorial of all whose illustrated last night was the tablet being placed in the French churches and Cathedrals, in honor of the million dead of the British Empire. It is artistically colored and bears the coat of arms of the larger Dominions, surrounding that of the United Kingdom.

Referring to current reports as to the moving of war graves, Sir Fabian said that the cemeteries in France had been by law devoted to their purpose for perpetuity, and that on any account, the manner of setting the headstones in concrete beams made it uneconomical to convert the land to any other purpose. There were fifteen cemeteries in France in which the land settlement had not yet been concluded, and these had been built in place where they had no business according to rules of sanitation, to be. But the matter of their removal had been put off and put off by the Commission until finally to satisfy the French Government they had moved one. There had been so many bitter complaints from relatives of the deceased that they were now negotating with France to see if, considering the fact that the cemeteries had been there for many years already, sanitation need now be considered.

The speaker concluded his address with a reference to the pilgrimage of King George to these cemeteries, and echoed his hope that this girdle about the world would be a lasting and potent factor for world peace.

After some remarks by the chairman, Rev. G. C. Taylor said that the General had brought thoughts back to things that had been forgotten, but which there had been no right to forget. He had brought back so much, crowded so much into the thought of his hearers that there was felt the inability of mere words, and the desire for silence. That men had given their artistic and administrative abilities to this work, showed that one big heart of love was making men believe in it.

The spirits of the men who had died would live. For said the speaker he believed the world had been twice redeemed and therefore could not be lost. Once by the Saviour and again by the sacrifice of these soldiers of the Great War. Sir Fabian Ware had placed his audience under a debt of gratitude that could not be put into words, and had shown that Britain had taken to her heart the men who had loved her unto death.

Mayor McKenna moved, and Captain Allenby seconded a vote of thanks to the General for his lecture. Rising to reply the General said that it was his place to thank the audience for without them he could not have delivered it. He also wished to thank the Daughters of the Empire, who had made the meeting possible, and Mr. Walter Burke who had shown the slides to better effect than he had ever had them thrown on the screen before.

"SALLY" BIG STAGE HIT

Colleen Moore Stars in Picture of Ziegfeld Show Which Grossed $4,000,000

Figures which spell success are always interesting because in many instances they stand for romance. A case in point is "Sally" the Ziegfield musical comedy success.

"Sally" is now in the movies, presented by First National with Colleen Moore as the star, and is now being shown at the Prince Edward Theatre. Floyd Hughes and Leon Errol, Broadway comedy kings, head the big supporting cast.

As a stage vehicle for Marilyn Miller the production is declared to have grossed more than $4,000,000 and is acclaimed perhaps the most successful of all American stage hits. Not even the John Golden play, "Lightnin'," excelled its record. "Lightnin'," although enjoying a longer run than "Sally," fell below the Ziegfield success in gross receipts by some $200,000. New York alone is said to have paid $2,000,000 to witness "Sally" on the stage. What the country at large will spend to behold "Sally" on the screen is as yet entirely problematical, but it may be guessed that the figures will not be far behind those of the spoken theatre.

June Mathis, who was responsible for such film successes as "The Four Horsemen" and "Blood and Sand," made the adaptation of "Sally." Colleen Moore brings this quaint and loveable heroine to the screen with a newness and originality all of her own. Her interpretation of the role is declared to exceed in charm and poignant appeal any of her past characterizations.

The direction of the picture is the work of Alfred E. Green.

"Joe" Simpson Will Play For New York

CALGARY Alta, Sept. 23.—Joe Simpson, considered by many experts to be the most sensational hockey player that has ever adorned the Western Canada League, is lost to Edmonton, Western Canada fans, in fact, may never again see the phenomenal Winnipeg athlete tearing up and down the ice, strutting his acrobatic stuff.

Instead, "Bullet Joe" will wear the colors of the New York Hockey Club and will perform during the coming winter, and probably for the balance of his hockey career for Tex Rickard's team.

Western Canada hockey followers were surprised recently to learn that Simpson had been sold outright to the New York Hockey Club of the National League. The deal for the transfer of Simpson to New York has been hanging fire for some time and was consummated, it became known, at the annual meeting of the Western Canada League.
