than those of the other Canadian provinces, according to a summary issued today by the constitution branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Permits for new housing units issued in Prince Edward Island for the first 11 months of 1945 totalled 28, involving a total outlay of $586,000. Both in number and in cost, these figures are proportionately far below those of the other eight provinces. Explanation is given that, in the main, Prince Edward Island did not suffer from the dislocation of population to both the central and the prairie provinces.

A realistic outlook on Canada's food export trade in the post-war years is taken in the reconstruction supplement number of the government bulletin, "Canadian Affairs" issued today. With regard to the fishing industry, the bulletin states: "With the development of quick freezing and other improvements in the preparation of fish for market, attention is being focused on the need for greater streamlining of distribution methods at home."

"This industry which is carried on in Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and British Columbia, tends to ebb and flow with the seasons; in times of employment, the industry needs the services of a few trained specialists in scientific research. Otherwise there is not much chance for any great increase of employment in the fishing industry."

Looking Ahead with Hal Bohaker

Well, here we are smack in the middle of the atomic age. The world of yesterday is gone - already it is a thousand years behind us. For better or for worse we must go forward into a future that will be dominated by the colossus of atomic energy. It is difficult to foretell the direction - much less the shape of things to come. Scientific apostles of gloom forecast the instantaneous disintegration of the world under the force of the cleaving atom. Other equally scientific prophets expect an era of plenty with mankind finally freed from drudgery by the harnessing of the mighty mite.

What will it ultimately be - destroyer or creator? We little people only hope for the best, and perhaps take heart from the fact that the blinding flash that heralded the birth of the new era also presaged the end of a terrible war.

There is little that the average person can do to control the destiny of atomic energy. But there is something all of us can - and should - do for our future security, as well as for our present peace-of-mind. Life insurance is the best protection against the proverbial "rainy day." Provide today for tomorrow. I shall be happy to discuss your insurance program with you at no obligation to yourself. Call me - or drop in - today.

Film Board Making Fur Farming Picture In This Province

This week two representatives of the National Film Board of Canada arrived in Prince Edward Island to make a film of the fox farming industry. Arrangements for this work were completed through the efforts of the Provincial Department of Agriculture and the Prince Edward Island Travel Bureau.

The film will be taken partly in two sizes; one in natural colour, suitable for showing on the smaller moving picture machines which are available in a great many places. The other size is the regular one used in the theatres and it is understood the theatre-size film will be shown in a great many of the public movie houses in Canada and in other countries, including the United States and South America.

Features have been taken this week of the Pelt Show at Summerside, and this is being followed by pictures at the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeding Station and the Dominion Government Experimental Fox Ranch. Next week pictures will be taken in Charlottetown and other centres, including the laboratory at the Provincial Sanatorium, and several good fox ranches.

The work is under the supervision of Mr. B. Graham Rogers, Supervisor of the Prince Edward Island Travel Bureau. He became trapped in the area due to the spreading of the fire. This officer displayed great courage in treating the injured rangers and in getting him to a place of comparative safety until he could be rescued.

Lieut. Commander Prowse graduated from medicine at Toronto University in 1940, and joined the Navy in 1941 with the rank of Surgeon. He was promoted Surgeon Lieutenant. Commander Prowse made his way into the burning area in order to bring out an officer and an injured ranger. He became trapped in the area due to the spreading of the fire. This officer displayed great courage in treating the injured rangers and in getting him to a place of comparative safety until he could be rescued.

U. N. R. R. A. Chief In Germany Was Asked To Resign

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 - (AP) - The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration asked today for the resignation of Lt. Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan, its chief of operations in Germany, for publicly expressing belief that a "world-wide Jewish conspiratorial movement" is behind the exodus of European Jews into the American occupation zone.

Officials here said they were mistaken last night in reporting that he had voluntarily quit. The formal announcement of the ouster movement, issued here, said Sir Morgan's resignation was accepted. It was said that Sir Morgan's resignation was accepted. It was said that Sir Morgan's resignation was accepted.

Rule Gen. Bennett Not Justified In Making Escape

CANBERRA, Jan. 4 - (CP) - A special court of inquiry reported to the Australian Government that Lt. Gen. Henry Gordon Bennett was not justified in relinquishing his command of Australian troops in Malaya and escaping after the capitulation of Singapore in 1942. It was announced today.

In announcing his findings, Mr. Justice George Ligerwood, head of the three-man commission which held a 14-day inquiry ending Dec. 15, added however that he was "fully convinced that Gen. Bennett acted in good faith and was not conscious of the offence he was committing."

THE HUNTERS' CORNER - (Continued From Page 7) farmers are reporting seeing them frequently and there have been no instances where the birds have shown any falling off in weight or general appearance. Observers in sections where the pheasants are well established report that they can observe their introduction (5 pairs were set free at West River in April) there now comes word of a covey at York Point. Two sportsmen from Western Canada, here on some survey work, have reported seeing a covey early in the fall on a lane leading to the cottages at York Point. Both men have hunted the Chicken in the West and are quite definite that they were not astray in their identification. This is heartening news. If one covey is in evidence after three years it shows that the birds are adapting themselves to eastern conditions and it is quite possible there are more than one covey in existence. It is understood that an effort will be made by interested game officials this winter to locate the covey at York Point.

There is still hope for the Prairie Chicken. which concerned Canada. He found it very helpful to have a personal knowledge of places with which he was ministerially concerned. "And I also want to meet the leaders of all parliamentary political parties and get to know them," he added. "I want to make it clear that I'm anxious to meet all of them and not just an exclusive group."

"In this connection I would like to point out that I had met C.C.F. party leaders on many previous occasions overseas and it was most natural and proper that I should meet them when I arrived in Canada. As a matter of fact I'm not meeting the C.C.F. party as such, but rather a group of old friends." He added it was significant that he also was meeting industrial leaders and was addressing the Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce gatherings. In fact it was in response to a pressing invitation from the Toronto Board of Trade that he originally made the trip.
