Lady Tells Secret of Her Vigor

The writer of the following letter has suffered from rheumatism, sciatica, and depression. Then she had a vigorous old lady told her the secret of good health. And she, who had suffered for years, writes to tell how she obtained relief from her ailments. She writes: "I was recommended to take an old lady of seventy-two who danced the Highland Fling and was as vigorous as I was. She told me to take Kruschen Salts, to try to get a dull heavy headache which I suffered nearly every day, and to get on my feet by walking. I was also advised to take Kruschen in both the morning and evening. The headache disappeared and the rheumatism, I have not had since. I have been able to keep it up." Mrs. F. B. Kruschen is a combination of salt and water which assists in stimulating your liver, kidneys and digestive tract to healthy, regular action. It ensures internal cleanliness, and thus helps to keep your blood-stream pure.

Manufacturers orders have been placed in Great Britain through the office of the High Commissioner for Canada. The largest share of the contract for the air force, $6,857,000 of which is estimated $4,000,000 will be spent in this country. The remainder of $2,857,000 is expected to be spent in the United States. The contract for the four mine-sweepers authorized by Parliament will be completed in the near future. The allocation of this work due to the fact that it was given to the Dominion. The large expenditures in placing the defence force in Canada on an efficient basis have been widely distributed throughout the Dominion. In almost every instance the money affected has received the same equipment order as an addition to its normal production of war-time materials. At the same time these additional orders have been an important expansion of employment in many industrial plants.

A most interesting paper was given by Miss MacQuarrie on the origin of missions. Africa Missions being the particular study for this year several members gave interesting news items on this field of missionary endeavour. At the conclusion of the business a social hour was enjoyed. Miss Slackford was welcomed back from her extended visit to England and during the tea hour gave some delightful reminiscences of her visit and also of the coronation, which were listened to with rapt attention by the members. —CHARMING MUSICALS PRESENTED IN ELLERSLIE HALL—On Friday night, May 28, at the Ellerslie Hall, the Bedford Young People's Society dramatized the Persian Market, which was directed by Mrs. H. R. Found. The "Persian Market", written by Ketchelby, was played by Miss Marjorie Farrell, and is a musical narrative presenting a picture of the events and situations occurring at any public market in Persia. The characters were the beautiful princess and her attendants, the caliph with his attendants, who is the chief priest among the Mohammedans, the juggler, the snake charmer, vendors, merchants, and beggars. Following this was a folk dance, and a sing song conducted by Miss Farrell, and assisted by Miss Helen Morrison. At the conclusion of the sing song, refreshments were served in the eastern atmosphere of the Market and the Persian Market and the folk dance were repeated. All who attended were delighted with this very charming presentation of eastern customs.—S.

—ENJOYED VISIT—Miss Mary Dunn of Summerside spent Sunday in Springfield the guest of her good friend and cousin Mr. Emmett Dunn. It being her birthday she was the recipient of many nice gifts. About five o'clock they were invited into the dining room and sat down to a bountiful supper prepared in Miss Mary's dining room well known style. In the centre of the table was a large cake surrounded by as many lighted candles as there were guests. Compliments as representative remarks and best wishes suitable to the occasion were extended to the young guest of honor. Miss Dunn in her usual pleasant manner thanked her friends who so kindly remembered her on her birthday, and after the good time given her she remarked that she could not resist the temptation of soon again paying another visit to Springfield.

WINDSOR AND

wedding of the man who was King and India's Emperor. The British Government withheld official recognition of their union. In London the Royal Family remained in seclusion.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain maintained silence when a Labor minister asked in the House of Commons if congratulations would be extended to the new-weds.

Some London newspapers criticized the Anglican Church for withholding sanction of the marriage.

But nothing was allowed to intrude upon the joyous festivity within the Chateau, home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baudouin of New York.

Unexpected Incidents

There were only two unexpected incidents. Mayor Mercier forgot to bring the "Livret de Famille"—the official French book presented at marriages with counsel on how to raise children—and dashed home after the ceremony to get it for the Duke.

Edward's firm and high-pitched "I will" to the English pastor was so firm and loud that guests in the flower-banked music room were startled.

And then Edward was so overcome for a moment, when called upon for a speech at the wedding breakfast, that he could say only: "We thank all of you people for coming on this occasion so important to us."

The famous French organist Marcel Dupre played Bach's 29th cantata, the B Minor Canon by Schumann and a prelude and fugue in G Minor during the civil service.

The bridegroom's wedding gift to his bride, friends disclosed, was a diadem of diamonds.

The Duke entered the salon of the chateau in black morning coat, striped trousers, wing collar and black and white checked cravat; a white carnation in his lapel.

The bride was in "Wallis blue" the Duke's favorite color, a soft shade of silk in the mode for afternoon dress—hat, shoes and gloves were of matching color. The dress was of simple lines. At the neck was a glittering diamond and sapphire brooch, and from her left wrist sparkled a diamond and sapphire bracelet. She wore earrings to match.

Mrs. D. Merrymann of Washington, D.C., the bride's aunt who was with her during the period in London after she obtained her divorce from Ernest Aldrich Simpson last fall, was the only relative of either principal present.

"By one of those whims of destiny", the Mayor told the bride and groom, "it is under the blue sky and among the flowers of the garden of France, in the laughing valley of the Indre, that the most moving of all idylls has just unfolded itself."

"In saluting in its (France's) name, a Prince who was the well-beloved sovereign of a friendly people, and she whom His Highness has chosen from a noble country to which we are attached with the same precious bonds—greatness and glory—permit him who has just received the mutual consent using your destinies to tend you the most sincere wishes for your happiness."

The newlyweds turned then to the terrace with their friends for a cocktail interlude between services, then went separately to the music room for the religious blessing.

By 2.15 most of the guests were homeward bound. The Baron and Baroness Eugene de Rothschild, last to arrive, were first to depart. A huge tray bearing 2,000 telegrams of good wishes was brought to the Duke and Duchess after the wedding breakfast, but they were left unopened. They will be read at Wasserleburg.

Although only five newspapermen were permitted to see the ceremony, the Duke and Duchess went to the doorway to pose for pictures and Edward expressed his regret that there had not been room for all.

Leased telephone wires near the Chateau gates and telegraph lines installed in the garage were used to carry the news of the marriage for the 100 or so newspapermen and women on hand.

Two country inns were taken over as newspaper headquarters, and the newspaper folk were among the crowd which cheered as the newlyweds drove forth from the Chateau enroute to their train.

There were 226 pieces of luggage, including 183 trunks sent on ahead by truck and train to the honeymoon castle. In addition there were a dozen pieces of hand luggage to be stowed away in the private car.

Soviets Defeat Pioneers 8-3 In League Opener

The Soviets, one of the two new teams in the Summerside League, decisively defeated the Pioneers in the opener here last evening. The winners scored once in the opening frame and from then on were never headed although the Pioneers did manage to push across two markers in the 4th and fourth. In the fifth every man on the Soviets came to bat at least once, as two hits, an error and five walks issued by Dodds allowed four runs which proved more than sufficient to win the game. The Pioneers gathered one run in the fifth and the winners ended the scoring in the sixth with two more to run their total to eight.

The opposing hurlers were W. Arsenault for the Soviets and Jim Dodds for the Pioneers. Arsenault shaded his rival as he allowed only three hits and one walk. Dodds allowed six hits, walked six batters and was credited with a wild pitch.

For an opening game the brand of baseball was fairly good. The Pioneer infield was a bit shaky compared to that of its rivals but the outfielders were about even. A good crowd witnessed the game and it is hoped even more will turn out for future games.

The next game will take place this evening between the Soviets and Sunglo.

Duchess of Windsor will be called to account when he gets back to his parish.

The Parochial Council of St. Paul's Anglican Church at Dartington held an emergency meeting today and decided Rev. R. Anderson Jardine will be "asked to explain" why he acted without permission of church authorities.

Some of his congregation approved the Vicar's step while others were critical.

What the attitude of the Church Council will be was not indicated.

The Bishop of Fulham, who governs Anglican Church affairs in France, indicated no ecclesiastical disciplinary action will be taken against the clergyman.

Mr. Jardine is expected back in England Saturday.

The only official pronouncement came from the Bishop of Fulham.

After a conference with the Archbishop of Canterbury, he announced Mr. Jardine had acted without his consent or knowledge.

Some of St. Paul's parishioners recalled that their pastor had talked of leaving the church for another appointment and wondered if he might become private chaplain for the Duke.

HARRINGTON

"It was the Minister of Health who announced the bonus would be paid" Col. Harrington said.

"Not the premier, not the Minister of Agriculture, who might have some interest in the fisheries; but the Minister of Health."

"That is because the Minister of Health happens to run in a fishing constituency (Lunenburg). It is the most barefaced attempt to purchase the vote of the electorate I have seen for some time. Why the announcement was made before the election? Why not last session? Why not even before that time?"

Scores Road Policy

Secondary roads in the province had been "neglected so shamelessly that some new minister of highways will have to reconstruct them."

"Yet they appropriated $400,000 extra last session to repair secondary roads" Col. Harrington continued. "That was my first symptom of an approaching election."

Recent abandonment by the Government of the tax on gasoline used for purpose other than motor vehicles and highway construction was "another way they have tried to buy votes," the Conservative Leader stated.

Push Steel Strike Into Ore Fields

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 3—The Steel Workers Organizing Committee reached into the ore fields of Minnesota and Michigan tonight for recruits in its struggle for bargaining contracts with three independent steel producers—a struggle which reaches into seven states and affects more than 70,000 workers.

Philip Murray, Chairman of the S. W. O. C. division of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, announced a campaign for members in the ore fields as he came into the Mahoning Valley, criss-crossed with steel pickets, to direct the strike strategy.

At the same time a Committee for Industrial Organization Union called a strike in the Canton, O., plant of the Timken Roller Bearing Company, employing 6,000 men. A Union official said a dispute over wages was responsible. Several thousand steel workers employed by Republic Steel Corp. previously had been called out in the Canton-Massillon district.

Becomes Member Of 100,000 Miles Club

Yesterday Col. C. O. Thompson, president of the Potato Growers Association was made a member of the "100,000 Miles Club", which is composed of owners of Studebaker cars who have driven them over one hundred thousand miles.

Col. Thompson has for the past twelve years owned and driven a Studebaker and it is the only make of car ever purchased by him. In presenting the emblem of membership Mr. M. S. Brooks, vice president and general manager of the Studebaker Corporation, Walkerville, explained that the club was formed as a means of expressing appreciation of the company to their customers who by their continued buying of the Studebaker line show themselves satisfied with the driving qualities and dealer service.

Col. Thompson together with Mr. Brooks, Mr. B. F. Timney, Mr. Allan J. MacKay, and Mr. T. G. Ives, Prince Edward Island distributor, were photographed in front of one of the 1937 Studebaker Dictators.

Mr. Brooks is making a trip through the Maritimes accompanied by Mr. Joseph Pitre, District Manager for Quebec and the Maritimes. A 51% increase in Canadian business in 1936 over the previous year and a further increase of 41% in 1937 was Mr. Brooks' answer to the question: Is Studebaker getting its share in the general business recovery? He said he was very pleased with the acceptance of Studebaker by the people of this province. "Mr. Ives has done a great job in selling Studebaker. According to the local registration, Studebaker ranks fifth."

Majority of the strikers were employed at five Acadia Coal Company collieries in Pictou County where 1,100 men struck at midnight Sunday for a 71-cent per day increase. The next day another pit's 450 employees joined them. There was no change in the situation today.

District executives of United Mine Workers were meeting at Glace Bay to discuss with Mines Minister Michael Dwyer, another strike at the Government-operated Inverness Colliery there. 350 miners declared a "stoppage of work" last week as a protest against the system by which work was distributed.

The meeting was expected to consider the Pictou County trouble.

Highway workers again held up construction on the main highway between New Glasgow and Antigonish. Two days ago they stopped reopening of work by a sit-down strike, grouping around steam shovels and sitting on the roadside and in gravel pits.

COLLIERIES STILL IDLE

Union Officers Confer With Mines Minister Dwyer.

HALIFAX, June 3—More than 2,000 Nova Scotia workers, a small group of them highway laborers, were still on strike late today as the province's labor front remained unchanged.

CONSTIPATION MAY LEAD TO COLDS

Every doctor will tell you the first thing to do to avoid suffering from colds—is to be sure you are not constipated. Constipation clogs up the system. It weakens resistance, and infections take hold.

End common constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly. This cereal supplies the "bulk" your system needs for normal, natural action. It also gives vitamin B to tone up the intestines—and iron for the blood.

In the body, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water. It forms a soft mass, which gently exercises and sponges out the intestines.

Eat two tablespoonfuls a day either as a cereal with milk or fruit, or in cooked dishes. Chronic cases with each meal. Will help you stay regular without having to take pills and drugs—that often make conditions worse.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold at all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in London.
