MANAGUA RISES FROM RUINS OF FIRE AND QUAKE
 Nicaraguan President Concentrates On Rebuilding City

MANAGUA, Aug. 9.—(U.P.)—General Jose Moncada, president of Nicaragua, is concentrating on rebuilding Managua, which was destroyed by the earthquake and fire last March. In spite of the continued activities of bandits in northern Nicaragua, President Moncada maintains that the reconstruction and rehabilitation of the capital is his greatest problem.

Pending the rebuilding of the new presidential palace on the hill overlooking Managua, President Moncada occupies modest quarters in the town, a block away from the camp where the five hundred officers and men of the Fifth Regiment of United States Marines are quartered.

From the executive offices, where the President works, eats and sleeps, is the camp of the presidential guard of the Guardia Nacional, the force organized and still, in the main, officered by U. S. Marines. Surrounding the presidential quarters are heavily armed guard posts with rifles, sub-machine guns and riot guns.

President Moncada, a sturdy man in his late fifties, is reserved and calm. He expresses complete confidence in the ability of his country to build a new Managua. He is satisfied with the spirit of labor shown by his people after the earthquake and fire, and he feels that the real problem of rebuilding is an economic one.

"The Government must continue to strengthen, firm hands," he said, "without desiring to seem immodest. I do not hesitate to say that my government has administered the financial affairs of the country with care, practicing economies and succeeding in servicing our foreign indebtedness and in substantially reducing the principal. That is why Nicaragua is a solvent nation."

The president, although deeply concerned over the effect of the world wide economic depression on his country, feels that Nicaragua is less unfortunate than several of its neighbors.

He, naturally, has little time for recreation, but he manages to keep fit, he says, on his week-end trips to a country place. He spends these holidays on the lake, swimming and fishing.

The two suburbanites were discussing motor cars in general. "By the way, Smith," said Jackson, "what car are you running now?"

Smith blushed ashamedly. "Mine's a wreck," he replied. "A wreck?" echoed Jackson. "What make of a car is that?"

"I've no idea," returned Smith; "but every time I leave it anywhere people ask if I've reported the accident yet."

You haven't lost everything until you've lost hope.

SURVEYING BY NIGHT IN THE MOUNTAINS
 Obtaining geodetic angular measurements from mountain peaks, particularly rough, needleshaped, treacherous peaks like those found in British Columbia, towering 6,000 to 8,000 feet above sea level, is more or less difficult and dangerous. Most of this work of the Geodetic Survey of Canada, Department of the Interior, has to be done at night when lights can be seen from distant stations. Electric lights are placed at these stations, and the angles between the lights are measured from the observing station. The lengths of the lines observed vary from thirty to sixty miles. The observer at some of these stations has to exercise great care in moving around his instrument as a side-step of only a few inches may mean a drop down the sheer mountain side. The work is usually completed about midnight when the observer and recorder move down to shelter at timberline, their main camp being miles away in the valley.

SYNTHETIC COTTON PRODUCED BY REDS
 MOSCOW, Aug. 8.—Synthetic cotton is about to be produced in Soviet Russia. Perfection of a machine which "cottonizes" rough bast fibres, converting them into manufactureable textiles, is announced by the Institute for Experimental Research.

The announcement follows closely publication of Russia's plan to increase its output of actual cotton to the point where imports will be unnecessary by next year. Development of the cotton substitute would provide cheaper textiles to augment the production of cotton goods, vast quantities of which are needed by the population.

The new machine, called a decorticator, utilizes flax, hemp, kender, and ramie, fibres which grow extensively in many sections of the Soviet Union and are far harder than cotton which requires certain climatic conditions.

With it, only 30 minutes are required for the "cottonization" process, which consists of separating the fibre from the plant stem and breaking the long fibres into short, fluffy "cotton" after a series of baths which removes the pectines. The expensive time-consuming "retting" process is eliminated in the conversion of such fibres, which formerly required 90 days and there fore was considered economically impracticable.

Alexander Krasnoschekov, chairman of the trust for new fibres, said experts expected to obtain 20,000 tons of "cotton" from bast fibres in 1932. Toward this end 25,000,000 roubles (about $12,500,000) has been appropriated for the development of 17 factories during the next six months. Distribution of 400 decorticators to as many collective farms also is contemplated.

"Are you engaged to Bob?" "Yes, I have promised to marry him as soon as he has made his fortune."

"That isn't an engagement, that's an option."

After some discussion, it was moved by Mrs. G. McKay, seconded by Mrs. Elmer Gamble that this Institute pay $1.50 towards starting a dental clinic. Secretary was asked to write in regard to this matter. It was also decided to buy four new seats for school. Miss Beatrice Tierney was appointed on sick committee. Mrs. Emmet Croken, Mrs. Elmer Gamble, Mrs. John Walker were appointed to take charge of program for the district convention. Very interesting reports of the annual convention were read by the two delegates, Mrs. G. McKay and Mrs. Ursula Large, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered. TONIGHT'S GAME
 This evening at 5:45 the Rovers and C. N. R.'s will open their three game series for the City baseball championship. Both teams are fast, cagey and very evenly matched, therefore fans may expect thrilling baseball in every game.

TENNIS POPULAR
 The most successful tennis tournament ever staged in the history of the game in this province concluded on Saturday in a blaze of glory. Fine weather favoured the big Meet throughout, which was followed with intense interest by hundreds, who flocked to the beautiful Victoria Park courts daily to witness the most thrilling tennis ever seen on Prince Edward Island. If this great scientific sport lacked a proper following in this city in the past, it certainly came into its own last week during the tourney, which has done more to popularize the game hereabouts than anything ever attempted.

Charlottetown might well feel proud of the magnificent lay-out at Victoria Park. "Nowhere in Canada," said Mr. Rennie, "have I played on such excellent courts." Like opinions were expressed by all the other visiting players with regard to these well appointed grounds.

N. S. TENNIS TOURNEY
 Entries for the Nova Scotia tennis tournament, which opens in Bridgewater, N. S., on August 10, closed last night with fifteen entries from Ottawa and Toronto, and a large number of others from all over the province.

Outstanding among the Upper Canadian entries are Le Roy Rennie, of Toronto, holder of the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick singles titles and sixth ranking player in the dominion, and J. C. Little, secretary of the Ontario Lawn Tennis Association.

GOLF CHIPS
 Advice comes from Halifax that Yarmouth, is to have the Maritime golf championships this year and that the tourneys will be played there during the week of September 11-17.

DEMPSEY'S COMEBACK
 Jack Dempsey plans a comeback. The old mauler must be in financial distress or perhaps he has gazed long and earnestly at the present heavyweight crop of fighters. He is a little up in years, but not as old as Corbett was when he essayed his second battle with Jeffries. The old popular method of fighting all comers in short duration contests on tour is the method of procedure expected to bring him back to the glow of condition and sharpen him for a title shot. The trail may be a bit devious, Mahomet is on his way to the mainland, the same being Carrera of the massive feet. When Dempsey arrives there he should soon solve that question whether Carrera can take it. Even at his age he should pack enough cuffing ability to make the big fellow wince even if he couldn't outlast him.

EASY MONEY
 Fight fans apparently demand a certain amount of seriousness from their performance in preliminary training as their absence in large numbers from the Slatery-Rosenbloom engagement showed. The two gladiators performed just as one might expect from a brace of fighters who had done most of their roadwork on the fairways, skipped the light fantastic, and disdained the annoying touch of sparring partners. The fight went the limit and apparently was.

HARD ON UMPS
 This is certainly a tough year on umpires. All over baseballdom they are being ridden unmercifully. And now comes a new menace, which perhaps will result in their life insurance being cancelled and their being rated even worse risks than parachute jumpers. A judge down in Atlanta, who also happens to be a fan, has handed down a generous decision.

He has ruled that if the provocation be strong enough it is perfectly legal for a ball player or manager to hang a mouse on an umpire's eye or crack his beezee. It is taken for granted that a slightly doubtful decision is provocation aplenty.

LEONARD'S COMEBACK
 Benny Leonard must have gazed long and ardently at the ticker tape or he would have adhered to his determination to stay out of the ring. The amusing assertion that he would defend his lightweight title after a series of preliminary skirmishes is a good giggle in a season devoid of laughs. Leonard is fourteen pounds over the limit at least and is eligible to mingle among the welter weights. His best move was to put himself under the command of Doc Kearns who can be expected to take all the traffic will bear which will no doubt delight Benjamin to the utmost. Bennah may roll up money fast enough to not only put himself back in the picture, but enable him to get some hockey stars to bolster up his Quakers.

BASEBALL

CITY LEAGUE PLAY-OFF
 Rovers and C. N. R. this evening, 5:45 p.m. Best two out of three games.

RASPBERRY ROLY POLY
 Make pastry, using 2 cups of flour sifted with 4 teaspoons baking powder and a teaspoon of salt, 3 tablespoons of shortening (which may be half butter and half lard or other shortening) and a half cup of milk. Mix to a soft dough turn out on a floured board and pat into a longish shape. Spread over the pastry and cover with 1 layer of black raspberries. Dredge with sugar to which a little cornstarch had been added. Roll like jelly roll and bake in a moderate oven for 25 or 30 minutes. Cut it slices and serve hot with full cream

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to the electors for their loyal support and to those who assisted on election day and during the campaign on our behalf.
