Mosquito Is "Wooden Wonder" Of Air War

By Alan Randal
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 21 — (CP) — They call the Mosquito plane "the Wooden Wonder" and there is nothing derogatory about it. She is really that, this aircraft that has become the No. 1 pin-up girl of the aviation world.

Actually she is a small town girl, moved in her maturity to the big leagues to do prodigious things. She comes from the towns and villages of England—and in smaller numbers from Canada—for her manufacture is spread through hundreds of tiny workshops and homes by sub-contract systems.

Her evolution goes back to Dec. 29, [illegible], when men with vision laid down plans for construction of a wooden bomber so fast she need have neither gun turrets nor gunners for protection.

Eleven months less four days after the actual start of design the first Mosquito flew. She was phenomenal. May 15, 1941, saw the first flight of the fighter prototype and on Sept. 19 of that year the Mosquito completed her first mission, a photograph reconnaissance from 4 1-2 miles up.

On the night of May 28-29, 1942, [illegible] scored her first "probable" [illegible] during home defence operations.

Thus far it was the only fighter Mosquito that was in action but May 31, 1942, brought the bomber version into action for the first time.

For months she performed in secret. Nothing was said about her until Sept. 25, 1942, when Mosquitoes carried out a dashing attack on Gestapo headquarters at Oslo. She made the front pages then and by Christmas she had migrated to Malta.

Development went forward. Winter 1942-43 saw the fighter bomber carrying 2,000 pound bomb loads with full fighter armament of four cannon and four machine guns. The unarmed bomber version carried 3,000 pounds of bombs.

By May, 1943 she flew to Russia for lunch and came back to England for supper. By August the first Canadian built Mosquito flew the Atlantic and by November it was announced Mosquitoes had flown 1,000 night bombing sorties over Germany with loss of only 11.

Then came the night of Feb. 23-24, 1944. They really bombed her up then. And on the morning of the 24th they announced the "Mossies" had carried 4,000 pound block busters into Germany. There is nothing so far to touch her because today this small town girl is flying higher and faster than any other bomber in the world—something far in excess of 400 miles an hour.

War Dept. Gives Paratroop Losses

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP) —The War Department said today that United States Air Forces lost 19 transport planes and 44 officers and men in the paratroop operation during the Catania battle in Sicily the night of last July 13-14, attributing 50 per cent of the loss to "friendly" anti-aircraft fire.

Replying to a published report that the army had lost 21 planes and nearly 400 men that night, in addition to the 23 planes and 410 men lost to "friendly" anti-aircraft fire the night of July 10-11, the Department made this brief statement:—

"While the War Department normally does not discuss operations in a British area; it may be said in this instance the United States loss in the Catania operation on the night of July 13-14, as taken from official records, was 10 transport planes and 44 officers and men missing, of which 50 per cent were estimated as having been caused by friendly anti-aircraft fire."
