 BOYS' TOUR

Mr. Edward Shackleton Here Making Preparations For Visit of English School Boys.

With a view of making preparations for a visit to the province of ten English Public Schoolboys who will tour Eastern Canada and Newfoundland during the next two months, Mr. Edward Shackleton, son of Sir Ernest Shackleton, the famous explorer of the Antarctic Continent, is in the city at the present time.

The party of boys who will probably arrive here during the last week in August to remain for two or three days, hope to reach St. John's, Newfoundland, on August 9, Mr. Shackleton states. This is the eleventh tour organized by the School Empire-Tour Committee, which contains representatives of three Government Departments and the chief schools of England. They have also enjoyed the warm support of the High Commissioner of Canada and Newfoundland. They have visited Newfoundland once before and Canada twice; but their second Tour last year left out the Maritime Provinces. They now hope to repair this omission.

The Director of the Tour is a Winchester Master, Mr. John L. Gulise, who was Captain of the Oxford Cricket Eleven eight years ago. Mr. Shackleton is now in Canada, making full arrangements for the Tour. He is also visiting Newfoundland and will accompany the boys on their arrival.

The chief aim of the Tour is educational, if that term be widely interpreted; for a visit to one of the Dominions must surely be the ideal way of rounding off an English schoolboy's education. His whole outlook and sense of values are thereby enlarged, and he meets face to face many sides of the Empire's existence, of which he has hitherto but second-hand and vague knowledge.

To accomplish this objective, the boys hope to meet Canadians in such a way as to become acquainted with the people. The ages of the group range from 17 to 19, and every effort will be made to have the boys meet young people. In many cities the boys are to be cared for by local organizations. The prospective visitors represent the chief public schools of England.

Mr. Shackleton in the course of his work has visited Ottawa, Montreal, and other centres, and has everywhere met with a cordial reception. While in Charlottetown he is staying at the Canadian National Hotel. He is connected with Oxford University, and during the last few years has done considerable travelling abroad. His home in London is in Hampton Court Palace.

Sir Ernest Shackleton in 1908 reached a point 97 miles from the South Pole in the ship "Nimrod." From 1914-17 he was in command of an expedition on the ship "Erebus." He died in 1922 near the South Georgia Islands where he was buried.

Fair Exchange

Fullman Porter—Beg your pardon, sir, but the dollar you gave me last night had a hole in it.
 Traveller—So did the blanket you gave me last night.

Prices improved $1.30 to $1.50 a bale. The strong rally in dollar exchange attracted considerable attention, especially because dealers thought speculative short covering had exerted little influence on the movement, the inference being that transactions for legitimate business purposes had been partly responsible. It was also reported that London was a buyer of dollars as part of the plan for converting the British dollar bonds.

Mining Issues

Gold mining issues had their reaction when it was learned that the government had ruled against exportation of any gold ore which has been through a smelting process, provided it was to be shipped only for its metallic content. The London market value of gold is currently about $10 an ounce above the price here. Alaska Juneau, Dome and McIntyre Porcupine slumped around 1 to 4, but reduced these losses. Homestake rose 36, closing 22 lower.

INTERNATIONAL Y'S MEN'S PRES. HERE

Mr. Paul William Alexander, lawyer of Toledo, Ohio, President Emeritus and founder of the International Association of Y's Men's Clubs Inc., visited the local Y's Men's Club yesterday and was entertained at a banquet and dance at Stanhope Beach Inn. He is accompanied by Mrs. Alexander, Miss Constance Alexander and Mr. Richard Hanson.

In his address at the banquet Mr. Alexander pointed out that the various conferences and the League of Nations had failed to bring to the world the state of affairs so earnestly desired. He then pointed out the position of the Y. M. C. A. with respect to the life of the world, citing the case of the recent struggle between China and Japan. Reference was also made to the work done in Czechoslovakia, Poland and Hungary. The Y. M. C. A. was an instituted respect by all colours, classes and creeds. It was to this institution that the Y's Men formed the service clubs. To be a Y's Man one must be an idealist, work to put his ideals into effect, and acknowledge the duty which accompanies every right. Reference was made to the various charitable works carried out by the club in the various parts of the world.

Following was the programme: Toast, The King, and the President of U. S. A.

Vocal Solo, Mrs. N. D. MacLean. Toast, to Y's Men everywhere, proposed by Mr. A. M. Douglas, responded to by Mr. N. D. MacLean, International Director.

Vocal solo, Mr. Geo. Johnson. Toast, Ladies, proposed by Mr. Clever MacLean, responded to by Mrs. Harry Cudmore.

Vocal solo, Mrs. Roy Cudmore. Address, Mr. Paul Wm. Alexander. Mr. Alexander has visited all the clubs in Ontario and Quebec and is now touring the Maritime Provinces. He leaves today for Sydney, and will later visit Halifax, St. John and Bangor, Me.

FIRE

ed in a barn owned by C. C. More, about 2 o'clock, (A.S.T.) is unknown, but it had gained considerable headway before being noted. The arrival of the Norwegian steamer "Helen" here early this afternoon attracted most of the people of the village to the wharf, a distance of about quarter of a mile from the outbreak of the blaze. A brisk southwest wind fanned the flames as they consumed the barn and spread rapidly to Mr. Moore's house and then to the United Church parsonage. The fire-fighting equipment of the village was brought quickly into operation but was almost ineffective against the raging flames. However, the efforts of the brigade halted the fire which spread to the United Church and they saved this structure.

Spreads Quickly

As the flames spread before the breeze to envelope the fine residence of Mrs. I. C. Prescott, a call for assistance was sent to His Worship Mayor C. H. Blakeny of this city, who instructed the fire department to respond with what apparatus that might be useful.

A chemical and motor hose was dispatched to the village and rendered valuable aid in checking the fire this evening. It was well under control and at midnight the firemen were standing guard over the ruins ready to prevent possible further outbreak.

One Injured

One man was injured as a direct result of the fire, the worst the village has experienced in 28 years, and four are in the hospital as an indirect result. Herbert Williamson sustained an injured leg, which may be broken while assisting firemen.

Lumber Exports On Increase

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, July 27.—Lumber companies all over Canada are gradually benefitting by the steady increase in export trade of all kinds of wood to foreign markets, but especially to England and the United States, executives of Ottawa wholesale and retail lumber firms said today. A review of the situation was made by the Ottawa Journal.

LECTURE ON WORKS OF CARROLL

How the two delightful children's stories, "Alice in Wonderland" and "Alice in the Looking-Glass", came to be written was told last evening by Dr. G. R. Lomer in a Library Institute lecture on "Lewis Carroll" in Prince of Wales College last evening. The lecture was a most interesting one, and contained many quotations from "Carroll's" writings and a synopsis of his more important works.

In opening the lecture Dr. Lomer reviewed the early life of "Carroll", whose real name was Charles Dodgson, and the centenary of whose birth was celebrated a short time ago. During childhood and early youth, Dodgson, who had a large number of brothers and sisters wrote short sketches and verses which he illustrated with caricatures. A number of these were collected, and bound into books. He was very successful in his college work and received his B. A. from Oxford in 1855, and his M. A., in 1857. For a number of years he was master and tutor in Christ Church College in Mathematics, and in 1861 was ordained as a clergyman. The lecturer related numerous stories which indicated "Carroll's" love of children, for whom much of his writing was done. He was very skillful in the writing of parodies, and took a great delight in photographing children. While much of his writing was delightfully frivolous, he also wrote books of a more serious nature in the realm of mathematics. Throughout his life he took a great interest in this subject.

Alice Liddell, the little daughter of Canon Liddell of Christ Church, was intimately connected with "Carroll's" most notable stories, and was the heroine. On July 4, 1862, as "Carroll" floated on the river with Alice and her two sisters he told them a number of stories as was his custom. On request of Alice those stories were later written down and became "Alice in Wonderland."

"Alice in the Looking-Glass" was composed of ideas and thoughts which came of themselves, and which the author wrote down at various times. These stories charmed the children of that day and of all generations since. The popularity of the books has been demonstrated by the fact that they have been translated into many languages, and have been quoted oftener than any other books except the Bible and Shakespeare. An original manuscript of Alice sold in 1928 for $75,000.

At the celebration of the centenary in New York the original Alice, Mrs. Reginald Hargreaves, was highly honored.

while Carl Anderson, Walter Milburn, Clifford Tingley and Mark Kent, are in the McLeellan Memorial Hospital at Riverside as the result of an automobile accident. The men were working in the woods in New Ireland, about ten miles from Albert, when they saw the smoke of the fire. Hastening to the village their car turned over several times. Anderson is said to have a broken shoulder and a severe scalp wound, Milburn sustained several injuries to his head and had several teeth knocked out; Tingley has a fractured collar bone and shoulder bone, and Kent is suffering from arm injuries and other bruises. All will recover.

SOVIET WHACKS CAPITALISM

United States that the ambitious international effort to solve the world's problems must not be allowed to lapse.

Merely A Recess

Prime Minister MacDonald emphatically told the Conference, in adjourning it to meet again if and when the Steering Committee decides the situation is more promising of results, that the Conference was merely taking a recess. "I bid you adieu in the firm conviction that before many months have passed I shall have the pleasure of offering you a welcome again," he said.

Sends Message

President Roosevelt, in a surprise message to Mr. MacDonald as Conference Chairman, declared "results are not always measured in terms of formal agreements. They can come equally from a free presentation of each nation's difficulties and each nation's methods to meet its individual needs." He pledged his country's continued efforts for world recovery.

Makes Plea

Secretary of State Cordell Hull of the United States then joined Mr. MacDonald in a fervent plea that the efforts to remedy world ailments be carried on tirelessly in a spirit of goodwill and mutual understanding.

With the question of reassembling the Conference left in the hands of the small Steering Committee, the delegates dispersed. Many of them had left London some time ago and the hall was only half full at the final plenary session.

Silver Agreement

Most tangible accomplishment was an agreement between silver-holding and silver-producing countries designed to improve the silver market. Negotiations for a wheat restriction accord linked with increasing consumption were adjourned today until Aug 21. The United States delegation leader, Mr. Hull, and some other members left London this afternoon to board the liner President Harding for the return trip.

Whacks Capitalism

Of all the criticism voiced before the statements of Prime Minister MacDonald and President Roosevelt, none was so bitter as that of Soviet Russia. Jean Malinsky, the Soviet Ambassador in London, made the most of his opportunity for a whack at capitalism.

The Soviet delegation, seeing dangers of a new economic and possibly a new military warfare, would not vote on the adjournment motion. "The whole world atmosphere," said Malinsky, is filled with vague foreboding of advancing catastrophe. He who does not realize this, he who attempts to deny it, either lives in a fool's paradise or lacks ability to read the march of events.

"That unrestrained economic nationalism which threatens to break through all bounds when our Conference disperses may easily become, if the proper measures are not adopted, in time the forerunner of a new world war."

Speaks Out

Premier Hendryk Colijn of the Netherlands, who was Chairman of the Economic Commission, declared "we had no reason to congratulate ourselves with the results obtained."

Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said "there is no need to disguise the fact that we are greatly disappointed to have to record today that very little progress has been made towards our goal."

But none of the delegates questioned that the Conference had got a start on a gigantic task which should be carried to its conclusion. Prime Minister MacDonald urged that during the recess all delegates should report to the Government all the information and experience they had gathered so they would be able to return with ample power to bring the conference to a successful end.

"We adjourn not because we are defeated, not because we are discouraged, but because the committees require a little longer time to continue their deliberations and consider their conclusions," said the Prime Minister. "The mere fact that after two or three weeks of the most promising opening our work was suddenly held up by our having to face a monetary problem has of it-

Rivals May Meet

The Gloucester, the present international sailing champion, has been sent to the exposition by Canada to represent her fisheries, to the rival vessels and Captains again will meet and all Gloucester is speculating whether that meeting will mean renewal of the international contests, this time on fresh water.

Thebaud is expected to touch at Portland, Me., early Friday morning. The next port of call will be Quebec unless, as Captain Ben Pine said, an easterly storm should drive her into Halifax.

WHEAT SURGES UPWARD IN "PEG" MARKET

(Canadian Press)

WINNIPEG, July 27.—Surging steadily upward on reports of continued heat wave in the Canadian West, wheat prices closed only slightly under the high points on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Final quotations were 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 cents higher.

Profit-taking operations near the close were only able to pare fractions off the peak levels. July futures closed on the high point at 88 1/2, October at 90 1/2, December at 92, and May at 96 1/2 cents.

High Points Held

Support came from various sources, with good buying entering the pit steadily throughout the session. Absence of offering, which were extremely light made it comparatively easy for prices to advance and high points were easily held.

Western Canadian weather, where soaring temperatures were reported for the second day was the dominant market factor. Bullish enthusiasm ran high but the market progressed in orderly fashion. Quietly chalking up gains steadily without exhibiting any of the wild fervor noticeable on its last vigorous upturn, which brought wollar wheat to the Winnipeg board.

Export Business

Advice relating to export business were rather bearish than bullish but operators appeared to have concentrated on weather and crop conditions and ignored the export situation.

Liverpool showed a stronger trend than had been expected with quotations near the close being 1/4 to 1/2 higher. Chicago, sympathetic to the local pit and working on the same basis, turned sharply upward with gains ranging as high as 7 cents, which also had a steady effect on the Winnipeg quotations.

Argentine shipments were fairly heavy this week, with an estimated movement of 2,800,000 bushels. Black Sea ports were not credited with shipping any wheat, and aside from rather good export over last weekend North American shipments were comparatively small.

Cash grains were neglected with little demand being shown. Coarse grains were all strong, grains appearing all along the board as they followed the upward trend of wheat futures.

Rubber, Western Union, Consolidated Gas and a good representation of rails were up fractions to more than a point. New York shipbuilding jumped 2. Case reflected the boom in grains with a rise of 3 1/2. U. S. Smelting slumped more than 7. The net gain in the averages was fractional.

Chicago Wheat

Dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade were stimulated by reports of heavy damage to crops in the Canadian northwest from continued arid weather. Wheat closed up about 7 1/2 to 8 cents, the latter figure being the limit. New York Cotton

RAIN RESULTED IN RAPID CROP GROWTH

Showers of rain in some parts of the province this week had a wonderful effect on the crops, and have resulted in rapid growth, officials of the Department of Agriculture state. The weather is ideal for hay-making and the quality of the crop is good, but taken on an average, it is considerably lighter in yield than last year.

Potatoes and turnips are making a good showing, have good colour and fair growth. Spraying of potatoes is general throughout the country. The potato bugs are not having an opportunity to injure the plants. Farmers have more encouragement for spraying this year in view of the prospect for better market conditions.

The supply of cream at factories is beginning to drop off somewhat. The peak was reached about the first week in July.

A small number of live hogs is moving. The general price is six cents for bacon hogs, with a dollar premium for select.
