Plebiscite Campaign

MEANING OF TEMPERANCE

Sir,—As there is to be another Plebiscite taken on temperance and prohibition, it may be a good thing to consider which of the two is the best. We have had a trial of Prohibition and found it to do good, only harm, as it brought about a deplorable condition of rum-running, bootlegging, and moonshine, such as never was known on P.E.I. until Prohibition. The Prohibition law is not founded on right principles; it places the drunkard and the temperate man in the same category, and we know that no honourable man would like to be so classified. Mr. Bentley tells us we should make Prohibition part of our religion. If he had said Temperance instead of Prohibition he would have said something. Neither Mr. Bentley nor anyone else need think that temperance can be brought about by any law. It is a Christian virtue and has its home in the heart, and against such there is no law. As temperance means "not to excess" the Prohibition people say against such

Expect Ferry Abegweit Back On Route Friday

MONTREAL, June 23—Her trim white hull and white superstructure gleaming, the Canadian National Railways car ferry Abegweit sailed from here today (Wednesday) for Borden, P. E. I. to resume her service between that port and Cape Tormentine, N. B. The Abegweit, the world's largest ice-breaking car ferry, came to Montreal in May for her first annual drydocking at Canadian Vickers. In addition to a complete engine overhaul and the complete inspection of the ship's electrical and other equipment, many improvements were added to the C.N.R. car ferry's construction. A special new wood deck was built so that trucks and automobiles can be carried on the railway deck in addition to the railway cars. The color schemes in the restaurant and the kitchen have been improved. Supervision of the entire work during the more than a month that the Abegweit was in dry dock was done by William McMullen, superintendent of car ferries, Canadian National Railways, at Montreal. The Abegweit is expected to be back in operation on Friday and in time for the beginning of the heavy tourist season travelling from various sections of Canada and the United States to Prince Edward Island. She will continue to be under the command of Captain John R. B. Maguire.

P.E.I. Command Canadian Legion Executive Meets

A meeting of the executive of the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., was held in the Legion Home last evening under the chairmanship of the Provincial president Major John A. MacDonald of Cardigan. During the meeting, the date for the Provincial convention was set for September 6 to be held at Souris, and it is expected that the new Dominion president, Col. L. D. During the balance of the evening many other business matters were brought up and discussed.

wish to build a bridge of understanding with youth, they must have a philosophy of life that youth will understand. It must be so clear that it can not only be understood but so clear that it cannot be misunderstood. "If youth does not like the things you stand for, they will not go over the bridge that you build", the Maine clergyman told his audience. In commending youth movements he particularly mentioned Boy Scout programs.

Essential Qualifications

Mr. P.F. Halley, St. John's, Newfoundland, speaking on "Let's Make Him One of Us," outlined the qualifications essential in a prospective member of Rotary and also stated at some length the responsibilities of the old members in making the new member feel at home. The second Maine speaker of the day, Mr. Frank W. Hussey, in elaborating upon his subject, "Service Unlimited," told his hearers that an iron curtain was often erected by business enterprises which curtain separated the employers from the employees and that such a curtain was largely responsible for the wave of strikes which have been sweeping over the United States. It was within the power of Rotary, Mr. Hussey said, to take the lead in lifting this iron curtain. He suggested that representatives of the workers be brought into open meetings of the Rotary Clubs where they should be made to feel free to lay their grievances and suggestions for improved working conditions upon the table. Such meetings, Mr. Hussey said, "would give us an opportunity to tell our employees some of the difficulties we face."

Community Welfare

"The vantage point from which we take our first look is that of the community, the very basis of our democracy," declared Mr. Kenneth A. Parker, Sackville, in a thought-provoking address on "Know Your Community." Against Communism and other "isms" he suggested "the military maxim that the best defense is a strong offense." He urged greater public interest in political affairs, as well as in housing and other local community problems. "Make it possible for the wage-earner and salaried man to own his own home, be it ever so humble," he declared, "and you have laid the foundation of a happy and contented society. Allow the existing shortage to continue much longer and we shall have a large proportion of our citizens susceptible to the platitudes of any 'isms' to which they may be exposed." The speaker commended the increasing use of Town Planning Commissions as a means for directed, intelligent expansion of communities. Rotary Clubs, he said, should have intimate knowledge of what is being planned for their communities and be certain that any master plan of a community nature are integrated with the "master plan." He also stressed the importance of recreational and cultural activities in the community. Brief addresses followed by Past District Governors T. C. McNabb, of Saint John, and George P. Findlen, Fort Fairfield. The latter gave an interesting account of the Rio convention. At luncheon the delegates were ward Island are: Mrs. Margaret MacKenzie, R.W.G.M., Summerside; Mrs. Gladys Downe, R. W. G. D. M., Charlottetown; Mrs. Jessie Larier, R.W.P.G.M., Charlottetown; Mrs. Elizabeth Best, R. W. G. J. D. Crapaud; Mrs. Susie Moore, R.W.P.G.M., Crapaud; Mrs. Emma Alley and Mrs. Amelia MacLeod, Charlottetown; Mrs. Rena MacCaull, Ellerslie and Mrs. Annie Darrach, R.W.G. Secretary, Charlottetown.

Rotary Foundation

The history of Rotary Foundation was outlined at the afternoon session by Mr. R. Roland McIntyre, of Sydney, who stressed the following objectives: 1. To provide facilities for advanced study in human relations. 2. To introduce the Institute of International Understanding to countries where they are not yet established. 3. To provide for an exchange of Rotary speakers between countries. 4. To give emergency relief to Rotarians and their families who live in war or famine areas. Mr. McIntyre concluded his remarks with the injunction that "in war we do all for the common weal and in peace our obligation is to promote international understanding, goodwill and peace," is markedly similar to the aims and objectives of United Nations.

Receives News Of Husband's Death In England Yesterday

Mrs. J. L. Foulkes, who is visiting Mrs. Benjamin Rogers at 191 Fitzroy Street, yesterday received news of the sudden death of her husband, Colonel J. F. Foulkes, D.S.O. in England. He was in his seventy-sixth year. A veteran of both the South African War and World War I, Col. Foulkes was at one time the tennis champion of Canada. Even as late as 1946 he was singles champion of veterans in England. A native of England, he came out to New Westminster, B. C. at the age of eighteen and resided there for many years before moving in 1908 to Ottawa, where he lived for three years. Later he moved to Victoria, B.C. and Mrs. Foulkes returned to England in March, 1947, taking up residence at Hayling Island, near Portsmouth, where he passed away, and where the funeral is being held. Mrs. Foulkes returned to Canada some months ago to visit her son, Mr. F. L. Foulkes, who is in Stanstead, Quebec, and Colonel Foulkes had planned to make their home here in Prince Edward Island.

and of their awareness of the complexity of the problems which face them. Turning to the part which Rotarians must play in the fight for peace, Mr. Golden emphasized the importance of objective analytic thinking on the part of individual members. He stated that world peace begins with our next door neighbour, and that neighbourliness calls for the elimination of certain kinds of useful jobs in the community. On a global level Mr. Golden said that "we must recognize the economic and social interdependence of all peoples of the world." He remarked that Object Four of Rotary, "to promote international understanding, goodwill and peace," is markedly similar to the aims and objectives of United Nations.

respondents after his talk with Stassen and said he was going to win, eventually. He would not forecast on what ballot or what majority. Stassen was a little less forthcoming but seemed confident that his great gamble still held chances of winning. The Minnesotan said the coalition has "formulated a program" which will "unfold as the convention proceeds." He and Taft agreed that no candidate had lined up enough votes to win. Despite the loosely-knit Taft-Stassen coalition, both declared they had decided against any combination to beat Dewey. All they wanted was to see the delegates given a free hand to vote as they desired. That was the situation tonight as nomination speeches began in the crowded, noisy convention hall. It was generally expected voting would be delayed until tomorrow forenoon, but nothing was certain yet. Meanwhile young republicans thronged hotel lobbies and every-
