

BEFORE BEDTIME RELIEVE THAT—STRANGLING BRONCHITIS
—SMOTHERING ASTHMA

Don't endure another night of strangling, cough-cracked sleepless agony. It's so unnecessary. Just take a few doses of Buckley's between supper and bedtime—and you'll sleep like a babe and awake "fit as a fiddle". There's nothing so safe and so sure as this magical creamy white mixture for the quick relief of cough, cold, influenza, bronchitis, asthma and whooping cough. But be sure you get Buckley's. Substitutes are numerous and may be dangerous. For the children, mix Buckley's with equal parts of honey. They'll love it, and it's so safe for children's coughs and colds. Buckley's is sold everywhere.

PIUSVILLE INSTITUTE

Mrs. Joseph T. Gallant entertained twenty members of the Piusville Women's Institute at her home on Tuesday evening, Oct. 30th. The meeting opened by reciting the "Our Father" in unison. The secretary then read the report of the previous meetings, after which the treasurer reported there is $20 on hand. All committee reports satisfactory and new ones are: Sick, Mrs. Ambrose Corcoran and Mrs. Frank P. Gallant; School, Mrs. Fern Blanchard and Mrs. Charles Gallant; Entertainment, Miss Bertha Gallant and Miss Henrietta Gallant. The annual meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Gallant on Nov. 27th and the roll call will be answered by "A resolution in regard to institute work for next year." Mrs. Frank Perry was then given the prize for the best Halloween costume. This prize was donated by Mrs. Ambrose Corcoran. The meeting closed by singing "It's a Good Thing to Get Acquainted."

Following the meeting, members and visitors enjoyed a game of whist. Fourteen tables were in progress. The prize winners are as follows: Gents' first prize, donated by Mr. John T. Gallant, won by Mr. Fern Blanchard. Ladies' first prize, donated by the Famlex Co., won by Mrs. Daniel Gallant. Gents' second prize, won by Mr. Isadore Gallant. Ladies' second prize, donated by Mrs. John T. Gallant, won by Miss Clarissa Gallant. Consolation prizes were won by Miss Arsenault and Mr. Arthur Bernard. The "freeze out" prize was won by Mr. Leroy Ellsworth and the "lucky chair" prize was won by Mr. Stephen Gallant. A dinner lunch was then served by the ladies and Mrs. Ambrose Corcoran was the holder of the "lucky lunch ticket." A few hours dancing was then enjoyed to music furnished by Messrs. Lawrence Blanchard and Edward Gallant. Proceeds for the evening, $9.95.

That Royle Girl
 By Edwin Balmer

CHAPTER 32
A STRANGE MEETING

"But she'd been in his flat," continued the girl.

"Yes."

"And just after he'd shot his wife!"

"No," objected Calvin again.

"Why, he certainly shot his wife!"

"But the Royle girl didn't go to his flat afterwards?"

"What did you do?"

"That," said Calvin, "is the chief issue of the trial." And, as he terminated the discussion, he realized that he had been defending the Royle girl against this girl in his arms.

She reminded him somewhat of the Nesson girl for her trick of obtruding her body; and he thought, contrastingly, how little had the Royle girl, whom he had found in pajamas, obtruded her form. To recall his first encounter with her, was to recollect her spirit, her blue eyes and white brow and her dark hair and her head up in challenge to him. Of course, he thought too of her slender figure and her slim white heels but not of her displaying them.

Was this, by considering her contrast to this girl, with whom he had been peering at, in a queue of people procuring coffee or chocolate from measured jets set to squirting by coins thrust into the walls?

Calvin returned to the door and stepped in, though such an act was no part of the plan which had brought him uptown; and now, having no plan at all, he followed the line of people, who were exchanging larger coins for nickels, and arm in arm with the passports of the place, he moved, mechanically, to the wall.

A small, blue baking dish, brownly crusted over, exhibited itself before him, and he saw that it was three nickels, read the inscription beside it; and Calvin Clarke performed one of the few utterly irrational and wasteful acts of his life. Conscious that people on both sides were peering at him, with amusement, he suddenly thrust in a nickel and then, realizing that he did not want the pie, he moved on.

"Go back there and put in two more nickels or somebody else will," said the Royle girl's lively, pleasant voice and looking around, Calvin saw her beside him.

"What?" he asked, but she did not delay to repeat.

"Here's your pie," she said, and blocking off another patron, she thrust in two nickels in deft succession twisted the handle, procured the pie and proffered it.

"Here's your pie, Mr. Clarke."

Calvin stared stupidly at the brown crust and, counting off two of the coins in his hand, he solemnly exchanged them with her for the pie.

"Now what else do you want? 'I'd better get it for you,' she offered, looking up at him with her steady, blue eyes alight.

"I don't want anything else, thank you," said Calvin stolidly.

"Where are you sitting, Mr. Clarke?"

"What?"

"Where are you going to eat that?" (To Be Continued.)

CAFE TRAVERSE W. I.

The October meeting of Cape Traverse W. I. met at the home of Mrs. Douglas Bell on Thursday evening, Oct. 4th, and opened by singing Ode and repeating Creed. Roll call was responded to by nine members. The minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. A bill presented by the sick committee was ordered to be paid. The different committees gave reports and the following new committees were appointed: Sick, Mrs. Gordon Harvey and Mrs. Douglas Bell; School, Mrs. Melburne Howatt and Mrs. Raymond Harvey; Lunch, Mrs. Vernon Muttart, Mrs. Russell Clark and Mrs. Louise Muttart; Program, Mrs. J. Outcliffe and Mrs. Louis Muttart. After some discussion on the subject of Girl Club, it was decided to organize, with Mrs. Melburne Howatt as leader and Mrs. Albert Sherrin assistant.

Miss Evelyn Bell invited the Institute to her home for next meeting, to be held on Thursday evening, Oct. 11th, at 7 o'clock. A new member, Lunch was served and meeting closed with the National Anthem.

The month of October sees the end of harvest in the northern hemisphere (Northern Canada, Alaska, Northern Russia, Sweden, Finland, and Norway) and the beginning of harvest in the southern hemisphere. November is the harvest month of Peru and South Africa; December that of Burma and Argentina; the harvest of the latter being carried on throughout January, which is also the harvest month of Uruguay, Chile, and Australia.

Even Rheumatic Pains Eased Fast Now!

BAD HEADACHES, NEURITIS PAINS OFTEN RELIEVED IN MINUTES THIS WAY

Remember the pictures below when you want fast relief from pain. Demand and get the method doctors prescribe—Aspirin.

Millions have found that Aspirin eases even a bad headache, neuritis or rheumatic pain often in a few minutes!

In the stomach as in the glass here, an Aspirin tablet dissolves, or disintegrates, almost the instant it touches moisture. It begins "taking hold" of your pain practically as soon as you swallow it. Equally important, Aspirin is safe. For scientific tests show this: Aspirin does not harm the heart.

Remember these two points: Aspirin Speeds up Aspirin Softens And, see that you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada, and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin tablet.

Get tin of 12 tablets or economical bottle of 24 or 100 at any druggist's.

Why Aspirin Works So Fast

Drop an Aspirin tablet into a glass of water. Note that BEFORE it touches the water, it is disintegrating.

In 2 SECONDS BY STOP WATCH an Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work.

What happens in these glass happens in your stomach. Aspirin tablets start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

When in Pain Remember These Pictures

THIS POEM USED AS A PRAYER

God grant us wisdom in these coming days, And eyes unsealed, that we clear our vision of that world that He would have us build, To life's ennoblement and His high ministry.

To pledge our souls to nobler, loftier life, To win the world to His fair sanctities, To bind the nations in a pact of peace, And free the Soul of Life for finer joys.

Not of our own might can we hope to rise Above the ruts and failures of the past, But with His help Who did the first earth build With hearts courageous may we fairer build this last.

ADDRESS OF WELCOME TO THE W.C.T.U. BY HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS GUSTAV, CROWN PRINCE OF SWEDEN

In addressing this large and brilliant gathering it is my very pleasant duty to extend to you all a most cordial welcome to our shores. We much appreciate that you should have chosen our capital city for the site of this year's World Convention of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union. I consider it a privilege to have been asked to address you this evening, because, though I cannot say that on the whole I am very conversant with the details of your work, nevertheless I can assure you that I consider your aims and your work of high importance for the welfare of mankind.

I want to say to you on this occasion a word of remembrance and appreciation should be said to the memory of the founder of the White Ribbon movement Miss Frances Willard, whose noble and noble life has been a most remarkable omen, a personality far exceeding the ordinary standard. Exactly sixty years have elapsed since she so bravely started the work. In those days such work must have been infinitely more difficult than now for the reason that public opinion had not yet been roused, and as a consequence, there was a lot of prejudice to overcome. Miss Willard was surely one of those pioneers of the realm of social welfare work whose fervent ardour stands out like a beacon to contemporaries and followers alike. Her life work really meant something for a better general understanding of the necessity of improved conditions both as regards the abuse of alcohol and as regards moral conditions in general. Her foundation was Christianity and her work and motives were truly Christian.

The aims and work of our international society are well known, especially where the work of combating the abuse of spirits is concerned, and though much has been done to further this aim, the chief one in your program—yet very much still remains and every day we are reminded of this. There is no doubt that public opinion must continue to be stirred as to the danger of the habit and the danger of the misuse of alcohol. I feel sure that the women of the world have quite a special mission where these things are concerned.

But there is something more in your program. The other day when I was preparing this address and looked through a short life of Miss Willard I was much struck with her keen interest in the welfare of the young generation. It is a realm where much still could be done, and I do believe it to be a most important field of service, especially in our day. Moreover, this is a field to which the women ought to give as much attention as possible, for the very simple reason that they are mothers, or as mothers to be, are going to carry a very considerable part of the responsibility for the atmosphere in which the young generation is brought up. If a high moral standard in every sense of the word prevails at home, this must be of vital importance for the promotion of the character and of the morals of the young. I do not need to remind you that in our day there are perhaps even greater dangers in this connection than before. Any how, there will never come a time when the vigilance of warm-hearted women will no longer be required in this respect. I hope that in the future the White Ribbon movement may give much attention also to this important point where success is so vital for future generations.

Lastly, may I express my fervent good wishes for the success of your work at the Convention, and my sincere hope that you may all feel at home in our capital and carry away with you pleasant memories of Sweden.

The Crown Prince of Sweden is, according to a paragraph in the "Evening News," a life-long teetotaler, and non-smoker.

AS YET THE VILEST TRICK OF "THE TRADE"

The spirit of the liquor traffic, as always, animated by the love of gain at all costs has received another demagogic I hope the distribution of liquor candies, doubtless all over the United States.

The Philadelphia Inquirer has devoted liberal space to give publicity to this deplorable move to entice children from the ranks of the drunkard. To quote its righteous indignation charge:—

"Intoxicating liquor villainously disguised as chocolate is being peddled to sweets-hungry school children of this city at two cents a 'drink'."

"Six of the confections have the alcoholic effect of a 'good stiff cock tail'."

"Reputable physicians interviewed on the subject were unanimous in asserting that a half-dozen pieces would induce a visible state of intoxication upon a child."

"Although the camouflaged lo-

Luxury
EVERYONE CAN AFFORD

There is no greater luxury than the daily use of Yardley Lavender Toilettries. Fashion's unswerving devotion is proof of that. Yet there's no greater economy, all things considered. The soap, for instance, lasts far longer than ordinary soaps that waste away. Enjoy the daily luxury of Yardley All-Purpose Complexion Cream, of the Yardley Complexion Powder, and of the most useful and correct of all perfumes, the Yardley Lavender.

engaged their commercial appearance in Philadelphia only a little over a week ago. There is a tremendous demand for them on the part of the public—particularly children of school age, ranging from 8 to 14 years.

A Kansas newspaper advised for Salesmen, Distributors—Liquor-filled candy with real bourbon, brandy, etc., good profits; fast repeats, each piece a real mouthful."

An investigator, under the guise of salesman applicant, was assured that these candies were fast sellers. The samples he received were chocolate "drops," guaranteed to be "the real stuff."

There are already federal and state laws dealing with this matter. A Massachusetts law provides: "Whoever sells to a person any candy enclosing or containing liquor or syrup having more than 1 per cent. of alcohol shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100.00."

Canada needs to be alert to such schemes for cultivating a liquor appetite in even children.

It would have paid the United States of America electorate to have firmly upheld Constitutional National prohibition.
