

QUEEN'S CANADIAN FUND DONATIONS FOR AIR RAID VICTIMS

Repeated bombing raids on British port areas and the industrial Midlands has attracted fresh attention to the plight of suffering in Great Britain who are harried from shelter to shelter and finally driven into the open country by successive raids. Eventually places are found for them all, places of relative security, but their belongings of all kinds are destroyed. The task of setting them up once more with some quantity of clothing and bedding is much more difficult.

Griffin-MacPherson Nuptials

St. Joachim's Church, Vernon River, was the scene of a pretty wedding at 8:30 a. m. May 21st, when Florence Bernice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. MacPherson of U.S., was united in marriage to Louis W. Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Griffin of Iona. The ceremony was performed, and Mass celebrated by Rev. W. C. MacPherson, vicar of the church.

The bride, attractively attired in ensemble with blue accessories and carrying a bouquet of pink roses, was attended by her sister, Ellen MacPherson of Charlottetown who was dressed in pale blue crepe with hat of the same shade, carrying a bouquet of carnations. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Bill Moran.

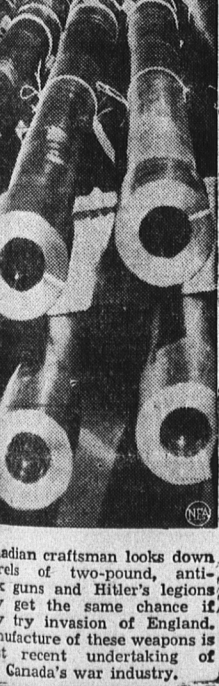

During the celebration of mass the choir sang pleasing hymns. Following the ceremony the bride and groom proceeded to the home of the bride, where breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin left on a motor trip through the Maritimes, the bride travelling in a blue suit with white accessories. On their return a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents. The happy couple will reside in Summerside where the groom is a member of the R. C. A. F.

Legal Opinion

Parties interested in distribution of the imports asked the attorney general for an opinion. In a letter to Greenleaf he cited other cases of a similar nature and said that under the present laws he did not see how the department could legally ban the sale of canned lobster. Informed that legislation would be necessary to enable him to protect the Maine industry against what he considers to be "fair competition" Greenleaf said that he would definitely seek such action when the lawmakers convened in 1943.

Says Women's Responsibility Greater now

Fire destroys three Barns at Eldon

Last Monday evening, while completing his chores about the barn, Mr. Edward Gillis of Eldon had the misfortune to fall, and the lighted lantern which he was carrying exploded, oil was spraying over Mr. Gillis and his clothes caught fire and took some time to extinguish. The flames had spread so quickly during the interval that it was with great difficulty Mr. Gillis was able to get out of the burning building. The smoke from the barn was noticed by a neighbour quite a distance away who quickly came to see the cause and help Mr. Gillis. Mrs. Gillis also ran almost two miles for help which was promptly given but willing hands could not stop the flames before three fine barns were completely destroyed. Working like trojans, Mr. Gillis and his neighbours got the livestock out of the buildings and some of the implements. The family residence was also intact. The loss is estimated at over $2,000 with some insurance.

Ban on sale of Canadian canned Lobster removed

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, Me., June 18 - Sea and Shore Fisheries Commissioner Arthur R. Greenleaf, who barred the sale of canned Canadian lobster in Maine markets on May 1 has countermanded his ruling. Greenleaf reversed his edict, he said, after learning from Attorney General Frank I. Cowan that there was no law on the books at present that would support his action in barring the Canadian product. On May 1 Greenleaf had given merchants five days to remove the imported canned lobster from their shelves. Greenleaf said that his decision to stop the sale of the imports was reached as the result of knowledge that a large percentage of the lobster meat canned in Canadian factories was taken from crustaceans which were smaller than the Maine legal minimum size limit of 3 and 1-16 inches. Under the general law, "shorts" in Maine so he reasoned that this would also apply to the canned product.

Montreal's Victory Fair Helps Queen's Fund Benefit for Air Raid Victims Opened by Fay Wray

The call of the fair-ground will always draw the crowds to join in its amusements and try out its novelties. Women of Westmount, Montreal, demonstrated this fact when they organized the Victory Fair in aid of the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims, for they received such an enthusiastic response from the public that they plan to keep the stalls and amusement booths open for an extra day or two. Crowds flocked to the fair ground on the opening day to hear Miss Fay Wray, Canadian-born film star, open the show with a speech in which she commended the Queen's Canadian Fund to her listeners and wished the Victory Fair all success. Afterwards she signed autographs for visitors, asking of them a small donation to the fund in return. The band of the R.C.A.F. played throughout the afternoon, drawing an admiring circle of spectators. After the show was declared open by Miss Wray and Acting Mayor Janet Raymond, those in charge of stalls and booths were kept busy dealing with the crowd of visitors until well into the evening. All manner of stalls had been set up for the show, and all of them were well patronized. Refreshments were soon at a premium, and several of the amateur sales-women had sold out all their stock when the day's show was declared closed. Fortune-telling, a dog show, Punch and Judy, bongo, and all the usual fair-ground features were to be found, and there was no doubt from the enthusiasm of the visitors that the Victory Fair was a great success. One lady collected $65, all in pennies at her amusement stall, and others were no less popular. Two aircraft were on display, a damaged Anson which was in action at Junkirk, and the fuselage of a new Canadian-built machine, both of which were exhibited by courtesy of Federal Aircraft and were inspected by many interested visitors to the fair. Following the afternoon's activities, an orchestra was on hand for dancing, and the festivities went on until 11 p. m. Everyone was enthusiastic about the show and its management, and there was no doubt of the success of the Westmount Ladies' Victory Fair in aid of the Queen's Canadian Fund.
