The Dr. Chase Almanac Of The Air Presents

"The Family Doctor"

The doctor is a fine character as is also his charming daughter. He is the centre of a rural community, the confidant of young and old, familiar with their joys and sorrows, their hopes and fears. Other interesting characters are the Irish housekeeper, and the doctor's man of all parts. Grandpa is a scream and then there is the strange lady who gives rise to some mysterious problems.

We believe that you will enjoy "THE FAMILY DOCTOR". Note the time and station.

width is also less, with a compass of only six octaves. Some of these new pianos are triangular, like grand pianos but they too have the shorter compass and are small enough for almost any room.

Following is an excerpt from an interesting article on these modern pianos—

"They are not fitted for exhibitions of virtuosity, but many sensitive and sensible people will easily forgive them for that; but they are good learner's pianos, and something much more. The compass is large enough for a great deal of modern piano music; much of Chopin's music and most of Beethoven's is contained within the limits of six octaves. Bach and Mozart and the older composers had no key-board instrument with a larger compass than this. Moreover, the lighter tone of these small pianos must be about the same as that of the pianos which Bach and Mozart knew, so that these instruments will give about the right value to nearly all music which is a hundred years old or more, and to much of the music which is more recent. Taking them all round, these pianos, which have been produced to save space, may rightly used, bring us some improvement in musical taste by giving us music with less noise and less display."

Argentine Cruiser Returns Fire

ALICANTE, Spain, Nov. 5.—(CP-Havas)—The Argentine cruiser Veinticinco de Mayo opened fire today on two insurgent planes which dropped bombs dangerously close to the warship. One of the bombs struck the Spanish Steamer Clano, killing a sailor. Another fell in the central square of this Government-held port, partially wrecking the Hispano-Americano Bank and killing the night watchman.

Scouting teaches unselfishness, the "good turn" being a high spot in the Scout's life.

Reports from Summerside state that arrangements are being made holding an auction in connection with Boy Scout Apple Day. —GREY WOLF

6,000 Scouts will, it is expected, represent the British Empire at next summer's Fifth World Boy Scout Jamboree to be held in Holland.

The Town Council of Dingwall, Scotland, has asked the local fire brigade of Rover Scouts to "carry on with their good work" for another year.

The popular boys' songs of many nations will be a feature of the camp fire programmes of the fifth world gathering of Boy Scouts, to be held in Holland in August of 1937. Each of the eight sub-camps will have its own camp fire, and two general camp fires will be held for the entertainment of visitors.

Four hundred Cingalese Wolf Cubs (Junior Scouts) assembled for a Cub field day on the estate of Sir Francis and Lady Tyrrell, in Ceylon, and performed episodes from Rudyard Kipling's "Jungle Book."

A Boy Scout Troop organized two years ago among the juvenile offenders in the Central Prison, Haripur, Northwest Frontier of India, has been a notable success. The boys have made excellent progress in their Scout tests and have rendered valuable first aid, water supply and sanitation service at the annual local cattle fair. It is believed the boys will start life with a new outlook when their terms expire.

At the request of the National Safety Council of Australia, police departments and the Boy Scouts are working out a scheme for the guidance of lost airplanes, and those in difficulty at night, to safe landing fields. Flares will be available at police stations throughout the country, and Scouts will be required to know all suitable local landing fields. When it is learned that a plane is lost or in difficulties, the Scouts will be called out and will light flares at all suitable landing places, for the guidance of the pilot.

The site of the great world camp of Boy Scouts to be held in Holland next summer is appropriately known as Volgelenzang, or "Song of the Birds."

Nearly 30,000 Boy Scouts attended four "Jamborees" held in different parts of England this summer. A North Country gathering at Durham attracted 10,000, a West Country affair at Plymouth drew 8,000, the Midlands Jamboree 8,000 and Sea Scouts from throughout the British Isles gathered at Portsmouth.

Her Majesty Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands has expressed her readiness to be Patroness of the Fifth Boy Scout World Jamboree, to be held near Volgelenzang Holland, next summer. The Queen's late Consort, Prince Henry, was Patron of the Dutch Scout Association, and shortly after his death the Queen assumed his place as Patroness of the movement.

A letter to the Editor of the Nottingham Journal: Sir,—The value of a knowledge of first aid is not appreciated until the time arrives when it is most needed. On August Bank Holiday, Tuesday, I, with my family, had a day trip to Sandown, Isle of Wight. While waiting at the pier steps to catch a return boat to Southampton, we observed an aged lady who had the misfortune to stumble, her leg slipping between two iron steps. She received a very severe cut behind her knee. There were at least 70 people waiting to catch the boat, and not one had any knowledge of first aid. The poor lady had to await the arrival of the boat fifteen minutes later before efficient help was forthcoming. All this time her leg was bleeding profusely, bathing towels which had been wrapped found her leg being saturated with blood. When the steamer arrived there were calls for a doctor, or anyone with first aid knowledge. Of at least 200 people on board only one stepped forward, and he was a Boy Scout. He did the job well, and the lady was taken to hospital. I envied that Boy Scout's knowledge and efficiency. W.
