Kensington And Vicinity

The soft weather of the last few days has not only ruined the roads in this section of the province but horses are now punching through every step, so making traveling in this manner an ordeal instead of a pleasure.

Mr. Leonard Watson one of our local boys has been in Charlottetown during the past ten days attending the short course now in progress there.

Approximately fifty of our local population journeyed to Charlottetown on Friday, some to attend the Canadian meeting and some to attend the National Government Leader, Dr. Manion, others to attend the Mount Stewart, Summerside Crystal Hockey game being held there.

The drawing for the beautiful delicious cake which was raffled off at the Canadian meeting, near the Summerside Hotel, was held on Thursday evening immediately after the Kensington, New Annan Hockey game at Willie's Tea Rooms. Mrs. P. McBlane making the draw, the lucky winner was Miss Margaret Matthews.

Several of our local Charlottetown Junior Royals supporters left on Friday morning for St. John to witness the final game between the Royals and Beavers.

Mrs. Claude Cow has returned home from O'Leary, where she has been nursing her mother during the past ten days, and who she says is recovering very well on the way to recovery.

Miss Elsie O'Brien, returned to her home in O'Leary on Friday evening after a pleasant holiday with friends here.

Mr. John A. Burns returned home on Tuesday evening from Halifax, N. S., where he was a patient in Camp Hill Hospital during the past two weeks, undergoing a general check-up.

Many of our friends are pleased to see Mr. J. B. Mullan once again on our road after his recent illness.

Many local car owners are wondering just why government snow plows are not through from Charlottetown to Summerside before this? An observer says, "If they don't get through now, they never will."

RIBBENTROP

Papal envoys into the German-occupied sections of Poland would be discussed.

Von Ribbentrop found tension between Italy and Britain subsiding, and announced Saturday that he would refrain from bringing further shipments of German coal from Rotterdam. This agreement was regarded in diplomatic circles as indication of an Italian desire to avoid trouble.

The chief topic of today's conference appeared to have been Scandinavia. Responsible Italians said allied aid to Finland through Sweden and Norway could open a new war front in which both Germany and Russia soon would be fighting against Britain and France.

FINNS FEEL

The earlier Finnish announcement that a four-man delegation would be sent to negotiate peace with the Finnish public great indignation.

Terms of the Russian proposals that of a peace, a communique had been opened in Moscow to find out what possibilities exist for a cessation of hostilities and a resumption of peace, but that "no decision has been taken up to the present."

C. C. F. Critical Of Censorship

SYDNEY, N. S., March 10 (CP)—Criticism of the press and radio, M. J. Colwell, national chairman of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation, said today that he feared of Fascism right in our own country today.

Discussing the defence of Canada Act, he said the "regulations are drastic" adding that "we have the right to democratic institutions." This was not done by suppressing free speech through censorship and "practically outlawing members and organizations convicted of minor breaches of the act when the alleged offence was without any direct bearing on the successful prosecution of hostilities."

"Determination to bring the war to a successful conclusion is the aim of the C. C. F. as well as the Liberal and Conservative Parties," Colwell said in his public address. "But we are not in agreement with the older parties in the way this might be brought about."

He described the dissolution of parliament as "scuttling" by the Mackenzie King Government. This dissolution was one of the issues of the campaign, he declared.

The special fish taxes removed by the new pact are those of $5 per 100 kilograms on dried fish, smoked fish and other smoke fish and $100 kilograms on Canadian fish in brine or pickled fish, such as mackerel. They were imposed in 1934 since which time, the Minister said, fish from the Canadian Maritimes had been "practically totally excluded" from the market.

Mr. Isley added the exemption from Dominion tax enjoyed by Canadian wheat has been continued in the new agreement.

The agreement was obtained in consequence of the agreement, Mr. Isley's statement said, "would be of particular benefit to the inshore fishermen who produce the bulk of the fish to be marketed in their former market in the republic."

France Grateful For Wartime Aid Of Girl Guides

(By Gladys M. Arnold) (Canadian Press Correspondent)

PARIS, March 10 (CP)—Since outbreak of war, the work of the Girl Guides in France has been applied to social service and war work. Six months survey of their activities reveal tireless service in the tradition and spirit of Guiding which may be of interest and inspiration to their sister Guides in Canada.

In France the Guides are called "Belle Guides." They are divided into three groups—Catholic, Protestant and non-sectarian. There is a cordial inter-aid among the three.

At the moment of mobilization a Girl Guide Council was called and the Guides immediately offered their services to their country in whatever capacity they might be useful. The first and pressing need was aid in evacuating the school children of Paris and for the evacuated families of Alsace-Lorraine. The Guides of these eastern provinces and those of the rest of France co-ordinated their forces in this effort.

Twins in Service

A "station" service sprang into life in Paris the Chateaux and the Gare de l'Est and the Gare de l'Est (West Station) taking turns regularly. They welcomed, comforted and aided the French flying men in their flights, and in a remarkable capacity in finding ways to fulfill every demand. They established a canteen service; aided the Red Cross; prepared itineraries; found seats in trains; carried baggage; accompanied Paris-baby country folk across the city from one station to another; and, in the case of the latter, took complete charge of bewildered mothers and howling children. The sight of a trim blue uniform, or the little blue cape which the French Guides wear brought smiles to the faces of the station officials.

The Guides of Alsace performed invaluable service in the transportation of 500,000 Alsatians to the interior of France. These young girls, thanks to their Guide training, had much initiative and responsibility for every detail. They prepared valises and provisions.

The prestige of the Girl Guides in France is very high, their indefatigable and selfless service since the beginning of the war is to the honor of Guiding everywhere. One cannot help remembering that Guiding has been forbidden, and the organization suppressed, in the Third Reich where girls of the same age must belong to the "German Girls' Christian and principally aimed at giving National-Socialist political education.

Pilot Safe:— Missing R. C. A. F. Plane Located

PARRY SOUND, Ont., March 10 (CP)—Missing since early Saturday morning on a training flight from the frozen water of Georgian Bay, the Royal Canadian Air Force Pilot Officer F. A. Edmonds of Halifax was found near here early today by a search party.

The flying officer said he lost his way in a blizzard and his engine was missing. He spent the night in the shelter of a summer cabin. The propeller of his bombing plane was smashed in the landing but apparently the plane was not badly damaged.

Herbert Graham of Dillon Cove, caretaker for summer cottages, saw a plane descending, with its engine missing, a few hours ago and then it appeared to land but Graham thought no more of the incident until he heard Saturday evening that a flier was missing from Camp Borden.

The search party to Parry Sound and a search party was organized, consisting of game warden N. L. McNaughton, Dr. W. F. Brady, John Dick and Graham. The party went to Dillon Cove by motor car and then proceeded on snowshoes and skis more than 11 miles over the frozen water of Georgian Bay.

Dr. W. F. Brady said there was a bad blizzard during the night "and we had to rely on the stars for direction."

They found Edmonds in a summer cottage not far from his plane and brought him to Parry Sound. Edmonds was tired but apparently suffered no ill-effects. He is the 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Edmonds of Halifax. He joined the R. C. A. F. last September.

"I started on a reconnaissance flight early Saturday," Edmonds explained. "My engine was missing and I turned to head again for Camp Borden. But there was quite a blizzard at the time and I lost my way. I landed three miles from where I was found."

I tried to find my way to some dog tracks which I followed some. McNaughton afterwards told me there were not dog tracks, but wolf tracks. When night came on I took shelter in a summer cabin."

From Office Boy To L. C. C. Chief

LONDON, March 10 (CP)—Emil Davies, a self-educated "poor man's friend" who started a successful business life as office boy to a dog biscuit manufacturer, is now the new chairman of the London County Council, the body that rules the Metropolis' municipal affairs.

While working in the biscuit factory young Davies studied foreign languages at evening classes. He started himself up the "thorny road" to a successful manufacturer, dreamed possible. Eventually he became foreign correspondent for a mining firm in the Kaifir boom days of 1933. He has been a figure in London's financial district ever since and now is director of several investment trusts. It was his genius for finance that first placed him on the L. C. C. seats to entitle them to an alderman.

Mr. Davies took the job, and held the office until he was elected to the L. C. C. in an election fight, until he came to L. C. C. chairman. For some years he was lecturer in business economics at Leeds University and in the United States.

He has written books on finance, railways and local government.

Baronet Runs For Commons

RED DEER, Alta., March 10 (CP)—Sir Arthur Donhouse, National Government candidate for Red Deer in the Dominion Election, March 26, holds a baronetcy that dates back to the reign of Charles II. He is the 17th holder of the title. A native of Oxford, he became Sir Arthur in December, 1937, on the death of a cousin, the old family manor is Radley College.

Sir Arthur came to Canada in 1903 when he was 18 years old. He took a course at the New Brunswick agricultural college and came west to farm near Lacombe, Alta. Although he left Alberta for a number of years to pursue a mining venture in Mexico, he returned to Canada in 1911 and since then has farmed at Pine Lake, 15 miles southeast of Red Deer.

This is not his first venture into politics. In 1925 he ran as a Conservative candidate for the provincial riding. That was the year Social Credit swept the Alberta political field. Sir Arthur, who was 22 years of age at the time, received only 318 votes in the approximate 4,000 cast in the riding.

He is married and has one son and three daughters. His son, Philip, is now a student at the Queen's University. The daughters, Geraldine, Margaret and Marjorie Kathleen, live at home.

Anzacs On Spot For Fine Setup In Middle East To Germans

(Written For The Canadian Press) (By Major-Gen. Sir Charles Gwynn) LONDON, March 10 (CP)—Arrival of the Australians and New Zealanders in Palestine and Egypt is welcome not only as a proof of the unity of the Empire but as a substantial addition to our military strength.

The new Anzacs are of the same quality as their predecessors. Egypt needs no doubt it, there will be no better fighting troops in the Allied Armies.

Why have they disembarked in Egypt? One good reason is that the British Empire needs a large number of troops in the Middle East. The world is split between Hitler and Stalin, I imagine. All we know at present is that, pending developments, the Allies think it wise to maintain a substantial reserve there.

Many nationalities, under General Weigand's command.

Allies in South Africa

In Egypt and Palestine, British, Indians, contingents from Cyprus and Malta, and now the Anzacs, are united under General Weigand in Syria there is a strong French contingent. Turkish north again there is the Turkish army ready to cooperate.

What changes have occurred in the Middle East since the Anzacs were there in the last war? Then the Muslim world was divided and a large part of it fought for Germany, threatening Egypt from two sides and engaging large numbers of our troops in Galipoli, Palestine and Mesopotamia. Today the Muslim world is wholeheartedly in sympathy with the Allies—in India, Afghanistan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, the Transjordan and above all Turkey. The Arab kingdoms have renewed their traditional friendship with Great Britain.

If the Allies are on such good terms with their neighbors in the East, it is not surprising that a strong force there is advisable. Perhaps its main object is to act as a deterrent, as a proof that our alliance with Egypt and the Anglo-French guarantees to Turkey and Rumania are no mere scraps of paper, and as the centre from which help could be brought to Britain's friends should the war spread.

Turk as Fighter

It would be strange if these new Anzacs found themselves sailing through the Dardanelles, which their predecessors fought so hard to force, but this time it is fight against the Turk not against him.

They would find the Turk the same gallant fighting man that he has always been, but now better trained and equipped. Kemal Ataturk is no longer there to lead, but the influence of a man of his genius does not cease with his death. The present president, Mustafa Kemal, is a professional soldier and was Kemal Ataturk's right hand man as prime minister. We may feel confident that the Turkish armies will be well commanded.

The wireless operator had a lucky escape for he had left the wireless room only a few minutes before the explosion occurred and his cabin collapsed."

There passed away on Sunday morning at the home of his daughter Mrs. Snogren on Milton Avenue, Summerside, one of the best known in the city. He was 71 years of age. Mr. Smith had been in failing health all winter suffering from the effects of a paralytic stroke. He had resided in Summerside for the last three years and was formerly of Florenceville, N. B. He was a member of the Baptist Church there. He was one of the most highly esteemed residents and friends will learn with regret of his passing. He leaves to mourn his wife and daughter, Mrs. Clarence Snogren of Summerside, one son, Malcolm at Florenceville, N. B., and a son and daughter residing in New Brunswick.

On Sunday afternoon a short service was held at the Compton Funeral Home which was conducted by Rev. J. B. Wilson the body resting there until this morning when it will be forwarded by the morning train to Florenceville where a service will be held at the home of his son, Mr. Malcolm Smith. Mr. Clarence Snogren, who is manager of the Selrite Store at Summerside, will accompany the body.

Campaign Enters Final Two Weeks

(By Louis Lechner) Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, March 10 (AP)—Breaking with the traditional way of celebrating Germany's memorial day, Adolf Hitler today sounded a "war cry" of "to victory."

Hitler in a 11-minute speech, said he would press on to "the most glorious victory in Germany's history."

"The world desires our dissolution," the Fuehrer told 600 guests in the Zeughaus military museum. On other occasions through the world he has spoken at a house for memorial day services.

"Our only reply can be the greatest of all times: 'on to victory,'" he shouted.

"I live for but one task," Hitler said. "Day and night to think of victory, to work and fight for the triumph of our people. This was my own life in the conviction that this time Germany's future will be secured."

"May providence permit us to conclude the last chapter of this struggle of nations honorably for Germany," he said.

Upon a must turn out to be the most glorious victory in German history.

His speech was devoid of reference to diplomatic manoeuvring over the Russo-Finnish war or foreign minister Von Ribbentrop's journey to Rome for conferences with Premier Mussolini.

But for the fact March 25 falls on Easter Monday the civil population of the dominion would vote two weeks from tomorrow. The holiday made it necessary to hold the customary Monday voting.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King will return to the platform this week with a meeting in Montreal and Thursday night in Toronto. No other platform engagements have been announced for the government leader.

Conservative leader Manion, who has been campaigning almost steadily since early in February, and has visited every province, will open his week in Quebec City then travel through Ontario with at least one meeting every day this week.
