A very social function took place at the home of Benjamin Newson, Kingston, on Tuesday evening, Sept 14th, when about forty members and friends of the Kingston Baptist church assembled to do honor to Misses Thankful and Laura Newson on the eve of their departure for the United States. The purpose of the gathering was to make known to the two young ladies the esteem in which they are held by their brothers and sisters in the church, and the latter's appreciation of their services in the choir. For the past few years Miss Laura has been the official organist of the church, maintaining this position even at considerable sacrifice to herself, especially during her absence from home attending the Charlottetown Business College. For a number of years past Miss Thankful has been a faithful and tireless worker in the church and choir, from both of which she will be much missed. Deacon Daniel T. Francis, appointed chairman, and after fitting exercises, the purpose of the meeting, called upon Pastor S. H. Cornwall to deliver the address of the occasion. Pastor Cornwall responded in his usual fine style, with Christian warmth and fervor, expressing on behalf of the friends of the church, his regrets at the departure of the two young sisters, his appreciation of their personal worth, as well as his desire for their highest welfare in the future. Deacon Fraser then presented each with an envelope, containing a sum of money, as a more tangible proof of the esteem in which they are held. The young ladies suitably expressed their thanks and appreciation of the spirit of the gathering and of the gift. After the friends had joined heartily in singing, all sat down to a generous repast. Besides doing honor to the guests, as well as to strengthen the bonds of Christian fellowship as it was designed to do.

The services in connection with the dedication of the new St. Mary's Church, Summerside, held on Sunday and Monday the 12th and 13th inst, were very satisfactory and effective. At 8 o'clock Sunday morning the Rector celebrated Holy Communion, when a large number of communicants received the Blessed Sacrament. At 11 a. m. the Bishop celebrated, offering special prayers of dedication; he also preached an appropriate and eloquent sermon on the accessories of public worship as instruments to bring the soul in communion with God. At this service the assistants were Rev. D. Hunt and the rector; in the afternoon the Bishop proceeded to St. Eleanor's and confirmed 15 persons. His address to the candidates and congregation was immensely practical and made a deep impression on his hearers. In the evening there was choral even song followed by the continuation of 7 persons. The Bishop's sermon on the subject The Light of the World was most helpful and inspiring. On Monday morning service was held at 10 o'clock, when the Bishop spoke to the W. S. on the work of the organization. In the afternoon a very enjoyable at home was given to visitors, by the ladies of St. Mary's Church, on E. J. Massy's beautiful grounds. In the evening service was held in the church at 8 o'clock. Canon Simpson was prevented from speaking by an attack of illness. The Rector publicly thanked the Rev. R. G. Strathie and the Presbyterian congregation of Summerside for their kindness in granting St. Mary's people the use of their Hall for Divine Service, since the fire of 1906 which destroyed the English Church, Rectory and Guild Hall. He also thanked the Methodists of Summerside through the Rev. H. Johnson, for a similar offer. Both Rev. R. G. Strathie and Rev. H. Johnson responded on behalf of themselves and those whom they represented. Addresses were also given by the Rev. Rural Dean Nicholson, Rev. Henry Harper and the Rev. C. W. Vernon. The Congregations that assembled at these services were very large. The Music was well rendered throughout, and reflected credit upon the respective organists and choirs. Two most happy days were spent in the Sanctuary of God by St. Mary's congregation and their friends. The offerings for the building fund were very generous.

On the lawn of D. A. Martin, Postmaster, Montague, may be seen the hollyhocks nine feet eight inches in height. They have constantly bloomed for ten weeks and by appearances will last until the end of the season. Next?

FRIDAY

The election case of Tanton vs Prowse came up yesterday morning again. The usual legal procedure in the examination of witnesses took place, and no important evidence was elicited. The following witnesses were examined:—John Beaton, Marin Blanchard, Nelson McCoubrey, George Younker, Ben Houghton, Reaney Jenkins, Andrew McG Smith, J. McLeod, James Cook, Ben Byers and George J. Rogers. At the last meeting of Victoria Division, Sons of Temperance, a very distinguished honor was conferred on one of its oldest members, by the election of Brother J. J. Chappell, to the position of an Honorary Member after serving the Order faithfully for upwards of forty-six years. The Guardian extends congratulations, and only hope the recipient may live many years to enjoy this well deserved honor.

Rev. E. S. Weeks will be the preacher on the Bideford Circuit next Sunday. He will take charge of the services from that date. During his absence for four weeks the following brethren preached with much acceptance:—A. S. McKay, Summerside; Wm H. Smith, Cascumpec; Thos Moyle, Bedeque; Rev H. Pierce, Pleasant Valley. At the last meeting of Victoria Division, Sons of Temperance, a very distinguished honor was conferred on one of its oldest members, by the election of Brother J. J. Chappell, to the position of an Honorary Member after serving the Order faithfully for upwards of forty-six years. The Guardian extends congratulations, and only hope the recipient may live many years to enjoy this well deserved honor.

Rev George Steele, Bedeque, Chairman, will revisit his old field of labor Sunday, Sept. 19th, preaching at Vernon River in the morning, Cherry Valley in the afternoon, Pownall in the evening. His memory is fragrant, and his wise counsels did not fall to the ground, but are exemplified in the lives and actions of not a few. He may confidently expect large and appreciative audiences.—Com.

The Financial District Meeting of the Methodist Church, for the Summerside District, convened in the Church, Cape Traverse, Sept 7th, at 10 o'clock a. m., Rev. George Steele, Chairman of the District presiding. After the usual devotional exercises, consisting of singing, scriptural lessons and prayer, the following ministers and laymen answered to their names:—Rev H. Johnson, Geo Steel, Wm Thomson, J. B. Gough, H. Pierce, E. S. Weeks, E. A. Westmoreland, H. A. Brown and J. A. Bruce, J. B. Lea and Wm Mutlow. The financial statement of the work was then renewed and found to be in a prosperous and hopeful condition there being one Mission in District and that one gave evidence of efforts towards independence. After the appointment of Assessable Conference funds and the arrangement of Missionary Education and Stewardship, to assist each other in the state of the work was renewed and fully discussed and it was resolved aside on all circuits throughout the District that the first week in Nov be set apart for special prayer for the work of God in District, and that Superintendents hold themselves in readiness, to assist each other in special work. The evening service at which Rev J. B. Gough gave a thoughtful and helpful sermon brought to a close a most profitable District meeting.

When T. J. Connolly, who keeps a store on Elm Ave, where the late D. L. Hooper had his stand, opened up his shop early yesterday morning he found that customers had preceded him in the very early hours of the morning and had effected an entrance at the rear of the store. The burglars removed a pane of glass in a window at the back of the shop, and loosened a bar that was in their way. After getting inside they evidenced their taste for the weed by helping themselves to a good share of the varieties of tobacco in stock. They also took the loose change in the till, which amounted to about three dollars.

The mode of entrance suggested the fact that the thieves were not very experienced ones—probably more of the work of Charlottetown's youthful burglars who have been doing the own lately.

Arthur Monaghan, Kelly's Cross, aged about thirty years, met with a very serious accident Wednesday, so serious that it is hardly possible that any other than fatal results will ensue. Mr Monaghan was driving a team with a load of oats, when the horse took fright at the shifting of the load. The load struck a post and the driver was thrown off striking the ground with great force. His nephew witnessed the accident, and luckily arriving at his uncle's side found him lying unconscious. He had the injured man removed from the field to the house and Dr. McGrath was called in. The Doctor found that five of the injured man's ribs were broken close to back-bone, and that two small bones in one ankle were also broken. At a late hour yesterday evening the patient's condition was unchanged.

Important Telegraphic News of the week for Saturday Subscribers.

BOSTON, Sept 10.—Lady Elizabeth of Tully Fergus is the latest British title acquired by a Boston girl through marriage, and she and her husband, Lord Fergus, who recently came to this city from the Far East, will be given a reception at the home of Mrs H. O. Ames at No. 37 Glenwood street, Roxbury, tomorrow evening. The Lord and Lady of Tully Fergus are in Boston on a honeymoon tour and their wedding is the culmination of a hospital romance in a Western mining camp.

A Scotch nobleman, who was a patient in a Red Cross Institution, fell in love with the nurse who was its superintendent. Her tender sympathy and kind solicitude won the gratitude of the adventurous scion of an ancient Scottish house, and when he convalesced he found that if he had regained his health he had also lost his heart. He wooed and won the fair nurse and now there is a new lady of the manor for a domain in old Scotland.

William Millar, the Lord of Tully Fergus, was in Victor, mining camp in Colorado, when his health failed, and he went to a hospital. It was there he met Miss Elizabeth Ida Melinda Clark, who was born in Prince Edward Island, and came to Boston a number of years ago. At first she was engaged in dressmaking but she had keen interest in caring for the sick, and began to study nursing. When she had become qualified for the work she left her city for the West, where there is always need of hospital attendance, and became a nurse in the Red Cross institution in Victor.

WINS HEALTH; LOSES HEART. When the Scotch nobleman became a patient in the hospital, Miss Clark, who had by that time become its superintendent, took special interest in his case. He was manly and cultured and had had an adventurous career in Cripple Creek and other mining camps, and had gained and lost fortune in the great hazardous game of winning precious ores from the earth. He left the hospital to attend to his mining interests, but the fair face of the pretty nurse-superintendent continued to haunt his mind. It was hard for him to keep away from the hospital where he had met his heart's desire. He was frequently Miss Clark's escort when she was able to attend entertainments and Victor society took great interest in the romance.

The prediction of those who said that the Lord of Tully Fergus, who recently inherited in Scotland an estate estimated at $2,000,000 in value, would wed the nurse, were verified on August 26, when they were married by the Rev. J. V. Ewart in the Presbyterian Church in Victor. The wedding was one of the great social events of the town. Five hundred invitations were extended and after the ceremony there was a reception in a hospital. In fact to show how fortunate he felt himself to be in winning such a bride, the Scotch nobleman bought the hospital wherein he had met her.

JOURNEY TO BOSTON. After the reception my lord and lady left for a wedding trip East. They journeyed through Canada and arrived in Boston early last week. Much of their time since they have been here has been devoted to visiting the bride's relatives. Her brothers, Charles and Wellington G. Clark, are both prominent residents of Brookline. Mrs Ames, who will be the hostess of the newly-wed tomorrow evening is the bride's sister.

On Tuesday the Lord and Lady of Tully Fergus will leave Boston for Prince Edward Island to visit her mother, and from the provinces they will sail for Scotland to enable the bridegroom to attend to business in connection with his estate there. But it is not his plan to remain in the ancestral home. The call of the West is ever in his ears, and he intends to return to Colorado and make Victor the home of himself and bride.

The reception at the home of Mrs Ames will be one of the most notable society events which Boston has witnessed for years. More than one hundred guests have been invited. The lady Tully Fergus is a niece of Charles Smallwood, Richmond street, city, and with her husband will visit here this week.

HALIFAX, Sept. 13—(Special.)—The Maritime Amateur Athletic Association at today's meeting postponed until October the election of a successor to Lithgow. Cameron of Amherst will receive the gold medal in addition to the championship medal for establishing a new record.

ST. JOHN, Sept. 11—Apparently no one wants Mrs. Phoebe Gallant, the unfortunate P. E. Island woman who, it will be remembered, was held up here by the United States immigration officials some time ago. She is now in the municipal home and despite the efforts of Secretary S. M. Wetmore, who desires, if possible, to have her restored to her relatives, is liable to stay there, with the possibility of becoming a county charge.

WAS STOPPED HERE. Mrs. Gallant, who was born on P. E. Island and who has relatives there with whom Mr. Wetmore has communicated, removed to Boston some years ago. In Boston she conducted a lodging house. This summer she visited her relatives on the island, and was returning to Boston via St. John when she was detained by the United States immigration men, on the ground that she was not possessed of enough money to permit her to be passed over the border. Always a sufferer from rheumatism, her ailment became more acute while she was detained here and after being cared for a few days at the Grand Union hotel, she was removed to the municipal home, practically a helpless cripple. U.S. OFFICIALS ASKED FOR BOND Mr. Wetmore communicated with relatives in Boston and $50 was forwarded to her, which would have been more than enough to entitle her to proceed to her journey. In the meantime, however, the United States immigration officials decided that, in view of her condition, it would be necessary for her relatives in Boston to put up a $500 bond that she would not become a public charge if admitted to the United States. This was more than a month ago and ever since Secretary Wetmore has been endeavoring to find some of her relatives or friends who would be willing to become her sponsors. So far, however, he has been unsuccessful. NO REPLY TO LETTERS. Letters sent to Boston and P. E. Island have brought no reply and it now appears that the unfortunate women has become abandoned by those whose duty it is to care for her. The case is one of the saddest and most complicated which has come to the attention of the municipal home officials.
