The wrestling match in the People's Theatre last night was attended by about 300 people. Jim Smart proposed to down Jim Prokes once in an hour, to hold and strangleholds barred, for a purse of $100. C. H. Oberdick was chosen as referee and Byron Brown as timer. The match started at 9.20 and in the ensuing contest the swift work of the preceding engagement between these two men was somewhat lessened owing to the fact that Prokes was not forced to work but kept on the defensive while Smart had to be the aggressor. In his defense work Prokes was splendid and broke many sure looking holds. Smart at one time was warned for adopting improper tactics. He had a stranglehold and when made let it go he left the mat, having to be called back. Prokes held his man for about eight minutes more and refused to wrestle though requested to do so many times by the referee, saying Smart had to do the work. The match ended with no falls and Prokes was therefore declared the winner. The Manager of the theatre states that as the public do not evidently appreciate the low prices charged the Prokes-Smart match will probably be the last match staged for some considerable time.

PARLIAMENT TO ASSEMBLE ON WEDNESDAY

LONDON, Feb. 12—Superstition regarding the number thirteen, according to the parliamentary correspondent of the London Times, is responsible for parliament not reassembling tomorrow.

The 13 with the day first fixed by the government, but when this became known, the Irish Nationalists urged that the date be changed as the number thirteen was unlucky and an ill men for the beginning of the home rule bill session.

The ministry were complaisant and though it is not necessarily to be supposed that they share the superstition of their allies, they changed the date to the 14th (St. Valentine's Day). That is how it comes about that parliament will re-assemble on Wednesday.

IN FEARFUL PREDICAMENT.

SUBBURY, Ont. Feb. 12—With both feet and both hands and his face badly frozen, John Taho, a Finlander, lies in the hospital here today in a critical condition due to his efforts to save time and a four mile walk.

Taho has been visiting friends at Copper Cliff and on entering the depot to take the train back to Sudbury, noticed it was just leaving. He ran and got onto the step out side the vestibule and there he hung.

Soon after starting his face became frozen, then his hands. He decided to escape the agonizing cold by jumping from the train into a snowbank, while the train was in motion, but as soon as he attempted to remove his hands, he found them frozen to the rails to which he was hanging. He may not live, and if he does, will lose both hands and feet.

LONDON'S DRESS-SUIT BURGLAR.

LONDON, Feb. 12—A novel method of breaking and entering other people's premises has been adopted by a man who is believed to be known to the police as an expert burglar. Recently complaints have been received that efforts have been made to break into a number of flats in the west end, and investigation has shown that the method employed has in each case been similar.

Apparently the criminal, a well dressed gentlemanly looking man, sometimes attired in a dress suit and immaculate white shirt and at others in a dark suit, with flat-crowned, broad-brimmed bowler hat and light fawn overcoat of "Newmarket" cut, drives up to a block of flats in a taxicab during the early hours of the morning. He asks the night porter for a number, and, instead of using the lift, prefers to walk upstairs. Next he cuts a panel out of the front door of the flat, and by this gains an entrance, rifling the rooms at his leisure.

The last exploit occurred at Bickenhall Mansion, but he must have been disturbed, for when the servants put in an appearance the front door of a flat was found pierced through, and a leather bag of tools was found on the mat outside it. This bag contained a well-made brace and bits, a powerful jimmy, screw-driver, nail extractor, putty knife, and a peculiar silk handkerchief ornamented with red striped squares. The police have reason to believe the criminal is working in collusion with the driver of a taxicab.

RUSSIA TAKES STEPS TO STOP WAR OF ITALY AND TURKEY

ROME, Feb. 12—Details of the proposals made by Russia for peace between Italy and Turkey are not known, but it has been disclosed that they are based on the necessity of stopping the war and averting the danger of complications in the Balkans. The situation in the Balkans is regarded by Russia as most serious and she has therefore assumed the initiative in an attempt to bring hostilities to a close.

The proposal has been communicated to Germany, Austria, France and England, with a suggestion of a joint action by all these powers. It is understood that it was not suggested that there be an armistice during the negotiations for peace.

Russia's motives for opening the negotiations are based on Italy's decision not to extend the sphere of hostilities to the lower Mediterranean and not to take decisive action to hasten the ending of the war. She therefore suggests a concerted movement to stop a conflict which Italy is bound to continue, at any cost, under the present programme, even if complications in the Balkans follow.
