

Priest of Lepers To Be Beatified

MASSACHUSETTS CATHOLICS WILL PRESENT CASE AT ROME COURT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—Father Damien, the priest who dedicated his life to the Molokai leper colony in the Pacific, is to be beatified, it was learned in Catholic circles here yesterday.

Steps looking toward his beatification and eventually his canonization have been taken by the monastery of the Congregation of the Sacred Hearts at Fairhaven, Massachusetts, and Father Marie Joseph Miguel, Procurator General of the Congregation, has been appointed postulator of the process to take up the case of beatification at Rome.

He will be assisted by Father Victorinus Claessen, of the Hawaiian Islands and Father Raphael Van Winckel, of Louvain, Belgium, near where Father Damien was born.

Their work of preparing the case in favor of the canonization of Father Damien may require much time, probably several years. First the case is brought before the Congregation of the Holy Office and finally before the Ecclesiastical Court. An eminent canon law authority—the Advocatus Diaboli, as he is sometimes called—takes the role of prosecuting attorney and disputes every step of the process.

If the candidate successfully passes he is merely blessed, and then the final step toward sainthood is gone through. This usually requires 10 years or so.

The Sacred Hearts Congregation at Fairhaven, Mass., is a dependency of the Belgian province of the same congregation, and it was this congregation which Father Damien joined at the age of 18. In 1863, when he was 23 years old, Father Damien went to Honolulu where he resided for ten years, during which time he was struck with the sad condition of the lepers, deported by the Hawaiian Government to the Island of Molokai.

In 1873 Father Damien volunteered to take spiritual charge of the settlement, where he spent the remainder of his life. Frequently working with his own hands, Father Damien improved the island's water supply, its dwellings and its food. He died at the age of 49, in 1889, himself a leper.

A brilliant letter in his defence was written by Robert Louis Stevenson after Father Damien was criticized by a man named Hyde.

A little steel spring caused a delay of some hours in the start from here. One of the motion picture cameras the party is taking went out of commission and another part could not be secured in Saint John, but the trouble was adjusted after a bit of worry.

The heavy wheels and undercarriage of the plane will be removed for shipment to Liverpool from Montreal tomorrow.

"We won't need them again until we get to England and in addition to reducing our load for the Atlantic flight their removal will add six miles an hour to our speed as they offer great wind resistance," Hutchinson explained.

Following removal of the undercarriage some difficulty was encountered in refueling the plane as it could be brought only a short distance up the seaplane runway. Finally a large truck bearing gasoline was backed into the water on the runway, a 50-foot hose linked to the plane, and 230 gallons of fuel put into the ship. The amphibian rose from the water without trouble.

"This is not a hazardous trip," Hutchinson reiterated today. "I would not take my wife and family if it were. His children Kathryn and Janet, are eight and six years old."

Peter Redpath, Joseph Ruff and Gerald Alfijisch are making the trip as navigator, mechanic and radio operator, respectively, Norman W. Alley is the photographer.

DAMAGED IN COLLISION — Two cars were badly damaged and their occupants shaken up in a collision about half a mile west of Brookfield on the Malpeque Road about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A Studebaker, driven by Mr. Neil Durant, Summerside, proceeding in the direction of Charlottetown, and a Chevrolet, driven by Mr. Edward Martin, Hunter River, proceeding in the direction of Hunter River, were the cars involved in the accident. The latter car was overturned in the ditch. Mrs. Durant, who was riding in the Chevrolet, received slight injuries from flying glass. Both cars had the left front wheels, bumpers, left fenders and running boards, springs, headlights and windshields smashed. The Mounted Police are investigating the matter.

Wins Mixed Doubles Title

OTTAWA, Aug. 24—(By The Canadian Press)—Miss Phyllis Rykert and George LeClerc won the mixed doubles championship of New Brunswick here tonight on the courts of the Rideau lawn tennis club 6-2, 6-2. The winners played at the top of their game while both losers were off form and never got going.

The match was originally scheduled to be played last Saturday at Newcastle, N. B., but rain caused postponement of the event and the New Brunswick club decided the championship could be decided in Ottawa as all four contestants came from here.

INVESTIGATING

Bursar's office extending over a period of years. Definite figures are not available but enough are already known to indicate what government officials call "a grave situation."

Bursar and chairman of the Board of Governors is J. A. Machray, K.C., who made no statement today.

Several funds which make up the university endowment trust have been partially depleted, including the Dominion Government Land Fund, the Rockefeller Fund and an endowment of $500,000, for the medical faculty—and the Isbister Fund of approximately $130,000.

A large number of smaller funds are held in trust by the University and several of these are known to have suffered losses. Responsibility for administration of affairs of the University including its endowment trusts, is vested by statute in the Board of Governors.

Marketing Of 1932 Wheat Crop

OTTAWA, Aug. 24—(By The Canadian Press)—Financial arrangements for the marketing of the 1932 wheat crop were discussed between Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and several of his colleagues with representatives of the Prairie Provinces today. The conference was described afterwards as "highly satisfactory."

Renewal of the 1931 line of credit for marketing this year's crop, if it becomes necessary with the banks, was the basis of discussion. Under the arrangement by which the 1931 crop was marketed, the three Western Provinces waded their securities on the current assets of the pools as the first margin of security. The Dominion Government also passed an Order-in-Council guaranteeing the banks any loss.

The marketing of last year's crop, it is stated, worked out very successfully and there is the question as to whether the banks should again require the same line of credit and security this year.

With Prime Minister Bennett at the meeting were Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce and Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture.

the railway and associated enterprises. The duties performed by the respective officers have been carefully scrutinized in the light of existing circumstances and arrangements have been made for the abolition or consolidation of such positions as can be dispensed with without impairing efficiency.

Moreover positions calling for salary payments of $8,000 a year and upwards have been placed on a lower basis of compensation. "A year ago" in August 1931, a general reduction of ten per cent was applied to the salaries of officers and supervisory forces, it being understood that this reduction was to apply for a limited period but with the continuing decline in traffic and the special circumstances of the situation it was necessary to take additional action.

As a result measures will become effective on Sept. 1st which will reduce the total salary payments to officers by approximately three quarters of a million dollars per year over and above the amount secured by the former ten per cent reduction alluded to and other measures previously made effective.

"It was realized that the existing circumstances called for a more than ordinarily rigid review of the official positions and compensation especially as the Canadian National Railways has emerged from a period in which major consolidations of lines and construction have been proceeding, also re-organization of departments and development of standard and improved practices leading to economies in all operations, during which time it was necessary to have a somewhat larger number of executive and supervisory officers than would be required on a property which was engaged only with the work of transportation and maintenance. The Canadian National Railways administration has during the past two years brought about very large economies in payments to official personnel, the total annual supervisory costs having been reduced by more than one third.

"We have every confidence that the steps now decided upon for the adjustment of salaries on a lower basis will be viewed by the Canadian National staff and the public alike as being in the best interests of the property and necessary to meet existing conditions. Every care has been taken in making the changes to retain for the company the services of an efficient and experienced personnel and it should be emphasized that in making the survey and the changes the management was guided by its own experience and its knowledge of the officers and of the work they are called upon to perform."

The economic waste in the purchase of liquor during these hard times is strikingly demonstrated in the W.C.T.U. booth where in a big cabinet are shown the variety of eatables, (groceries, cereals, etc.) that can be bought for $5, the price of a bottle of whiskey. $5 will furnish ten meals for a family at the rate of 50 cents a meal, and to emphasize that fact a table is set showing the wholesome viands that this meal may consist of. On the walls of the booth are displayed strikingly mottoes such as: "If we do not destroy alcohol, alcohol will destroy us."

God Save the King. The horse races, vaudeville and midway continued to be outstanding attractions.

The mammoth parade of livestock will be held before the grandstand at 4 o'clock today and will include the prize winners among the cattle and horses. The procession will be headed by the band and by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, mounted.

Poultry. The poultry exhibit this year is the largest and best ever. Mr. J. P. Landry of the Truro Agricultural College who is judging the poultry and who judged the same classes eight or nine years ago, states that he has noticed a decided improvement in the quality of the exhibit. There are large classes of Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, White Wyandottes, Buff Orpingtons. The classes of ducks, geese, and turkeys were creditable in every way. There is an enormous egg exhibit this year. There are nineteen entries for the ten dozen case prizes.

Women's Institute. The Women's Institutes have a booth upstairs and also a rest room. In the former are being demonstrated methods of serving hot lunches to pupils at midday. The equipment and menu are being shown, and further details may be had on application to the Women's Institute, Charlottetown.

The school lunch is attracting more attention today than ever before. Educational authorities, realizing that food has an important relation to health, and health, in turn, a direct bearing on the capacity of the child to learn, are urging that steps be taken to make the school lunch the best possible substitute for the regular mid-day meal. In rural districts this problem can be solved to some extent through the combined efforts of the Women's Institute, Teacher, School authorities, and pupils, and a simple hot dish can be prepared to supplement the box lunch brought from home.

The individual equipment may be brought from home by each child, if funds are lacking to buy them for the school. But it is much better if the school owns the dishes, because then they will be equal in size which contributes toward fairness in serving and the uniform design of the dishes will please the artistic sense.

Serving the Hot Lunch. In the one room school the individual desks of the pupils make quite satisfactory tables. At meal-time the top of the desk may be covered with a piece of oil cloth, a cotton serviette, or a paper napkin. Here the child takes his food from his lunch box, and each of the older pupils takes his or her turn at serving the hot dish to the pupils at their desks.

Art Exhibit. The art exhibit is well up to the standard of other years, both in number of entries and quality. The china painting classes especially are well filled. Miss Doull's showing of Island pottery is attracting much attention. The judges of the exhibit are Miss Ruth Miller and Mrs. A. W. Trueman.

Roots and Vegetables. The past season has been very favorable for the growth of the vegetables and roots, and the exhibit this year both in numbers and quality is an advance over that of 1931.

Fruit. The showing of early varieties of fruit is very creditable. The entries are larger in number and even better in quality than they were a year ago, according to the opinion of the judges.

Sidney Rafuse, Freckleton's brother-in-law, who was in the bank talking to Manager W. P. Robertson when the action started, came before Magistrate Charles Wood at Windsor today on a charge of attempted armed robbery, and was remanded for a week. He is being held incommunicado, following a visit to the jail last night by an unknown man.

Both Freckleton and Rafuse were former bank employees. Rafuse was manager of the Royal Bank branch at Lousbourg for several years, and also worked in Halifax and Sydney branches. Freckleton was for a time a junior in the Halifax main office.

Just how police learned the day and hour the attempted hold-up was to take place was officially undisclosed, though it was reported the information had been overheard in a Halifax speakeasy and passed on to city detective Thomas Kennedy and officer James Ker, who had part in yesterday's gunfight.

Freckleton had been employed some time ago by a Truro clothing store, and had been discharged. A case against him alleging misappropriation of funds was pending in court.
