The Million Dollar Doll
By C. N. & A. M. Williamson

"You're Cinderella," he muttered. That couldn't hurt you, could it?"

Sheridan sprang to his feet, and clasped her in his arms. He kissed her as if they were part of a marriage—the war—and the child was so young. Yet sometimes it has seemed as if your face—and then, when Nazlo called you "Miss Desmond"—still still it didn't come back to me."

"I thought you said he'd told you!" Terry cried.

"He told me you weren't Juliet Divine, that you were ten years younger than she. He said your name was Desmond, that he'd met you at your father's house. Oh, my child, how glad I am it's you, not Nazlo who gives my Cinderella back to me!"

"I'm glad too," Terry said, keeping back tears. "But I shouldn't have spoken if I hadn't thought you knew. I'd have felt treacherous to Julia, after such a solemn promise as made. And she had done so much for me. She's my sister—father's daughter, not mother's—and I've worshipped her all my life as my fairy Princess. Just as I've worshipped you as my Prince."

Sheridan pressed his lips against the girl's white dress. It smelled sweet, like violets, and the fragrance seemed to express her as the scent of red roses, or magnolias would express Juliet Divine. But his kiss meant that never again would one thought against Juliet pass the lips that touched her little sister's gown.

TERRY'S SOUL-SEARCHING

"I can't think, if she knew about us, that Miss Divine would mind the story—why she didn't come on the night she was coming out," he said. "You needn't tell me the sex of the cruise herself, or why she let a child like you take such risks—till she gives you permission."

"The biggest and best part I know. And it's the sweetest, dearest thing that ever happened to me. Commencing on the south side of Water Street at the west boundary of Water Lot in possession of Abner Howatt and running thence westward along the south side of Water Street a distance of 124 feet which will extend 1 foot west of Angus Brien's warehouse to a Water Lot belonging to Jabez Hudson and running with parallel lines to the bed of Crapaud River and containing three Water Lots."

The above sale is made under a power of sale contained in an indenture of Mortgage dated the 15th day of April, 1932, made between Beattie Howatt, of Victoria, Widow, LeRoy Howatt, Merchant, and Amy Howatt, wife of the said LeRoy Howatt, of the one part, and DeBlois Bros. Limited of Charlottetown of the other part, default having been made in payment of the principal and interest thereon secured.

For further particulars apply to McLeod & Bentley, Solicitors, Charlottetown.

"THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER"

One of the strongest indictments of war recently published is that by Dr. Henry Fordick, of New York, which was printed in the Christian World of London. Dr. Fordick says: "I have an account to settle between my soul and the Unknown Soldier."

You may not say that I, being a Christian minister, did not know him. I knew him well. From the north of the South Sea, where they planted the sea with mines, to the trenches of France, I lived with him and his fellows, British, Australian, New Zealander, French, American. The places where he fought, from Ypres through the Somme battlefield to the Somme, I lived with him while he still was there. I lived with him in dugouts, in the trenches, and on destroyers, searching for submarines off the shores of France.

Short of actual battle, from training camp to hospital, from the fleet to No-Man's Land, I, a Christian minister, saw the war. I was a Christian minister who participated in it. I, too, was persuaded that it was a war to end war. I, too, was a gullible fool and thought that modern war could somehow make the world safe for democracy. They sent me like me to explain to the army the high meanings of war, and, by every argument we could command, to strengthen their morale. I wonder if I ever spoke to the Unknown Soldier.

Deceived Himself, He Deceived Others

One night in a ruined barn behind the lines, I spoke at sunset to a company of hand-grenaders who were going out that night to raid a German trench. They told me that on the average no more than half a company came back from such a raid, and I, a minister of Christ, tried to nerve them for their suicidal and murderous endeavor. I wonder if the Unknown Soldier was in that barn that night.

One day in a dugout which in other days had been a French wine cellar I bade Godspeed to two in the morning to a detail of men going out on patrol in No-Man's Land. Then, with my admonitions in their ears, they went down from the second to the first line trench, and so out to No-Man's Land. I wonder if the Unknown Soldier was in that dugout.

I have an account to settle between my soul and the Unknown Soldier. I deceived him. I deceived myself, unwittingly, I think. I deceived him, assuring him that good consequences could come out of that. As a matter of hard-earned biological fact, what good can come out of that? Mad civilization, you can't sacrifice on bloody altars the best of your breed and expect anything to compensate for that.

So we think of our Unknown Soldier as an idealist, rising up in answer to a human call and making the sacrifice of his life before the country he served, to him like Christ Himself, saying, more than man would come after Me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily, and follow Me." Far from appealing to his worst, the war brought out his best—his loyalty, his courage, his venturesomeness, his care for the down-trodden, his capacity for self-sacrifice. The noblest qualities of his young manhood were aroused. He went out to France a flaming patriot and in secret quoted Rupert Brooke to his own soul:

"If I should die, think this of me: That there's some corner of a foreign field That is forever England."

There, you say, is the Unknown Soldier.

War—Prostitution of the Noblest Soul

Yes, indeed, did you suppose I never had met him? I talked with him many a time. When the words that I would speak about war are a blistering fury to my lips, and the encouragement I gave to war a deep self-condemnation in my heart, it is of that I think. For I watched war lay its hands on the strongest, loveliest things in men and use the noblest attributes of the human spirit for what, ungodly indeed! is there anything more infernal than this, to take the best that is in man and use it to do what war does? This is the ultimate description of war—it is the prostitution of the noblest powers of the human soul to the most degrading deeds, the most abysmal crudities of which our human nature is capable. That is war.

O war, I hate you most of all for this, that you do lay your hands on the noblest elements in human character, with which we might make a heaven on earth, and you use them to make a hell on earth instead. You take even our intellect, the fruit of our dedicated intelligence, by means of which we might build here the City of God, and you use it to fill the earth instead of using it for the enlightening of men. You take our loyalty, our unselfishness, with which we might make the earth beautiful, and you use these, our finest qualities, you make death fall from the sky and burst up from the sea and burble from anay; you blast fathers in the trenches with gas while you are starving their children at home with blockades; and you do bedevil the world that fifteen years after the Armistice we are not to see

Even Rheumatic Pains Eased Fast Now!

BAD HEADACHES, NEURITIS PAINS OFTEN RELIEVED IN MINUTES THIS WAY

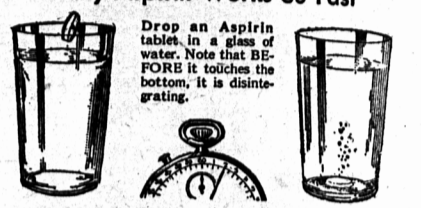

Remember the pictures below when you want fast relief from pain. Demand and get the method doctors prescribe—Aspirin.

Millions have found that Aspirin eases even a bad headache, neuritis or rheumatic pain often in a few minutes!

In the stomach as in the glass here, an Aspirin tablet starts to dissolve, or disintegrate, almost the instant it touches moisture. It begins "taking hold" of your pain practically as soon as you swallow it. Equally important, Aspirin does not harm the heart. Remember these two points: Aspirin Speed and Aspirin Safety is made in Canada, and all drugs made here. Look for the name Bayer Aspirin tablet.

Get tin of 12 tablets or economical bottle of 24 or 100 at any drugstore.

Why Aspirin Works So Fast

Drop an Aspirin tablet in a glass of water. Note that BEFORE it touches the bottom, it is disintegrating.

In 2 SECONDS BY STOP WATCH An Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work.

What happens in these glass tablets start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

GRAIN SITUATION IN THE ARGENTINE

The correspondent of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Buenos Aires reports under date September 3 that the new official estimate of the 1933-34 wheat crop is 286,123,000 bushels as against the first estimate of 266,177,000. The balance available for export was 197,912,000, of which 119,066,000 had been exported up to August, leaving 78,846,000 still available.

Regarding the new crop he says: "Adequate precipitation, fairly well distributed, has been one of the features of the month. Another has been the mildness of the temperatures prevailing. These conditions have kept the new wheat growing fast, and in some districts there are complaints of undue development above ground. Cool, frosty weather would now be in order in order to promote development of the roots and strengthen the plants."

CANADA'S TRADE BALANCE

Canada's visible trade balance for the first eight months, January to August, of 1934 was favourable to the extent of $70,622,000 compared with an unfavourable trade balance for the same period in 1932 of $2,091,000 and a favourable balance in 1933 of $83,500,000. The improvement, therefore, in Canada's trade balance for this period was $72,663,000 over 1932 and $7,158,000 over 1933.

DUTY COLLECTED ON IMPORTS

The duty collected on imports in August amounted to $6,693,000 compared with $6,194,000 a year ago. The total amount of duty collected on imports during the first eight months of 1934 amounted to $56,620,000 compared with $44,448,000 in 1933 which was an increase of $12,172,000 or 27 per cent.

Sanction or Support Another War

At any rate, I will myself do the best I can to settle my account with the Unknown Soldier. I renounce war because of what it does to our own men. I've watched them coming home from the front line trenches. I have seen the long hospital trains filled with their mutilated bodies, I have heard the cries of the crazed and the prayers of those who wanted to die and could not. I've watched men for whom the war is not yet over, I renounce war because of what it compels us to do to our enemies, bombing their children in villages, starving their children by blockades, laughing over every damnable thing we have been able to do to them.

I renounce war for its consequences, for the lies it lives on and propagates, for the undying hatreds it arouses, for the dictatorships it puts in the place of democracy, for the starvation that stalks after it. I renounce war, I never again, directly or indirectly, will I sanction or support another.

O Unknown Soldier, in penitent repentation I make you that pledge.
