Ferguson Comments On Success Of The Imperial Conference

(Canadian Press)
 OTTAWA, Aug. 24.—Optimistic predictions of improved conditions resulting from the Imperial Conference featured the speech of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, High Commissioner for Canada in London, here recently accompanied by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, who introduced him at a directors' luncheon, Mr. Ferguson formally declared the Central Canada Exhibition open.

Mr. Bennett, on the occasion of his first public appearance since the conclusion of the conference, was given an ovation when he rose to speak. Rising to his feet, the 300 guests present clapped and cheered. Mr. Ferguson was also welcomed with enthusiasm.

While predicting great advantages as a result of the conference agreements, Mr. Ferguson warned his hearers that immediate improvement should not be expected. The channel for a new trade current had been dug, but the stream must still be directed into it. This might take a little time. But the stream once diverted, beneficial results would certainly come.

Mrs. A. N. Simpson, of What Cheer, Iowa, was a visitor to Charlottetown on Wednesday. She is leaving for Iowa next week.

BEDEQUE
 An ice-cream festival and sports were given at the Central Bedeque Rink, on Monday evening. Quite a large crowd was present, and all enjoyed a treat of Home-made ice-cream, also fruit and drinks. A very interesting ball game was played between Victoria Team and Bedeque Team, which after a very closely contested game ended in a victory for the Victorias, in a score of 18-14. The both teams played a splendid game and spectators found it very interesting. Two tug-of-war games were pulled between the New Annapolis Team and the Bedeque team in the last game. There were also a tug-of-war between Freetown Team and New Annapolis Team, the Freetown Team being the boosters in this contest. Indoor amusements were later indulged in, including bowling alley, side shows and the entertaining "Winkle," all of which revealed much laughter and fun.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the relatives of the late Mr. John B. Gardner of Lower Freetown, in his sudden passing. The funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon and were very largely attended by friends from far and near, who came to pay their last tribute of respect to a beloved friend and neighbor. Rev. J. W. A. Nicholson, North Bedeque conducted the service, assisted by Rev. D. K. Ross of Cornwall (a former pastor of this Church) preached the funeral address and Rev. Samuel Proff, formerly of O'Leary The pall-bearers were Messrs. John Gregg of Tyne Valley, Mayor Mansson, Summerside, Bijzah Burns, Daniel Bernard, John Brown and John Proff. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot in the Freetown United Church Cemetery.

The members of Edith Cavel Lodge, L.O.L.A., of Summerside, gave a surprise party, on Tuesday in honor of Miss Leona MacWilliams, whose marriage to Mr. Clayton Blackmore, of Ross' Corner took place on Wednesday evening. The ladies made a presentation of a beautiful silver casserole, together with their best wishes. Several complimentary speeches were made by the members, after which Miss MacWilliams in a few well chosen words thanked the donors very graciously for their lovely gift and good wishes. Dainty refreshments were then served at the close of the evening, after which all departed for their respective homes, wishing Miss MacWilliams a happy and blissful journey through life.

Mrs. Roland Field, Boston has returned after spending a delightful holiday with friends and relatives in Norboro and vicinity.

A very interesting event took place at Reading, Mass., in the Methodist Parsonage on Sunday, July 7th, when Miss Jean M. Frizell, daughter of Mrs. Frank Teed, Reading, Mass., was united in marriage to Mr. Harry C. Callaghan, of Boston. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William M. Crawford. The bride looked beautiful in a gown of maize chiffon, with picture hat and gloves and shoes to correspond. She was attended by her friend, Miss Sally Linkletter also of Boston, who was dressed in white and mauve flowered chiffon. The groom was fully supported by Mr. Samuel Olden of Boston. A reception was

 The Rev. Angus McGlasson, a Scot of many years but few words was on a flying visit to the Jamiesons, who had years ago been members of his congregation. "Will you take a cup o' tea, Mr. McGlasson?" said the kindly Mrs. Jamieson. "No thanks, no tea," replied he. "A cup of coffee, then?" "No coffee." "Will I mak' ye cocoa?" "No cocoa." "Will ye hae a glass o' whisky and soda?" "No gods."

Landi Proves She Is Queen Of Emotion

Elis Landi, the glamorous international star who swept to permanent film fame in "The Yellow Ticket," again proves herself a virtuoso of emotional drama with her stirring performance in "The Woman in Room 13." Surrounded by a notable cast, Miss Landi reaches new heights in this Fox offering, which more than satisfied the audiences at its opening yesterday at the Prince Edward Theatre.

As the woman whose second marriage is endangered through the vindictive schemes of her first husband and who desperately tries to save her innocent mate from prison by sacrificing her own reputation, only to see her efforts fail, Miss Landi gives what is beyond question the finest characterization of her brilliant career. She makes the role thoroughly convincing—a difficult feat for so dramatic a part—and in addition gives it warmth and power.

Ralph Bellamy, remembered for his work as the prison camp commandant in "Surrender," goes completely villain in "The Woman in Room 13," as the vengeful husband, while Nell Hamilton as the luckless and trusting spouse gives the type of performance that won him so many friends in "Strangers May Kiss" and "The Sin of Madelon Claudet." Myrna Loy and Gilbert Roland are two other celebrities who acquire themselves in the photoplay.

Fairview

The stork was a visitor to the home of Mr. John N. McPhee, Fairview, leaving a bouncing baby boy.

Friends are pleased to see Mrs. Thomas Burdett at home again, and on the road to recovery, after some weeks in the P. E. I. Hospital.

The Fairview Women's Institute met with the Ringwood Institute on Thursday evening, August 18th, by invitation, at the home of Mrs. William Mutch, Rocky Point. After the meeting and plans were made for the district convention to be held in Long Creek in the near future, the remainder of the evening was spent socially, and music much enjoyed. A delicious repast was served by the hostess, to whom a vote of thanks was tendered by Mrs. Allison MacMillan on behalf of the members for her kind hospitality.

Mr. Alex McLean is building a small ranch for his foxes.

Miss Eleanor Burdett has been a welcome visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Currie.

Many friends were sorry to learn of the death in New Dominion recently of Mr. Allan Livingstone. The funeral, on Sunday the 14th last, was largely attended.

Some of our local young men are on a busily engaged in fishing quahaugs. The members of Fairview and Ringwood Institutes had a pleasant outing one day lately at the Experimental Farm, about twenty-five miles from the city. After a sumptuous lunch all enjoyed in the afternoon the wonderful gardens, personally conducted by Mr. Warren, and all voted the "picnic" a decided success, being instructive as well as most enjoyable.

Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Murphy, Cumberland, motored to Montague on Saturday last, returning next day.

Mrs. Mahler's store in Rocky Point presents a fine appearance, decorated with a new coat of paint.

Cornwall

Miss Nettie Walker, of Georgetown, is visiting her friend, Miss Mary Scott, of Cornwall.

The Young People's Society held another very enjoyable outdoor meeting at Mr. Fred Hyde's shore on Tuesday evening. This was an "Indian" night, and some wore Indian costumes. Miss Etta Ross, Bertie Miller and Jack Scott read Indian stories and (Rev.) Mr. Ross gave a talk on the same subject. A clam bake, bonfire, wonderful moonlight night, games and music completed an enjoyable evening.

Miss Norma Ayers, Charlottetown, is enjoying a holiday with relatives in West River.

Miss Leah Lord, North Tryon, was the guest of Miss Marjorie Lowther last week.

The Cornwall Women's Christian Temperance Union attended the Provincial Convention at Pownal last Tuesday and conducted the Memorial service for our own leader, the late Reverend MacNeil McLeod, and other leaders in the other provinces who have "gone on."

The Women's Missionary Society held a very enjoyable clam bake at Mr. Harry Hyde's shore on Friday evening. A collection was taken up for the work of the Society and a sing song brought a pleasant evening to a close.

Miss Marie Simpson, of Cambridge, Mass., was the guest of Mrs. John Ellsworth this week.

Congratulations to Rev. C. W. and Mrs. McNevin on the arrival of a baby girl at the home of Mrs. Frank Howard, Cornwall.

Miss Sadie Kellow, of Charlottetown, is the guest of Mrs. Bert Warren and Miss Thankful New-

Times Appreciates Bennett's Powers

LONDON, Aug. 24.—"The success of the conference is not only assured but an accomplished fact," declares the Times in a leading editorial on the Empire Parley concluding at Ottawa.

The Times deprecates the irritation shown lately in certain quarters over what seemed to be vexatious and unnecessary delays. "Less than a month's work," it continues, "has stopped the drift towards economic isolation of the different units of the Empire, and secured the general adoption of policies of co-operation."

British Civil Service officials, particularly those of the United Kingdom under Sir Horace Wilson, are praised by the Times, which also pays tribute to the "organizing and driving powers" of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada.

The Morning Post asks "What shall be said of those who pressed their opposition to the point of rudeness to the Canadian Premier? It is not at all necessary to ascribe to Mr. Bennett, all the human virtues, but he is after all the Premier of our greatest Dominion and should therefore be entitled at least to common courtesy."

Two friends were having an indignation meeting of their own. Both had suffered domestic strife and now they were comparing notes.

"Aren't women the limit? growled the first. "We husbands don't know anything at all and our wives know everything."

"Well," said his companion in misery, reluctantly, "there's one thing my wife admits she doesn't know."

"What on earth is that?"

"Why she married me."

Professor: "Tell me one or two things about John Milton."

Piebe: "Well, he got married and he wrote 'Paradise Lost.' Then his wife died, and he wrote 'Paradise Regained.'"

Jewel Robbers Cannot Escape Scotland Yard

LONDON, Aug. 24.—(By The Canadian Press)—Scotland Yard is back of the provincial police force in a more direct way than ever before and is rapidly becoming the directing and prosecuting force in all the man-hunts and cases of big crime, although a national detective force is not at present possible, according to the Home Secretary, Sir Herbert Samuel.

Provincial detectives now realize that the Yard resources are fully behind them. The scheme is leading to greater co-operation. The change has come into operation as the outcome of conferences between Yard chiefs, county and borough chief constables and Home Office officials.

Immediately a major crime occurs in any part of England or Wales a brief message is now flashed to Scotland Yard. Normally, this is filed, but if it is a case in which the Yard can take an active part the necessary orders are immediately given.

Take a recent instance. A big jewel robbery occurred in North Wales. The local police promptly told the Yard (the Yard were not "called in" in the official sense) and within a few hours the Yard chiefs were telling the Welsh police that the methods of the thieves suggested the robbers might be certain men from a Midland town. These men were looked up and later convicted.

In the Home Counties the scheme is proving particularly effective. So, in a recent case within

Praise Editors On Parley Stand

WINNIPEG, Aug. 24.—Referring to the hopes which the west put in the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa, his Excellency the Earl of Bessborough, in an address before the men's Canadian Club here asked his audience to remember that where there was trading there also had to be negotiation.

Emphasizing the difficulties of negotiating under the spotlight of world publicity, he spoke of the clashes of opinion and trade interests which the success of the conference had to overcome.

"These clashes are bound to be reflected in the press. Let me say I believe the newspapers of the Dominion—and I read their editorials diligently—have, generally speaking, seen the conference steadily and seen it whole. I believe the press of Canada does realize how important its functions are and performs them with discrimination."

He concluded his reference to the conference by quoting the words of Premier R. B. Bennett, "What way lie faith and hope, that way we follow."

Policemen Have Radio Equipment

LONDON, Aug. 24.—(By The Canadian Press)—Portable wireless receiving sets will add a powerful weapon to the policeman's equipment in a short time, final tests of the new device having been made at Brighton recently with pocket sets. A wireless receiving set can be carried about the person of a constable and it will transform him into a walking receiving station. The apparatus weighs less than two pounds and measures six inches by 4-1-2 by 1-1-4 inches.

The test took place on the main London road at the Brighton boundary in the presence of police officials and officials of the company who are responsible for the installation. A police sergeant wore a special tunic, inside which he carried the receiving set fitted with a bell and apparatus rather like a telephone receiver and a system of wires which provide the necessary aeriels. Such a tunic cannot be distinguished from an ordinary tunic. A message was sent out from the transmitting room in Brighton Town Hall instructing the officer to hold up a test car. Holding a receiver to his ear the officer received the message and carried out the order.

Not long ago, Mr. Kipling attended a fancy-dress ball where the costumes were supposed to represent various books. One young woman wore a rig like an automatic lighter, one of those contraptions which usually fall to work when you want to light your cigarette. No one present could guess what book she represented, until Rudyard made inquiry. "Why, Mr. Kipling," said the girl, "you ought to know—it is your book, 'The Light That Failed.'"

Hank Smithers, driver of the co-operative milk truck, has figured it out this way: "The hours wasted each year by repeating something to listeners who understand exactly the first time and only asked 'What?' from force of habit, if laid side by side, would reach from the vacation year before last to next year's with a couple of Memorial Day holidays and a St. Valentin's Day thrown in."
