The men's mission were held last evening in St. Dunstan's Basilica with an even larger attendance than the first night. Father Hubert spoke on the words of Christ on the cross, "I thirst" and spoke of the thirst of Christ for the souls of men. He compared the gall and vinegar that was offered Our Lord to the cup of sin that is offered by so many in the world. He stressed the great evil of intemperance in our city and exhorted the congregation to take the means to combat the evil of drink in their own lives. Benediction was given by Dr. McMahon, the singing being again congregational. The concluding services exclusively for the men will be held this evening. A telegram of congratulation on behalf of the rector and staff of the Basilica, Father Hubert and the thousand men on retreat was sent to Right Reverend John Hugh MacDonald, who was consecrated Bishop of Antigonish yesterday.

This is the third of the series which he has given here, the other two being on British Columbia and the Maritime Provinces. The lecture was delivered twice today, at ten and eleven o'clock, first to one group of children and then to another, the respective chairmen being Messrs. C. H. B. REGULATIONS RE Fruit & Honey Act

The following communication received from Ottawa by Mr. A. E. MacLean, M. P., speaks for itself: Dear Mr. MacLean—Your favour of October 13th received and we enclose herewith a copy of the Fruit and Honey Act, 1934. At the present time bonds are not being called. It was the intention that the amount of the bond would be determined according to the business done. The commission on Fruit and Honey acts in such places as Montreal, Toronto, etc., and not at the present time required to put up a bond. We have not as yet received a model bond from the Department of Justice and until we do we hesitate to demand bonds. A shipper dealing entirely within his own province does not require a license but if he ships into the province or makes shipments out of the province and handles a quantity of fruit to come under the definition of a dealer, he requires a license. Shippers shipping only produce of their own growing require a license but not for the period ending March 31st, 1935 if a shipper is shipping his own produce and the produce of others, he requires a license and the fee is $25.00 for the period ending March 31st, 1935. We trust that this is the information you require. Yours very truly, K. B. CONGER, Acting Assistant Chief, Markets & Transportation Division.

Johnston Chew, President of the Glouce Bay Board of Trade, introduced a resolution approving assistance given the Maritime coal mining industry by the Dominion Government. Recommending that this aid be continued and, if possible, increased, the resolution was passed unanimously. An address on municipal credit was heard today from Joseph Howes, of the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada. Maritimeers deserved great commendation for steadily maintaining their municipal credit, declared the Toronto expert.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Oct. 25.—Resolutions framed to assist the distressed potato growers of the Maritime Provinces were passed today by the Maritime Board of Trade. Introduced by J. E. Porter, of Andover, these urged a special low commodity rate on potatoes shipped to Ontario and Quebec, and also that the Maritime Province governments and the federal government petition the British Government with the view of having the United Kingdom's embargo on Canadian potatoes lifted. Discussion of these resolutions brought from Prince Edward Island delegates a suggestion that the possibility of shipping Maritime potatoes to British Columbia, if not by rail then by steamer, be investigated. The Island delegates said there had frequently been potato shortages in British Columbia. The resolutions presented by Mr. Porter, and unanimously passed, follow: "Whereas the potato industry in the Maritime Provinces furnishes approximately 10,000 cars of freight, of which 6,000 move to Central Canadian points; "And whereas the potato industry in the Maritime Provinces is in a distressed situation. "Resolved that the Maritime Board of Trade through the Maritime Transportation Commission ask for a special commodity rate on potatoes from Maritime points to points in Ontario and Quebec. "Also resolved that special railway services and service charges as applied to above traffic be changed to meet the present conditions." (Moved by J. E. Porter, Andover, seconded by S. A. Moore, Andover.)

SWINE SALE Annual Meeting Grand Division Sons Temperance

The main objective of the Annual Swine Show and Sale held in Charlottetown is the general improvement of Island hogs by placing in every swine producing district in the province. The 1934 Sale proved very successful in this respect.

Some years ago it was the general practice to purchase all boars when they were six weeks old. At this age little or no estimate can be made of individual quality or type, consequently many districts suffered from the use of inferior mistle boars. Now the boar owners are adopting a wiser policy in selecting sires of breeding age when quality and type are more easily recognized.

Today the farmer needs the last dollar obtainable when marketing his hogs. To get this top price he must produce bacon hogs. It is therefore to the advantage of farmers to raise some good quality Yorkshire sows with boars of non-bacon type breeds. A large percentage of our "butcher" grade hogs come from this cross. With a few more such crosses, the reach of every Island farmer there is no excuse for breeding crossbreeds on hogs which suffer a discount when marketed.

As our farmers in general are interested in the location of the best Yorkshire boars, the following outline of the purchases made at the recent Sale is in order. First Prize boar bred by Messrs. S. C. Stewart & Son, Dunstafnage, went to Frank McAulay, Souris. With Mr. McAulay's Grand Champion sow this boar should produce some high class stock for our Island Show and Sale.

The Second Prize boar was sold to the Montague Shipping Club, and has been placed with Mr. Leslie Poole, Lower Montague, where he will have an opportunity to introduce his blood into the good breeding stock in that district. Perhaps no district has been in such need of a high class boar as Pownal and vicinity. The market hogs originating in the Pownal, theory Valley, Eastville districts are decidedly below our general average. This situation should be improved within the next year by a very superior boar which has been purchased by the Pownal, theory Valley, Eastville districts. This boar was bred by George Boswell Frenchfort, and won Third Prize at the recent Sale. This boar also won 1st at Charlottetown Exhibition this year. A full sister won 1st at the Show and Sale. Mr. Boswell also won first last year with a sow out of the same dam. Mr. Smith deserves credit for his progressiveness in selecting such a boar for his district. This animal dealt between Charlottetown and Vernon.

Another district which will benefit as a result of the Swine Sale is O'Leary. The Fourth Prize boar, a very smooth, clean, fine, well-mated, bred by Almon Boswell, Dunstafnage, was purchased by the Shipping Club in that district to be placed with Henry Stelson & Sons, O'Leary. In this area the hogs need improvement in general type. This boar should produce better hogs in O'Leary and vicinity. The Tryon Farmers' Institute purchased a very typey, smooth boar bred by Frank McAulay, Souris, out of his Grand Champion sow and Grand Champion boar. The hogs in this district need some improvement in smoothness and early maturity. This boar should stamp these qualities on his get.

The New Haven district is an outstanding example of what can be done in the way of improvement by selecting high class boars. Three years ago the present hogs of the country came from this area. At the 1932 Sale the New Haven Yorkshire Breeders' Club purchased a high class animal. The boar was later Grand Champion at our Maritime Show and Sale. The herd at the Experimental Farm, Fredericton, N. B. At the 1933 Sale this club purchased another superior boar, which this year won his class at all the Maritime Shows. This boar was purchased by the good boar bred by George Boswell and full brother to Mr. Boswell's First Prize sow. As a result of this progressive policy the best hogs in mature type are being raised in the New Haven district. This boar is placed with Mr. Heber McPhail, New Haven. Many other districts should copy New Haven in this matter.

Boars purchased at past Sales have been responsible for the high class hogs originating in and around the Rustico, Hope River, New Glasgow area. In line with this policy a very good boar, bred by Almon Boswell, was purchased by the North Rustico district and placed with Lionel Robinson. The Tyne Valley district purchased a strong, growthy boar bred by George Boswell. This boar is a full brother to the First Prize sow, Mr. Wm. McKay, East Bideford, is the caretaker of this boar. Another very typey boar, bred by Frank McAulay, went to Riverdale, Mr. Charles McPadyen, caretaker. The Stanley Etéde district is showing evidence of more interest in the production of better hogs. A very smooth, massive boar bred by W. J. Jenkins, Frenchfort, and out of the same sow as the First Prize boar at the 1933 Sale went to this district. This boar represents the early maturing, easy feeding kind of Yorkshires, Mr. D. Wallace MacKay is the caretaker.

The Dunk River Institute purchased a boar bred by D. N. MacKay, Springfield. This boar is outstanding in strength and substance. He also represents the easy feeding kind. It is understood that Allison Profit is the caretaker. Urban Ghills, Miscouche, purchased a good boar bred by Almon Boswell. The St. Peter's Shipping Club selected a boar bred by J. B. Rorer, Charlottetown. This is a real good boar of smooth, strong type. Mr. George McInnis is the caretaker. The St. Chrysostome Institute purchased a full brother to the hand left his fate, that of his iron-fisted right-hand man, Dr. August Jaeger, and that of the entire German Christian Church movement in doubt. Consternation and apprehension prevailed at the Reich's Protestant Church administration building to-night as Mueller and some two dozen bishops had appointed waited in vain hope that Hitler would receive them. It had been announced that the bishops would be sworn today, while the on-site army chaplain and believed almost to the last moment that First Prize boar bred by S. C. Stewart & Son, Dunstafnage.

Der Fuehrer would crown his megalomaniac rise by taking the oath of fealty from him today. A toothache provided Hitler, at first, with an excuse to postpone the meeting, thus delaying an almost inevitable crisis, but later he let it be known the ceremony would not take place at all. Mueller To Be Dismissed? Tonight observers readily predicted that Mueller, though he may continue to exercise his functions for the time being, ultimately will be ousted, as will Jaeger and other spokesmen of the Mueller regime, and that active Nazi participation in church affairs will soon be at an end. The rising tide of opposition to Mueller, holding in its surge the seeds of political catastrophe for the Nazi party, influenced Hitler to take sides against Mueller, authoritative sources said tonight. Men as high in party ranks as Julius Streicher of Franconia, Adolf Wagner of South Bavaria, Erich Koch of West Prussia and Fritz Sauckel of Thuringia had brought the whole seriousness of the church conflict to Hitler's attention arguing its great political significance. Reluctantly, those close to him said, the Chancellor let himself be persuaded to turn against the man to whom he was personally devoted because Mueller hid him in his paragon at Koenigsberg in 1927 when police were hot on the Nazi leaders' trail. To the most minute detail, preparations had been completed for today's ceremony. The programme for the solemn "act of state" and the Chancellor's prepared the German broadcasting service had arranged to let the whole nation hear the ceremony and two dozen Nazi-named bishops had flocked to Berlin for the ceremony. Mueller himself, esteeming the oath-taking ceremony to be the crowning glory of his career, was waiting at his headquarters, together with the bishops, when word came that they would not be received.

ELEVATED TO OFFICE OF BISHOP

Rev. Father John H. MacDonald, D. D., is Consecrated Bishop of Victoria At Impressive Service.

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) ANTIGONISH, N. S., Oct. 25.—Close by scenes of his childhood and college days, Rev. Father John H. MacDonald, D. D., was elevated to the office of Bishop of Victoria at St. Ninian's Cathedral here today.

Culminating 25 years of service in priesthood, the consecration was marked with all the impressive ritual which the Roman Catholic Church reserves for such an occasion. Friends brought up in the same village of Maryvale, his parishioners and many of the high dignitaries of the church in Canada together filled the old cathedral to its capacity of 1,300, crowded a school nearby where amplifiers had been set up, and massed in the street outside.
