Reds Advance On Central Front

Hold Firm Against Nazi Counter Assaults In Donets River Area.

LONDON, March 26 (CP)—Russian troops beating against Skolenski's outer defenses wiped out a German garrison at one strongpoint and captured another, while holding firm against Nazi counter assaults on the Donets River front near Kharkov in the south, Moscow announced tonight.

The new central front gains announced in the midnight communiqué recorded by the Soviet Monitor were said to be south of Bely, presumably near Dukhovschina, 32 miles from Smolensk.

A Stockholm dispatch said Russian tanks already had broken into Dorogobuzh, 50 miles east of Smolensk, in a frontal assault supporting the northeastern wedge in Smolensk's curving defense belt.

The communiqué said 500 Germans were killed in the capture of the two enemy points, 300 of them in the garrison which was outflanked from the rear after a group of Red army men stole across a river.

Four enemy guns, 20 machine-guns, five anti-tank rifles and other war material was captured in one of these attacks.

Several populated places were taken in this continuing drive over difficult terrain, but the communiqué suggested that the Russian troops were consolidating their hard-won gains in the great salient which so long had threatened Moscow.

Approximately 1,100 Germans were reported killed in futile efforts to breach Russian positions between Belgorod and Chuguev in the Donets region of the Ukraine during today's fighting which found the Germans still using a considerable number of tanks.

Members Miss Chance To Hear Delegations

Failure to give prior notice of delegations appearing informally before the Legislature was strongly criticized in the House yesterday by Hon. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, leader of the Opposition.

Dr. MacMillan voiced his complaint when the House met at 11 a. m. "Before going into the orders of the day," he said, "I may say that I do not like this plan that has developed here lately of calling the members of the House to an emergency session, think some other arrangement should be made to meet those delegations. They should have an appointment, enclosing a delegation yesterday I would like to have heard; that is the farmers of the Province. I think the members should be given prior notice to hear these delegations. This morning, when another delegation started to deliver their message, there was an hour's delay. I would suggest that in future we be given a chance to hear these delegations."

No reply was offered to the Opposition leader's suggestion. Premier Campbell announced receipt of a communication from the Government of the day, enclosing a copy of an order by the Governor General in Council approving the provincial statutes passed in 1941.

The Premier then tabled the Estimates for the year 1943 and moved that the House go into committee of the whole on Supply.

He concluded his budget speech at 1 p. m., when Hon. Dr. MacMillan moved the adjournment.

The House adjourned until 3 p. m. Monday.

8th Army Troops Inch Forward As Nazis Weaken

British Recover From Set-Back Earlier In Week.

By Daniel De Luce, Associated Press Staff Writer, ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, IN NORTH AFRICA, March 26—(AP)—Infantry of the British 8th Army inched forward into fortifications of the Mareth line under a hail of gunfire today while American forces 70 miles away fought grimly to keep Marshal Erwin Rommel's flank pinned to the Tunisian Coast.

The seventh night of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's attack on the deep Mareth belt of minefields and pillboxes backed up by concentrations of armor and artillery found the British forces and the enemy still locked in a struggle reminiscent of the First Great War's many "battles of position and attrition."

There was complete absence of information on the situation in the El Hamma area, where daring units of the 8th Army had struck far around and into the rear of the Mareth line. But continued heavy attacks by the Allies' western desert air force on enemy armor in the vicinity of El Hamma indicated that the flanking British force was holding its initial gains there despite its long supply line.

N.S. Woman Is Charged With Murder

GUYSBORO, N.S., March 26—(CP)—A charge of murder was lodged today against Bertha Jackson of nearby Birchtown, held in connection with the death of her half-brother, Ernest Jackson, on March 12. She appeared for preliminary hearing before Stipendiary Magistrate Smith at Guysboro.

A charge of wounding was laid against Miss Jackson then, and she had been held in Guysboro jail since. The charge was changed to murder at the preliminary hearing.

Mustang Planes Attack Railway Targets By Day

No Details Released Concerning Night Operations.

LONDON, March 27—(Saturday)—R.A.F. bombers were in action over the Ruhr district of Germany last night, it was announced today.

Whirlwind bombers and Canadian Mustangs of the army co-operation command yesterday strafed and bombed locomotives, canal barges and an electrical transformer station at various points in occupied Europe.

No aircraft was lost.

A Belgian typhoon fighter pilot of the R.A.F. in a sweep over the Low Countries shot down a Junkers 52 not far from the house in which he used to live, the air ministry announced.

The pilot, flying with a Norwegian comrade, had already damaged a power barge transformer and two locomotives when he sighted the big German troop carrier plane.

"I was almost out of ammunition," the pilot said, "when I saw the Junkers 52 low down just after taking off."

"I shot behind it and right down on the deck to avoid being seen, then came up to about 250 yards and just above rooftop height."

There was a spurt of flame and the plane broke in two. One of the occupants bailed out, but his parachute didn't open.

The pilot scored a direct hit on lock gates on a French river, the air ministry said.

War Situation Last Night

By Glenn Babb, Associated Press War Analyst

The major short circuit in the United Nations' war effort against Japan persists; the same is true of the Axis war on Russia. Tokyo and Moscow have given renewed evidence of their present determination to remain at peace by renewal of their perennially troublesome fisheries pact.

Again Hitler's most powerful and successful ally has given notice that she is having no part in his crusade against Bolshevism although six years ago it was the Japanese military clique, now in control of imperial policy, that was the guiding spirit of the anti-communist treaty which led to the three-power Axis military alliance.

The fisheries pact fixes the terms on which Japan is permitted to send her fishermen into the far eastern territorial waters of the Soviet Union, a right granted by the 1905 treaty of Portsmouth.

The indications are that the Russians held the whiphand in the parleys which led to this accord initiated in Kulsbaer Thursday. For the second year in succession the Japanese had to pay an extra fee. The Siberian fisheries are an important factor in the Japanese food supply. Fish takes the place of meat in the Japanese diet and in normal times 10 per cent or more of the entire supply comes from Russian waters, chiefly around the Kamchatka Peninsula. Under war conditions this source of food is probably of more importance than ever to the Japanese people, for years on tender rations.

It is understandable that neither Japan nor Russia wants to take on new military commitments at this time, when each is engaged in a fight for life. But the Japanese appear to be even more anxious than the Soviets to avoid war.

The reason undoubtedly is the fear of air assault. The Japanese Command probably feels that on the east, south and west it has pushed the United Nations beyond the range of effective and intensive air attack; it hopes at least that it can hold the ever-growing American air power beyond that protective cordon.

But in the north there is no such security. There are bases around Vladivostok from which bombers could reach Tokyo in less than three hours. On the east, the Soviet Union might mean that these bombers would be placed at disposal of the United States. It might not, Russia's penchant for playing a lone hand being what it is, but in any case the Red Army also has an air force of terrible striking power.

For the United Nations it is undoubtedly an advantage to have Russia free to concentrate on Germany at this juncture, probably outweighing the immediate gains which would come from a Russian-Japanese war. But it has the reverse side.

As long as the wily Generals and Admirals who direct Japanese policy are content to leave well enough alone on the Siberian frontier, Allied hopes of obtaining Russian bases from which to blast the cities and war industries of our oriental enemy are dim.

A Netherlands source said on Feb. 23 that the Germans were rushing fortifications of the coast and had evacuated 100,000 civilians from the Hague, Dordrecht and other areas.

OTTAWA, March 26—(CP)—Minister of Agriculture Howard Phillips today told the House of Commons that the $1-a-cord subsidy on fuel wood, announced some time ago, will be payable to dealers recognized by the coal administrator but not to farmers cutting and selling direct to consumers or on wood cut by community effort.

The minister said there had been some misunderstanding of his statement on this subject during the debate on fuel March 18.

The coal administrator would recognize as dealers those who had been licensed by the price board on or before March 5, and those licensed after date if the coal administrator so ruled on the basis of essential production needs.

Farmers cutting and selling direct to consumers would be receiving the ceiling price and not the dealers' price, the minister told questioners.
