

Woman's Realm -:- Social and Personal -:- Fashions -:- Literature

Famous for 60 Years MORSE'S TEA

What the Fashionables are Wearing

Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson Furnished With Every Pattern By Annabelle Worthington

A school girl frock of deep bright blue wool, assumes a military air through its gray trim. Note the attractively shaped collar that is partially responsible for its smart individuality.

No. 715. Size Name Street Address City State

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough due to a cold.

A Morning Smile

Father had his little daughter on his knee. "What are you going to do when you grow up?" he asked her.

Etiquette

Q. How are godparents for a new-born baby chosen? A. They are chosen from intimate friends of the parents, rarely from relatives.

For The Cook

CARROT PUDDING

1 1/2 cups chopped uncooked carrots. 1 cup chopped uncooked potatoes. 1 cup chopped raisins. 1 cup chopped currants.

Slightly before turning out with the cover off. Serve with the following sauce: Sauce for Carrot Pudding 2 teaspoon butter. 1/2 cup sugar.

Sorry To See Night Coming She Could Not Sleep

Mrs. K. McElroy, Kirkfield, Ont., writes: "I was very nervous and run down, was short of breath, and had smothering feelings, and was sorry to see night coming as I could not lie down or go to sleep."

Price 50c a box

Sold at all drug and general stores. Direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

The healing Cream. Mentholatum for Scalds Burns Bites Bruises

Household Time Savers

THE OPINION OF AN EXPERT The late Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, internationally known expert on matters relating to foods and nutrition, said: "A good plate of pea or bean or vegetable soup, or mulligatawny, etc., when eaten with bread or with the addition of rice or macaroni, as is done abroad, becomes a square meal, while a cup of clear soup like that extracted from the bones of meat animals, from which all the oil is carefully removed, becomes purely condimental."

Must Marriage Fulfill Vows of Courtship? Dorothy Dix Finds Camouflage Part of Wooing

If a Wife Could Get a Divorce on the Grounds That Her Husband Misrepresented Himself to Her During Courtship Every Marriage Would Be Threatened With Dissolution, for Such is the Custom of Lovers

A Judge has recently denied the plea of a bride for a divorce, who asked for the severing of her matrimonial ties on the ground that her husband lied to her before marriage about his income and prospects.

For they have all been guilty of the high crime and misdemeanor of falsely and feloniously painting themselves in more alluring colors than they possessed and holding forth glittering prospects of future bliss an demoluments that they were powerless to deliver.

Moreover, if this putting of the best foot foremost before marriage is a vice, it is certainly one that leans to the virtue's side, because it gives to many a man and woman the one and only touch of romance they ever know in a long, dull, prosaic life.

Nor, in reality, is any one who isn't an optimistic moron really fooled by all the come-on talk and camouflages of courtship.

Furthermore, she knows just about how much salary he gets, and so when he promises her the moon if she marries him and tells her that her lily-white hand shall never do ought but stroke his tired brow she simply gulps it down and asks for more because it sounds good to her, but she doesn't believe it for a minute.

So with the man. He isn't hypnotized into believing that Sally's complexion is really her own and that her hair is naturally wavy and that she is as meek and mild as she is when she is trying to make a hit with him.

He knows that she will be no Miss America when she washes off the paint in the privacy of domestic life and that being a natural born human woman she is bound to have ways and whims and tempers and nerves.

But all the same during courtship both men and women get an awful kick out of posing before each other as the ideals of their youthful dreams.

There are, of course, those who are strong for truth and nothing but the truth in courtship and who contend that there would be many more happy marriages if men and women frankly told each other of their defects before marriage instead of waiting to let the party of the second part discover their faults when it is too late.

No doubt such frankness would prevent many unhappy marriages on the principle set forth by the little boy who declared that pins had saved many people's lives by their not swallowing them.

"Jane, will you marry me? Of course, I'm not much of a chance because I've got a rotten disposition and I'm grouchy and high-tempered and a little stingy and I don't like to go out of evenings and I loathe being asked to do any sort of household chores. And I am not much of a moneymaker, so if you marry me you will have to do your own housework and wear hand-me-downs and live in a two-by-four bungalow.

"But you are not anything to get excited over yourself. You wouldn't take a prize in a beauty show in a thousand years and you will never set the river on fire with your brains and I doubt if you have ever read a sixth-best seller in your life, but you are strong and healthy and a good cook and somehow I like you in spite of you being dumb without being beautiful."

Nor would we get many wedding cards if before marriage girls showed themselves to their dates without their make-ups and as homely as God created them, and if they argued and disputed with their beaux as they are sure to do with their husbands and if they frankly avowed their intention always to have the last word and tell their husbands where they got off and that they expected to devote their energies to making a high bridge score instead of becoming experts at setting forth the dining table.

No. In reality no one wants to know beforehand what he or she is getting in marriage. We all want to believe in Santa Claus and that he has brought us our heart's desire. And sometimes he does. DOROTHY DIX.

MR. AND MRS. There's No Fun in Eaves Dropping Anymore

Comic strip panels with dialogue: SH-H-H-H, JOE! THOSE NEW FOLKS NEXT DOOR ARE HAVING A TERRIBLE ROW! IT'S MEAN TO LISTEN TO YOUR NEIGHBOR'S SCRAPS, ISN'T IT? SHOULD WE CALL THE POLICE? HE MIGHT KILL HER! OH-BLAH! IT WAS JUST THEIR RADIO!

OUR JIMMY He's a real, good Scout

"Just wait 'till the Scoutmaster sees you, Jimmy Simpson. You haven't done a good turn to-day." "I have so done a good turn to-day, but I'm keeping it secret. You'll all be jealous, too!"

Let the Clark Kitchens Help You for Quicker and Better Meals. A Canadian firm through and through, established 1877

CLARK'S PORK & BEANS WITH TOMATO, CHILI OR PLAIN SAUCE.

P.S.—Clark's Lunch Tongue and Veal Loaf served on crisp lettuce with gherkin pickles... enough to tempt any appetite!

TRELLE NOW INTERESTED IN LIVE STOCK BREEDING MONTREAL, Dec. 15—(CP)—Crowned wheat king of the world at the Chicago show, Herman Trelle of Wembley, Alberta, may turn his hand to livestock breeding now that he has won permanent possession of the international trophy for championship wheat.

Give the "dear man" a few pairs of MERCURY SOCKS

The gift that will make him think of you and admire your good taste every night and morning and several times during the day. MERCURY SOCKS AT 50c, 75c, $1.00 AND UP have everything backed off the map for smart patterns and real wearability. Don't accept any but Mercury Socks because if you do the "dear man" may be disappointed because no other socks wear so well as Mercury Socks. Most stores have them. If they haven't—go to another store that has.

By BRIGGS

Comic strip panels with dialogue: YOU DID-DUNT KNOW THE MUSIC AND... IT'S MEAN TO LISTEN TO YOUR NEIGHBOR'S SCRAPS, ISN'T IT? SHOULD WE CALL THE POLICE? HE MIGHT KILL HER! OH-BLAH! IT WAS JUST THEIR RADIO!