Night shadows had barely crept over the fields and hills of Rocky Point, on Friday Feb. 12, when the tingling of bells were heard coming from all directions, and drawing towards Elliot Grove Farm where upwards of sixty-five guests were assembled at the welcome invitation of James and Mrs. McMahon, to spend, one last happy night with them and their family ere their departure for their new home in "Sunny California." And a pleasant time it promised to be, for as the guests arrived they were greeted with a lighted house and hearty welcome. Just on the stroke of seven music was heard in the front of the house, hither the crowd was ushered and soon, "all went merry as a marriage bell" with music, dance and laughter. A splendid repast was afterwards provided, and after all had done justice to its tempting nicities, the fun still continued, the music lingered, and seemed to awake still louder. Thus timed rolled merrily on till 5 a. m., then as the shadows of night were beginning to go back to their silent homes all began to return to their homes, feeling with a pang of pain that nevermore would such a "Goodly Company," assemble at Elliot Grove homestead at the kind invitation of the McMahon family.
