READ THE FOLLOWING LETTERS CAREFULLY

MRS. J. T. LEGAULT, graduate nurse, of 262 Liger St., Ottawa, writes: "I have been a nurse for over 15 years. I was on a case for about 2 months when suddenly I felt nervous and tired of my work. My back was sore and I had a kind of rheumatism. I was suffering from my kidneys. I decided to take Dodd's Kidney Pills and after 3 boxes I was feeling better. I now always keep a few boxes in my house in case of necessity and recommend this treatment to everyone suffering from the kidneys, rheumatism and sore back."

MRS. JOSEPH BURELLE of 627 25th St., Montreal, writes: "I have had 15 children. After I was married 8 years I suffered from all kinds of sicknesses. I had kidney trouble and backache. I was always tired. My legs and feet were swollen. I took Dodd's Kidney Pills with very satisfactory results. I could hardly believe it after all I suffered. I now do all my own work and as my husband is a market gardener I help him with his work in the garden. I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills at every opportunity."

MR. T. C. VANSON of 559 Runnymede Rd., Toronto, writes: "I would not be without Dodd's Kidney Pills. During the summer months I spend my time as a gardener and handyman in the Muskoka District and the rainy weather and the drinking water place a terrible strain on my kidneys which is always promptly relieved by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

MR. FRED FRESCHETT of 318 D. St., South, Saskatoon, writes: "I have been running a tractor on hard ground for the last twelve years and my back got so bad that I thought I would have to give up my work. Thanks to six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I am completely recovered—and stayed that way. I would not be without Dodd's Kidney Pills. My back feels stronger now than it ever did."

MR. W. PEACOCK of 33 Veith St., Halifax, writes: "I was seized by a stinging pain across the small of my back. Every time I bent I could hardly raise myself. I tried everything I could think of but got worse. I had to be taken home from work and put to bed. A friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. Before I had taken the third box I was relieved of my trouble and felt like a new man. I thoroughly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from pains in the back."

MRS. A. DUGAL of 385 King St., Quebec, writes: "I took Dodd's Kidney Pills for kidney trouble and especially for an acute pain in the higher part of my back. After 4 or 5 boxes I was well again. I also used Dodd's for rheumatism. In 53 years I did not feel better than I do now. Dodd's Kidney Pills are very well. Everyone is surprised to see me do the heaviest tasks, such as household washing. I advise all people suffering from kidney trouble or pain in the back to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. The very first box brings results."

MR. M. WILSON of 1808 Midmer St., Winnipeg, writes: "I have never had a serious illness, due to the fact, I think, that upon feeling tired or run down I always take a few Dodd's Kidney Pills. All our families, not only my own but for two generations back have used Dodd's Kidney Pills and always kept a box or two in the house."

MRS. A. W. BROOKS of 6389 Namassia St., Vancouver, writes: "I was subject to dizzy spells and my back ached so badly that at times I could hardly stand up. I tried different medicines but nothing did me any good. A friend who had used Dodd's Kidney Pills, advised me to try them. After six boxes I felt a different woman and my back did not bother me any more. I now always keep a supply of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house."

MRS. E. BARRETT of 93 Elm St., London, Ont., writes: "About 5 months ago I was feeling half sick—Tired all the time—No pep. I was continually losing weight. Naturally I was pretty much run down as I have a family of 4 children. The doctor tested my blood and said I was anemic. Mother advised Dodd's Kidney Pills after other medicines failed. It was the turning point for me alright. I used 5 boxes and am now back to normal weight and feel like a new woman. I thoroughly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills and was soon fine. Hoping this letter will help some other sufferers."

MRS. B. GALLANT of 33 Spring Park Rd., Charlottetown, P.E.I., writes: "I am 45 years old and was bothered with rheumatism and backache for over 10 years. I had a bad pain in my left shoulder and my limbs would go numb at times. I tried all kinds of medicines but got no relief until I used Dodd's Kidney Pills and was soon fine. Hoping this letter will help some other sufferers."

New 'Fantasy' Zinnia Gets All America Prize

Fantasy Zinnia.

Zinnia Fantasy, which was given an award of merit in the All American trials for 1935, is a new type of blossom which greatly enlarges the field of this ambitious flower family. As the illustration shows, the petals of Fantasy instead of laying flat and close together, as in most zinnias, are twisted slightly fluted, and attached in a shaggy disarray. This is a distinct contrast with the formal regularity of the standard zinnia flower, and many find it charming, like the windblown bob favored by some young women, in preference to the rigid corrugations of the marcel.

Seeds of Fantasy should be sown like other zinnias after the danger of frost is over. They will germinate quickly and grow as rapidly as any zinnias, and they will bloom until autumn frosts destroy the plants. The appearance of the Fantasy type is another step forward in one of the most ambitious of flower families. Among the flowers, as among the human kind, some families seem to have an ability to progress, far beyond others. The work of plant breeders cannot in still ambition into a backward state but can only guide the progress of those flowers that show ability to advance. Fantasy adds to the zinnia a type which may be compared to the cactus dahlia. So far the flower is of medium size, but in a few years we may expect to see larger flowers and improved and selected color in this type.

FOR ECONOMY'S SAKE

A startling example of economy in growing home vegetables was furnished last year by the relict zinnias of Cook family, Illinois. Of the 6,482 families participating, an average of almost 500 pounds of vegetables were produced for less than 2 cents a pound. Considering that this sum included tools, skilled transportation for gardeners, and seedling in equal quantities, and abandonment of 16 per cent of gardeners, amateur gardeners working on their own ought to be able to do the same for a penny a pound or less.

Water Power In Canadian Industry

CENTRAL ELECTRIC STATIONS HANDLE BULK OF HYDRO-POWER—DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR REVIEW INDICATES PRESENT RECORDED RESOURCES.

OTTAWA, April 30—According to a recent review of Canada's water power resources issued by direction of Hon. Thomas G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior, the results of studies conducted by the Dominion Water Power and Hydro-metric Bureau indicate that the present recorded water power resources of the Dominion will permit of a turbine installation of about 43,700,000 horse-power. On the first of January, 1935, the total turbine installation in Canada was reported as 7,547,036 h. p., which represents the development of only a little more than 17-1/4 per cent of the present recorded resources. By far the greater part of the development of power to date has been for central electric stations, the industry engaged in the sale of electricity to meet the general industrial, commercial, municipal, agricultural, and domestic demands of the public. The total installation in central electric stations amounts to 6,889,941 h. p., or 91-3 per cent of the Dominion's total. Paper and pulp mills have an aggregate installation of 605,346 h. p., or 8 per cent of the total, while installations for other purposes, such as mines and mineral reduction works, electro-chemical plants, saw, grist, and grinding mills, machine shops, municipal pumping plants, and for electric railway operation, totalled 51,748 h. p., or 4-2-3 per cent.

The pulp and paper industry is the largest individual consumer of industrial power and its outstanding position as the predominant manufacturing industry of the Dominion is largely due to the proximity of supplies of growing pulpwood to readily developable power. In addition to a turbine installation of 605,346 h. p. the pulp and paper industry also purchases hydro-electricity from central stations to operate a motor installation of more than 1,031,000 h. p. so that the hydraulic installation to supply motive power to the industry totals more than 1,636,000 h. p., which represents approximately 90 per cent of the total power equipment of the industry. Large amounts of electricity are also purchased for use in electric steam boilers. Industries, other than central electric stations and pulp and paper mills, provide a broad market for hydro-electric power generated by central electric stations as they maintain a motor installation for operation by such power of some 1,850,000 h. p. The mines and mineral-reduction works and the electro-chemical industry are among the largest users of this power and many of them maintain a considerable generating equipment of their own. The needs of hundreds of scattered communities throughout Canada are met from water-driven saw, grist and grinding mills.

FINDS ARCHITECT IS RETIRING MAN

TORONTO, April 30—(CP)—"In spite of his modern opportunities for publicity the architect is a peculiarly retiring animal. He could if he wished inscribe his name in bronze or stone on his buildings, but he rarely does," said Professor Eric R. Arthur of the University of Toronto in an address. "In the only case I know a name is engraved on a building devoted to the sale of ladies' corsets," he said. "He supplies the silver trowel and should be on the platform when a foundation stone is laid, but while the contractor will rightly be there and the top hats, the architect, if he is there at all will be on the fringe of the audience. "It may surprise some of you to know that architects have married into royal houses; that they have been the friends of princes and of popes and that kings and cities have vied to do them honor. "What strikes me about the great architects of the past, especially of the 17th century was their amazing versatility. Sir Christopher Wren, for example, was professor of astronomy at Oxford when quite unaccountably he became an architect at 40 years of age. "Claude Perrault, in France, was by training a mathematician and physician and burst into architecture at the age of 52 with a grand design for the Louvre."

FINING FINE NOW NO MORE

(By The Canadian Press) SAINT JOHN, N. B., April 30—So they cut down the old pine tree and they took it away—not to the mill or the sea but to the city dump. Despite tender care, a tough-looking New Brunswick pine transplanted to the fertile loam of King Square, central Saint John, just pined away. City gardeners had to fell the tree after giving it more attention during the last four years than they bestowed upon delicate canna lilies and daffodils in the square. Soot and gasoline fumes were cited as possible reasons for the pine's pining. "I guess we killed it by kin'ness," said one employee of the civic public works department. "The funny part of it that the woods within a radius of five miles of the square are studied with pine. Undiscouraged, however, the gardeners intend to try again—the next time with baby pine. MUSEUM STORES DRAKE EXHIBIT TORONTO April 30—(CP)—One of the exhibits in the Royal Ontario Museum of Archaeology is of the period belonging to the wonder of the Southern Seas, the period in the 16th century when Drake had been round the world. "America had just been discovered a little before," said Dr. C. T. Curry, director of the museum in an address "and the wildest tales of wonder were in everyone's mouths, and every sailor in port was lying his head off as to what he had seen. But some had been to these lands and brought back the strange cocoon, the Nautilus and other shells. "These things gradually got into the hands of rich persons who turned them over to the silversmith to be set either for the church or their homes and some of the most exquisite work of those great master mechanics was produced so that wonder of the Southern Seas might be set off. "The province is fortunate in having a collection of these beautiful things, so that we have a challenge for the rest of our history to craftsmen. It is the craftsmen of Ontario who are going to make us a great people, or leave us a negligent race."

Along the Yukon Alaska Boundary OTTAWA, April 30—As an aid in the effective enforcement of customs, immigration, and other regulations, the Dominion Government has reserved from sale a strip of land 80 feet wide along the Canadian side of the Yukon-Alaska section of the International Boundary. On the Alaska side of the boundary, the United States government has reserved a strip of the same width through its public lands. The Yukon-Alaska boundary is 740 miles long.
