Paris for Millinery Styles Prowse's for Stylish Millinery

Yesterday witnessed the first of our fall and winter millinery for this season. It was the greatest and grandest display that we have ever had. The display of beautiful American Model Hats not an indiscriminable lot of freakish affairs that no sensible woman would wear but a cheerfully selected collection of practical Hats—Hats charming in style and exclusive elegance to be sure but of a character that will appeal to women of refined taste. These are the sorts of Hats into which the American Milliners put their best efforts. No wonder the ladies of Charlottetown were delighted with them. Side by side with these imported models are the creations of our own Milliners and no worthier companion for them could be found anywhere. Like all Hats these are marked by a charming individuality that makes them irresistibly attractive. Of course prices—as is always the case here—are exceptionally moderate.

Millinery Trimmings.

It will be an easy matter for you to choose fashionable trimmings for your Hat from the splendid assortment we have ready for you.

Whatever's new and up-to-date is included in the collection Ostrich plumes and tips in black white and all the leading shade combination 75c. up to $15.00 each.

A fine variety of trimming birds from 50c up. Fancy breasts 50c. up. Note. We would kindly urge the ladies to order their Millinery as early as possible to insure delivery of same when wanted.

The eve of the big game hunting season brings the ever welcome Fall Hunting Number of Rod and Gun and Motor sports in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Woodstock Ont. This year the budget of stories is more varied than ever and include, not only moose and deer hunting, but also fox, bear and wolf etc. A paper by John Arthur Hope on The Red Deer or Wapiti and the Virginian or Common Red Deer of North America, will be read with interest by every sportsman, whether he is a big game hunter or a nature student simply. Fishermen, canoeists, campers mountaineers and others will find that they are not forgotten for although hunting has the pride place, which is quite in keeping with the period of the year, the many sportsmen who are not big game hunters, may depend upon a variety which takes note of the fact that sportsmen have many tastes and are not all absorbed in one pursuit. Those however, who are not big game hunters, may enjoy the many excellent stories dealing with this fine sport which appears in this capital number.

The temperature registered fifty degrees Saturday.

A. J. B. Mellich, city, was a passenger east Saturday.

Rev. A. B. McLeod of Truro is visiting in North Wiltshire.

Prince Edward Island and Cape Breton. Mr. H. C. Brown has been transferred to the Montreal division. Nell McNeil, assistant to Mr. Shaw, becomes local manager for Sydney and vicinity.

The Canadian Magazine, for October is a particularly strong number. Among the important contributions is one entitled War by Prof. Goldwin Smith. The professor in his most dignified style deprecates war as an unnecessary evil, and sees no reason why we should cultivate militarism. The first article is a review of government ownership in Western Canada by George Fisher Chipman. Other contributions of particular interest are Heaven, by Rev. J. Patterson Smyth; among the Magdalen Islands, by Frank Yeigh; A. Mystery Play, by Arnold Haultain; Art and the Work of Archibald Browne, by E. F. B. Johnston; E. O. The Backdoor to the Northwestern Wheatfields, by Rosen Kingsmill, with short stories by several Canadian writers and a poem by Isabel Ecclestone Mackay.

The New Millinery Shown Here Is a Revelation in Loveliness

MOORE & McLEOD millinery has won the reputation of style supremacy and leadership for the city. For quality of materials, for distinction and originality of styles this millinery shop is without a rival in the city—or indeed in the Province. And the logical result is enormous and increasing business. Our big staff under the charge of Miss Wilson is working day and night to keep up to the orders that are pouring in.

And so we repeat to-day—please bring in your orders for this week early. Of course at any time we'll do our level best—but we want to do for you even better than our best, which just a little extra time makes possible some Monday or Tuesday and give us all the time you can—so we are so equal to we can if you n.

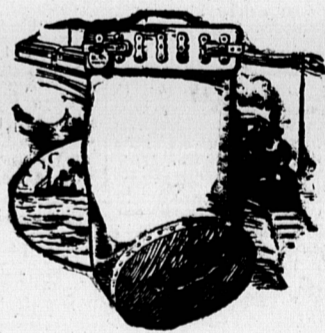

How do you like the hat illustrated above? We'll reproduce it very cheaply if you say so.

Hats of distinctive style cost no more than you've often paid for ordinary things.

We want your mail and Phone orders

LOST of people use our mail order department for their shopping—and many people shop with us by long distance telephone. Many of these customers have been good natured enough to say that we give them splendid satisfaction. We do our best—and that is "going some." Write for our latest

"coat folder." Or if you are in need of anything of any sort write us about it—we have plenty of time to tell you all we know on the point or to send you all the samples you care to see.

"The Latest Standard Patterns"

Do you know that the "Standard Patterns" are the very best seam allowance patterns that money can buy? And do you know that the October patterns are here? 10c and 15c.

The Standard Style Book is one of the best propositions we know of. You pay twenty cents for the "Style Book" which illustrates more than a thousand new fall designs—and each copy of the "Style Book" has a coupon in front that entitles you to a 15 cent pattern free. In other words the Style Book costs you FIVE CENTS. And it's worth more than that even if you tore out the leaves to tie up parcels with them. Think it over!

WE are selling a tremendous lot of wall papers this month. Never yet saw so much good wall paper sold in the autumn. But it's a good idea, when you come to think of it. We've a splendid range of artistic designs that you probably have not seen—and you will find it easier to get a paper hanger now than in the rush of the early spring.

No use trying to describe wall papers. That's one of the lines that you simply have to see. And our Mr. Hertz would rather show you handsome wall papers than spend time any other way. You are cordially invited to join the number of "wise ones"—and call to-day.
