

Iodized Milk And Eggs Weapons Against Goitre

ITHACA, N.Y. Dec. 4.—Experiments that offer a better method of combating goitre were described today at Cornell University. In tests lasting eight years, the iodine content of eggs and milk has been multiplied many fold by feeding hens and cows on seaweed.

The sea is one of the richest sources of the kind of iodine that prevents goitre. In one type of seaweed, macrocystic pyrifera, Prof. George W. Cavanagh of the chemistry department has demonstrated practical ways of getting this sea iodine into two of the most general articles of diet.

The iodine eggs are the first of their kind. Ordinary eggs contain from 50 to 100 parts of iodine per billion of eggs. These new Cornell eggs contain 5,000 parts.

One of these eggs is equivalent in iodine to half a live lobster, the richest known sea animal in the goiter preventing substance.

They were obtained from a flock of farm hens near Odessa, N.Y. The chickens were fed on the seaweed and on fish scrap. Two months of this diet added to their regular feed produced the iodine eggs.

For iodine milk only the seaweed is added to the usual grain feed of cows. The result is milk containing 10 to 20 times the usual amount of iodine.

The seaweed is a form of kelp obtained from the southern coast to 60 feet deep, it tops are so massed that marine mowing machines harvest them readily. It retains its sea minerals and other nutritive substances when dried.

Aus. Leader Sacrifices Wealth To Become Judge

CANBERRA, Aus., Dec. 4.—Sir John Latham has been appointed Chief Justice of the High Court of Australia at a salary of $17,500 a year, which is believed to be about half the income he was capable of making as a lawyer.

Probably no man ever made a greater financial sacrifice to serve Australia than Sir John. He was earning more than $30,000 a year at the bar when he entered politics, and a year later nine-tenths of his income had disappeared.

Sir John Latham was one of the leaders of the Victorian Bar before entering politics, and soon after entering Federal Parliament he attained front rank prominence and became Attorney-General in the Bruce Government.

When the Bruce Government was shattered in 1929, Sir John becoming leader of the Opposition in the absence of Mr. Bruce, who was defeated, devoted himself to the task of building the Nationalist party into an organization again capable of attaining power.

In little more than two years Sir John converted a dispirited opposition into the most effective fighting force Federal Parliament has ever known.

When it was on the eve of gaining power again, he could have been Prime Minister, but for the sake of unity he stood aside in favor of Mr. Lyons, becoming Deputy Prime Minister and Attorney-General in the first Lyons administration.

He led the goodwill mission to Japan early last year and soon afterwards retired from politics to devote himself to his profession again.—Australian Press Bureau.

MR. EDMUND TOOMBS

There passed away at his home in Mayfield on Sunday, Oct. 13th, 1935, after four months illness and great suffering which he bore with most wonderful patience, Edmund Toombs, who was born seventy-five years ago just across the road from his late home. He leaves to mourn a sorrowing widow and one son Lewis at home, also three brothers and two sisters—William at Kensington; John at Bedque; Kenneth at Kensington; Mrs. Sadie Eryenton at Mayfield and Mrs. Albert Muttart at Carleton. The funeral was held at the home on Tuesday at ten-thirty a.m., Rev. W. A. Paterson having charge, assisted by Rev. Wm. G. Quigley. The music was in charge of two nieces of the deceased, Mrs. John Haslam and Miss Mary Muttart who sang a beautiful solo. The remains were laid to rest in Cavendish Cemetery beside his son Gordon who died at the early age of seven years. There to await the Resurrection Morn.

FOUR RULES FOR MODESTY IN WOMEN'S DRESS

The League of Modesty is a Chicago organization which has just drawn up a code of rules to guide women in the art of restraint in dressing. Here are some of the rules:

- 1—Necklines should never be lower than one or two inches, back and front.
- 2—Stockings must not be transparent or flesh colored.
- 3—Sleeves must at least cover the elbows, and skirts fall far below the knees.
- 4—Clothes should conceal rather than reveal the figure.

Perfect attendance for the two months: Bernard Cheverie, Rita Cheverie, Willie Beaton, Marion McDonald.

NEW-TYPE "TARGET-TUNING" DIAL

1 Above is shown the Dial when Tuning on Short Wave. (No other Band is Visible)

2 The turn of a knob brings the Standard Broadcast Band of domestic stations into position ALONE!

3 Another turn and the "X" Band of weather reports, etc., is ready to tune.

4 Here is the Police and Amateur Band. No confusion because ONLY that band is visible!

A revolving "vernier" travels across this new dial, with the indicator, and directly under it, permits of hair-line logging of foreign stations so accurately that you can always tune to that exact point at will. No fishing, no doubting. Paris, London, Berlin, Vienna, Moscow—all can be tuned as accurately as you would a domestic station.

SPECIAL SERVICE MURRAY HARBOR SOUTH

The Rally Day Service of the Murray Harbor South Union Sunday School was held in the new Presbyterian Church at Murray Harbor South on the evening of Sunday, Oct. 6th. The evening was fine and a very large congregation was present.

Rev. R. Hensley Stavert, Presbyterian minister presided, and the following program was well carried out:

Call to Worship. Invocation, the Minister. Scripture reading, Psalm XXXIII—Responsive. Hymn 746—Congregation. Prayer.—The Minister.

HAILE SELASSIE DOLL IN PERE NOEL'S PACK

The benediction by the minister brought this very interesting and helpful service to a close.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—French children will fight the African war on playroom floors this Christmas with toy Italian and Ethiopian soldiers—including a Haile Selassie doll that walks, salutes and utters a throaty "ugh"—but children on this continent must be content with the trains, dolls and noise-makers of last year, some what modernized by the latest gadgets.

Toy manufacturers, who stocked toy departments last summer before the Italo-Ethiopian war started, were caught flat-footed when Mussolini's invasion of ancient Ethiopia seized the attention of the world and, incidentally, provided a sure-fire market for toys portraying the war. Then it was too late to get them on the market.

SYDNEY SURGEON IN SKIN GRAFT TRIUMPH

A notable triumph in skin grafting has been scored by an Australian surgeon. New eyebrows and lids have been grafted over the staring, though still functioning, eyes of a youth who was badly burned by acid. Piece by piece, skin from other parts of the body is being grafted to the face and other damaged parts.

Eight operations have been performed at Sydney and there are still three more to be done. Medical men from all over Australia have been watching the progress of the case and photographs of the successive stages have been forwarded to the British Medical Association.—Australian Press Bureau.
