CHANNING POLLOCK

His Superior Ideas and Methods

go! Himself a hard worker, he believes in the doctrine of work; he stays in his office at the Lyric Theatre from 9 in the morning until 11 at night, and he frequently writes in his Harlem flat until 2 or 3 in the morning. He is now at work on a new play, a dramatization of Agnes and Egerton Castle's book, "The Secret Orchard." This is to be produced in Chicago early in December of this year.

Pollock says that he is not going to do any more dramatizations than those he has contracted for—which are several—but expects to stick to original work instead.

"The dramatist gets no credit," he said. "If the play is a success they say that it is due to the cleverness of the book, and if it is a failure they say that the dramatist has ruined the story."

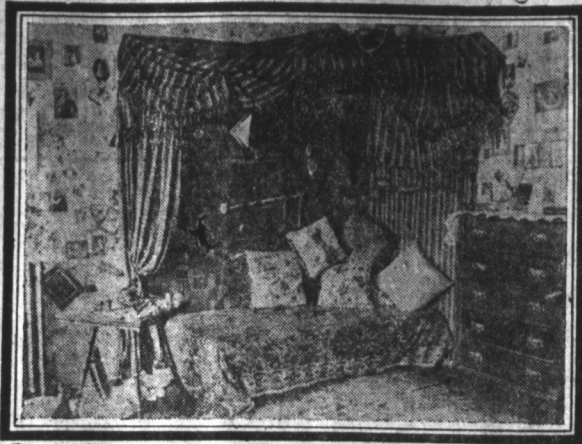

VIRIAN M. MOSES.

but he found time to rewrite the first half volume four times, and then he offered it to a publisher, who paid him $5.00 for the serial rights.

This was the beginning of the career of Hall Caine. Twenty years ago he was almost starving, and today he is one of the wealthiest authors living. His book, "The Eternal City," sold to the extent of 120,000 copies in England alone.

Greba Castle is a fine old building, which the author bought some years ago from Mrs. Windus, the widow of a well-known publisher. It stands on the side of Greba Hill, between Peel and Douglas. He does not actually work in the castle itself, for in the grounds he has an old hut which he has transferred into a study. To this quiet spot he adjourns soon after breakfast and works rapidly until lunch time. Hall Caine's rapid rise to fame has not spoiled him. He has a large number of friends and is the largest landowner on the island.

If Hall Caine has one hobby of which he is very fond it is collecting old furniture, and Greba Castle contains some of the finest old oak in the world. In one corner of the dining-room is a magnificent old brown oak cabinet dated 1601. In another corner is Rossetti's armchair. But in his workshop, as he calls the cottage in which he writes, the furniture is of the plainest description. It is often said that Hall Caine is one of the few authors who have never known rejections but this is a very great mistake. Not

Of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and qualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles or such lists of grateful friends as has

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, Inflammation and Irritation. Falling and Displacement, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Local Weaknesses, than any other remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels tumors in an early stage of development.

Irregular, Suppressed or Painful Periods, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yield to it. Deranged organs causing pain, weight and backache, instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it invigorates the female system.

It quickly removes that bearing-down feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't-care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, dizziness, faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues" and headache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, or some derangement of the organs which this medicine surely cures. Chronic Kidney Complaints and Backache, of either sex, the Vegetable Compound cures.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.
