British Throw In More Fresh Troops: Final Decision Still Undecided.

The armored southern claw with which Hitler is reaching eastward for a throttling grip on Allied communications and war resources has been definitely blunted by the British 8th army in Egypt. Its northern counterpart in Russia, 10 times more powerful, is dangerously close to a vital Red army artery, however, if it has not already cut it.

Gaps Torn In Timoshenko's Armies By One Million German Soldiers; Hitler's Army Holds Bridgehead Across Don River.

By JAMES MCCOOK Canadian Press Staff Writer OTTAWA, July 6—(CP)—Operation of the butter-bonus policy of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board over a period of one year may cost more than $15,000,000, officials estimated today after study on butter-production figures.

By MARCO CROCKETT Associated Press Staff Writer CALISO, July 6—(AP)—The British Army of the Nile retained the initiative firmly today after fierce Maori troops from New Zealand drove the Germans further back in the El Alamein cauldron with a terrifying bayonet charge.

German claims of having pushed bridgeheads across the Don River, unaided from Moscow, are accepted in London as probably accurate. The site of such crossings must be somewhere within less than 50 cast of Kursk. The Don parallels the railroad to the west for 60 miles or so and at no point in the span is more than 20 miles distant from it.

WITH AN AMERICAN TANK UNIT IN THE WESTERN AFRICAN DESERT, June 25—(Delayed)—Major Lodge's first battle-field encounter with the United States and German armies occurred in the desert June 12. Only a handful of Americans was employed, but it must be counted a victory, for the Americans estimate they knocked out at least 100 German tanks and came out of the battle almost unscathed.

Called to defend what is left of Egypt, Britain's Gen. Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck faces a flanking military job. He succeeds defeated Gen. Neil M. Ritchie.

The Maoris—descendants of warlike Polynesians from down under—attacked with blood-curdling screams at the end of a full day of stiff fighting Sunday in seemingly impossible weather conditions.

London reports credit the Germans with having thrown 1,000,000 men into the Kursk-Kharkov drive. British observers believe that a great Nazi turning movement southward down the Don Valley is in the making. A Nazi claim that Russian forces still west of the Don are threatened with encirclement tends to bear out that Caucasus and its Don lies Rostov and beyond it southward, the grave view taken by British military spokesmen of the Russian situation on the Upper Don seems fully warranted on the face of meagre advices from that seething front.

Major Lodge went to the front to arrange for their temporary inclusion in a royal tank regiment and to get data for their special training in desert fighting. When there is a German tank raid in the El Alamein area, the Americans went into battle just after the situation in Libya had begun to grow bad.

RUSSIANS WITHDRAW "During July 6 our troops waged fierce battles west of Voronezh and southwest of Stray Oskol," the communique said, "our troops evacuated a number of populated places." (The German high command claimed Sunday that the Don
