MARRIAGES FEWER
JOHANNESBURG, Sept. 13 — (Reuters) — Shortage of housing was the main deterrent to marriage in South Africa until a few months ago — now it's a shortage of money. A survey showed that: Jewelers are now selling fewer marriage and engagement rings, but reported an increase in sales of rings under $160. Clergymen said that bridegrooms today often consider $4 an adequate wedding fee, whereas they used to pay as much as $20.00. And there are fewer church marriages, they reported.

Wiltshire-Laughlin Wedding

Wiltshire-Laughlin Wedding

The marriage of Eunice Nina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Laughlin, of St. Eleanors, P.E.I., to Mr. Bruce Alexander Wiltshire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wiltshire of Montreal, Quebec, took place on Saturday, August 27th at half-past ten o'clock in Holy Family Church, the Rev. Father Thoms officiated. Mr. Shore played the wedding music and summer flowers were used for decorating the church.

The bride who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Jean Paul Cagnon of Quebec City, Que., wore a gown of ivory satin with a fitted bodice having a high neckline with a lace yoke and sleeves ending in points over the hands and a full skirt. Her full length veil of tulle illusion was held by a band of lace, caught at each side with lily-of-the-valley, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Dorothy Hylands of Longueuil, Quebec, as maid of honor, was in a frock of dusty pink taffeta with fitted bodice having a shawl collar, short sleeves, and a full skirt. She wore a bando of pink flowers in her hair with a shoulder length veil and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. George Wallace acted as best man for Mr. Wiltshire and the ushers were Mr. Clifford Wiltshire and Mr. Edward Wiltshire, brothers of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Wiltshire, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of grey printed taffeta, a navy blue hat and accessories, and a corsage of gladioli blossoms.

The reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, where multi-colored gladioli were used as decorations.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Wiltshire left to spend their honeymoon at the home of the bride's parents at St. Eleanors, P.E.I., where a large reception and shower was held on Monday, Sept. 5, with over 100 friends and acquaintances of the bride attending.

Also arriving on the Island for the reception were Mr. and Mrs. C. Wiltshire, mother and father of the bridegroom, Mr. C. Wiltshire and Master P. Wiltshire, brothers of the bridegroom and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pitre, Jr., uncle and aunt of the bridegroom, all of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiltshire will make their home in Montreal, Quebec. (Summerside papers please copy) woman to sit and watch for some sign of disease in another, for them to coldly calculate the chances of some one being run over by an automobile or meeting with some other accident. Whether they admit it or not there is murder in the heart of every man and woman whose happiness and well being depends upon the death of another.

So, if you want to save your love and save your respect for each other, break off this dreadful engagement to wait until your husband passes on to marry. The only decent thing is for you to part and forget each other as much as you can, substitute other interests and other thoughts and do your duty to the man who has been a good, kind father and husband. And never let him find out about this unhappy love that has come into your lives.

DEAR MISS DIX: My complaint is that the present-day American woman has placed her physical attractiveness above her charm. She is succeeding quite well in making herself physically attractive, but very definitely she is losing her charm. That is why you meet so many women who are merely attractive to look at, but inoffensively dull and uninteresting to talk to, and who have really no appeal. What a pity that women do not realize that beauty is only the frame, charm is the masterpiece within. Can't you do something about it?

ANSWER: No, because women are sold on the idea that the only thing that counts is beauty. They believe that their looks are the only thing that attracts a man to a woman. That is the reason they devote their every thought and energy to improving their bodies and pay no attention whatever to developing a spiritual beauty.

Wherever we go we meet women who are a treat to the eyes but a weariness to the ear. They are good to look at, but they haven't an idea under their perfectly waved hair of matter how orchidaceous they are, they cannot hold us. We turn from them to some woman who may not have a single good feature to bless herself with, but who has sympathy and understanding and gentleness and a subtle hand that strokes our fur the right way.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 18 years old and I want to marry a girl who is six months younger than myself. My parents are very much opposed to it. They say I am too young. I think that age doesn't matter as long as we love each other. I am writing you in hopes that you can convince my parents that they are just being selfish in refusing to let me marry and making me very unhappy.

A. H. S.

ANSWER: Age does matter in your case, son, because at 18 a boy is incapable of a lasting love. Nor is he ready to settle down. Any girl that you would marry now you would be sick and tired of by the time you are grown up.

You may think you are unhappy now, but you are not so unhappy as you would be if you were tied down with a family and had to forego all the pleasures of youth. Listen to your parents and save yourself a lot of grief.

25th Wedding Anniversary

An event of much interest took place on the evening of August 27th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waugh, Lower Bedouque, when a large number of relatives and friends gathered to celebrate with them the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedded life.

"Robert and Muriel" as they are familiarly known, looked youthful and gay as they were escorted to the seats of honor by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Waugh, brother and sister respectively of the honored couple, to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus played by Mr. Ralph Hogg. Mr. Roy Campbell acted as chairman and after a few complimentary remarks called on Mrs. Wm. Montgomery to read an address.

Other speakers followed and the remarks that were made testified to the esteem in which this popular couple is held.

A presentation of an electric Trilight Floor Lamp and a purse of money was made by Mr. Brecken Simons, while a silver butter dish and knife was presented by Mrs. Hedley Muttart, the latter being a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Montgomery.

Mr. Waugh although somewhat abashed by the large gathering rose to the occasion and thanked all for their thoughtfulness and generosity.

The remainder of the evening was spent in social chat and song. Mrs. Barrett sister of the honored "Bride" furnished the music.

As the evening neared a late hour luncheon was served and to the ample supply of good things is putting it mildly.

After singing the National Anthem and wishing the "Bride and Groom" many more years of happy wedded life all departed for their homes noting this a social evening well spent.

Following is the address:—
Dear Robert and Muriel:—
We your relatives and friends, have gathered here tonight to tender you our sincere congratulations on this twenty-fifth anniversary of your marriage.

Together down the Road of Life you two, sharing each others joys and sorrows have made your way. Each year has been a stepping stone to this your Silver Wedding Day.

You Muriel, by your kindness and friendliness have won for yourself a place in our hearts that time can never efface.

To you both we come to express our fellowship and as a token we ask you to accept these gifts.

May God's richest blessing follow you both as you journey along together towards your 50th anniversary.

And may the year you are now beginning be the happiest you have known, and with every year we hope you will find that your joy has grown.

Your relatives and friends.
