

The SUMMERSIDE GUARDIAN

AND PRINCE COUNTY CHRONICLE

THE WESTERN GUARDIAN

AGENT—Mrs. John Pond, 44 Water Street East—Phone 289
SUMMERSIDE AND PRINCE COUNTY

News, Subscriptions, Advertising should be left with Mrs. Pond
The Guardian may be bought daily at any of the following stores in Summerside:
Bell Bookstore, Water St. Gourlies Drugstore, Water St.
Toronto Bakery, Water St. Mark Gaudet, 67 Granville St.

The Guardian will be delivered to any home in Summerside by Carrier Boy at 20 per day or 10c per week. Phone 289 for this service or give your order to the boy responsible for deliveries on your route.

This column is reserved for news of local interest but advertising of a new nature may be inserted at 2 cents a word strictly payable in advance.

INDOOR FLY Spray 40c pound
Taylor Drug Co., Kensington.

LEPTON! The ideal body builder 20 oz. bottle $1.00. Gourlies Drug Store. L-606-9-6-21.

BREWERS yeast tablets, 250 per $1.00. Edmund Drug Company, Summerside. L-615-9-6-21.

YARDLEY'S special 3 cakes soap with perfume $1.00. Gourlies Drug Store. L-606-9-6-21.

GIRL WANTED for store, state experience and salary required. Ex. 44, Summerside. L-609-9-6-21.

RALPH G. MUTTART, General Insurance Agency. Insurance at low rates. Phone Summerside. L-311-11.

Kensington And Vicinity

Mr. P. N. LeBlanc was a business visitor to Summerside on Thursday.

Mrs. James Lynch, of Charlottetown, former beautician here before opening her happy throng of newly-wedded brides and bridesmaids with friends in Kensington as well as assisting our new beautician Miss McDonald, who has purchased Mrs. Lynch's former parlor, in getting on her way.

Mrs. John E. Bernard has returned home from an enjoyable extended holiday in the United Kingdom and is in the city with relatives and friends in Malden, Mass. Mrs. Bernard accompanied Mr. Isaac Milton, her son-in-law, home. Mr. Milton accompanied her on her return, intending to visit his friends in New Brunswick on his way back.

His many friends are pleased to see Mr. Bernard and are glad to hear of his recent illness.

Mr. Frank Arnett, of Summerside, was a business visitor to Kensington on Thursday.

Many of our younger element attended and enjoyed the weekly dance in Inashton on Wednesday evening.

Miss Ellen Shea and Mrs. Harry Warren were visitors to Charlottetown on Thursday.

An enjoyable evening was had on Thursday by many of our younger element when they journeyed to French Bay, where an enjoyable corn bowl was had. The weather man managed to be on his best behaviour for the greater part of their stay, and, according to reports, ample justice was done to the abundant supply of corn by all.

The motion picture, "The Man in the Iron Mask," which was being shown in the Capitol Theatre, Summerside, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, was well attended by the local motion picture fans.

Mrs. Harry Warren and daughter, Jewel, left on return to their home in Malden, Mass., on Saturday morning, after an enjoyable holiday in Kensington.

The weather man during Thursday night said the long-looked-for and badly-needed rain to our many farmers.

Mr. Elwood Bryant was a business visitor to Charlottetown on Thursday.

Nazis Prevent Rescue Of Own Airmen

LONDON, Sept. 6.—(CP)—The German airmen have again been rescued from the sea by British naval units. An Admiralty communiqué said: "The morning three of His Majesty's destroyers attempted to rescue four German airmen who had jumped over the sea from a German bomber. The rescue was prevented by other German aircraft which attacked the destroyers with machine-gun fire. There were no casualties in the destroyers."

"Also, this morning one of our motor torpedo boats was attacked and machine-gunned by German aircraft while proceeding to the rescue of a downed German aircraft. Four of the crew of the torpedo boat were slightly wounded and the airmen were rescued. The German bomber was abandoned."

Farm For Sale AT KENSINGTON

I offer for sale the farm property of the late Hammond J. Toombs, consisting of 23 acres of land. Outbuildings in good repair and house with all modern conveniences. Apply

FLORA M. TOOMBS, Administratrix.

CAPITOL—Summerside

—NOW PLAYING—

A GREAT SCREEN ADVENTURE... IN TECHNICOLOR!

Spencer Tracy / Cast of Thousands / A story that puts to shame the wildest fiction!

NORTHWEST PASSAGE
SPENCER TRACY
with Robert Young, Walter Brennan, Ruth Hussey, and Wally Patorito

Screen Play by Laurence Stallings and Tolbot Jennings. Produced by Hunt Stromberg. Directed by King Vidor

Also Short Subject Shows Today at 3-7-9.15

Vice-Regal Party Tours Halifax Area

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer
LONDON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—People of the slums walked silently past bombed houses in the stifling heat. An old man and a young woman, weary red from weeping, stood outside one house.

"I'm not going to leave. I've got the old man kept saying, 'I've got to stay here. I'm not going. They'll steal my clothes.'"

An air raid warden said helplessly: "I took 'em to a relief centre under the eye of the Governor-General, who expressed approval. The Vice-Regal party drove through the streets of the city and were guests of the officers of the Halifax coast brigade after their inspection of the fortresses."

The Governor-General and Her Royal Highness, who arrived in Halifax after visiting Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick, were accompanied by addresses of welcome from the provincial and civic governments after being officially welcomed by Lieut.-Governor P. F. Mathers of Nova Scotia and Mrs. Mathers.

At Province House, the Vice-Regal party moved slowly through the streets of Halifax, accompanied by Police officers, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides and Brownies after the Governor-General had inspected a guard of honor outside the building, made up of the Halifax Rifles, Princess Louise Fusiliers and Prince Edward Island Highlanders.

After the addresses of welcome by Premier A. S. McMillan and Mayor W. J. Donohue, members of the provincial and civic governments and their wives were presented to His Excellency and Princess Alice.

On the way out of the historic building, the Governor-General inspected several times to read inscriptions, look at pictures and chat with officials and other persons.

During the brief ceremony, distinguished Halifax citizens provided a background in the red chameau of the Province House, sprinkled liberally with uniforms of the army, navy, air force and R.C.M.P. In his reply to Premier Macdonald, the Governor-General recalled that when King George V. and Queen Mary, then the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, made their tour of the Empire.

The "fleeting glimpse" of the province on their arrival in July "created in us an earnest desire to return here at the earliest opportunity, and convert what was a mere acquaintance into what I hope will be a lasting friendship," His Excellency said.

The Governor-General said "here on the shores of the Atlantic I am struck by the position which Canada occupies in the British Empire. Britons are 'fortified' not only by the valor of their own stout hearts but by the knowledge that behind them lie the resources of the British Empire and materials of this great Dominion of which Nova Scotia is the sea gate."

"You're a wonderful opportunity. In your history you have seized it with both hands and that you have risen to the greatness of the occasion in a way that is worthy of the greatness of your inheritance."

Excelsior said: "There on the shores of the Atlantic I am struck by the position which Canada occupies in the British Empire. Britons are 'fortified' not only by the valor of their own stout hearts but by the knowledge that behind them lie the resources of the British Empire and materials of this great Dominion of which Nova Scotia is the sea gate."

"You're a wonderful opportunity. In your history you have seized it with both hands and that you have risen to the greatness of the occasion in a way that is worthy of the greatness of your inheritance."

Excelsior said: "There on the shores of the Atlantic I am struck by the position which Canada occupies in the British Empire. Britons are 'fortified' not only by the valor of their own stout hearts but by the knowledge that behind them lie the resources of the British Empire and materials of this great Dominion of which Nova Scotia is the sea gate."

"You're a wonderful opportunity. In your history you have seized it with both hands and that you have risen to the greatness of the occasion in a way that is worthy of the greatness of your inheritance."

Excelsior said: "There on the shores of the Atlantic I am struck by the position which Canada occupies in the British Empire. Britons are 'fortified' not only by the valor of their own stout hearts but by the knowledge that behind them lie the resources of the British Empire and materials of this great Dominion of which Nova Scotia is the sea gate."

"You're a wonderful opportunity. In your history you have seized it with both hands and that you have risen to the greatness of the occasion in a way that is worthy of the greatness of your inheritance."

Excelsior said: "There on the shores of the Atlantic I am struck by the position which Canada occupies in the British Empire. Britons are 'fortified' not only by the valor of their own stout hearts but by the knowledge that behind them lie the resources of the British Empire and materials of this great Dominion of which Nova Scotia is the sea gate."

Labor Protests

Remarks By Hon. R. B. Hanson

TORONTO, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Members of the Toronto District Trades and Labor Council passed a unanimous resolution last night protesting remarks of Hon. R. B. Hanson, Federal Conservative Leader, and Harold Crabtree, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at the Labor Day luncheon of directors of the Canadian National Exhibition.

The members also protested the choice of non-Labor men to give the principal addresses at the luncheon.

One resolution said in part: "The remarks of Hon. Mr. Hanson were of an entirely political nature, dealing not only with questions relative to the Dominion of Canada, but also of the United States and the President of the U. S., as a potential candidate for re-election."

The Labor men also protested against "others than those identified with organized labor" being included in the Labor Day program, and urged that the Labor Day luncheon be not used "as a means of bolstering up the political fortunes of the political party or party leader."

Mr. Hanson discussed the recent North American defense talks between Canada and the United States and the conference between Prime Minister King and President Roosevelt, "in part at the present position."

The Labor Council members also criticized Mr. Crabtree for saying: "I am not opposed to trade unions, but we certainly cannot allow 700 unions operating in the United States to control our industries and the President of the U. S. to sell such statements were not in the best interests of the empire's war effort."

Studies of the permanent defence board, Captain Murray intimated, would include the possibility of completing the long-controversial Alaska highway from Vancouver to Juneau.

Upon the basis of Mr. Macdonald's statement, it was reported that he had recently landed in the United Kingdom and reports in the British press of 35,000 Canadians in that country took such statements as a challenge by Defence Minister Ralston in the House of Commons in July that the government proposed to maintain a core of two divisions there, the assumption was made that for the present the task of the navy in escorting contingents overseas might be considered complete.

Mr. Macdonald noted with satisfaction the rise in trade in the first seven months of this year as against last. Exports, mostly to the United Kingdom, were valued at $170,000,000, he said, "speaking volumes for the thoroughness and efficiency of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police."

He announced three new appointments: Cmdr. W. B. Creery, former commanding officer of the destroyer Fraser, sunk in a collision with an action, to be commander-in-charge at Halifax; Cmdr. L. J. M. Gauvrau to be senior officer at Caspe and Engineer Captain Geo. Leslie Stephens to be naval superintendent at Esquimalt, B.C., as well as chief engineer at the dockyards his present post.

An air raid warden said, "there were 1,500 people inside. Didn't touch a one."

The bomb had ploughed through the earth and concrete and opened a hole two feet square in the top of the shelter.

Shops, too poor to buy glass, had been boarded up, their fronts chalked with slogans: "British goods, keep smiling," and "The R.A.F. will get 'em; keep your chin up."

The only damage of military value was in a prosperous residential district where seven bombs had fallen on a suburban station. One track had been broken and workmen were mending it.

"Mister, will put this right before you can kiss a duck," said one workman.

A fat sun-tanned baby in a carriage started to cry. The woman picked it up and stood looking at the ruined home.

One bomb had hit the top of an underground shelter in a square. All windows in all houses in the square had been blown out. I could see the women cleaning.

An air raid warden said, "there were 1,500 people inside. Didn't touch a one."

The bomb had ploughed through the earth and concrete and opened a hole two feet square in the top of the shelter.

Shops, too poor to buy glass, had been boarded up, their fronts chalked with slogans: "British goods, keep smiling," and "The R.A.F. will get 'em; keep your chin up."

The only damage of military value was in a prosperous residential district where seven bombs had fallen on a suburban station. One track had been broken and workmen were mending it.

"Mister, will put this right before you can kiss a duck," said one workman.

A fat sun-tanned baby in a carriage started to cry. The woman picked it up and stood looking at the ruined home.

One bomb had hit the top of an underground shelter in a square. All windows in all houses in the square had been blown out. I could see the women cleaning.

An air raid warden said, "there were 1,500 people inside. Didn't touch a one."

The bomb had ploughed through the earth and concrete and opened a hole two feet square in the top of the shelter.

Shops, too poor to buy glass, had been boarded up, their fronts chalked with slogans: "British goods, keep smiling," and "The R.A.F. will get 'em; keep your chin up."

The only damage of military value was in a prosperous residential district where seven bombs had fallen on a suburban station. One track had been broken and workmen were mending it.

"Mister, will put this right before you can kiss a duck," said one workman.

West Coast

In Orbit Of Defence Board

Ottawa, Sept. 6.—(CP)—The West Coast definitely falls within the orbit of studies being made by the permanent defence board of Canada and the United States, Captain W. L. Murray, Deputy Chief of Naval Staff, and senior military expert of the board's Canadian section, said today.

At Navy Minister Macdonald's weekly conference, Capt. Murray said the Defence Board was considering all aspects of defence and the "West Coast is not being forgotten."

Mr. Macdonald's report was one of steady progress and accomplishment on the part of the Royal Canadian navy. He let it be known that the last and mightiest convoy of troops in which Canadian guard-vessels had a part, had safely delivered this week to England 11,500 troops together with 33 Canadian nurses and 14 naval cadets.

In transporting troops across the broad Atlantic Canada has not lost a man or a gun.

The Canadian navy, the Minister said, was delighted with the British acquisition of 50 destroyers from the United States and was doing all in its power to facilitate delivery. Canada was prepared to man some of these ships, but he did not say whether or not this would be done.

Studies of the permanent defence board, Captain Murray intimated, would include the possibility of completing the long-controversial Alaska highway from Vancouver to Juneau.

Upon the basis of Mr. Macdonald's statement, it was reported that he had recently landed in the United Kingdom and reports in the British press of 35,000 Canadians in that country took such statements as a challenge by Defence Minister Ralston in the House of Commons in July that the government proposed to maintain a core of two divisions there, the assumption was made that for the present the task of the navy in escorting contingents overseas might be considered complete.

Mr. Macdonald noted with satisfaction the rise in trade in the first seven months of this year as against last. Exports, mostly to the United Kingdom, were valued at $170,000,000, he said, "speaking volumes for the thoroughness and efficiency of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police."

He announced three new appointments: Cmdr. W. B. Creery, former commanding officer of the destroyer Fraser, sunk in a collision with an action, to be commander-in-charge at Halifax; Cmdr. L. J. M. Gauvrau to be senior officer at Caspe and Engineer Captain Geo. Leslie Stephens to be naval superintendent at Esquimalt, B.C., as well as chief engineer at the dockyards his present post.

An air raid warden said, "there were 1,500 people inside. Didn't touch a one."

The bomb had ploughed through the earth and concrete and opened a hole two feet square in the top of the shelter.

Shops, too poor to buy glass, had been boarded up, their fronts chalked with slogans: "British goods, keep smiling," and "The R.A.F. will get 'em; keep your chin up."

The only damage of military value was in a prosperous residential district where seven bombs had fallen on a suburban station. One track had been broken and workmen were mending it.

"Mister, will put this right before you can kiss a duck," said one workman.

A fat sun-tanned baby in a carriage started to cry. The woman picked it up and stood looking at the ruined home.

One bomb had hit the top of an underground shelter in a square. All windows in all houses in the square had been blown out. I could see the women cleaning.

An air raid warden said, "there were 1,500 people inside. Didn't touch a one."

The bomb had ploughed through the earth and concrete and opened a hole two feet square in the top of the shelter.

Shops, too poor to buy glass, had been boarded up, their fronts chalked with slogans: "British goods, keep smiling," and "The R.A.F. will get 'em; keep your chin up."

The only damage of military value was in a prosperous residential district where seven bombs had fallen on a suburban station. One track had been broken and workmen were mending it.

"Mister, will put this right before you can kiss a duck," said one workman.

A fat sun-tanned baby in a carriage started to cry. The woman picked it up and stood looking at the ruined home.

One bomb had hit the top of an underground shelter in a square. All windows in all houses in the square had been blown out. I could see the women cleaning.

An air raid warden said, "there were 1,500 people inside. Didn't touch a one."

The bomb had ploughed through the earth and concrete and opened a hole two feet square in the top of the shelter.

Shops, too poor to buy glass, had been boarded up, their fronts chalked with slogans: "British goods, keep smiling," and "The R.A.F. will get 'em; keep your chin up."

The only damage of military value was in a prosperous residential district where seven bombs had fallen on a suburban station. One track had been broken and workmen were mending it.

"Mister, will put this right before you can kiss a duck," said one workman.

A fat sun-tanned baby in a carriage started to cry. The woman picked it up and stood looking at the ruined home.

8 Destroyers

Arrive; Still Fly U. S. Flag

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer
AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Sept. 6.—(CP)—The United States' exchange of "over-age" but serviceable destroyers for British air and naval base sites became a tangible fact today as a group of the vessels steamed into this port and British tars went aboard to man them.

The flotilla came into harbor under grey skies after sailing a few hours after President Roosevelt had announced the U. S. was trading 50 of its fleet for bases in the West Indies. Not long after, British sailors were treading their steel decks.

It was the first time United States naval units had entered a Canadian port since the outbreak of war.

A few hours after their arrival, the destroyers suddenly faded and put to sea in a murky haze on what a naval officer described as "purely exercises." They returned two hours later.

British Go Aboard
British sailors were seen to go aboard some of the ships, while they lay at anchor after their arrival, and observers assumed the destroyers were taken out so U. S. seamen could familiarize themselves with the operation of the vessels.

Tonight, the destroyers still flew the Stars and Stripes. It was expected they would transfer to the Union Jack tomorrow, though there was no announcement on when the switch might be made official.

There was no indication here of when they might sail for their side of the Atlantic. They were not expected to remain long here, however.

Just after the last of the two groups of destroyers had dropped anchor, a liner carrying some British navy men came up the harbor. It was assumed they were to man the U. S. craft.

The port received the U. S. reinforcements quietly. No sirens screamed or whistles blew from the vessels in the stream or at the dock. The complement on the American flotilla itself, was equally subdued. The only sign of activity was the hoisting of signal flags between the ships.

With the destroyers to be turned over to the Royal Navy, came a newly-commissioned flotilla leader of the United States Navy, acting as an escort ship. Aboard her was Admiral P. L. Reichmuth, in charge of the movement.

The admiral came ashore to pay his respects to the British and Canadian naval officers here. He was expected to take his vessel back to the United States shortly, though it was not announced when the flotilla leader would sail.

The Russian, a 1,500-ton ship of the newest U. S. classification, the Russell was fully armed, with depth charges at the stern, eight torpedoes with their warheads attached, and four guns. However, her officers said the men had not been at battle stations during the voyage from Boston to this port that started Wednesday night.

"We regard this as just a routine cruise," declared Lieut.-Commander Leary, flag officer of the Admiral commanding the flotilla.

The Russell was the only one of the destroyers to come to a dock. The other eight remained in the stream, about a half mile from land.

TIN-CAN BOMBS
BANNU, India.—(CP)—With home-made bombs made in cigarette tins, a party of tribal raiders bombed and sniped a police post near here. There was no loss of life or property.

MASONIC LODGES DISSOLVED
BERLIN, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The German news agency said today all Masonic lodges in German-occupied Netherlands have been dissolved.

OUT OUR WAY
By J. R. Williams

WHY, TH' LITTLE SCAMP HAS UNHOOKED TH' GATE AGAIN! WHEE-EE—LOOK AT THAT TROT! SOME DAY THAT BOY WILL MAKE PEOPLE STARE AT US

THAT'S RIGHT—BY TH' TIME HE'S OLD ENOUGH THEY WILL STARE, CUZ EVERYBODY'LL HAVE AUTOMOBILES—THER A COMIN' THING—EVEN OL' TIGHTWAD TINKERS GOT ONE

WE'LL HAVE TO GO BACK—I WONT HAVE HIM WALKIN' ON TH' SIDEWALKS AN' GADDIN' IN TH' STORES—AND HAVE TH' POLICE SHOOTIN' AT US! TURN AROUND!

EGAD... BINGO!

ALL RIGHT, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, WATCH YOUR CARDS CLOSELY NOW—REMEMBER, THIS IS THE JACKPOT AND THE NEXT NUMBER I DRAW OUT OF THE DRUM MAY BE VERY IMPORTANT—YES INDEED!—HERE WE GO AND HERE IT IS—UNDER THE "N" THE NUMBER IS 34—UNDER THE

YEP, IT'S HOOPLE!

By George McManus

BRINGING UP FATHER

BY GOLLY—MAGGIE HAS BEEN TAKEN A BATH NOW FOR OVER AN HOUR

BUT DADDY—I'M WAITING FOR MOTHER TO FINISH HER BATH SO I CAN TAKE ONE—AND BESIDES I MUST WASH MY FACE AND HAIR—IT'S SATURDAY NIGHT—THE SUN GOES DOWN

BY GOLLY—IT SEEMS AS IF EVERY NIGHT IS SATURDAY NIGHT—THE SUN GOES DOWN

SWELL—I BRING ME BATHING BAR OF SOAP

TIMELY NOTES ON TOPICS CONNECTED WITH Silver Fox Farming

Have you observed the bouquet and winy flavor of MORSE'S SELECTED ORANGE PEKOE TEA? Thousands have. Some users say it leaves nothing to be desired.

(Continued from page 9.)

The annual meeting of the Dominion Silver Fox and Furs Limited was held in Summerside on September 3. The shareholders again voted good dividends and elected a strong board of directors. The officers for the coming year are: President, W. P. Callaghan; Vice-President, Douglas Bell; managing director, James E. Macdonald. The majority of the pelts handled the past season were sold in North and South America at very satisfactory prices. Those sold in Europe did not realize as well. The Company's financial position is strong and they have orders for several thousand pelts from the same importing houses that they recently dealt with. It is interesting to recall that this company was organized in 1934 by W. P. Callaghan and Dr. R. H. Macdonald, Saskatoon, both men who have made their mark in our industry. Dr. Macdonald had a distinguished career overseas and settling in Saskatoon soon became a leading physician. His ranch near that city has furnished many notable prize winners and also exported pelts that have topped the markets. The Dominion Silver Fox and Furs, Ltd. have a good record for fair dealing and have many steadfast patrons who have unbounded faith in the future of the fox business.

19 Paper Box Companies Fined

TORONTO, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Fines amounting to $181,500 were levied on 19 paper box manufacturing companies today when Mr. Justice J. A. Hope of the Supreme Court of Ontario issued judgment finding them guilty of combining in restraint of trade contrary to Section 486 of the Criminal Code of Canada.

The 99-page judgment said in one place that the companies put competition "in a straight jacket."

Fines ranged from the maximum penalty for 13 companies to $250 for one company. The other 5 companies were fined $5,000 each.

The judge said he wished the fines to operate as a deterrent to combine practices and not be burdensome to the individual companies.

Lawyers said plans for appeal have not yet been decided.

H. J. Badden, president of combining Containers, Limited, was fined $4,000 with the alternative of six months in jail.

Companies fined $10,000 were: Container Materials, Limited; Shipping Containers, Limited; Standard Paper Box, Limited; North-Western Containers, Limited; Canadian Wirebound Boxes Limited; Corrugated Paper Box Company, Limited; Gair Company of Canada, Limited; Hyde and Devis, Paper Company of Canada, Limited; Hygrade Corrugated Products, Limited; Hillon Brother, Limited; Martin Paper Products, Limited; Canadian Boxes, Limited; and Acme Paper Box Company, Limited.

Malpeque Is New Canadian Ship

A WEST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Another addition to Canada's growing list of fighting ships—a trim corvette type vessel—sailed down the ways into the waters of a flood tide here last night amid the cheers of a group of naval and military officials and the men who built her.

The ship was christened "Malpeque" after an East Coast Bay by Mrs. G. L. Stephens, wife of engineer Captain G. L. Stephens, R. C. N., in charge of naval construction on the Pacific Coast.

ISN'T BOMBING ENOUGH?

MANCHESTER, Eng.—(CP)—Two shopkeepers here were fined for failing to observe the new requirements of the Explosives Act, by retaining fireworks in their possession.

Farm For Sale AT KENSINGTON

I offer for sale the farm property of the late Hammond J. Toombs, consisting of 23 acres of land. Outbuildings in good repair and house with all modern conveniences. Apply

FLORA M. TOOMBS, Administratrix.

BRINGING UP FATHER

BY GOLLY—MAGGIE HAS BEEN TAKEN A BATH NOW FOR OVER AN HOUR

BUT DADDY—I'M WAITING FOR MOTHER TO FINISH HER BATH SO I CAN TAKE ONE—AND BESIDES I MUST WASH MY FACE AND HAIR—IT'S SATURDAY NIGHT—THE SUN GOES DOWN

BY GOLLY—IT SEEMS AS IF EVERY NIGHT IS SATURDAY NIGHT—THE SUN GOES DOWN

SWELL—I BRING ME BATHING BAR OF SOAP

HOW ARE YOU GETTING ALONG BOSS?

BY GOLLY—IT SEEMS AS IF EVERY NIGHT IS SATURDAY NIGHT—THE SUN GOES DOWN

SWELL—I BRING ME BATHING BAR OF SOAP