Why do the Red Cross and all Health Organizations advocate Pasturized Milk?
If you ask them, they will tell you if efficiently performed it is free from all disease germs, and the only safe milk, and retains all the food values of raw milk.

Quoting from a magazine sent out by the Red Cross Society we read: "It is hard to believe anyone would oppose pasturization."

It is not only the best food but the cheapest. Compare the food value of Pure Milk and other articles of diet.

Our producers are the cleanest and best. We clarify their milk to remove any dust or sediment which may enter the milk from the air or any other source. Then Pasteurize to kill harmful Bacteria.

You must not fear our milk is safe.

Garden City Milk, Cream and Butter sold off our wagons and from our Plant. We also fill crocks and salt to please your taste.

Island Motorists Have Thrilling Experience

Dr. Ira J. Yeo and Mrs. Yeo, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Horne, are being welcomed home on their return to the city Tuesday night after a three weeks' motor trip to Boston and New York, in Dr. Yeo's car. They made the trip by easy stages, the maximum mileage covered in one day being 288.

The Doctor visited hospitals in Boston and New York, taking post graduate work in the latter city. In one of the Boston hospitals he met Dr. Lahey, a noted American surgeon who was in Charlotte-town three years ago, when he addressed a meeting of the American College of Surgeons. Dr. Lahey's head nurse is a Summerside girl—Miss Arthur.

Saturday night Dr. Yeo witnessed the football game between Dartmouth and Harvard in the Harvard Stadium, the latter winning by 16 to 12. 54,000 people saw the match, which was a wonderful exhibition.

The betting on the game was in favor of Dartmouth, as the latter has been the outstanding eastern team, although defeated by Yale the previous week by 14 to 7.

On returning home the party ran into a terrific rain and wind storm which swept the New England States. They had certainly a thrilling experience. They left Bangor at eight o'clock Monday morning, expecting to get to St. John the same evening, but they found the road in a terrible state with wash-outs and submerged bridges. On coming to one bridge they found it was down, and were obliged to make a detour of eight miles. They were held up at another bridge which was inundated by the swollen streams. The foreman could not permit them to cross, but a man with a Ford car taking a big chance, succeeded, and Dr. Yeo and his party followed after him, fortunately without a mishap.

Owing to the condition of the roads they were unable to get to St. John, and had to remain at St. Stephen for the night. Here they found that a motorist who had left there for St. John had been compelled to return. They left St. Stephen Tuesday morning, the roads having dried up to such an extent that they were able to continue their journey without further hold-ups. It was a most enjoyable trip throughout.

One interesting part of the journey was that over the Mohawk Trail up the Berkshire Hills, from which a magnificent view of three States and six cities could be had.

Dr. Yeo had a single tire puncture during the entire journey, and despite the water-soaked, fresh-scarred roads, did not use chains.

These roads are either macadam or concrete and before the storm in such splendid shape that speed of 45 to 50 miles an hour could be maintained with comfort for hundreds of miles.

Rod And Gun

A fishing department of more than usual interest with a good aggregation of other sporting articles seems to feature the November issue of Rod and Gun, which is just published. Two good fiction stories are also included in the aggregation of outdoor reading matter, "McLean of the Hudson's Bay," by William C. Millar and "The Blue Buoy," by B. G. Robbins.

"An Eventful Salpe Shooting Trip" is a good yarn of shooting on the tidal flats of the St. Lawrence. Bonnycastle Dale writes of "Bait Fishes of the Bay de Chaleur," while J. W. Winslow's article this month on "Cuckoo Owls and Cuckoos." Among the writers in Fishing Notes this month are F. Merrett, a well known angler, Ozark Ripley and R. H. Moore, whose articles are supplemented by a number of others as well as a good Queries and Answers section. C. S. Landis' Guns and Ammunition department has also an interesting collection of special contributions. W. C. Motley in Outdoor talk this month deals with "The Woodcraft Sign Language."

FAREWELL TO MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH L. CAMERON.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 20th, 1926, the numerous friends of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Cameron, of Grand River, gathered at their home to bid them farewell previous to their departure from the parish.

Mr. Leo Fraugh acted as chairman, while a very pleasing program of vocal and instrumental music, dancing, and stump speeches was presented. Mr. John J. McInnis was then called upon, and he read the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cameron,
Dear friends,—Once more we have gathered round your cheerful hearth, where often our hearts were filled with joy and pleasure. Tonight a sadness accompanies us on this occasion, which we have seized as the last opportunity of expressing our sincere regrets for that decision you have made of severing your connection with your old home and friends in Grand River. Shall we call it a farewell occasion? We trust it is only "an revoir." As Stephen for the night. Here they found that a motorist who had left there for St. John had been compelled to return. They left St. Stephen Tuesday morning, the roads having dried up to such an extent that they were able to continue their journey without further hold-ups. It was a most enjoyable trip throughout.

One interesting part of the journey was that over the Mohawk Trail up the Berkshire Hills, from which a magnificent view of three States and six cities could be had. ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

A committee composed of Messrs. C. J. Cooke, James B. Proffit, and James Braham, Kensington, waited upon Mr. Joseph Condon, a citizen of that town, who leaves this week for Craubrook, B. C., to take charge of a fox ranca there. It may be recalled that Mr. Condon has had practical experience in fox-rancling, extending over a number of years, and is conversant with all the principles and details of the science. It is only by experience that one is rendered capable of doing this work satisfactorily.

Following is the address:
Mr. Joseph Condon, Esq.,
Dear Sir and Friend: With sincere regret we have learned that you have decided to depart from this community and continue your express practical activity in another part of this fair Dominion. This will be a distinct loss to the people here, since you, a most industrious artisan, as well as an ideal citizen, have always discharged whatever duty that devolves upon you, with practical effect, and with genuine goodwill; and it was certainly a pleasure to co-operate with you whenever and wherever a trust was placed in you, we always found you measured up to the obligation, performing your duty with an exactitude that proved trustworthy dependence.

Now, that you are about to depart for the Far West, we can assure you that you bear with you the sincere good wishes of your many friends. When thoughts of home engage the mind, be sure to recall the many happy associations that characterized your sojourn in Kensington.

Signed by citizens of Kensington and surrounding communities, thanked the people that so kindly remembered him, for their expression of this verbal expression of wishes genuine good-will and accepted for prosperity.

The members of the Women's Institute of which Mrs. Cameron had been a director since its inception, presented her with a beautiful under-arm bag and the following address was read by Mrs. J. A. Brown: To Mrs. Joseph L. Cameron,—With saddened hearts we have gathered here tonight to bid you a regretful farewell. Partings are always distressful, but when, as in this case, the parting promises to be permanent, the grief is augmented. Since coming amongst us some years ago you have so endeared yourself to all by your cheerful, helpful manner that your departure is deeply felt by each of us. As a director of our Institute you have been indefatigable in your efforts to further its work and your place cannot be easily filled. We wish you God-speed and ask you to carry this small gift as an evidence of our esteem.
