ism come back to its former prestige, and I thank God for it," he continued, distinguishing between the industrialism of this century and the industry of earlier times— industrialism being the specializing in and supplying of commodities to communities other than one's own, thereby giving control of wealth in the hands of a few individuals who are out of touch with the humanity dependent upon them for its daily bread.

Some shrewd criticism of the contradictory ideas of modern scientists was conveyed humorously by the speaker in the closing part of his address, which was illustrated throughout with a wealth of historical anecdote, and delivered in an easy, conversational tone which disguised at times the seriousness of its import.

A warm vote of thanks to Father Campbell was moved by Mrs. Keenan, seconded by Mrs. Dougan and conveyed by the chairman.

EXPLAINS ORGANIZATION SYSTEM

A very informative address on the relation between National Diocesan and District Units was given by Miss Tansey, who defined organization as the grouping of minds under direction and leadership with well defined duties and purposes.

The round table discussion on Organization was postponed, but a very interesting discussion took place on Study Clubs, which was participated in by a number of delegates also by Father MacLean, Sydney, and Father Boyd, St. John.

MORNING ACTIVITIES

Yesterday's session opened with the Convention Mass at 8 o'clock at Saint Dunstan's Basilica celebrated by Right Reverend Monsignor Maurice McDonald assisted by Reverend Jos. McGree, C. S. S. R., Deacon and Reverend George McDonald, Sub Deacon.

The convention was then called to order by the National President, Mrs. M. J. Lyon. After the report of the credential committee had been submitted, rules of order and correspondence read and convention committees appointed, Miss Rose MacAldery, of Guelph, Ont., Honorary Secretary, and Miss Sarah P. Tansey, of Montreal, Honorary Treasurer, reported. The latter reported receipts $5,000 and expenditures $4,000, with $400 added to the reserve fund by life memberships and national reserve funds.

AFTERNOON RECEPTION

In the afternoon over three hundred delegates were delightfully entertained at a reception at Government House by His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Dalton who had with them in the receiving line Mrs. M. J. Lyons, National President; Mrs. J. J. Dougan, Past National President, Mrs. F. J. Casey, President of Sub-Division and Mrs. W. J. McIntyre, who ushered and introduced the guests. Tea was poured by Mrs. H. F. McPhee and Mrs. E. R. Burke while Mrs. J. J. Trainer cut the ices. Those who assisted were Miss Anne Walsh; Miss Elizabeth Connors; Miss Leah McMahon; Miss Alice Pineau; Miss Madge Dougan; Miss Connie Coyle. The visitors greatly enjoyed the beauty of Government House, its beautiful setting and the kindly hospitality extended.

functioning and 60 new sub-divisions were established, the largest number in any one year, Regina diocese having the largest share, 22. There are 457 active sub-divisions with a membership ranging from 800 to 8, the most northerly being in Stuart, B. C.

The Secretary called attention to the growing importance of the League's position as recognized today throughout Canada. Everywhere it is asked to take its place in the front line of public endeavor.

The Secretary also reported that an International Catholic Women's League was held in Warsaw in June. The executive decided upon a course of action relative to the question of the nationality of the married women which the Council of the League of Nations will present for study next September in the matter of an appeal for the closing of disorderly houses to governments of such countries where such are still tolerated.

Reference was made with particular pleasure to the congratulatory letter sent to Right Reverend J. A. O'Sullivan on the occasion of his elevation to the Hierarchy. Those of the delegates who were from the Hamilton Diocese are very proud of His Excellency's very splendid career and rejoice in his advancement.

The Secretary also had the pleasure of conveying the good wishes of the League to Rev. Father Trainor of Sudbury, who celebrated the Silver Jubilee of his Ordination to the Priesthood last October.

Pleasant reference was made to the honor conferred upon Mrs. M. J. Lyons, Ottawa, when the Holy Father Bestowed on her the "Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice." A similar honor was bestowed on their Past National President, Mrs. J. J. Dougan of Edmonton.

In concluding Miss McElderry said her two terms as Secretary has been a valuable and valued experience. She had many opportunities to learn what the C. W. L. really was and what it stood for and thanked all who had assisted in lightening her work during her term of office.

Luncheon

Following the business session yesterday morning a luncheon was given to the visitors by the Charlottetown sub division at which the speaker was Rev. G. Daley, C. S. S. R., representing at the convention Archbishop O'Leary of Edmonton, the National Chaplain, Father Daley spoke on "Our Home Mission Field." He touched on the needs of that big field created by immigration. He said the spiritual world as well as the economic world suffers through an unequal distribution of man and money power, and the church in the east should come to the rescue of the church in the west.

He reviewed the work which has been done by the Sisters of Service founded ten years ago and told of what these nurses, teachers and settlement workers are doing. Among other things a correspondence course by mail has been given to 3,000 children.

Afternoon Session

At the afternoon session reports of National Committees were heard. Mrs. J. C. Keenan of Toronto, reporting for immigration, said that although immigration had been restricted in the past year, the immigration committees in the various

Address Of Welcome To Delegates

The following address was delivered by Mrs. S. R. Burke, Diocesan President, C. W. L. who presided at the opening banquet at Beach Grove Inn on Monday afternoon.

On behalf of the Catholic Women's League of the Diocese of Charlottetown I extend to the National President and the visiting ladies a most sincere and hearty welcome.

We are pleased and proud that our capital city has been selected as the meeting place of our 11th annual Convention. Your presence here is a high compliment to this diocese and the large attendance evidences in a marked degree the eminent position which the activities of the League hold in the estimation of its members.

I wish to thank His Excellency for the interest he has shown and the encouragement he has given to our League.

Conferences or conventions, call them which you may, are today the accepted method of discussing the ills from which we are suffering and ascertaining the remedies. These get together meetings are the means by which we become better acquainted with the viewpoints of our fellow men and women and such a mutual understanding is the necessary basis of intelligent co-operation.

The great work of the League, its hopes and its aspirations I will not discuss here. They are well known to all of you and will be more particularly dealt with later on.

Our League, even as ourselves, was not born with its full strength. Years must lapse between its infancy and its maturity. It is growing, however, it is stronger today than it was yesterday, it will be stronger tomorrow than it is today.

I thank you for the attention with which you have listened to my words and I trust that our later deliberations will meet with success which would be but the natural consequence of our meetings and greetings.

ious dioceses had heavy work which was broadened to embrace every phase of relief and social work made necessary by the unemployment situation.

Conditions at each port were reviewed separately. At Saint John immigration has been carried on under adverse conditions, the federal restrictions cutting off the flow of immigrants.

At Halifax for the year ending April 1, 1931, 24,624 persons landed of which 10,172 were Catholics. These included 2,225 German, 2,463 Polish, 2,610 Ukrainian and 382 British. The remainder were of various nationalities. Port and dock work was done exclusively by the sisters of service.

The work of the League at Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Sault Ste Marie, Edmonton, Calgary, Regina, Victoria, Vancouver, was reviewed. Activities included distributing literature to newcomers, clothing, provisions, etc., visiting homes and guaranteeing protection of girls alone in a strange country exposed to many dangers.

At Calgary, with the cessation of immigration, the League is devoting its time to Canadianization. A number of dioceses such as Antigonish, Chatham, Sherbrooke, Pembroke, and Peterboro report having no immigration but foreign born settlers are being looked after by social service committees.

Mrs. W. O. Story, of Ottawa, reported on education and study clubs. The activities covered the presentation of prizes to schools, assisting needy scholars to complete their education by paying fees and supplying books, furnishing school libraries equipment, promoting debates and essay contests. Catechetical instruction was given where it was found particularly necessary, especially in western dioceses. In adult education, nine dioceses have made a special feature of lectures in the sub-divisions by priests and laymen covering every possible subject of Catholic and general cultural interest.

During the past few weeks, Mrs. Story travelled through a great part of the Dominion and met sub-divisions and study groups in a number of places. There is no lack of enthusiasm for the work nor of women fitted for leadership.

"Our education work has brought us into touch with the Catholic Women's League of England," said Mrs. A. Story, "and inquiries made from the latter as to the prospects

The Ramach will go ahead and establish a base. The photographs which they will take in connection with their work will be snapped at an altitude of about 15,000 feet and will be developed up there by them. It will be cold work because, although it is summer time, at that altitude the temperature is always below zero. The flyers say they will be bothered greatly by multitudes of flies which

Former Island Railwayman

Is Retiring

The following extract is taken from the Ottawa Journal of June 27th. It refers to a brother of Mr. Geo. A. Hughes, formerly of the P. E. Island Railway.

The days of the old wood-burning engines on the railways of Canada, the use of hand brakes on all trains and the bell cord from the caboose to the engine were recalled by J. H. Hughes, superintendent of the Ottawa Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to The Journal yesterday.

After 45 years of continuous service with the Canadian Pacific notification has come through from the head office in Montreal that Mr. Hughes will be superannuated on December 31 of this year. Mr. Hughes, however, will quit the service on July 1, when the Ottawa division will be amalgamated with the Smiths Falls division and will be controlled from the latter town.

There is no better known railwayman in Eastern Ontario than Mr. Hughes, and news of his superannuation was received with regret by railway officials in Ottawa this morning. Entering the service of the old Intercolonial Railway at Charlottetown, P. E. I. in 1886, it was not until the following year that he joined the Canadian Pacific. He enlisted with the company as a brakeman at North Bay.

He was promoted to conductor in 1888 and to passenger conductor in 1890. After a spell in the position of train master at North Bay from 1902 Mr. Hughes was appointed assistant superintendent at North Bay on March 1, 1907, and to be superintendent of the White River division in May, 1911.

In 1912 he was transferred to Smiths Falls as assistant superintendent and in September, 1918, came to Ottawa in the same capacity. It was in July, 1924, that he was made superintendent of the Ottawa Division.

During Mr. Hughes' lifetime on the railroad he has been in charge of trains carrying many governors-general of Canada, the first one being the Duke of Connaught, and also the Prince of Wales during his visit to Canada three years ago.

Mr. Hughes is sorry to leave the railroad after being attached to it for so many years, but told the Journal he would leave the City for a long rest and then return to the Capital to live in retirement.
