

It Stops Chapping

Jamieson's Carnation Cream is worth a great deal more than it costs this time of year. It costs too little to consider when you credit it with the comfort it gives. It cures chaps and stops chapping. It is agreeable to use and begins healing at once.

Price 25 cents

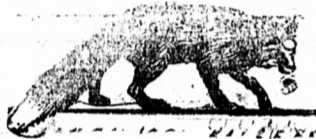

We have a large variety of other lotions and creams for those who prefer them.

J. G. Jamieson
Druggist

N. C. CHRISTIE

Amherst
Nova Scotia

Breeder and Dealer in High-Grade Pedigreed Black Silver Foxes and all other Fur Bearing Animals. Correspondence solicited.
1185-27m6mos

Montague Black Fox Exchange
Correspondence Solicited
L. M. McKinnon, Manager
Montague, P. E. I.

BIRTHS

RILEY—At Charlottetown, Tuesday March 17th, St. Patrick's Day, to Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Riley, a son.

LOGAN—At Kamloops, B. C., on Tuesday March 17th, St. Patrick's Day—to Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Logan (formerly Miss Cora Paton) a daughter.

CHURCHILL—At Beachmont, Mass., March 16th 1914 to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Churchill (formerly Blanch L. Dingwell) a daughter.

MARRIAGES

CURRIE-LIVINGSTONE—At the home of the bride's brother, Queen St., City, on March 18th, 1914, by Rev. Dr. Fullerton, Malcolm Ernest Currie, of Rocky Point to Louise D. Livingstone, of New Dominion.

DEATHS

MINCHIN—Daniel Minchin died at Kerrobert, Sask., February 19, 1914, of appendicitis, aged 29 years. He was the eldest son of John Minchin, New Perth West, and left the Island about a year ago, and died under operation for appendicitis.

McKINNON—The death occurred at the residence of Mrs. Inman, Longworth Avenue, this city, yesterday of Miss Aime McKinnon, formerly of Canseau Point, Rocky Point, at the advanced age of ninety years. The funeral will take place on Friday at 2.30 p. m. from Mrs. Inman's residence to the People's Cemetery.

NEWS FROM THE GRAND TRUNK

A despatch from Prince Albert the terminus of the Prince Albert-Xena branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway says that during the past few weeks the Dominion Lands office has been very busy. Settlers in search of homesteads are crowding into the district in numbers almost incredible. Accounting for the rush at present the fact is that considerable new land has been opened up and in that section all of which possesses the best agricultural qualities. The Grand Trunk Pacific passes through the heart of this section affording the farmers and business men a means of transportation for their produce. 1509Mel.

PILES
Do not suffer another day with itching, bleeding, or protruding Piles. No surgical operation required.
Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and certainly cure you. Six boxes all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample box free if you mention this name and enclose 10c stamp to pay postage.

THE GUARDIAN

Advertising Phone.....132-3
Subscription Phone.....133-2
News and Edit. Day Phone.....133
News and Edit. Night Phones.132 & 133

Head Office at Charlottetown.
Branch Offices at Summerside,
Alberton, Souris and Montague.

THURSDAY, MARCH 19TH, 1914.

DIARY OF EVENTS

TODAY.

City Magistrate's Court, 9 a. m.
Legislature, 3 p. m.
Prince Edward Theatre, 7 and 9 p. m.
People's Theatre, 7.30 and 9 p. m.

FOX BREEDERS ASSOCIATION

Leading foxmen have expressed their approval of the move on the part of the Fox Breeders' Association to open an office and so place the information gathered, and so much enquired about, at the disposal of those interested.

The necessity of registering foxes—the uselessness rather of offering unregistered stock for sale or of organizing companies upon such—is now apparent to all, and since the annual meeting at Summerside quite a number of those who had held aloof have applied for registration, including some from the neighboring provinces.

Several ambitious promoters had advertised their foxes either as class A stock or eligible for such classification, but when inquiry revealed the fact that registration had not even been applied for the claims were not only discounted but regarded as suspicious, a most natural conclusion. It is probable now that within a few weeks all the stock in the province, whose pedigree will bear investigation, will be properly registered. Practically all the enquiries now literally raining in are as to the registration of foxes advertised as the foundation stock of one or another of the many companies that are being organized.

The system of classification adopted by the Association has been taken as a guide wherever foxes are offered for sale and "Class A" in Prince Edward Island registration is the last word by way of recommendation, the highest standard that can be set. This standard is now being demanded by investors and rightly so. Pelt values will be the ultimate classification and those who are looking to the permanence of the industry are basing their calculations on this standard. The only guide for the present is pedigree and this must be proven if the animal is expected to be classed among the best.

There are foxes about whose pedigree the less known the better, foxes which in fur value are practically worthless and whose offspring, through all generations, will be equally so. Those who buy unregistered stock are buying without guide and taking their own chances. It is gratifying to know that this is now being recognized generally and that those whose foxes will bear investigation are being registered.

USE MORE FISH

It is perhaps not generally known that the Canadian Government, recognizing the necessity of an educational campaign, in the use of fish, has through the Marine and Fisheries Department, issued a booklet entitled "Fish and How to Cook it." Attention is directed editorially to this booklet in the March number of the Canadian Fisherman, the only periodical published in Canada exclusively in the interests of the fishing business.

"The Canadian Fisherman says: 'Canadians do not eat enough fish. If we consumed more than we do at present there would be no necessity for our fishermen shipping the bulk of their catches to the United States and other countries.'

"At the present time it is only the hotels, restaurants and society people employing chefs who really insist upon having some kind of fish upon the daily menu, and who know how to prepare it. The ordinary citizen's fish eating is limited to but a few varieties cooked in one or two ways. Halibut, cod, haddock, salmon, trout, bass and flannel haddock constitute their range of fish foods and invariably demand them at the particular seasons when they are scarce. The price they have to pay causes them to remark that fish is as dear as meat and is no saving in the high cost of living. The lack of variety, ignorance of the art of cooking fish and apparently high prices tend to keep down the consumption of fish in Canada.

"Good cooking will do more to help the sale of a particular class of

REI ROSE TEA

"is good tea"
Try a package

foodstuff than anything else. Combined with a wider knowledge of the varieties of fish and the periods of the year when they are plentiful and cheap, the housewife who really wishes to reduce the cost of living can do nothing better than study the art of cooking and preparing fish properly."

It was in order to make this study possible that the Government issued the booklet above referred to and it should be in the hands of every housewife. The little volume was compiled by Mr. J. J. Cowie, and is a most useful little treatise and we quite agree with the Canadian Fisherman's suggestion that it should be distributed throughout the country through the principal fish merchants and retail fish and grocery stores. It should also be placed in the Agricultural Colleges where domestic science is taught and teachers should give their pupils instruction in the art of buying fish in season and preparing it for the table.

The Canadian Fisherman concludes his excellent article on this important question as follows:—"The cost of living in Canada is high enough, but if we were to make more use of our own natural resources in the line of foodstuffs it would naturally benefit both producer and consumer."

A LIBERAL VIEW

The Toronto Globe, Liberal, refers to the presentation of Prince Edward Island's representation case as follows:—"Prince Edward Island's views on redistribution were laid before the Commons Committee by Premier Mathieson this afternoon. What is asked for is a restoration of the Island's representation to six members, and it was set forth that this was the understanding at Confederation, else Prince Edward Island would not have come in. Under the present census Prince Edward Island will have only three members, but if the six cannot be secured Mr. Mathieson will be satisfied with the present number—four. Premier Borden is favorable to the claim, but there is considerable opposition to the principle involved."

We can assure the esteemed Globe, right now, that Premier Mathieson would not "be satisfied with the present number—four." "If the six cannot be secured," Premier Borden is favorable to the claim because he recognizes its justice. "There is considerable opposition" not so much because of "the principle involved" as because a few small souls fear the effect upon their own political future if this measure of justice, which they themselves refused, were dealt out by their political opponents. There is no reason, constitutional or otherwise, why Prince Edward Island should have four representatives. There is one, and only one, reason why she should have six—that is, because she entered the Union on the understanding that she should have six.

NOTES

We note that coming events in most of our progressive sister cities are advertised by the cancellation stamp on all letters passing through their post offices. This is a wrinkle for the committee in charge of the coming Confederation Jubilee Celebration.

MR. SIMPSON'S ADDRESS.

Mr. McDonald's request was not allowed. However, the Guardian has obtained a copy of Mr. Simpson's speech and reproduces it, as follows:—

MR. SPEAKER: With your permission, Sir, I would like to make a few remarks in the matter before the House.

In the first place, I wish to compliment the mover and seconder of the Address on their moderate and intelligent handling of the several subjects touched on by them, and also the Leader of the Opposition, whose remarks though necessarily critical, were gentlemanly throughout. His observation, however, on reminding me that "words are like leaves and where they must abound the fruits are rarely found." So there may in this case be much fruit notwithstanding scarcity of leaves.

I am glad to know that the question of education has been enroled with in an earnest manner by the present government. The Hon. Leader of the Government has the great advantage of being a practical educationist himself. No other man in this Province could bring to bear on the subject an equal amount of information from all sides, the taxpayers, the parents, the pupils and the teachers. I am sorry he is not present with us today, but yet we must remember his absence is fully justified, when we consider that so important a question as our representations in the Federal House may be finally settled during this session of the Canadian Parliament and that all that can be done must be done now to obtain our rights in this regard. We know that the Leader has done all in his power and we hope that he shall see success as his reward. In his absence, however, I am satisfied the work of this session will go on in a business like way, as the Acting Premier, the Honourable Mr. Stewart, no doubt will prove his ability as an able and energetic leader. I much regret having to leave before hearing his reply to the Hon. Leader of the Opposition.

"That old prime standby of spring tonics, beef, iron and wine, is put up in a most attractive and efficient form in Rexall's Beef, Iron and Wine. This preparation is the only reliable remedy for strengthening the blood, building up the nerves, increasing appetite and adding strength and stamina to the system. Large bottle 75c. money back if dissatisfied. The MacKinnon Drug Co., Corner Great George and Kent Sts., Mt.

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE

(Continued from page 1)

The Commissioner of Public Works has made the public service successful, and his success in public has only been equalled by his success in private life.

The Commissioner of Agriculture has built for that department a monument of marvel. The courses in agriculture and domestic science will still be bearing fruit when our mortal bodies are crumbling in the dust. Agriculture, after all, is our greatest industry.

The oyster industry, the substantial development of which is made possible by the present progressive government, will eventually equal and perhaps eclipse that industry which has made this Province famous (the Black Fox industry.)

I wish to remind this House of the men who have lately departed. Captain Richards and the Honourable David Laird were men who distinguished themselves in the House of Parliament. No weak words of mine could add fame to the mighty departed. They are gone, but their fame lives after them; the province, the nation and the empire are the better for their having lived. They have put into life what is of more value than any amount of money.

(Continued on page 3)

A REQUEST.

THE SPEAKER was about to put the motion to the House when Mr. A. McDonald said that before that was done he would like to ask the indulgence of the House for a moment. He did not propose to speak himself, but he wanted to mention that his colleague, Mr. Simpson of Morell, who was there two days last week and had to go home on account of his illness, was very anxious to address the House on the motion; the hon. the Leader of the Opposition had kindly offered to give way to him but Mr. Simpson did not care to take advantage of the offer and as the House did not sit on the following day the member for Morell had had to go home without the opportunity of addressing the House. However, before he did so he had dictated a speech to a stenographer, hoping that it might be allowed to be read. The hon. member for Morell was most anxious to do his duty and regretted very much that he was compelled to go back home without having the opportunity of addressing the House. If he would be allowed by (Mr. McDonald) would be very glad to read the speech. Mr. Simpson had prepared, but he feared that it was contrary to the rules of the House.

MR. SIMPSON'S ADDRESS.

Mr. McDonald's request was not allowed. However, the Guardian has obtained a copy of Mr. Simpson's speech and reproduces it, as follows:—

MR. SPEAKER: With your permission, Sir, I would like to make a few remarks in the matter before the House.

In the first place, I wish to compliment the mover and seconder of the Address on their moderate and intelligent handling of the several subjects touched on by them, and also the Leader of the Opposition, whose remarks though necessarily critical, were gentlemanly throughout. His observation, however, on reminding me that "words are like leaves and where they must abound the fruits are rarely found." So there may in this case be much fruit notwithstanding scarcity of leaves.

I am glad to know that the question of education has been enroled with in an earnest manner by the present government. The Hon. Leader of the Government has the great advantage of being a practical educationist himself. No other man in this Province could bring to bear on the subject an equal amount of information from all sides, the taxpayers, the parents, the pupils and the teachers. I am sorry he is not present with us today, but yet we must remember his absence is fully justified, when we consider that so important a question as our representations in the Federal House may be finally settled during this session of the Canadian Parliament and that

"That old prime standby of spring tonics, beef, iron and wine, is put up in a most attractive and efficient form in Rexall's Beef, Iron and Wine. This preparation is the only reliable remedy for strengthening the blood, building up the nerves, increasing appetite and adding strength and stamina to the system. Large bottle 75c. money back if dissatisfied. The MacKinnon Drug Co., Corner Great George and Kent Sts., Mt.

all that can be done must be done now to obtain our rights in this regard. We know that the Leader has done all in his power and we hope that he shall see success as his reward. In his absence, however, I am satisfied the work of this session will go on in a business like way, as the Acting Premier, the Honourable Mr. Stewart, no doubt will prove his ability as an able and energetic leader. I much regret having to leave before hearing his reply to the Hon. Leader of the Opposition.

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE

(Continued from page 1)

all that can be done must be done now to obtain our rights in this regard. We know that the Leader has done all in his power and we hope that he shall see success as his reward. In his absence, however, I am satisfied the work of this session will go on in a business like way, as the Acting Premier, the Honourable Mr. Stewart, no doubt will prove his ability as an able and energetic leader. I much regret having to leave before hearing his reply to the Hon. Leader of the Opposition.

A REQUEST.

THE SPEAKER was about to put the motion to the House when Mr. A. McDonald said that before that was done he would like to ask the indulgence of the House for a moment. He did not propose to speak himself, but he wanted to mention that his colleague, Mr. Simpson of Morell, who was there two days last week and had to go home on account of his illness, was very anxious to address the House on the motion; the hon. the Leader of the Opposition had kindly offered to give way to him but Mr. Simpson did not care to take advantage of the offer and as the House did not sit on the following day the member for Morell had had to go home without the opportunity of addressing the House. However, before he did so he had dictated a speech to a stenographer, hoping that it might be allowed to be read. The hon. member for Morell was most anxious to do his duty and regretted very much that he was compelled to go back home without having the opportunity of addressing the House. If he would be allowed by (Mr. McDonald) would be very glad to read the speech. Mr. Simpson had prepared, but he feared that it was contrary to the rules of the House.

MR. SIMPSON'S ADDRESS.

Mr. McDonald's request was not allowed. However, the Guardian has obtained a copy of Mr. Simpson's speech and reproduces it, as follows:—

MR. SPEAKER: With your permission, Sir, I would like to make a few remarks in the matter before the House.

In the first place, I wish to compliment the mover and seconder of the Address on their moderate and intelligent handling of the several subjects touched on by them, and also the Leader of the Opposition, whose remarks though necessarily critical, were gentlemanly throughout. His observation, however, on reminding me that "words are like leaves and where they must abound the fruits are rarely found." So there may in this case be much fruit notwithstanding scarcity of leaves.

I am glad to know that the question of education has been enroled with in an earnest manner by the present government. The Hon. Leader of the Government has the great advantage of being a practical educationist himself. No other man in this Province could bring to bear on the subject an equal amount of information from all sides, the taxpayers, the parents, the pupils and the teachers. I am sorry he is not present with us today, but yet we must remember his absence is fully justified, when we consider that so important a question as our representations in the Federal House may be finally settled during this session of the Canadian Parliament and that

MR. SIMPSON'S ADDRESS.

Mr. McDonald's request was not allowed. However, the Guardian has obtained a copy of Mr. Simpson's speech and reproduces it, as follows:—

MR. SPEAKER: With your permission, Sir, I would like to make a few remarks in the matter before the House.

In the first place, I wish to compliment the mover and seconder of the Address on their moderate and intelligent handling of the several subjects touched on by them, and also the Leader of the Opposition, whose remarks though necessarily critical, were gentlemanly throughout. His observation, however, on reminding me that "words are like leaves and where they must abound the fruits are rarely found." So there may in this case be much fruit notwithstanding scarcity of leaves.

I am glad to know that the question of education has been enroled with in an earnest manner by the present government. The Hon. Leader of the Government has the great advantage of being a practical educationist himself. No other man in this Province could bring to bear on the subject an equal amount of information from all sides, the taxpayers, the parents, the pupils and the teachers. I am sorry he is not present with us today, but yet we must remember his absence is fully justified, when we consider that so important a question as our representations in the Federal House may be finally settled during this session of the Canadian Parliament and that

"That old prime standby of spring tonics, beef, iron and wine, is put up in a most attractive and efficient form in Rexall's Beef, Iron and Wine. This preparation is the only reliable remedy for strengthening the blood, building up the nerves, increasing appetite and adding strength and stamina to the system. Large bottle 75c. money back if dissatisfied. The MacKinnon Drug Co., Corner Great George and Kent Sts., Mt.

Where Things Are What They Seem

Our dress goods manager is offering 25 pieces of cloth suitable for Spring Sport coats, many of them are of the very best quality made, and the designs are strictly up to date. They have been offered at a saving of 25 p. c off the Dollar. Come in and sample them. Patons.

Buy carpets and oilcloths at Patons.

Buy furniture at Patons and save money.

Remember every square, every curtain, every piece of oilcloth, every yard of carpet is brand new, not a yd. of old stuff in the carpet room at any price. When you are buying here you are buying stuff that only left the factory a few weeks ago, and the price is Rock bottom and cannot be beaten in the Dominion. Drop in we can convince you.

PATONS

1506-3-19MEli

People's Theatre

Program of Photo Plays
Thursday, March 19th

A Will and A Way

Eighth story of what Happened to Mary

In Which MARY Passes through some exciting situations including a realistic FIRE SCENE

Master Fixit
He fixes it so the Professor gets caught in a Beartrap; His sister gets caught on a hook and lands in the arms of a young Fisherman. A comical and pretty Mountain Romance.

Buddhist Temples
Different conditions of the Buddhist ditty.

When the Worm Turned
A story of a stingy Farmer and his clever wife

The Great Centipede
Educational For His Loved Ones Featuring the Majestic Stars

Big Two Reel Feature
The Mystery of West Sedgwick
Friday A Clever Detective Story Saturday

Doors Open 7 p. m. Admission Five 5 cents Two Shows Nightly 7.30 & 9 p. m.

A Style for Every Man

The new Spring Suitings just in, comprise hundreds of different patterns, colors, and weaves, every one new and fashionable. You might select any one of them and not go wrong.

If you are looking for strictly high grade Tailored Clothes we invite you to inspect, our new fashions, and our workmanship. We know the needs of the good dressers, having catered successfully to them for years, and our service is yours, at prices always moderate.

Just Try Us for Your Spring Suit

McLellan Bros

Ch'town's Best Tailors

1403-16M4i

Save Your Salary Increase

You lived well enough on your former salary. Why not continue to live on the same amount and put by the increase, preparing for the purchase of a home, or the opportunity to acquire a business of your own?

We offer our Savings Department as a depository allowing you 3% interest, compounded twice a year.

The Bank of Nova Scotia
ISLAND BRANCHES
Charlottetown - Summerside
Alberton - - - Kensington
O'Leary