Horace L. Mayer, consul-general for the Argentine Republic, arrived in St. John recently. Mr. Mayer is on his way to Charlottetown (P. E. I.), where he will appoint a Prince Edward Island vice-consul for the republic to succeed the present incumbent, Mr. Dowling, who is at present dangerously ill in Guelph, (Ont.)

Mr. Mayer, who has been in the consular service for the past ten years, spoke very interestingly last evening of the trade relations between Canada and his home country and handed out a few practical suggestions as well which he said he hoped Canada would adopt. One of these was the establishment of a direct steamship service between Canada and the Argentine republic; and another, the appointment of a Canadian trade commissioner to have offices in the republic.
