Sleepless NERVES

The nerves themselves never sleep. The involuntary nerves must work all the time or the vital organs would cease to function. It is only when supplied with nerve force that the heart beats, the lungs breathe, and the other vital organs perform their natural functions.

The unfortunate condition is when you cannot sleep. The weak, irritated nerves will not let you rest. So day by day you are losing vital energy until sooner or later must come a nervous breakdown.

Sleeplessness and headache are the warning signs when the nerves go wrong. You may also have indigestion and feelings of fatigue. All the vital organs sooner or later slow up, when nerve force is lacking.

The most certain restorative for the nerves is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It has proven its effect in so many thousands of cases that there is no question of its merits.

SUMMERSIDE, April 14—Something of a sensation took place this afternoon when the Customs officials destroyed and dumped into the harbour 141 cases of whiskey. This was the large seizure made last fall at Port Hill. The officers acted upon instructions from Ottawa. There was a large crowd of spectators who viewed with mixed feelings the dumping of good Scotch into the harbour. Some one was figuring up the value of the seizure if sold at the Vendor's at $4 a bottle.

The whiskey was done up in jute bags containing twelve bottles each. This is the method used by smugglers in handling contraband liquor. The officers used iron crowbars and dumped the contents into the harbour. Customs officers Baker, Platts and MacQuarrie were in charge of the work. The large auto truck of Messrs. Brace and McKay was used to haul the stuff down to the harbor. S.

The nominating committee submitted a list of officers to be elected at the annual meeting to be held the first Monday in May, including President, James J. Hornby, Vice President, Alfred Pickard, Secretary C. Bissett and a certain number of members as directors, more than the required number, so that balloting be necessary at the annual meeting. The prisoners were charged collectively, with unlawfully stealing on April 8th, at St. Eleanor's the goods and chattels to wit five gallons of rum, the property of Percy Gallant, with violence to the person of the said Percy Gallant, such violence being used to prevent resistance to the same being stolen and thereby unlawfully committing robbery.

At the completion of the evidence for the Crown the prisoners were committed for trial to the next Supreme Court and were remanded to jail. The only witness called was the informant Percy Gallant. The prisoners reserved their defense. The Attorney-General, Mr. Thane A. Campbell, was not present at the trial. Mr. C. D. MacCallum acted for the Crown.

The formal opening of the Canadian National Hotel marks the beginning of a new era socially in the history of the Province. It is the first concrete example of post-war "forward advance" socially on which so much depends for the up-building of a greater and more glorious Canada. Already steps have been taken to keep abreast of the times in railway development, in improved continuous communication with the main land by means of a new and more powerful car ferry. Our winter mails are facilitated by the daily air mail to and from Moncton. In public health the new Charlottetown Hospital, the new T. B. Hospital, and the proposed new P. E. I. Hospital are ample evidence of our appreciation of a new era in that connection. The new Forum speaks volumes for the vision and resourcefulness of our leaders in sports. The new hotel is evidence of the farsightedness and confident courage of the leaders of the general community in the development of the Province along its most attractive and remunerative lines, viz: that of a tourists' playground and a natural health resort, where people of moderate means may come and enjoy themselves without extravagant outlay.

The death occurred in this city on Friday last of Miss Alice Fennessey who passed the four score mark, reaching the venerable age of 83 years.

For many years Miss Fennessey was a valued member of the teaching staff of Queen Square School and many who now occupy prominent positions throughout Canada and the United States received their early tuition from Miss Fennessey.

Pleasing conversationalist, she had a fund of humorous anecdotes which she related in her own inimitable way. As a teacher, her young class was also entertained with one of those gems, generally to illustrate a point.

After her retirement some years ago on a well deserved pension, she with her sister Catherine, took up their residence in the Sacred Heart Home, where she always welcomed many old and young friends who favoured her with visits.

Her funeral was held Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the Sacred Heart Home to St. Dunstan's Basilica where a Requeim High Mass was celebrated by Rev. P. McMahon, D .D.

The pupils of the senior grade of Queen Square School attended in a body.

The pall bearers were: Messrs Fred Renouf, Ross Bethune, Leo McDonald, Louis Wynne, James Carragher and S. P. Paoli, jr.

Service at the grave was conducted by Rev. C. McCarthy.

Wherever a Canadian National hotel has been erected the formal opening was eagerly anticipated by that particular community. Everywhere these occasions have been the outstanding social events of the season and classified as brilliant functions: last night's opening of the Canadian National, Charlottetown's new hotel, was on a par with the best of them.

It goes without saying that a Gyro managed affair is going to be a success anyhow; their ability to make "a go" of things together with the efforts of the hotel management produced results, in a social way, that will be long remembered in Charlottetown.

Interesting speakers, delicious food, the best in vocal and instrumental music, and the smoothest possible dance floor combined to make this occasion enjoyable.

The main dining room was a delight to the eye: snowy napery, sparkling glass, gleaming silver, and a gracious display of fragrant bloom made a very desirable picture. The tables were arranged on either side of the center aisle with the speakers table at the upper end and facing the room.

At this table were seated the Hon. Charles Dalton, Governor of Prince Edward Island, his daughters, Mrs. Murray and Miss Dalton; Hon. Walter M. Lea, Premier, His Worship Mr. T. W. L. Prowse, Mayor of Charlottetown, and Mrs. Prowse; Honorable Justice Arsenault and Mrs. Arsenault Mr. W. U. Appleton, General Manager of Atlantic Region; Mr. R. W. Simpson, assistant Manager; Mr. M. F. Tompkins, Traffic Manager; Mr. G. E. McCoy, Superintendent of Car Equipment; Mr. D. F. Bethune, Governor District 6, Gyro Clubs; Mr. Charles Williams, President of Charlottetown Gyro, Mrs. Williams, and their guest, Mrs. Pomeroy; Mr. S. A. McDonald, President, Associated Boards of Trade, and Mrs. McDonald.

The artistic lighting and beautiful furnishings of the hotel supplied a fine setting for the ladies gowns last night; and such gowns! It would be difficult to describe the lovely creations of fashion that were in evidence. Also, it would be unkind to discriminate, and the writer, wishing to be fair, will describe only the dresses of the ladies who graced the speaker's table:

Mrs. Murray, daughter of the Lieutenant Governor, wore a white satin gown with semi-cowl neckline, a gown of distinction and simplicity, a necklace of seed pearl and rhinestone, and slippers in gold and black effect.

Miss Dalton, her sister, a chic evening dress in bouffant style of pastel blue and coral; slippers of silver and coral.

Mrs. Arsenault:—A charming gown of brown chiffon, and lace, jacket effect, slippers matching.

Mrs. Prowse—A lovely white chiffon in flowered designs of greens, blues and coral; a coral and gold necklace, and slippers of gold and coral.

Mrs. Williams—A delightful shade of rose georgette with slippers and accessories to match.

Mrs. Pomeroy, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Williams, a French model in flame velvet; unusual and lovely.

Mrs. McDonald:—Black satin with side-buckle and shoulder strap of rhinestone; crystal necklace; silver fox fur, and black satin slippers; a striking ensemble.

Although every detail was thoroughly looked into and examined there was nothing missing and no damage to report the next day. During the Gyro dinner and dance good will and good order prevailed and all the guests had an enjoyable social evening. During the exquisite service of the dinner no accidents marred its pleasure and only one glass and one cup were accidentally broken, a record not to be despised when one remembers how many pieces of china, and glassware were handled. The guests were delighted with the expert service which speaks well for Mr. E. W. Tribe, under whose supervision the staff carried out their work
