IN MEMORIAM

J. A. CLARK, ST. JOHN.

The death is reported in St. John last week of Mr. J. A. Clark, vice President of Brock & Patterson, and one of the best known business men in the city. Mr. Clark at one time represented his firm in Prince Edward Island, and has many friends here who will receive the news of his death with the deepest regret.

MRS. MARY B. SMALLWOOD.

Death has removed another of the older residents of Charlottetown in the person of Mrs. Mary B. Smallwood, widow of Rev. Frederick Smallwood, who was for many years a resident of Summerside, away from the Methodist Church in Charlottetown. Mrs. Smallwood was a daughter of the late John Boyver who was one of the residents of Charlottetown when it was in its infancy. She was born in Charlottetown in the year 1830, so had passed the allotted four score years of her life when she died. She was surrounded by friends and relatives, she passed a quiet and uneventful life, greatly respected by all who knew her. An only brother died many years ago in California and a sister, Mrs. S. McDonald, Antigonish, N. S., and a young son to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate husband and father; also his father and mother, four brothers and three sisters and a very large circle of friends and relations. He was universally popular and respected for his many good qualities and his noble christian character. He was visited many times during his illness by his pastor, Rev. Mr. Gillis, from whom he received the last rites of the Holy Catholic Church, of which he was a devout member. His funeral took place to St. Mary's Church, Indian River, on July 30th, and was largely attended, which testifies to the esteem in which the deceased was held. Rev. Peter Hughes sang the Requiem Mass and conducted the services at the grave. The pallbearers were: Alexander Sinclair, Wilbert Delaney, Thomas Campbell, William Mann, Francis Shea and Wilfred Gillis. May his soul rest in peace.

CORNELIUS J. McLELLAN.

There passed peacefully away at Indian River on July 28th, one of the most highly esteemed residents of that place in the person of Cornelius J. McLellan, in the thirty-sixth year of his age. He leaves a widow (Bella McDonald, Antigonish, N. S.) and a young son to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate husband and father; also his father and mother, four brothers and three sisters and a very large circle of friends and relations. He was universally popular and respected for his many good qualities and his noble christian character. He was visited many times during his illness by his pastor, Rev. Mr. Gillis, from whom he received the last rites of the Holy Catholic Church, of which he was a devout member. His funeral took place to St. Mary's Church, Indian River, on July 30th, and was largely attended, which testifies to the esteem in which the deceased was held. Rev. Peter Hughes sang the Requiem Mass and conducted the services at the grave. The pallbearers were: Alexander Sinclair, Wilbert Delaney, Thomas Campbell, William Mann, Francis Shea and Wilfred Gillis. May his soul rest in peace.

MR. JOHN MACNEVIN.

After arriving at the advanced age of eighty years there departed this life on May 26th, 1915, John MacNevin Esq., a highly esteemed and greatly respected citizen of Argyle Shore. He was a man of excellent qualities and by his arduous toil and patient industry had built up one of the most comfortable and valuable homesteads in the community. He was of a quiet and unassuming nature and his words though few, were always of value and excellent counsel. For many years he was a member of the Church of Scotland and always lived in conformity with the requirements of that profession. His loss will be greatly felt by the community and by the general public, as he was always prominent in the promoting of those things that were for the public good. He leaves to mourn a widow, one son Alexander of Bonshaw, and five daughters. Mrs. Mary McLean, Mrs. F. W. MacDonald, Mrs. D. J. MacLean, Mrs. Argyle Shore, Mrs. W. J. Flemming of Dorchester, Mass., and Margaret at home, also one sister Mrs. Albert Morrow of Everett, Mass. The services at the house and at the grave was conducted by his pastor the Rev. Jas. MacDougall and interment was made in the family plot in Argyle Cemetery near by. The pallbearers were Jas. MacPhail, Donald Stewart, Neil A. MacNevin, S. A. Murley, Ambrose Sellar and John A. MacDonald.

MR. WILLIAM HENRY HORNE.

In loving memory of William Henry Horne, Milton, who departed this life on June 29th, 1915.

The late Mr. Horne was a highly respected citizen and very popular farmer, his many friends will miss him in the community. His doors were always open to the weary traveler and no one ever went from his home without being fed and rested. Mr. Horne was born at Winslow 75 years ago, he settled at Milton in 1874, where he married Phoebe Wood Curtis who filled the position of loving wife and mother they were blessed with eight children. BLOODSHED, FIRE AND MASSACRE IN HAITIEN CAPITAL

Port au Prince, Haiti, July 27.—A revolution, more terrible in the toll thus far taken than any even in the Haitian capital today. It was an offshoot of the movement to the north, where the adherents of Dr. Rosalva Bobo twice expelled from Haiti, have been striving for several months to break the power of the Haitian president, General Viburn Guillaume.

One hundred and sixty men, including a former president of Haiti, Gen. Cresce Zamor, have been executed by order of General Oscar, Governor of Port au Prince, who later in the day was dragged from the shelter of the Dominion legation and riddled with bullets. President Guillaume and the members of his family have taken refuge in the French legation, an attack upon which has been threatened; the presidential palace has been partially destroyed after an attack which lasted for hours; the revolutionists are in possession of the city. How many persons have been shot down in the streets and the Government buildings cannot yet be learned, but the exchanges between the loyal supporters of the president and the rebels were carried on with furious determination on the one side and desperate revolution on the other.

Eventually President Guillaume General Oscar and the chief of police, who were defending the palace with the aid of the President's personal staff and other troops who had remained loyal, were obliged to make their escape. At that time one section of the palace was burning. Port au Prince has been in a state of panic for days. No one knew when he might be seized and cast into prison; there have been wholesale arrests apparently without cause, by order of the President or some of those close to him. The successes gained by the revolutionists in the north were convincing proof to the President and Government officials that their course would soon be run. Therefore, they viewed with suspicion various individuals and organizations. One regiment of soldiers was disbanded. It was th

THE UNCORKED BOTTLE.

While leaning over a rustic fence, I spied an object sad to me. It was the neck of a bottle. Which was thrown behind a tree. The cork had never been drawn. The neck had broken off;—I hope its owner ne'er had the chance Of its contents to make a sad scoff.

As I turned it over on my palm, I thought: "Yes, many a one Of you have met the same fate: When your owners get into a row One is most sure to break. Such are the minds of the strong As they gaze at the work of the weak; Such are the thoughts of the strong But alas they're afraid to speak. S M

There used to be a member of the Dominion Parliament—he is dead now—who spoke at great length and with much force on whatever subject he chose to discuss; but his style of delivery was somewhat to say involved not to say intricate. And sometimes, because of this, he spent some time getting at the meat of his topic. One night during a heated campaign he spoke in Toronto. A business man who had a profound admiration for the statesman, was late in arriving. As he hurried up the steps, panting hard, he met a York County farmer just emerging from the hall where the meeting was staged. "Has So-and-So begun speaking?" asked the new arrival. "Yes," said the departing one. "How long has he been speaking?" "Bout 2 minutes," said the farmer. "What is he speaking about?" "He didn't say," answered the truthful farmer, and passed on.

Boy's Suits at a Saving in Price

You can get a strong, boy-proof suit of clothes here now at about the same price as you formerly paid for common clothes. The selection can be made from a wide range of different styles and patterns, in materials that will stand all the wear and tear the boy can give them—and then some. We bought more boys suits this summer than ever before—we bought heavy because the prices were right. The cash looked good to the manufacturer, the clothes looked good to us.

If you want a high-class, strong, well-made suit for your boy, this is your opportunity to get it at a low price. See these suits, examine the tailoring and materials and note the moderate prices.
