BIRTHDAY HONORS PLEASE LONDONERS

LONDON, June 22.— Yesterday's evening papers, even those opposed to the Government admit the Birthday Honors list shows wise choice. The evening Standard caustically remarks that owing to the difficulty in regard to the distribution of peerages the Government has fallen back desperately on the unusual course of selecting men who deserve such honors.

PROMINENT CITIZEN SHOT AND WOUNDED

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, June 21.— Henri De Rotchschild was shot and wounded in the leg, in front of the Boulevard Cafe tonight. His assailant is owner of a Creamery who declared himself ruined by the establishment of a creamery by Rothchild for philanthropic purposes.

Five shots were fired but only one took effect. Henri De Rotschild is a Doctor of Medicine and an author of note. He is a large contributor to charity.

DOCK LABORER'S PECULIAR DEATH

CRUSHED AGAINST SHIP'S SIDE

When Carried Off His Feet by Companion Who Had Become Entangled in a Hoist. Fell Overboard, Dead Before Hitting the Water.

MONTREAL, June 22.— Arthur Lemoyne, a dock laborer of the Elder Dempster Line in this city, lost his life in a peculiar manner while at work this afternoon assisting to unload the steamer Kwarra, the Elder Dempster pier at Hochelaga.

A neighbor, S. Lange, became entangled in a rope when the winchman began to haul up. With heels up and head down Lange, in desperation, grabbed Lemoyne and pulled him off the deck. The latter swung against the vessel with a crash. Lange let go Lemoyne who dropped out of sight and was probably dead before he hit the water.

Cardinal Begin will be accorded a public reception in Quebec on Tue day, the 23rd, while on the 24th he will be banquetted. The leader of the opposition and the cabinet ministers named will go in their capacity as private citizens, while a number of members of parliament will also attend.

REPAIRS TO STEAMER NEW YORK COMPLETION.

NEW YORK, June 20.— Repairs on the American liner New York where she struck last Saturday morning by the Pretoria were completed last night and it was announced that she would sail today on schedule time. So well did the repairmen do their work that it is difficult to see where the hole had been made by the Pretoria. The interior of the ship also underwent a change while repairs were being made outside. The second cabin was converted into a dance hall and a series of balls has been arranged for entertainment of the cabin passengers.

HE WROTE CHARLIE'S AUNT.

LONDON, June 20.— Brandon Thomas, author of "Charlie's Aunt," a play which has been performed many thousands of times in all parts of the world, and in several languages, died today. He was born at Liverpool on Oct. 25, 1856. He studied civil engineering but left that profession in 1879 to become an actor, and he had a very successful career on the stage for twenty-eight years.

While still on the stage, he wrote many comedies, and was also the author of several popular songs.

EXECUTION OF ITALIAN BOY

OSSINING, June 22—Peter Rebacci a 19-year-old Italian boy, the tool of a Blackhand murder syndicate, was executed at Sing Sing today for the murder of Tony Marrao, of White Plains. He had been given six months reprieve to give evidence to expose the murder syndicate workings but had failed to give anything of value. Electrician Davis was ill and another acted for him. Davis has executed 111 criminals and this is the first in this State he has missed,

USE ANAESTHIC PISTOL TO STUPIFY MAD WOMAN

PARIS June 20.—The "Anaesthetic Pistol," devised by City Chemists at the time of the seige of the victorious automobile bandits, was used successfully tonight in the capture of a mad woman.

Mlle. Maignan, an artist, in a fit of mania, shot herself in her apartment in the Avenue de Neuilly and threatened her neighbors from a window with a revolver. The police who were summoned fired several shots at the woman, but without effect.

The anaesthetic pistol was then brought into service and the woman was stupified with gas and removed to an infirmary.

JIM LARKIN HAS RESIGNED

KNIGHTHOOD FOR CHIEF JUSTICE OF P. E. ISLAND

Sir W. W. Sullivan Included in King's Birthday Honors, in Addition to Earlier List Given in Yesterday's Guardian.

In the list of birthday honors announced in a Canadian Press despatch in yesterday morning's Guardian, several names were omitted by the Guardian's correspondent, probably in the hurry of making the earliest possible announcement.

One of the omitted names was that of Chief Justice Sullivan, of Prince Edward Island, who was honored with the title of Knight Bachelor. The Guardian heartily congratulates Sir Wilfred W. Sullivan on the well merited honor.

The title of Knight Bachelor was also conferred upon Mr. J. A. M. Aikins, K. C., who, it will be remembered, visited this province a few weeks ago, also upon Mr. Adam Beck and Dr. Thomas G. Roddick of Montreal.

SHAMROCK 4TH SHOWS GREAT SPEED

(Canadian Press.)

SOUTHAMPTON, June 21.—Shamrock 4th showed a fine burst of speed in her first spin today. Since her rig was changed from sloop to cutter, Lipton's newest challenger for the America Cup quite outclassed the older boat in her trials. Changes of canvass and reduction of the quantity of lead in her keel reduced her stiffness and increased her speed. She sailed without a centre board and was delared by yachting experts the fastest thing in waters hereabouts for a long time.

HINDUS MAY YET LAND

VANCOUVER, June 22.— The Hindus have succeeded in getting their case into the Courts and it now looks as if they might yet get ashore under a flaw in the regulations.

EVIDENCE STILL CONTRADICTORY

IN EMPRESS OF IRELAND INQUIRY

Hull of Ship Over a Mile from Place Where Captain Kendall Says She Was Hit. Enquiry Interrupted by Luncheon to Governor General.

(Canadian Press.)

QUEBEC, June 21.— Inquiry into the wreck of the Empress of Ireland will be continued tomorrow morning when it is expected Chief Engineer Syverstern of the Collier will go back in the box.

The inquiry is expected to last several weeks yet. Though Lord Mersey is anxious to get it finished. Interesting evidence is expected from the Diver who examined the Hull of the Empress. The Commissioners spent quite a day.

QUEBEC, June 22.— Maintaining a record for producing contradictory evidence which cannot be reconciled, the Empress wreck inquiry unearthed a fact, when given the exact location of the hull of the liner on the bottom of the St. Lawrence which again drew attention to the different explanations of the positions of the ships at the time of the disaster.

On the map it was found that the place of the Empress is one mile and a quarter south of the place where Capt. Kendall, Commander of the Empress says she was hit and one mile north of West Point where Chief Officer Tuftenes avers the collision occured.

Capt. Gagon of the Dominion Marine Department, explained the location of the wreck as he buoyed it.

Taking of evidence was interrupted twice today because members of the Court had to attend a reception given to the Duke of Connaught. The luncheon was given to the Governor General by Mr. Justice Lemieux and the Quebec District Judges in the Chateau Frontenac.

This morning an effort was made to get further details about the operation of the collier from the Chief Officer, who filed the scrap and log books. The attempt was temporarily abandoned because it was discovered that like the engine room log, a number of important facts referred to were written up after an interval of some hours. The officer hurried off to Montreal for menoranda he had made at the time the orders were issued. It developed that third officer Saxe had not told the Chief Officer that he had put the helm of the collier hard to port after she had failed to answer to a little port.

The cause of the tremendous inrush of water into the punctured hull of the Empress was obviously the motive for a number of questions asked by Lord Mersey of Wm. Moir, night watch-man, of the Empress, who was examined regardiag how many port holes had been left open.

The witness could supply no definite information although the presumption was that the night being fine and the river caim, many were left open.

JUEBEC, June 21.— Announcement of Jacob Saxe the third officer of the Storstad, that though he knew it was wrong to change the ships course in the fog without orders, he put the helm hard aport just before the collision aroused interest at Saturday morning's session. The witness stated he did not think the action caused the collision, explaining that the helm was put hard aport in the attempt to offset the effects of the current. He also contended that the ship did not change her course because she lost her steerage way. He put the helm hard a port because the order of the first mate put a little to port had no effect. Ludwig Fremmertid who was at lookout station, said that when the ships came together he was standing on the forecastle of the collier, watching; the Empress loomed up suddenly in the fog a ship's length ahead. He stuck to his post until he saw the vessels ten feet apart, then he ran back to the waist hatch.

ANNUAL JUNE HORSE RACES

The annual June horse races brought over three thousand intensely interested spectators from city and country to the Charlottetown Driving Park yesterday afternoon. The races were without exception the best seen here in years. The standard of the racing was equal to that witnessed on any half-mile track of any of the Eastern, United States or any other track in Canada. The afternoon fairly bristled with exciting finishes which kept the spectators keenly interested, and all went away feeling that they had seen good, clean sport. The officials handled the races very capably. They did their best to get the horses out on time and there was very little delay in pulling off the events.

2.19 CLASS.

The first race called was the 2.19 class, with five well-trained and very speedy starters, including the famous Dr. Sharper, which made his first appearance on an Island track. There was a great deal of interest taken in the result of the summary between him and Oakley H. Both are trotters and have hosts of admirers. The first heat was won by Hilda S. Oakley H. carried the field of the half in 1.07. The rest of the heat was a great contest between Sharper and Hilda, the latter winning by a length and a half in 2.18¼, making a new record for herself and being only one second outside track record. It was the fastest heat trotted or paced on the track for many years. Cherry Ripe was close third in this heat.

Hilda S. won the next heat in 2.21¼.

EXCITING FINISH.

The third heat was a "corker." It was one of the closest finishes between three horses ever seen on any track. Only the judges knew which horse, Oakley H., Hilda S. or Iona Girl had won. The decision was given in favour of Oakley, Hilda being second and Iona Girl third.

In the fourth heat Dr. Sharper, which had been making some remarkable exhibitions of speed but which did not seem to be able to negotiate the first turn without making a break, settled down to business and won the heat in 2.22¼, only inches separating him from Iona Girl, Hilda S. being third and Oakley H. fourth.

The fifth heat was also won by Sharper. In the get-away he made a break at the turn and lost about 75 yards. Settling on his strides, he overhauled the leaders and made a great race of it right to the wire, winning by about 6 inches from Hilda S., with Iona Girl also very close and Oakley H. fourth.

A NEW RECORD.

The average time of the five heats in this race is said to constitute a new record for a 5-heat race over the Charlottetown track.

2.24 CLASS TROT.

This race had five starters. The first heat (and the race) was won by Winnie M., owned by Mr. A. F. Murphy, of this city. Winnie won a splendid race, never making a break and trotting very fast. In the first heat Happy George was a very close second to Winnie M., Frank I. third and Orwell Belle fourth. In the last two heats there was a very close

U. S. SUPREME COURT REVERSES DECISION

WASHINGTON, June 22.— The Supreme Court today reversed the decision of the eighth United States Court of Appeals which held that vows of poverty in Catholic orders were void because they were against public policy.

MEMBERS OF FORESTRY ASSO'N VISIT P. E. ISLAND

Mr. James Lawler, of Ottawa, Secretary of the Canadian Forestry Association, and Mr. B. R. Morton, the officer in charge of wood lots for the Dominion Forestry Branch, Ottawa, are in Charlottetown for a couple of days in connection with the Dominion Forestry Convention to be held at Halifax, September 1—4, and Mr. Morton is also here to make studies of a number of subjects related to the development of farmers wood lot and also in connection with the supply of pit props for the miners in Nova Scotia.

As explained by Mr. Lawler to a Guardian representative yesterday, the object of the Canadian Forestry Association, and the purpose of the visit of these gentlemen here, in a word is to see that every acre of land in Canada is put to its best use. "If," said Mr. Lawler, "all the land in Canada was fit for agriculture, the object would be to put the land to that use, but as over two-thirds of the total area of Canada is fit only to grow trees, the aim of the Association is to have those parts segregated from the farming land, and the timber on them so cut off that a new crop might be allowed to come on.

"Unfortunately in different parts of Canada, we have endeavored to clear off and farm large areas that were not fit for farming and the result is that in the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, there are hundreds of abandoned farms which are producing neither grain nor grass nor even trees, which last named they would have continued to produce if only they had been handled rightly in the beginning.

"In the Province af Prince Edward Island so much of the land is suited for agriculture that the only way in which the subject appeals to the people here is in connection with the agricultural industry. It has been proved that even in a wholly agriculture region more grain and other field crops will be produced, if from ten to fifteen per cent. is left in woodland, while at the same time these areas supply to the best advantage fuel and building material for the farmers; they also form a cover for the insectivorous birds which do so much to assist our farmers, and they regulate the flow of our streams and thus maintain fertility and water power."

The convention to be held in Halifax from Sept. 1 to 4, will deal with these questions particularly as they relate to the Maritime Provinces and a very large section of the convention will be devoted to farm forestry. Mr. Lawler and Mr. Morton are travelling through Nova Scotia, the former delivering a series of lectures to the lumbermen, farmers and wood-lot owners, on the best methods of handling their timber areas, this being in preparation for the convention to be held in the fall. It will not be possible for similar work to be undertaken here on the present occasion.

The Premier, Hon. J. A. Mathieson, is the Vice-President for P. E. Island on the Forestry Association, and yesterday Messrs. Lawler and Morton discussed with him and the Commissioner of Agriculture, Hon. Murdoch McKinnon, the desirability of this province sending a representative to the convention to be held in Halifax in September.

Yesterday also, with Mr. G. LeLacheur, of the Department of Agriculture, they went out to different parts of the country to make an examination of the character of the timber growing here, so that in the future the work can be related particularly to the conditions of Prince Edward Island.

NOW FOR THE LAST LAP IN THE GUARDIAN'S GREAT PRIZE CONTEST

With Participants Closely Bunched and Generous Vote Values Offered Next Week Likely to Settle Ownership of the Grand Prize; Over-Confidence One of the Greatest Dangers Now

The last lap of the big subscription contest of The Guardian has begun, with the generous offer of 15,000 votes for every year's subscription turned in on or before 8 o'clock Saturday, June 27. This should stir activity among all candidates, as it will not require many subscriptions at the specified vote to equal a million votes.

The results of last week's vote competition turned out as the Contest Manager expected—i. e., placed all those who will be numbered among the big prize winners with so few votes separating them that the race will be close and exciting from now on. Candidates should not count over their votes and conclude they are that many dollars. Remember, the other contestants' subscriptions counted for as many votes per subscription as the candidates who might imagine they have the grand prize cinched. All those under this impression should take this tip from the Contest Manager: "The next four days will be the time to make subscriptions count."

What are you going to do? If some one were to tell you that a few subscriptions more or less would determine the winning of the Grand Prize or a prize of smaller value, and fair-minded candidate would strain every effort to get all the subscriptions in his power from now on until June 27, at 8 p. m. You can best determine the value of the next four days when you consider that your efforts may realize you nearly $200 per day.

Without a doubt all candidates are after the Grand Prize. The Guardian has been very liberal in offering such beautiful prizes in this subscription contest, and the contest department is safe in saying every candidate who can honestly say he has given the proper amount of effort of the big contest will be handsomely rewarded.

Get busy today. Don't wait until tomorrow to begin getting subscriptions. There are plenty to be gotten if you but make the proper effort. This is the time it tests a contestant's grit. It is not so easy to get subscriptions as it was a few weeks ago, when the contest was new, but there are subscriptions to be procured and the people that get them these last four days are the ones that are going to reap the rewards the closing night. ARE YOU ONE OF THESE?
