NATIONAL UNITY IS THE ISSUE
National unity is the main plank of the United Party in the Union General Election.

The two "generals"—the Prime Minister, General Hertzog, and the Minister of Justice, General J. C. Smuts—have issued an appeal to the nation, in which they say: "Five years ago the country placed its trust in the United Party, in order to attain national unity and racial peace. That trust was not misplaced. The United Party and the Government which it brought into office has stood the test in that they were instrumental in giving the country five years of unbroken peace and co-operation and of unprecedented economic recovery. We are, therefore, justified in asking the electorate for the continuance of the United Party."

The peace that was made at Coalition and in Fusion was a real and lasting peace, and there must be no going back to the division and bitterness of the past. There must be no turning back, but a steady advance towards national unity."

SUMMERSIDE AIR-CONDITIONED

Dr. Andrews To Study Conditions

BOSTON, June 29 (AP)—(AP)—Fionnuala Fern Andrews, Nova Scotia-born unobtrusive observer of the world, is preparing to leave New York Saturday aboard the liner Nieuw Amsterdam. Dr. Andrews asserted the day of the "declared war" had ended.

"Undeclared war," she said, "will be the thing of the future, because to declare war brings a nation immediately under provisions of international law, with its blockades and other limitations."

Well versed in European and far eastern affairs, Dr. Andrews' summer tour will take her to the foreign offices of 14 European nations.

She said the trip was on a "purely personal" basis, but added any information she picked up would be available to the State Department at Washington if it desired it.

It was 26 years ago, at the direction of president Theodore Roosevelt and the Dutch government that Dr. Andrews toured Europe in an effort to interest nations in her plan to establish an international bureau of education. The war stopped her, but in 1918 President Woodrow Wilson sent her to the Treaty Conference at Versailles to renew work, and the International Bureau of Education, as now conducted at Geneva, was born.

Since then she has represented the United States at several educational conferences and has been to international recognition as an authority on international law and mandates.

Born in Margaretsville, N. S., Mrs. Andrews became the bride of a Lynn business man, Edward G. Andrews, in 1890. Then she set out to obtain a college education. Radcliffe eventually granted her three degrees—A. B. for her work in education and psychology, A. M. for her labors in international law, and Ph.D. for her studies in diplomacy.

Her book, "The Holy Land Under Mandate," is a favorable criticism from British, Jewish and Arabian officials alike.

"I simply was fair to all of them," she said, "and that's what I will be on this trip: the political and diplomatic trends. I have access to all foreign offices. They know I am versed in international law and diplomacy and are as frank with me as I am with them."

She planned to return in mid-October.

enjoying a pleasant holiday in Kensington visiting Miss Mary Kenzie and friends left on Monday morning for his home in Boston, Mass.

An interesting event took place recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Harding, French Canadian, when a large number of friends from far and near gathered to tender a shower to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wall of Princeton. The bride and groom after entering the room to the strains of "The Courtship," this play from start to finish was entertaining and all the guests expressed their appreciation by loud applause and hearty laughter. When the curtain was drawn it displayed a pretty living room of a home in Toonerville, Tourist Camp I—A Wednesday morning in Summer. Act II—Saturday afternoon. Act III—Immediate future. The cast of characters, Lillian Lorraine, Anna's chum, Miss Elva Webster; Anna Ainsley, her niece from the city; Miss George Stewart, a cinderella; and a host of other work-ers. Mrs. Marjorie Stewart Mrs. Purvance, a tourist, Miss Ethel Douglas; Aunt Abby Ainsley, a dyed in the wool old maid; Mrs. Lorraine Bowler; Mrs. Eberstole, a tattler tale; Mrs. Gerald Bonness; Horace Frank, her unwelcome suitor, Frank Murphy; Bobby Harrington, Anna's boy friend; William, a shy fellow; Billy Barberton, engaged to Lillian; Brenton Stewart; Horace Harkwell, a lonely widower; Alex Douglas; Miss Dorothy Broken, delighted the audience with a pleasing solo between the first and second act. There was also some fine instrumental music which was given by the "Musical Society." This gathering was under the auspices of the Sea View W.I., a most creditable sum was realized.

Many friends will be pleased to learn that Mr. David Adams is gradually improving and expects to soon be able to return to his home after a successful operation in Prince County Hospital.

Rousing Convention Of West Prince Conservatives

Mr. J. B. Morrissey, Tignish, Re-elected President At Largely Attended Meeting At O'Leary.

The 45th annual convention of the West Prince Conservative Association held yesterday in O'Leary Hall was a rousing meeting with all polls sending a full delegation besides many visitors.

Mr. J. B. Morrissey, Tignish, who presided was re-elected president and Mr. Gilbert Gaudet secretary. The vice-presidents for the various polls were all re-elected with the exception of two, east and west Alberton. Alfred Gault and Richard Jeffrey were appointed for these offices.

An important matter to come before the meeting was the changing of the name of the association from Liberal Conservative to National Conservative Association. The motion moved by Mr. John Hackett was unanimously approved as a standing vote. Delegates to the meeting when called upon to speak expressed dissatisfaction at the way the work to relieve unemployment was being done. There were 125 workers and only 5 Conservatives. Another thing was that a rumour was going round that the work on the local was being paid for by the local government, only.

Mr. Dr. MacMillan in his speech later replied to that question, stating that the government was contributing and that every one who is in need is entitled to some of the work and when the Conservatives were in power there was no discrimination made.

Dissatisfaction was also expressed in the government cutting down the school supplement in some cases and the federal government. Complaints were also heard with respect to the condition of the roads and the attitude of the present government in its administration of affairs.

Those voicing opinions were George Knox, Mr. Isaac, Mr. Peters, Edward Gillis and others.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were passed unanimously:

1. That the convention go on record as expressing sincere gratitude for the services rendered by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Conservative party, trusting that he may be able to give his peerless counsel regarding the political affairs of Canada.

2. That the convention do unanimously express its loyalty to our principal leader, Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan.

3. That this convention express its heartfelt sorrow at the death of Mrs. Edwidge Hackett, a devoted wife and mother, and a patriotic leader. Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, and that the sympathy of this convention be tendered to her husband and brother.

4. That this convention express its deep sense of loss by the death of some prominent members of our party in West Prince, namely James B. MacGrath, Stanley Gagliant, Arcade Gaudet and Colin McMillan.

5. That the convention express its appreciation to the ladies of the Ladies Aid of the Keir Memorial Presbyterian Church at Malpeque who held a tea on Wednesday afternoon in the hall at Malpeque. As this was a hot-noonday quite a number from the nearby villages and towns motored to Malpeque and greatly enjoyed the good things provided by the ladies of this church. A neat sum was realized.

The funeral of the late Mr. John Crozier was held on Wednesday afternoon in the United Church in Malpeque. Rev. Mr. Thomas conducted the service and was assisted by Rev. Mr. MacGowan and Rev. Mr. Grant. At the close of the service the remains were borne to the adjoining cemetery and laid to rest in the family plot. The pall bearers were Lyle Crozier, James Champion, Percy Hickey, Bruce Crozier, Clarence Hickey and John Duggan.

VOICE OF AUTHORITY

For various reasons the world awakened to the magic power of really fine speaking voices, writes Oliver Roberts Barton.

Let us hope that mothers have taken the lesson personally, for pleasant voices stand them in good stead when dealing with their children.

First I had better explain that to me there is no real beauty in a voice that has no presence or force behind it, and I don't mean volume. Far from it. For belowing has always been a bad habit. Only a person who feels the fullness of his words knows the necessity of shouting them.

A child soon learns that and feels no need of obeying the warning or command that is shouted at him.

On the other hand a child will not walk over the mother who shows her control by being always soft and sweet. Even a small child will recognize that a shouting mother is afraid of him—afraid that he won't do as he is told—that his will is stronger than her own.

There must be that indefinable something behind a voice that commands respect.

Children instinctively obey the voice that says firmly and quietly "Do it!" without depending on shouting, wheedling, or begging to get a thing done.

Flowers From April To October

Plan Garden for Succession of Bloom. Making Use of Perennials and Annuals.

In the picturesque garden, in which flowers are grown to make a picture, a major problem is planning for a succession of bloom. In such a garden there must be a continuous show. The gardener is a stage manager who must plan and produce a series of spectacles to charm the beholders.

To the uninitiated this may seem more difficult than it really is. The border. The modern idea is to consider flowers solely from the standpoint of their effectiveness in the picture, without regard to whether they live one year or twenty.

O-course perennials give the earliest flowers and the largest plants. A perennial starts the season full grown, whereas annuals must make their growth from seed and produce their flowers the same season. Perennials often last for years, while annuals die each fall. Nevertheless among the modern annuals, with their cunningly improved types, there are many which rival perennials in size; though none which bloom so early as the earliest perennials.

Among the early perennials which can be grown from seed are anchusa, show is almost unlimited. A seed catalog gives an amazing list of all types, tall, short, bi-color, brunette, various, delicate, whatever you may want. Nature has provided them in great abundance.

Each flower has its season of bloom, determined by nature, and you have only to select from those which bloom each season, types which will fit into the composition of your garden picture.
