Notes By The Way

fire, in taxes that they had made higher and higher with poll-taxes added that none might escape, whether poor, bald or crippled in any shape! They sang praises to Bell and Johnston and Lea, with no thought of such humble creatures as we and the sing-song of praises went on for weeks, with occasional mention of "nooses" and "twaks" for bad boys who would not their medicine take, not even for Lea's or Johnston's sake.

"Gently, so gently we'll deal with these men when election time comes round again. Just reduce that hundred and fifty per cent so kindly they'll wonder where ever it went. Gently teach them to economize in a way that may cause them a little surprise! (This Lea and Johnston economy fuss is a little too lopsided for us. This 'heads we win and tails you lose' doesn't give the people much chance to choose). Some other way some fairer plan, members and voters, as man to man, members who won't deceive or cheat, giving voters a chance to make ends meet. Gently we'll wait the Deceivers away to their homes with a permanent leave to stay!

"All needful taxes to pay we are willing if rated quite fair, but never a shilling to pay any tax that is not on the level; for all unfair taxes proceed from the devil. So away with the Taxers that Feathered their Nest with the taxes they wrung from the poor and oppressed! Turn them out! Send them home! every one to his den, these self-seeking taxers of far better men! Men and Women who vote, let us each and all join, to gently repay them each in his own coin."

Thus a Taxpayer mused as he sat by his fire, with the coal burning low, but the price rising higher, the wind blowing chill and the mercury down almost to the bulb in the shivering town. Was he right? Was he wrong? Was he wise or misguided? Shall his plaint be approved, or only derided? Has he uttered the truth? If so, then verdict from the people, the Taxers! Meet in their comfort secure what poll-taxes mean to the shivering poor?

JUST ONE APPLICATION AND THE HAIRS VANISH

(Modes of Today)
A harmless, yet very effective, treatment is here given for the quick removal of hairy growths; Mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the undesirable hairs, apply paste and after 2 or 3 minutes remove, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. One application usually is sufficient, but to be certain of results, buy the delatone in an original package. Mix fresh as wanted.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. LEROY McPHERSON
The death of Le Roy MacPherson occurred on Wednesday, February 21st in the Milton Hospital, Milton, Mass., in his 28th year. He was the son of Mrs. Frank W. Hunton and the late Daniel MacPherson, formerly of Prince Edward Island. Burial services were conducted by the Rev. George P. Bentley and interment was in Mt. Hope Cemetery, Forest Hills, Mass. Deceased is survived by his mother Mrs. Frank W. Hunton, three sisters Mrs. Mabel Frey and the Misses Sadie and Elsie MacPherson and one brother Harry Hunton, all of Boston, Mass.

ALEXANDER MACKAY

Entered peacefully on January 23rd at his home in Clinton, Alexander Mackay, age 66 years. The deceased had been in his usual good health until November first when he was stricken with a fatal illness and all that medical skill and tender nursing could do, had been done, but to no avail. God will ed otherwise and his spirit took its flight to be with Him who doeth all things well.
The announcement of his death will touch the hearts of many acquaintances and recall memories of one of the kindest and gentlest of friends. The warm welcome of his home will long be remembered, alike by friends and strangers. In the neighborhood the bereavement and loneliness are felt most keenly but the sorrow is sweetly mixed with hope.
His loved one think of him as a devoted and faithful husband, a loving and companionable father and now they regard him as a sharer of a blessed immortality and peace.
The deceased is survived by his widow formerly Mary Campbell of Richibouctou, N. B., two daughters and three sons. Mrs. P. L. Jordan, Portland, Me.; William J. Bethel, Me.; Percy Wytchillock, Me.; Alveda and Bert at home; also three sisters Mrs. John Ross, Mrs. John Keeler and Mrs. Isaac Trowsdale, all of Quincy, Mass. Services were

GRAND TRACADIE NOTES.—Misses Cecelia MacDonald and Margaret Stewart, Donaldston were recent visitors to Mrs. Parrell Curran.—The rural mail carrier Mr. Bernard MacDonald is winning the respect of all by the punctual and pleasing manner he exhibits during his daily delivery.—Mr. Allan J. MacDonald paid a flying business and pleasure trip to the city on Saturday evening March 3rd.—A very destructive fire destroyed the home of Mr. Bob McKinnon. Kind neighbours assisted in saving the other buildings and some furniture.—Misses Helen MacDonald and Rose Watts were recent visitors at N. J. MacDonald's.—The young people are again indebted to the "Juvenile Club" for the very enjoyable pre-legal dance given in Corran Bann Hall. Excellent music was furnished by the Messrs McInnis Bros., of Tracadie. An appetizing and dainty lunch was served by the ladies.—His many friends are delighted to see Mr. Aeneas McDougall out doors again after an attack of the "flu".—Two of Grand Tracadie's most enterprising young men, Messrs. Bert Kelzer and Aeneas MacDonald, almost succeeded in capturing a beautiful black fox quite recently.—Misses Verna Dover and Genoa Lewis spent a very pleasant social evening at the home of Mrs. Bert Kelzer.—Messrs. Lester MacDonald and Percy Kelzer have returned from New Brunswick where they spent the past few months in the lumbering business.—Our obliging local merchant, Mr. N. J. MacDonald is as usual doing a brisk business.—The farmers of this vicinity are busily engaged in procuring their supplies of fire wood. They appear to follow the motto—"Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today."

MARSHFIELD TO THE FRONT.—The ever growing popularity of Marshfield entertainments, despite the unfavorable condition of the roads, was evidenced on March 9th, by the very large attendance at the spacious hall for the annual Farmers Institute Banquet. The program which was exceedingly well rendered, tends to prove that Marshfield is indeed to the front where entertainments are concerned and reflects much credit on the musical director Miss Jessie Jenkins and the managing staff of the R. E. C. There was positively no occasion to specialize. From the opening ode to a "touching" finish the audience was completely captivated. The best of order prevailed throughout which was, no doubt due to our general chairman, Mr. J. T. Ferguson. The indisposition of Miss Blanche MacBeth was very much regretted by all. The bounteous repast provided by the ladies, was an exhibition in the Culinary Art and needs no further comment as somewhere in the vicinity of two hundred can testify. Programme as follows: Opening Ode. Our National Anthem. Remarks, Chairmen: Round. The Club; Duet, Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean. Messrs. Jenkins and Mills; Dialogue, Social Difficulties. The Misses MacBeth, MacFarlane, Mill, Munn and Mr. H. C. Mutart; Reading, Sambo, Mr. Talmadge Foster; Trio, The Streamlet. The Misses Wood, MacFarlane and Mill; Tableau, Modern Maud Muller. The Misses Shaw and Foster. Messrs Stewart and Jenkins; The White Darkie Vaudeville Messrs Heath Foster and Lea Mill; Duet, The Key to Heaven, Miss MacFarlane and Mr. H. C. Mutart; Closing Chorus by the Choir.

MRS. FRANK McLEOD

The community of McAskill River in St. Peter's parish was sadly shocked by the sudden death of Sabina Anne MacKinnon, beloved wife of Mr. Frank McLeod of that place on Thursday, February 15th. Deceased was in her usual good health until Tuesday, February 13th when she was stricken with the Grippe. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the usual remedies administered, but on Wednesday, February 14th she lapsed into unconsciousness and on Thursday at 6 p. m. her spirit winged its flight to Him who gave it. Her infant son four weeks old followed her on Tuesday, February 20th. Bunnie as she was familiarly called will be sadly missed by all. She was one of those wonderful women who always seemed equal to every emergency and was always ready and willing to serve others in time of need, a perfect wife and mother. Her loss will be keenly felt by her bereaved husband and children. Endowed with a singularly cheerful disposition she brought sunshine to the hearts of many with her bright smile that never faded in life and because of that and her many good deeds her memory will shine out as a beacon light in the dark to illumine the pathway of those whom she left behind. She leaves to mourn their loss her husband and five young children, a sorrowing mother, five sisters and one brother. Her funeral took place to St. Peter's Church on Saturday, February 24th. A Requiem Mass was sung by the pastor

Buying

Underpriced printing is a hazardous practice. It has a skimp in it somewhere—it's not "all wool." Argue as you please, the advantage can hardly be in the paper, the ink, or the labour. These all figure according to known values. So it must be in the character of the workmanship; therefore, is it not best to be sure?

Price here is a matter of understanding and appreciation—your dollar buys full value.

The quality of the job and the satisfaction resulting from work well done continue to linger after the price is long forgotten.

Cheap printing failing of purpose must be expensive; thus not economical. Bargaining and price comparison is an old-world device and decidedly not a counterpart of "doing best what many do well."
