Reducing Load With Infantry Aids Movement

(By ROSS MUNRO)
(Canadian Press War Correspondent)

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, June 2—(CP)—Khaki closeups from Canada's overseas army:

The Westeminster Regiment, a motor battalion from British Columbia, rates tops in a Canadian armored division here. In a recent inspection by the Divisional Commander, Maj.-Gen. E. W. Sansom, of every unit in the division, the Westminsters were given highest marks—88 per cent. Next in line were the Royal Canadian Dragoons from eastern Canada.

Two officers from the Irish Regiment of Canada from Toronto, the infantry unit in another Canadian armored division still in Canada, are overseas observing training in armored regiments here. They are Capt. C. H. Punchard and Capt. W. H. Armstrong, both of Toronto.

The Canadian army is reducing the load carried by foot-slogging infantry. On a recent manoeuvre, infantrymen carried maximum of only 40 pounds, including clothes, weapons and kit. It speeded up movement. In the First Great War, old soldiers say, infantry lugged upwards of 90 pounds.

"Sousou," a lamb with a taste for beer and whiskey, is a mascot belonging to Maj. Bruce Hough of Windsor, Ont., member of a field ambulance unit here. It follows him everywhere, off duty and on. The major "adopted" the lamb when its mother drowned. At first he fed "Sousou"—named after his baby daughter—with milk from a bottle but the lamb has since acquired a liking for more potent liquid.

Capt. Dick Malone of Toronto, member of the Queen's Own Rifles and a former advertising man on newspapers in Winnipeg and Regina, now is staff captain of an armored brigade in a Canadian armored division here.

There were four slightly embarrassed colonels in the armored division when the King and Queen made a recent inspection.

The commanding officers of the Lord Strathcona's Horse from Winnipeg and Calgary, the Fort Garry Horse from Winnipeg, the 1st Hussars from Western Ontario and the Westminster Regiment from British Columbia, lunched with their Majesties before their units were inspected.

They naturally wore their serge uniforms. But they had to appear on parade 10 or 15 minutes after lunch in battle dress. So as soon as the royal lunch was over, the four sprinted for the door, jumped into their cars and tore down the roads changing their uniforms in the vehicles.

Scores of soldiers and civilians waiting for the King and Queen watched amused as the colonels roared by in the midst of a quick change, fumbling with shirts and trousers.

What with gasoline rationing and all, cycling is becoming a new fad at Canadian Army Headquarters. Twenty bicycles arrived there the other day and a number of staff officers use them for trips around the area.

Rural Gas Stations May Remain Open Saturday Evening

OTTAWA, June 2 —(CP) —Officials of the Munitions and Supply department today gave assurance to operators of rural gasoline stations that they may remain open on Saturday evenings even if they have not received personal notification to that effect from Oil Controller G. R. Cottrelle.

Last May 21 the department said stations situated five miles or more from the limits of a city or town with a population of 5,000 or more could stay open Saturday evenings until nine o'clock—two hours after the closing time set by the gasoline regulations. The permission was granted as a concession to farmers.

"That statement," officials said today, "was based on an order issued by the Oil Controller and operators of rural stations can accept it as genuine."

Canadians Have Luck In Big Raids

By William Stewart
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 2 —(CP Cable)— Lady Luck had a busy week-end looking out for Canadians who rode their bombers through the moonlight to Cologne and the Ruhr—but she did a good job.

Three of the four R. C. A. F. bomber squadrons which helped smash Cologne did not suffer a casualty and two of the three which paraded back to the Ruhr last night had the same good fortune.

Flt. Sgt. Norman Jefferies of Montreal figured he needed all the luck he could muster when his big bomber hopped off last night. It was his 13th flight against the enemy.

When he stepped out of his plane on its return he wiped his brow and laughed: "I'm sure glad to be rid of that one."

Veterans And Newcomers

Some of the crews were veterans of many excursions over enemy territory. Others were fresh from Canada, wide-eyed at bombing on such a great scale.

They were among the more than 1,000 Canadian youths who flew into Nazi-held Europe during the night for the second time in 48 hours. There were nine squadrons from the R.C.A.F. in the vast R. A. F. raid —four bomber squadrons which also took part in the Cologne attack, four fighter squadrons and one squadron of the new intercepter bomber Boston planes Hundreds of Canadians were in R. A. F. crews, too.

PO. F. J. Tatro of Toronto, who had seen the devastation of Lubeck, remarked that "I'd hate to have been in those Ruhr cities." The Essen raid was also a new chapter of an old story for Sgt. Homer Forbes, former Dalhousie University student making his 18th flight.

Forbes knew what he was talking about when he described the Cologne and Ruhr defences as slim and added: "Jerry seems to have fallen down on the job this week-end."

From P.E.I.

The assortment of seasoned fliers and anxious-to-be-seasoned newcomers include Flt.-Lts. J. A. M. Lean of Prince Edward Island, Lambert, Saint John, N. B.

Planes flown by the Canadians included huge four-engined Stirlings, Lancasters and Halifaxes, as the lighter Wellington and Hampdens, as well as the Boston interceptor bombers.

Love-Gordon Nuptials

A delightful wedding was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Gordon, School Street, when their eldest daughter Joan Virginia, was united in marriage to Sgt. Thomas Love, R. A. F., of Belfast, Ireland.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a street length dress of Elizabeth Blue with hat to match and wore a corsage bouquet of Talisman Roses. She was given in marriage by her father.

The ceremony was performed by Hon. Flt. Lt. Rev. T. H. Bussell Somers, R. C. A. F., Minister of St. James Presbyterian Church of whose choir she was a member. The wedding march was played by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Ivan Mitchell.

After the wedding service a delightful reception was held. Tea was poured by Mrs. Everett Wedlock, Miss Edna Gordon ushered, while Mrs. W. C. MacLeod, Mrs. Harold Messervy, Miss Norah MacMillan, Miss Joan Roop, Miss Betty Forsythe and Miss Phyllis MacLeod served.

Among the guests were relatives of the bride and comrades of the groom.

The rooms were gay with spring flowers. The bride and groom are spending a short honeymoon at the summer cottage of the bride's parents at Ringwood.

FUNDS FROM MONTREAL

LONDON — (CP) — The Lord Mayor has received from the Queen's Canadian Fund, Montreal, a further contribution of £11,185, making a total of £201,491 from that source for relief of bombed cities.

WILLIAM JAMES HALLIWELL

On the morning of May 22, 1942, the Angel of Death claimed for His own the spirit of William James Halliwell, aged sixty-nine years. The deceased born in Albany was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Halliwell whose family were known as good citizens wherever they settled. The deceased moved from Albany to Springton thirty-two years ago. Although he had heavy burdens to bear, by his hard toil and honesty he has left with his family an inheritance for which they can be thankful. His home was always opened to the wayfaring man and stranger and he always gave generously to the church and any other worthy cause.

Nearly two years ago Mr. Halliwell had a serious illness from which he recovered and since last September he enjoyed good heath until three days before his passing which came as a shock to his family and friends.

The deceased leaves to mourn a sorrowing widow, six daughters and three sons, also one sister and two brothers.

The funeral, which took place on Sunday, May 24th at 2 P. M. from his late residence, was largely attended by friends and neighbors. The service was conducted by Dr. A. O. Thomson who spoke comforting words to the bereaved and Mrs. Thomson feelingly sang, 'There'll Be No Disappointment in Heaven; being a special favorite of the deceased. The Lord is My Shepherd, Asleep in Jesus and Safe in the Arms of Jesus were also sung.

The pallbearers were: Messrs. Harry Arnett, Alex Cairns, Elmer Francis, Will Cameron, Fred Walsh, Angus MacKinnon. Interment was in Springton Cemetery.

Beautiful floral tributes were received bearing silent testimony to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Painful, Pus Filled Boils the Cause of Much Misery

If you suffer from boils you know how sick and miserable they made you feel.

Boils are an outward indication of impurities in the system, and just when you think you are rid of one another crops up to take its place and prolong your misery. All the lancing and poulticing you can do may not stop more coming.

To help overcome boils you should purify the blood, so why not give that old, reliable blood medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, a chance to show what it will do in helping you get rid of them? Thousands have used it for this purpose for the past 60 years. Why not you?
