It is necessary that all news, letters to Editor, etc, sent to The Guardian for publication, be accompanied by a signature and address, the handwriting of which some member of the writing staff is familiar, as well as sufficient postage for a reply or the return of the manuscript if not published, should this be desired. The Guardian takes no responsibility whatever for the publication or return of any matter forwarded to individual members of its staff.

The marriage of Winnifred Maude Holbrook, eldest daughter of G. H. Holbrook, City, to Dr. John Y. Neely, son of A. J. MacFadyen, Tignish, P. E. I. took place on Thursday, March 24, at the residence of the bride's uncle, S. H. Lewis, 44 Kidder Ave, West Somerville, Mass. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Allen of Park Avenue.

The bride, who was given away by her father was attired in old rose silk with trimmings to match. Both bride and groom were unattended. The bride, who was one of Charlottetown's most popular young ladies, was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents, of which a number have been already referred to in The Guardian, including a handsome silver pudding dish from the First Methodist Church choir, of which she was a valued member for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. MacFadyen will take up their residence in Boston, where Mr. MacFadyen is practicing his profession in Grace Hospital. The Guardian joins with the hosts of friends of the bride and groom in wishing them many years of happy wedded life.

The Halifax School of Expression, a flourishing department of the Ladies' College, presented an interesting program to a large and appreciative audience last Friday evening. This is the third recital of the season for this department, and the work has been excellent throughout. Miss Crichton and her assistant, Miss Jean Archibald, are to be congratulated on the character of their work and the success of their department. This recital was given by the junior class, or second year, and spoke well for the talent of the class and the character of the training given. Elocution is a line of work in which the College has always taken high rank, and there is no indication of a lowering of the standard. Among those who took part and made a particularly fine impression were Miss Eva McDonald, of Port Hastings, B. C., and Miss Maud McLean, of Charlottetown.

Word was received Thursday by Rev. D. McLean, City, of the death of his brother Duncan in Holyoke, Mass, which took place there recently after a long illness of Bright's Disease. He was about forty-nine years of age and was well known in this city.

Mr. Spencer formerly belonged to Campbellton, and since coming to Moncton has made many friends, all of whom will regret to learn of his departure from the city. —Moncton Transcript, 23rd.

When Trusted Men Go Wrong

Every once in a while the daily papers report the shortcomings of an apparently trustworthy and responsible clerk or official. There is no accounting for these unfortunate affairs. They are accidents, and to be provided against as such. Our Guarantee and Fidelity Bonds, insure an employer against the loss entailed by such accidents. We bond clerks, and officials, cashiers and collectors and trusted employees handling money in every department of business.
