IN MEMORIAM.

TROUVILLE.

There passed peacefully to rest at the family residence, Long River, on Tuesday morning, October 10th, 1932, the late James Bell, in the 71st year of his age. He was the youngest daughter of the late James Bell. In the death of Miss Bell, Long River has lost one of its best residents. Possessed of a cheerful disposition and kindness of heart she was the friend of old and young alike, in the Prayer-meeting Women's Missionary Society and Sabbath School (where she was the devoted teacher of the young ladies' class), her place will be hard to fill. Her happy life, peaceful resignation through her illness of seven months and firm trust in her Saviour to the end, might well be an inspiration to those who knew and loved her. She leaves to mourn two brothers Jasper Bell (who with his wife so devotedly cared for her to the last)—and Wm. Bell, Park Corner and two sisters Mrs. Barbara Gillespie of Long River and Mrs. John Bernard, Kensington.

LOVE IN ESPERANTO

It may be generally known that a handkerchief language, exists which is extremely simple, as well as being the language of exceeding excellence for the lover. Here it is:

Should a man or dambel press the handkerchief against the lips, it signifies that they wish to become acquainted with one another. To let it fall is a stage further, and means, Shall we be friends? If held to the right cheek the answer is Yes, to the left, check No. But should either hold it in both hands, it simply shows indifference.

However, by holding it in the left hand, the lady, who does not wish to go any further in the matter, speaks though dumbly, the words, I wish to get rid of you. Or on the other hand, if she folds the dainty bit of cambric, it signifies her wish to speak. Again, she may hold it at the opposite corners, which means just Wait! By throwing it over her right shoulder, she gives permission to be followed.

Rubbing it against the cheek is a declaration of love, while drawing it through the hands in one of intense dislike. Wrapping it round the first finger betokens an engagement, round the middle finger, marriage, but not provincial Scotch accent. While he conversed with Mrs. Williams, he paced up and down the floor in his usual fashion, with rapid and graceful motion, or hung on the mantelpiece.

It was not strange that the conversation turned on the subject of the relations of America and Great Britain. Stevenson regretted that England had lost the colonies. He pictured the States under British rule, with America the seat of government of the whole empire. He dwelt upon the benefits that would have accrued to the whole, English-speaking race from such a union, and to all mankind, with Great Britain and America ruling the world for peace and righteousness. In a flight of fancy, and with all the richness of language that was his, he pictured the actual transporting of the royal family and all the paraphernalia of government across the Atlantic, the pageantry of the ships and the gorgeous landing, and then setting up of the throne at Washington.

While Stevenson was talking, Mr. Williams came in. He looked doubtfully from Mrs. Williams to the stranger; for, as he told his wife afterward, he thought a tramp had got in and she could not get him out again. But it was only for a moment and soon the two men were talking with all the interest and pleasure of those who feel much in common.

NEW BAGGAGE CHECK.

A new baggage check, embodying a number of unique features which are expected to lessen the number of errors and complaints, has been placed in service by the Pennsylvania Railroad. The duplicate portion of the new check is provided with spaces in which are printed a number of the principal "bad order" conditions in which baggage is frequently received for checking. A check, on being delivered to a passenger, will be perforated to show whether the piece of baggage is a trunk, suitcase or valise, fiber case or tool chest. Another perforation will show the condition in which it was received, whether the bottom, side, top, or end is broken, lock or handle broken, hinges loose, old or worn, or whether the piece of baggage is open. In this way the duplicate check will contain a full description of the conditions of the baggage when received for shipment. The number on the tag portion of the check is placed at the bottom, while on the duplicate portion it is printed on the top, so that the two can be readily matched when making delivery of baggage.

MRS. SCOTT'S SUFFERING OVER

Doctors Advised An Operation. How She Escaped Told By Herself.

"Buckner, Mo.—For more than a year I suffered agonies from female troubles and the doctors at last decided there was no help for me unless I went to the hospital for an operation. I was awfully against that operation, and as a last resort wrote to you for special advice and I told you just what I suffered with bearing down pains, backache, shooting pains in my left side, and at times I could not touch my foot to the floor without screaming. I was short of breath, had smothered spells, felt dull and draggy all the time. I could not do any work, and oh how I dreaded to have an operation.

"I received a letter full of kind advice, which I followed, and if I had only written here a year ago I would have been saved so much suffering, for today I am a well woman. I am now keeping house again and do every bit of my own work. Every one in this part of the country knows it was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that has restored me to health, and everywhere I go I recommend it to suffering women."—Mrs. Lizzie Scott, Buckner, Mo.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Tastes nice—acts gently.

WHEN DUMAS WENT TO TROUVILLE.

The familiar story of the arrival of the great Dumas at Trouville on a May afternoon in the Thirties is a cheerful anecdote, says "Harper's Magazine." Laughing loudly, he crossed the Touques, carried on the shoulders of a sturdy Norman peasant, and entered the primitive little inn of those early days with all the elation and excitement which usually distinguished his movements. La mare Coeurie, the good woman who kept it, told him flatly that she received none but painters—the Trouville of those days was a tiny fishing village which only a few artists had discovered. Dumas promptly alleged that he was a painter in words, and even offered to paint—or write—her sign board, which the other clients—ungrateful dogs—had promised neglected to do. This handsome though mollified good inn-keeper, and she consented to receive Dumas at the amazing price of two francs a day, tout compris.

Trouville was indeed then what the French term un petit trou pas cher—a little hole not dear. When the painters, friends whom Dumas had come to see in their remote corner, returned toward evening from the green woods and glades along the little river's valley, they found the amiable giant filling the inn with his cries and laughter, and brandishing a great spoon in the kitchen, where he was presiding personally over the preparation of an evening meal which promised to run his bill for extras into figures unknown in Trouville.

22,500 A YEAR AT GNINE YEARS

There is a bright field for clever children in the cinema film world, and the child-actors employed by the big American companies draw remarkable salaries.

The little actress Gladys who recently played for the Biograph Company received $50 a week for her services. As she is only nine weeks old the amount is a large one.

Most companies employ two or three children, and pay them well for their services. The Lubin Company have a whole nursery of kiddies, the leading actor being Buster Johnson, who is only three and a half years old. Buster has had several plays written for him, and he draws $25 a week when working. His chief companion actors are Miss Henrietta O'Beck, aged four and a half, and Brooks McCloskey, aged 5. The two latter actresses draw $20 per week.

The Kalem Company have two remarkable child-actors in their employ. The first, Adelaide Lawrence, is four years old, and her acting is truly remarkable. She has figured in several dramas, specially written to display her wonderful ability, and her appearance on the screen is always hailed with delight. She draws $30 a week, and she is worth every cent of the money.

The other Kalem child actor is Master George Hollister, who is not yet four years old, has had some remarkable experiences, for he accompanied his mother with the Kalem Company to Egypt and Palestine, and himself played in some of the Egyptian pictures. His services are worth $25 a week to the Kalem Company.

THE SAFER WAY TO QUARREL

Max O'Rell tells this:—

The Scotchman possesses a genius for business, as the following dialogue would indicate. One of his favorite proverbs is, "He will soon be a beggar who does not know how to say no." A laird of Lanarkshire was one day accosted by one of his neighbors as follows:—

"Laird, I need £20. If you will be kind enough to accept my note, you will be repaid in three months."

"No; it is impossible, Donald."

"But why, laird? You have often rendered a like service to your friends."

"Impossible, Donald, I repeat."

"Then you mean to refuse me?"

"Listen, Donald, and follow my reasoning.—As soon as I accepted your note you would draw the £20."

"Yes."

"When the maturity of the note arrived, I know you, and that you would not be ready. Then we should quarrel. Very well; but, Donald, I quarrel. Very well; but, Donald, I should rather that we should quarrel at once, while the £20 is in my pocket."

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for all Hair Trouble

Who does not know the value of Sage and Sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, Sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Undoubtedly, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than Sage and Sulphur, if properly prepared.

The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put out an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for keeping the hair and scalp in clean, healthy condition.

If your hair is losing its color or constantly coming out, or if you are troubled with dandruff or dry, itchy scalp, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, use it according to simple directions, and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in the appearance of your hair.

All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Special Agent, E. A. Foster, Central Druggists.
