The Japanese public gets only one side but the facts currently speak for themselves, with the rising sun flapping over Indo-China, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Thailand, the East Indies, Burma, Singapore and great segments of China.

The capture of the fortress of Singapore especially heartened the Japanese.

Japanese civil and military officials in occupied areas are behaving cockily according to the pattern established in China.

The people have absorbed some of the grandiose feeling of the striking sword-waving officers until now the dread of war with Britain and the United States has been outweighed temporarily by the feeling that Nippon is up to the task.

Typical of the attitude taken by the Japanese is the demand by internment officials in Hong Kong that Americans salute them continually, the effort at Yokohama to include internees as exhibits in street parades and celebrations in Singapore.

The public mind is intoxicated by the sweep of Japanese operations and the extent of their current holdings, an extent vitally necessary in the opening days of

but in the main Caucasian theatre it was evident the Nazis still were rolling forward.

Huge forces of German reserves fought the battle below fallen Rostov and Novodorckassk near the Don mouth on the sea of Azov. The Germans sought swiftly to exploit to the full the gains they had won at appalling casualties in men and machines.

The skies were clouded with dive-bombers and the air yesterday, crowded with Swastika-embazoned tanks in a furious combat which Red Star called probably the gravest in the war.

The danger to the whole area south of the Don increased when the Germans forced a fresh crossing near Rostov, 120 miles upstream from Rostov, and extended two other bridgeheads. The red army in one area south of the river was being driven back. The Nazis were bidding for the Stalin-grad-north Caucasus railway, 35 miles below the Don, and also attempted to establish Liaison with other forces still from Rostov and Novodorckassk.

The deceased, who had been born at Rennie's Road near Hunter River, was visiting with his uncle, Mr. Arthur Gallant when the fatal accident occurred. The family moved to Dorchester, N.B., about five years ago where the boy's father is employed as a guard at the penitentiary.

Only two other menesses gave evidence at the hearing. They were: Benjamin Gallant, who was with the boy at the time of the accident, and Mervyn Bulman the driver of the truck.

Evidence disclosed that the boy and Benjamin Gallant were proceeding in the direction of Hunter River about eight o'clock in the morning and were meeting the Bulman truck which was enroute to New Glasgow. The horse became frightened by the vehicle and suddenly bolted wired almost opposite it. The Martin boy fearing the horse would trample him, raced across the short stretch of pavement into the passing truck. The driver did all in his power to avoid hitting the boy. He ran the truck into the ditch but it was too late.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Charlottetown were notified and Constables G. G. Spears and A.G. Goswell, proceeded immediately to the scene of the accident. Later Constables D. J. Mundy and J. B. Morrison accompanied the coroner out. A jury was empanelled and the inquest held.

Members of the jury were: Messrs. William Darke (foreman), James Andrews, Ivan Bowman, Mr. dock Cutcliffe, Pate MacDonald and Jack McLeod.

The boy's parents were expected to arrive from Dorchester last evening.

Surviving besides his parents are two brothers and two sisters. One brother, Edward, is serving at present with the Canadian Army.

The funeral will take place from the residence of his uncle Arthur Gallant, today at 2.30 p.m. to St. Augustine Church, Rustico, thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

of police in gathering evidence in Vancouver regarding the non-arrival of certain mechanical transport in time to sail with the Canadian expedition to Hong Kong last Oct. 27.

Stopped by Speaker He was stopped by Speaker Glen who has ruled against use of any evidence except that contained in the Minister's report.

But the speaker ruled that the Justice Minister had a right to reply to Dr. Bruce's remarks.

Col. Drew's letter, as reported in the Vancouver paper was referred to by the minister as having asserted that "the Minister of Justice and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in the search conducted in Vancouver for evidence of the letter called favorable to the government." Col. Drew was a commission counsel at the Hong Kong inquiry.

Mr. St. Laurent said the R.O.M. had been used to obtain information from Vancouver stevedores on authority of his deputy minister P.P. Varcoe and he knew nothing of the incident until "just before" the report appeared in the Vancouver paper.

Mr. St. Laurent had informed me when he got to Kellock's (R.L. Kellock, counsel to the R.C.M. Commission) request I would have felt it proper to take the action which was taken and I take full responsibility for my department, the minister said.

The letter written by Col. Drew, who was nominated as counsel to the Duff Commission by Conservative House Leader Hanson, was dated July 11.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King refused to table it in the House on the advice of G.A. Campbell, K.C., Montreal, government counsel. To the commission, that it contained information which was revealed to the commission in secret.

The press could not approve publication of the letter.

After Mr. St. Laurent had completed his report on the participation in the inquiry, Dr. Bruce said that he had been quoting from the Drew letter and that he was making any attack upon the minister.

Throughout the debate Speaker Glen had strictly ruled that there must be no use or mention of the Drew letter and he stopped Dr. Bruce when it became apparent that he was using material from it.

But he ruled that the Justice Minister had a right to reply to what Dr. Bruce had said.

Highlight of Debate This incident was highlight of the day's debate in which other participants were Rostov, Maud (Lib. Brantford City); Lt.-Col. J.A. Ross (Con. Souris); J.S. Roy (Ind. Grandview); G. R. Boucher (Con. Charlottetown); G. G. McGeer (Lib. Grandview); Jean Francois Poullot (Lib. Temiscouata); G.G. McGeer (Lib. Vancouver Burrard) and Navy Minister Macdonald.

A feature of Mr. Poullot's speech was his recommendation that Premier Mitchell, Heppburn of Ontario, a former House of Commons supporter of Prime Minister Mackenzie King, be appointed minister of national defence with authority over all three branches of the armed forces.

Dr. Bruce ran into considerable difficulty with Speaker Glen when he described as "reprehensible" the refusal to accept the evidence of the R.C.M.P. Cooke agent in the Awatea which carried the contingent to Hong Kong.

Speaker Glen had this comment: "I have refused to permit the substitution of the word 'incorrect' and 'inaccurate' as applied to the report, because it was a reflection upon the commissioner, Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff."

Mr. St. Laurent Mr. St. Laurent said he had no intention of entering the debate "but I counted without the honorable member for Parkdale."

He said some days ago his attention had been called to a dispatch in the Vancouver News-Herald under a rather startling headline and added that he was "not surprised to hear the language of that headline from the lips of the member for Parkdale."

Mr. St. Laurent continued: "This headline reads 'Drew charges Justice Minister prostrated R.C.M.P. work here.'"

"The dispatch states that a letter of Lt.-Col. George A. Drew to the Prime Minister contained 32 pages and that the long, closely-typed letter charged Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff with no less than six major mistakes, and declared that the Minister of Justice had prostrated the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in the search conducted in Vancouver for evidence of the letter called favorable to the government."

Mr. St. Laurent said R.L. Kellock, K.C., Toronto lawyer who was one of the commission counsel, had asked Mr. Varcoe to obtain evidence as to whether some 20 mechanical transport vehicles could have been sent to Hong Kong with the contingent, had they arrived at Vancouver in time.

Conflict of Evidence Mr. St. Laurent then read a

P. E. I. Representative Participates Briefly In Agriculture Debate

The following remarks by Mr. J. Lester Douglas, P. E. I. representative in the House of Commons debates, July 24. The subject under discussion was the agricultural estimates.

"Mr. DOUGLAS (Queens): We have heard a great deal about apples and other agricultural products I represent Quebec, a constituency in the smallest province in Canada. I think every hon. member will admit that Prince Edward Island produces the best potatoes and turnips grown anywhere in the world. I should like to say to the Minister of Agriculture and his department that I think we have the most efficient inspection department of anywhere in Canada.

The certified inspection department headed by Mr. S. G. Peppin, who is well known to the department, and he and his staff carry on very efficiently. Mr. G. E. Shaw, head of the table stock inspection and the staff under him, certainly understand their business.

"I have been connected with the potato business for the last twenty-five years, growing, grading and shipping. Without boasting I might mention that I organized the table stock potato inspection service in Prince Edward Island about twenty years ago, and about that time the farmers went into the growing of certified seed and stock on a fairly large scale. A few years ago our province produced nine or ten million bushels of potatoes in one season, which was very creditable for a small province like Prince Edward Island and it was not an unusual sight in the fall of the year to see eight or ten large steamers, each carrying from 50,000 to 200,000 bushels of potatoes from Prince Edward Island to Cuba and South American markets.

"I should like to ask the Minister of Agriculture to cooperate with the Minister of Commerce and to provide steamers for the shippers to carry our products to South American markets. I understand from the large shippers that it is almost impossible to get a large steamer to take our seed there.

"I think our people appreciate everything that is being done by the department to encourage and assist in the growing of potatoes.

Mr. PERCY (Quebec, Sask.): "I notice in the Minister's report—since a little apple sauce is being passed along right now, there is an item that new plant has been established for the manufacture of apple sauce....The Minister might tell us where the market is for this apple sauce and whether we in western Canada are likely to get any of it. It was apple juice last year; now it is apple sauce."

letter written by Col. Drew some weeks later protesting at the non-production of the original statements "alleged to have been obtained by the criminal investigation branch of the R.O.M.P., under your instructions."

The letter stated that "unlawful typewritten sheets were produced before the commissioner" and that the commissioner had made an attempt to suppress them.

Mr. St. Laurent said the original was subsequently sent to the Toronto office of the R.O.M.P. to be shown to Col. Drew "but I am informed that he has not yet called at the office to see it."

Mr. McGeer mentioned the distinguished career of Sir Lyman Duff, and added: "No in the event of his life he has been dropped from unidentified planes—the second such search in Maryland within the week.
