Baseball Writers Add Roger 'Rajah' Hornsby To Baseball's Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK, Jan. 20—(AP)—Baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown is slowly becoming more populous.

Rogers Hornsby was added today to the group of 26 who have been enshrined in baseball's birthplace.

The Rajah now nearing 46 years of ago, completed his active career in the major leagues only four seasons ago, and now is manager of Fort Worth in the Texas League.

He was named on 182 ballots in poll of 233 baseball writers conducted by Bill Brandt, publicity director of the National League, in the first election held since 1939 and thus caught up with the honor he missed by a small margin three years ago.

A three-fourths vote was needed to elect and although 72 players were offered by the writers, each of whom was asked to list 10 nominees, Hornsby was the only star selected.

There was no question that the greatest righthanded hitter in baseball's long history had earned the accolade. In 23 years in the majors he carved an everlasting niche for himself. He played for five different clubs and managed four of them, led the National League in bating for seven seasons—six in succession from 1920 and again in 1928, hit over .400 for three different years, and twice was named the most valuable player in the senior circuit.

He set many batting records that still stand for baseball's modern era, the foremost being his .424 average for St. Louis Cardinals in 1924.

Hornsby broke into the majors with the Rerbirds in 1915. Ten years later he became their manager and he steered them to a world championship.

Hornsby was the 14th star of the modern era chosen by the baseball writers. Those named previously were Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Honus Wagner, Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson, Napoleon Lajoie, Tris Speaker, Cy Young, Grover Alexander, George Sisler, Eddie Collins, Willie Keeler and Lou Gehrig. All except Mathewson, Keeler and Gehrig are still alive.

ELECTION RUMORS

nounces the major proposals being prepared by the government, for the session, but there have been occasions when important measures have been brought into Parliament that were not even mentioned in the Throne Speech.

Conscription Demands

The situation at present is that the Government has for days been considering demands from within and without the Liberal party for removal of the ban against compelling Canadians to serve outside the Dominion.

One reason why the Government's manpower policy should be in the Throne speech is that it would forestall any attempt by Opposition groups to precipitate a debate in advance of the Government's declaration of policy by moving adjournment of the House immediately after the opening to discuss conscription or a kindred issue.

Amid the talk of possibility of a referendum to ascertain the people's opinion on unlimited conscription there was one report that instead of a plebiscite for or against conscription for overseas service the ministry would test the public opinion on whether the Prime Minister should be released from his anti-conscription promises of the past. No official comment was available.

It was learned today that for some weeks plans have been afoot to reorganize the Liberal party's publicity office, and it was reported efforts were being made to obtain a party organizer.

Other election signs were seen in the delay in completing cabinet reorganization, forecast by Mr. King himself weeks ago, and the fact that nine Senate vacancies have not been filled.

Hanson Carries On

Conservative House Leader Hanson arrived in Ottawa today. He will carry on as acting Conservative leader and leader of the official Opposition pending outcome of the Feb. 9 by-election in York South riding where the new Conservative leader, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, is seeking a seat in the House.

Mr. Hanson expects to open the debate on the address next Monday afternoon. The address will be moved Friday afternoon by Alphonse Fournier, Liberal member for Hull, and seconded by W. Ross Macdonald, Liberal member for Brantford who recently made a public address urging unlimited compulsory service.

In the Senate the address will be moved by Hon. L. M. Gouin, Montreal, and seconded by Hon. Donald McLennan, Inverness.

Tomorrow's ceremonies are almost entirely formal. The Commons will meet at three o'clock in the afternoon, that being the hour to which it was adjourned last November, but the Senate is not due to meet until 8 p.m. E.D.T. so the Commons will have to wait until that hour for prorogation proceedings.

There will be one departure from formal routine in the Commons when a motion will be made for the inclusion in the official records of the session now ending the address delivered in the House by Prime Minister Winston Churchill last Dec. 30

At eight o'clock the second session of the 19th Parliament will be prorogued and the way cleared for opening the third session Thursday afternoon.

hemispheric front against the Axis as proposed at the current Pan-American conference of Foreign Ministers at Rio de Janeiro.

Castillo asserted that Argentina's position "is open, frank and loyal and represents, right or wrong, the opinion of the country."

Argentina's position, he said, "has been misinterpreted to the point where the Argentine is not going to collaborate in the foreign minister's conference."

"But Argentina, which defends the thesis that it believes best for America, will collaborate," the acting president went on.

By this he apparently meant collaboration on all hemisphere matters excluding a unanimous break with the Axis.

Castillo said the foreign office might make an official statement later.

Foreign minister Enrique Riuz Guinazu, chief of the Argentine delegation at Rio de Janeiro, is "carrying out instructions given him by the cabinet," the acting president declared.

Calling Alsab for U. S. crown

But Three Other Three-Year-Olds May Have a Chance if Lucky.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20—(AP)—Unless a trio of likely looking but ailing youngsters can be patched up over the winter, you might as well wrap up Uncle Sam's three-year-old racing crown for 1942 right now and hand it over to A. C. Sabath's Alsab on a platter.

These three—Colonel Ed Bradley's Bless Me, Herbie Woolf's Contradiction and Sun Again, the good thing Ben Jones has in his Calumet Farm barn—seem to be the few real reasons for U.S. race tracks to even bother running their three-year-old classics at all next spring and summer, so completely did Sabath's skyrocketing sensation spread-eagle the 1941 juvenile picture.

However, Alsab will need something more than his good looks and appetite to pick up the marbles if Bless Me, Contradiction and Sun Again are able to run on four legs again.

Bless Me, a late-coming two-year-old of the 1941 campaign raced Sabath's bargain baby to a head in the Walden stakes a few weeks back. He looked so hot doing it that "Cunnel Ed," who still feels the disappointment of Bimelech's flop, immediately tabbed this one as his fifth derby winner.

Contradiction, who showed signs of becoming the best Woolf campaigner since Lawrin won the Derby in 1938, turned in a flying victory in the Pimlico futurity and thereby established himself among the fellows to watch come Kentucky Derby-time next May.

Holds Second Ace

Ben Jones,, meantime, holds the best hand even if Sun Again doesn't shine again. As his second ace, he can lead with Some Chance, the chestnut son of Chance Play, who won the Belmont futurity. But as if the fact that Alsab is around wasn't enough to discourage this hard-worked campaigner, there's always the jinx that the Belmont futurity winner has never worn that necklace of roses at Churchill Downs.

And then there's the Whitney quartet that copped the first four places in the Hopeful Stakes at Saratoga. R. Sterling Clark's Colchis also must be considered if for no other reason than that he ran a dead heat with Alsab in the Richard Johnson stakes in Maryland.

Sun Again won four of his seven outings during the year, topping it off with the Arlington futurity, and Ben Jones immediately started dusting off the three-year throne abdicated by his Whirlaway.

Oddly enough, however, all three of these standout threats were injured. Contradiction suffered a cut leg in the Pimlico futurity. Sun Again injured his leg in the Arlington futurity and Bless Me was hurt in a work-out several days ago.

arrived, in some instances using hand grenades thrown point blank to knock out enemy tanks which could not be reached by anti-tank guns. Japanese crews crawling from their damaged vehicles were killed one by one by Australian infantrymen.

This morning's bombing of Singapore caused damage to some military installations. This correspondent, forced to take refuge in a building entrance by the bombs falling from a large formation of enemy planes, emerged from the debris to find his automobile smashed to bits across the road.

Carrier In Action?

One Japanese navy "O" type plane and one enemy bomber were shot down in this raid, while another enemy bomber was probably destroyed, the British communique reported.

(This official mention of Japanese naval planes in action against Singapore raised the possibility that a Japanese aircraft carrier was in action.)

From yesterday through today a total of at least six Japanese planes were destroyed and enemy craft shot down to date in Malaya were thus brought to an aggregate of 41 for certain and an additional 16 "probables."

An announcement in Washington during the day that United States army bombers had sunk a Japanese cruiser off Jolo in the southern Philippines, between Mindanao and Borneo, was described unofficially in London as an indication of the beginning of an allied air counter-offensive that might aid the situation in Malaya.

Rangers Pull Into Tie For First Place By Whipping Boston 4-2

BOSTON, Jan. 20—(AP)—After spotting Boston Bruins a pair of goals, New York Rangers pulled into a first-place National Hockey League tie by overtaking the Stanley Cup champions for a 4-2 victory tonight before a capacity crowd of 14,900 at the Boston Gardens.

It was the Bruins' first regular home game setback since Feb. 25, 1941, when the Rangers shut them out 2-0.

Rangers uncorked a three-goal attack in the final period and their last pair of tallies were registered while the Bruins were playing short handed.

Lynn Patrick tied the score at 2-all during the third minute of the final period, with the 100th goal he has made during his eight N.H.L. seasons. About 11 minutes later, while Art Jackson was serving a minor, Alex Shibicky blasted a game-winning 10-foot drive through goalie Frankie Brimsek.

While the Bruins were attempting to rally, Dit Clapper drew a major penalty,with only five minutes remaining, for punching Art Coulter. While he was off, Phil Watson scored the final goal after a rink-length solo dash.

When the bell clanged, Coulter headed for the penalty box to continue his argument with Clapper and they grappled. They tugged and pulled and aimed roundhouse punches at each other for more than a minute in a circle of players before the officials burst through and pulled them apart.

Milt Schmidt accounted for both of the Boston goals during the first 24 minutes of play and Bryan Hextall, the league's leading scorer, increased his points total to 32 by scoring the first Ranger goal and assisting on Patrick's tying tally.

Clapper was not the only Bruin forced to miss the last five minutes. Woodie Dumart, who will undergo a Canadian Army physical examination in London, Ont., tomorrow, had to rush away at that point to catch his train.

SUMMARY

First Period

1—Boston, Schmidt (Bauer Dumart) 8:36
Penalties—D. Smith 2, Pratt.

Second Period

2—Boston, Schmidt 3:24
3—New York, Hextall (Watson) 5:25

Robinson and Maxie Berger Sign for bout

NEW YORK, Jan. 20—(AP)—Ray Robinson, unbeaten New York Negro, and Maxie Berger, veteran Canadian welterweight, today were signed by Promoter Mike Jacobs for a 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 20.

The bout will replace the proposed title fight between Robinson and welterweight champion Red Cochrane. Cochrane was unable to obtain sufficient leave from the United States Navy to train.

Juvenile Hockey

Juvelle hockey is being revived in the city this year according to the interest being shown in this particular branch of Canada's national pastime. Several teams appear to be in the making judging from the numerous workouts being held. Jack McCourt and Charles Worth have signified their intention of placing a team in the running and request that players wishing to participate notify them at once.

Remember When

United States amateur tennis suffered a crushing blow 10 years ago today when Frances T. Hunter joined Big Bill Tilden his famous doubles partner in professional ranks. They made their debut Feb. 18 the same year at New York before 14,000 fans.

OTHER ATTACKS

ited States bombing planes pounced upon a Japanese cruiser, the War Department reported today, sank the warship and for good measure left a big enemy tanker in flames.

The successful attack occurred south of the Philippines where the forces of Gen. Douglas MacArthur were withstanding renewed Japanese assaults on Luzon and, it developed, Filipino troops were battling the Japs on Mindanao.

Announcing the destruction of the Jap cruiser, the army added no details other than that the sinking took place 100 miles off the Island of Jolo. That isle, one of the Sulu group, lies about midway between Mindanao and Borneo.

Since reports have indicated Japan was using Mindanao as a base for its attacks on Borneo and the Netherlands East Indies, it was assumed that the enemy craft were in that area to support the invasion effort.

Previous announcements have told of other successful attacks by American airmen in that general region, particularly a raid on Japanese shipping in the harbor of Davao, a Mindanao town. Where the American bombers were based has been a secret.

Word from MacArthur that Filipino troops were engaged in a sharp battle with the Japs on Mindanao was received as a surprise. It had long ago been assumed that resistance there had ended.

Beaten back and brought to a standstill in a full scale onslaught, after an ineffectual effort to turn MacArthur's flank, the Japanese renewed the attack, exerting their pressure particularly at the centre of the line.

As always the assault was heavily supported from the air, and sharpshooting American and Filipino forces downed three Jap planes in the space of 24 hours.

Olives were first introduced into California by the Franciscan missions in 1769.

Dog knew way To hospital

BRIGHTON, England, Jan. 20—(CP)—They don't breed dogs more intelligent than Bruce, a black Labrador retriever. When Bruce slashed his ear on a barbed wire during a run on the Downs, he trotted five miles to the Royal Sussex County Hospital for treatment. He was "released" with this label on his collar: "This patient presented himself at hospital with a bleeding right ear. One stitch was put in and dressing applied. It should be removed in five days."

Miners blank Victorias 4-0

GLACE BAY, N.S., Jan. 20—(CP)—Goalie Ken McKinnon hung up his fifth Cape Breton Hockey League shutout of the season tonight as Glace Bay Miners trounced North Sydney Victorias 4-0 and stepped out into a 25-point lead over the second-place Northsiders.

Pat Desbiens again spearheaded Miners' offensive, getting two goals and helping out on another Desbiens ran his scoring string to 16 straight games.

Bill Cooper, a new import from Toronto made his debut with a goal and an assist, Charlie Phillips, high-scoring defenceman, came through with the other.

The circuit leaders had the edge all the way in the slow but rough match. Vics had a two-man advantage at one stage of the penalty-filled second period but couldn't capitalize on it.

Curling at Montague rink

A number of interesting games have already been played for the Clarkson Shield in the Montague Curling rink but the competition is still young. Every team is keyed up with the prospect of emerging the victors and the roarin' game is attracting considerable attention each night.
