LACTATED FOOD.

Is the Only Prepared Food that Yields Complete Nutrition to the Infant.

Lactated Food has met with the greatest favor at the hands of the medical profession. It is put up under the supervision of food experts, and the greatest care and cleanliness is used in every process of its manufacture.

Lactated Food is the only perfect substitute for healthy breast milk, that medical men know of. Thirty thousand physicians say it is the ideal infant food when mothers find it impossible to nurse their little ones. It has made tens of thousands of children strong and happy, and saved them from cholera infantum and other infantile diseases.

Mothers should not fail to give their babies Lactated Food during the hot summer months. In every case it yields complete nutrition and is adapted to nature's needs. No cross, peevish and weak babies when Lactated Food is made their diet in summertime. Ask your Druggist for it.

FOR STREET WEAR.

The New and Elaborate Wool Dress—The Cape—Wool Velling. The new wool dresses and shawl capes for the season are very attractive. The pelerine is made in silk or felle lace intermixed in some cases with flower petals, and anyway made fuzzy with much ruffling and shirring. The stoles of mixed marabou and ostrich feathers are very dainty, and there are cream cock feathers dotted COAT OF BLACK TRAU DE SOIL with velvet or chenille and lace ruffles with stole ends bordered with chenille. Marabou tails are made more fanciful by the addition of powdered rose petals which in their turn are dotted with tiny bits of chenille. Lace capes with stole ends made from scarfs are very handsome when applied with medallions of embroidered silk. Wool velling will be one of the smartest materials of the season for dresses, and these will be elaborately embroidered with heavy silks or figures of taffeta.

The illustration shows a three-quarter coat of black taffeta with wide bands of silk forming the collar and likewise the wide band at the bottom of the coat. The revers are faced with white lace; the lining is of white silk. JUDIC CHOLLET.

MODISH ORNAMENTS.

Corsets Now Being Made Shorter—Irish Crochet Lace Much Used. Corsets, though still straight fronted, show a tendency to become shorter. Petticoats are most elaborate. They are cut like skirts and have a shaped sounce profusely ornamented with ruffles and insets of lace. Black and white petticoats are smart wear, and all manner of fancy silks are used for fashionable underskirts. Belts are very artistic in hand painted satin and embroidered silk and also spangled suede. Irish crochet lace is introduced wherever possible on cloth and linen cases.

VISITING GOWN.

tunes, and it is seen to great advantage on the pretty grass lawns, silk striped in green or pink. Both pink and red coral are fashionable, also all green stones. Motoring costumes are much trimmed with bands of suede in Lincoln green or tan color.

For evening wear accordion kilted skirts of point d'esprit are gauged in a yoke shape around the hips, rows of lace insertion being plaited in with the net.

The illustration shows a visiting gown made with a loose hanging jacket effect. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Eight Years of Misery

What Maurice Best Might have Avoided if he had Started to Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Right at the Start.

Maurice Best, of Southern Harbour, Nfld., suffered torture for eight years simply because he would not believe that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets would cure him. He says:

"In 1892 I was attacked with Dyspepsia. I was in continual misery for eight years. Sometimes I would go off in a faint and for ten minutes I would be more dead than alive. Doctors could not cure me and gave me but little help."

Then it occurred to Mr. Best that it would not hurt him to try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. He did so and this is what he says of the result:

"The first two boxes I used gave me new life. I kept on using them and was soon a new man. I can't say enough in their favor."

Why don't you try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets?
