Made in Canada.

Indulgence in rich foods, tobacco, or anything else that piles up acid in the system should be offset with a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. This neutralizes the acidity and you feel fine. Plenty of men know there is nothing like it for "mornings after." Get the genuine; there's something about the Phillips formula, and the way Phillips' is made. Substitutes don't act the same.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

LONG CREEK WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The annual meeting of the Long Creek Women's Institute met at the home of Miss Annie MacPhee on Wednesday evening, Nov. 2nd, with an attendance of eleven members and six visitors. The members were pleased to welcome one new member. The meeting opened by singing "O Canada," and repeating the Creed. Roll call was responded to by paying membership fees. The minutes of previous annual and last regular meeting were read and approved. A vote of thanks was tendered the retiring President, who responded by thanking the members for their kind co-operation and help during the year. A financial statement of the year's work was read by the Secretary. Considerable correspondence was read and discussed. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. Fred Stretch. Vice President, Mrs. Alex MacLeod. Secretary Treasurer, Myrtle MacLeod.

Directors, Mrs. Annie Stretch, Mrs. Norman MacLean and Mrs. Wm. MacDonald. Auditors, Margaret MacArthur and Mildred Auld. Sick Committee, Mrs. Norman MacLean and Margaret MacArthur.

After the business, the members took part in sewing. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess and the meeting closed with singing. Mrs. Norman MacLean kindly invited the members to her home for the next meeting. Roll call to be answered by each member asking a question.

Mr. and Mrs. Newedd were seated round the Yule log fire. He was reading interesting items from the newspaper.

"Would you believe it, my dear," he said after a while, "last year 3,042 elephants were needed to make billiard balls."

She gazed lovingly into his eyes. "How wonderful that such great big beasts can be taught to do such delicate work!" she replied.

Mary: "I didn't know Ted had any idea of marrying you."
Ann: "He didn't. It was my idea."

—SENIORS DEBARRED FROM PLAYING IN MCLEAN LEAGUE —The members of the McLean Hockey League held a meeting in the Town Hall, Summerside, on Thursday evening, Mr. B. W. Robinson presiding. There was a good representation from all the teams interested. The chief discussion was on the advisability of allowing senior players to enter the League. The conclusion arrived at was that all seniors holding a 1931-1932 certificate would not be allowed to revert to intermediate hockey or enter the McLean League. A committee was appointed to draw up a schedule for the coming season. Teams wishing to play must signify their intention before Dec. 9th. The schedule would be submitted to the League by Dec. 16th for approval. Considerable discussion took place on the subject of referees and protests. Meeting adjourned. S.

—STRONG DEMAND FOR FOX PELTS—The fur season is in full swing and every day pelts are coming into Summerside from different parts of Prince County. Some are disposed of to fur buyers who arrived this week from London, England, New York and Montreal. Others are graded and sent to the big fur centres in Europe and England to be sold by auction and private sale. One firm handling large quantities of pelts daily that they are receiving cables daily for pelts to be disposed of by private sale. One fur dealer stated that in his long experience this is the first time there has been a demand for furs in between the sales. The market is holding at fall prices; it is uncertain, however, as to whether that will continue, but prospects are good as there are not so many skins to be placed on the market as there were last year. Big preparations are being made for the first fur auction sale ever to be held on Prince Edward Island. It will be interesting to see how the venture turns out. S.

—CHRISTMAS SEAL FUND—Once again the call goes out from the Canadian Tuberculosis Association to the public to do their bit in fighting tuberculosis by buying Christmas seals. The sale of Christmas seals each year has helped many patients to have X-ray examinations, which finds tuberculosis earlier than any other treatment. The sale of the seals also provides treatment for crippled children. In Prince County the campaign for the sale of the seals is in charge of Miss Eleanor Green, assisted by Mrs. Thane A. Campbell, Mrs. A. Allan, Mrs. L. A. Moore, Miss Enid MacFarlane, Mrs. H. H. Lefurgey, Miss Constance McArthur and Mrs. James Wood. Last year thirty nine crippled children from different parts of Prince County were treated by Dr. Acker of Halifax, who also performed three operations. Every month from twelve to thirty tuberculosis patients are treated by Dr. Creelman in the Summerside Clinic, which is open to everyone in Prince County. As a preventive measure the 11th grade at the High School were examined by Dr. Creelman. The money derived from the sale of the Christmas seals helps very considerably in the carrying out of this work and it is sincerely hoped that everyone will respond to the call and purchase the seals for their letters and parcels this Christmas. CLEANING TIMOTHY SEED

The 1932 crop of timothy seed in the Maritime Provinces is estimated at 500,000 lbs. which is about half the quantity required for seeding next spring. Prices should be fairly satisfactory if farmers can clean their seed to Grade No. 1 or No. 2. The Canadian market is protected against United States seed by a Tariff of 2 cents per pound, an excise tax of 3 per cent, and an unfavorable Rate of Exchange. However, the imports last year totalled 8,884,321 lbs., but will be less this year because of a larger Canadian crop.

The Seeds Act requires that timothy seed must be sold on grade, or for cleaning to grade before being offered for purpose of seeding. Farmers should therefore clean their seed and send representatives 2 ounce samples to the Dominion Seed Branch, Sackville, N. B., for Certificate of Grade, which may be used as a basis of sale. Advice will be given on the best screens to use for improving the quality and growers will be referred to a Maritime distributor of screening material which may be ordered according to size of screen frames.

Farmers are advised to get their seed ready for market promptly, and to list quantity for sale, grade, and price with the Dominion Seed Branch. This information will be given to Seed Merchants, Co-operative Associations and Agricultural Societies.

INTEMPERANCE — ITS CAUSE AND CURE

"Intemperance — Its Cause and Cure" was the subject of the splendid address which, at the Weyburn Collegiate Institute, won for Edward M. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Johnson, Weyburn, Collegiate student, the gold medal in the Hon. C. M. Hamilton gold medal oratorical contest.

"The greatest problem facing humanity today — and the most difficult of solution — is the drink question," he said in opening his address. Continuing, he said as follows:

"Joseph Chamberlain once said in an address, 'If I could tomorrow destroy the desire for drink in the people of England we should see more lives saved in one year than are lost in a hundred years of fierce and bloody warfare.'

"Again in 1905 an eminent English physician said: 'The latest and most authentic statistics show that 10 per cent of all diseases, 50 per cent of all insanity, idiosyncrasy and pauperism and from 75 to 90 per cent of all criminality may be directly traced to the abuse of alcoholic beverages as its cause.'

"It was such statements as these that finally awakened statesmen and political leaders to the fact that something should be done to save the nations of the world from drink. Some of the governments proceeded to introduce government control, which differs essentially from the free traffic in that a man cannot drink in a public place. What difference does it make after all where a man drinks poison, in a public place or in a private dwelling house? Does it not have the same mental and moral effect on the man, the community and the nation?"

"Government control, or any other system of control, which makes it possible for the people to secure and drink intoxicants is nothing more nor less than a compromise with the drink traffic. If drinking is right there should be no law against it, and the people should be free to have all the liquor they want; but on the other hand, if it is wrong they should not be allowed to have a single drop. There is just as much sense in saying that lying is all right so long as you don't lie too much; that stealing is all right; so long as you steal moderately; that immorality is all right so long as it is under the control of the state — as there is in saying that drinking is all right so long as it is under the control of the government. All sins of all kinds and in all degrees are wrong.

"There is hardly a spot in the civilized world upon which we can turn our eyes without seeing the awful effects of the curse of drink. What is to be done about it? Some say nothing can be done, claiming that the more prohibition work there is done the more the people will drink. But, is this to discourage and dishearten the temperance forces? To admit that nothing can be done is to admit that civilization is a failure. To admit that nothing can be done is to blot out the future and to turn back the wheels of civilization and of progress.

"Man is not a failure; civilization is not a failure; and, like all other great reformations, temperance is not a failure.

"William Cullen Bryant said: 'The truth crushed to the earth shall rise again.'

"The immortal Frederick Douglas, at the darkest hour of the abolitionist movement against negro slavery in the United States, said: 'One with God is a majority.' Within twelve years after that one million gave their lives on the battlefields of the republic to the south of us as part of the price paid for the emancipation of four million slaves — and thus the world progressed.

"The powers of intemperance are so deeply rooted in the souls of men, and the curse of drink has such a deadly grip on the morals of men that nothing but the power of advancing civilization can ever uproot and defeat it.

"Oh, Canadian manhood and womanhood, if you stand still and let the powers of perdition ride on, destroying the souls of men, you will be guilty before God for every purpose for which it was erected. At the western end of the building is a similar chamber used for the Sittings of the Legislative Council until 1892 when that body was abolished. It was here in 1864 that the first meeting of the Fathers of Confederation was held and from that event it is now called "The Confederation Chamber." On its walls may be seen photographs of the Lieutenant Governors and Premiers of the Province from the year 1851 to the present, and portraits and photographs of the Prince Edward Island Fathers of Confederation. In the centre of the room there is a large table around which the Charlottetown Conference of 1864 was held and on this table a brass tablet was placed in 1927 by the I. O. D. E. with the following inscription:

"In this Historic Chamber around this table on September first 1864 were gathered those statesmen whose deliberations led to the formation of THE DOMINION OF CANADA. "Placed here by the Royal Edward Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, on the occasion of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation." At the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee the Dominion and Provincial Governments erected on the wall of the chamber a beautiful bronze tablet on which in raised letters are the names of the Fathers of Confederation and the following inscription:

"In the hearts and minds of the delegates who assembled in this room on September first 1864 was born THE DOMINION OF CANADA. "Providence being their guide they builded better than they knew. "This tablet was erected on the Sixtieth Anniversary of the event. (Isaac Smith, the architect of the Colonial Building, was the grandfather of the writer of this sketch. —Ed. G.)

Let us awake to the alarming conditions that threaten to undermine our civilization. Let us march to battle beneath a banner upon which are emblazoned the words, 'For God and Humanity — and There is No Compromise.' Brewers, bootleggers, smugglers and all forms of intemperance will then soon disappear; the greatest curse of the modern world will be wiped from existence, and temperance, not only as regards the liquor question, but all things, will reign supreme."

When the Colonial Building was first opened there were two Legislative Chambers, one for the House of Assembly and the other for the Legislative Council. The eastern end of the building, on the second floor, was set apart for the House of Assembly. This large chamber has a gallery around three sides, on a level with the floor of the third story. On the main floor of the chamber there is accommodation for the representatives of the press and for visitors. It has a railing across the front, and on each end corresponding with the gallery above which shuts off the public from the Honourable members, who with the Speaker and the Sergeant at Arms, occupy the inner circle. On the wall above, and on either side of the large canopy surrounding the Speakers Throne are portraits of fifteen Speakers of the House from an early period of the history of the Colony down to the date of Confederation. The canvases are the work of a distinguished Canadian artist, Robert Harris, C.M.G., R.C.A., from whose brush came the "Fathers of Confederation."

The Chamber which is still in its original form continues to serve the
