"Never worry about a man. Many ladies profess to find it difficult to select holiday gifts for men, but it need not be difficult at all. A man is the easiest creature in the world to suit. If he is a smoker, he would be entirely satisfied if every one of his gifts were good cigars. We have the cigars he likes and smokes every day. J. G. Jamieson, Druggist. 12-13 Mtfl.

"Your friend would be delighted with the gift of a camera and the Emign is the one to give. It is an English hand camera that makes splendidly clear pictures and even a beginner can secure good results from it. Call in and see our showing. All grades at prices ranging from $1.50 to $35. THANK GOD FOR FRIENDS.

Thank God for friends, the valiant and the true, Who've stood beside us in each Lard-won fight, Sharing with us our sorrow and delight.

Thank God for friends, the loyal clasp of hands, The eloquence unspoken of the eye, Each social cheer, each fond, endearing tie.

Thank God for friends, who in the darkest hour Turn not aside, but stay to help and cheer, They are the ones within our hearts held dear.

Thank God for friends, refreshing as the showers,

That bless the earth in sultry summer time, Bringin' us peace, like some old poet's rhyme.

Thank God for friends. Around each trusting heart Their tendrils, like the ivy, cling and climb The sturdy oak, the slender wind-swept vine.

Thank God for friends; but, after all, how few! We must not lose them, be they yours or mine, While we are worshippers at friendship's shrine.

Thank God for friend; for everything we hold Will soon be spent, but where life's border ends The sunrise with the sunset ever blends.

YOUNG MEN ARE SPENDING TOO MUCH

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 23.--"The young men of to-day with moderate salaries, are spending five times the amount their fathers spent, and the young women are encouraging them to do so," states Justice Sutherland to the graduating class of Windsor Collegiate Institute at the annual commencement exercises held Friday night. His subject was "Making Good."

THE ISLE OF WALLA WOO-LOO.

The great musical comedy "The Isle of Walla Woo-Loo" will be produced by the Charlottetown Operatic Society on Jan. 6th and 7th. The scene takes place on an imaginary island in the Pacific Ocean. The action starts when several sailors from Old England get wrecked on the rocky shore of the island. They think that they have landed on one of the Cannibal Islands as there are several near there.

But instead of falling into the hands of an enemy, and eaten alive they are all promoted to the highest dignities. One of the jolly crew "Bengy Binks" (played by Frank Oliver) is delegated to marry the beautiful Princess Iola. The gods and her father, the King, have decreed that she must marry to save the realm. The old lover of the Princess was exiled and it has been rumored that he has since died. As the Princess must marry, Bengy is elected for the job.

One of the rules of the island is that when a husband or wife dies the survivor is buried alive. After the wedding is over the Princess becomes ill and is pining for the lost Prince. When Bengy hears that she is not expected to live and that he must be buried alive if she should die he almost succumbs of fright, and tries to gain time in order to find a substitute. Finally the gong is sounded, which announces the dissolution of the Princess, and Bengy disappears like a snow ball.

The theme affords no end of comedy, and the part of Bengy in the hands of a comedian with the experience and popularity of Mr. Oliver, it is sure the audience will be laughing from start to finish. In the end the real Prince turns up and all ends happily, as all good stories should.

The music is something out of the ordinary, every bit of it is catchy and sure to become popular. The Guardian strongly advises its patrons not to miss seeing The Isle of Walla Woo-Loo.

DARING HOLD-UP IN BUFFALO TICKET OFFICE

BUFFALO, Dec. 23.--Within sight of scores of people a highwayman at 5.15 o'clock this afternoon held up two clerks in the city ticket office of the Grand Trunk Railway and succeeded in getting away with $327.

Jos. E. Edwards, chief clerk, and Harold D. Mowry, a stenographer, were behind the desk when the man here, admits that Bell Guinness, the Laporee, Indiana, murderer, is still threatened to kill them if they made an outcry.

The ticket office is on the ground floor of Ellicott Square. The counter where the men stood is visible from both main streets and the court of the big office building.

MAY PROVE TO BE NOTED MURDERESS

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Dec. 23.--O. Nerland, a Norwegian miner living here, admits that Bell Guinness, the Laporee, Indiana, murderer, is still alive, and she is at Diamond City, a small village ten miles from this city. The evidence against the woman is said to be strong, but the police have not gathered sufficient proof to undertake her arrest.

Bell Guinness' pictures are being rushed to the city with all speed from Indiana, and in the meantime the woman in question is being kept under strict surveillance by detectives. As yet she is in complete ignorance of the fact that she is suspected of being the noted murderess, whose case created a sensation some four years ago.
