Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD, April 22—(U.P.)—Diogenes and William Beaudine, film director have something in common. The only difference in their respective searches for an honest man is that Beaudine has found one.

After the fights at Hollywood Legion stadium recently, a man approached Beaudine and handed him a check for $10.

"I am sorry I kept you waiting so long," he apologized.

"Oh, yes, many thanks," said the director, puzzled.

"Don't you remember you lent me ten bucks out in front of the Alexandria Hotel in Los Angeles two days before I went to war in 1917?" the man explained.

He was one of the chauffeurs at the old Biograph studio in New York. Beaudine made his acquaintance there when, after completing high school, he went to was as a property boy.

"Some of the boys will remember Roy Ferguson," Beaudine said. "He told me he had been laid up in the hospital for seven years after the World War, but is all fixed up with silver plates."

Lew Cody says:

"A sure sign of an actor's popularity at the studio is if he is "missed" but not "mistered."

"If the workers on a set don't like a player, you can be pretty certain that there is something wrong with that person."

There is only one thing that worries Ken Maynard, western star, when he speaks for publication. He recalls his cowboy days and how the boys used to josh each other.

"I can just imagine them yelling 'Haw! haw! haw! Look what Maynard has to say,'" the star declared.

NEW TRANSMISSION MAY MEAN CHANGE IN AUTOS

MEXICO, Mo., April 22. (U. P.)—A new era has dawned in the automotive industry, a Mexico garageman was convinced today, following trials of an automobile transmission he has patented.

Bruce Ridgeway, the inventor, recently made a trial trip in his touring car, in which the device had been installed, and has organized a company for its manufacture and sale. The transmission, according to Ridgeway, automatically gears the car to higher or lower speed in according with road pull.

Ridgeway's trial run made through the streets of Mexico was faintly reminiscent of the early days of automobiles, crowds of curious following him.

Mount Vernon Was Furnished By Washington

(By Mary Knight, United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, April 22—The ancient bills of lading show conclusively that George Washington, not Martha, was the first interior decorator in America.

It was he who furnished Mount Vernon, planned the type of furnishings to be used, where it should go and even selected the curtains and draperies to hang at the many windows of the great house.

This information came to light in an interview with Miss Frances Wolfe, who is in charge of the interior decorating and furnishing of the French Mount Vernon erected in the Bois de Vincennes for the French Colonial Exposition.

"England supplied practically all of the furniture as well as the clothes used by George and Martha," said Miss Wolfe, while Grand Rapids has equipped the Mount Vernon of Paris. Fourteen different furniture companies have donated fine reproductions of the original presidential mansion setting. The electric light furnishings and all of the mantle pieces have come from Detroit, and many authentic bits of silver and accessories have been picked up, or donated, or loaned.

"New York has furnished us with all the fabrics to be used in the mansion here," said Miss Wolfe, "and the designs and materials have been copied as nearly as possible from the originals. We have had to search for samples of the originals in museums and private collections, make sketches of them and then have them made up. It has all been terribly interesting but we have had our troubles," she added.

"Martha may have had a lot to say about what went into the original Mount Vernon, but it was George who did the ordering, and in searching through old records and documents we found that he did most of the arranging when the furniture arrived from England."

SERIES OF ACCIDENTS STARTED WEDDED LIFE

WATERBORO, Me., April 22—(U. P.)—Mr. and Mrs. Mark T. Johnson, newlyweds, do not appreciate slapstick comedy. At least they don't think the series of events which delayed their honeymoon was funny.

After the ceremony the bride was showing her new home to Mrs. Richard Carpenter, mother of the bride-maid. Upstairs, the bride tripped, stumbled against Mrs. Carpenter and both fell the entire flight. Mrs. Carpenter broke her wrist.

When she fell Mrs. Johnson was carrying a kerosene lamp. The lamp landed on a living room rug which burst into flames. G. W. M. Bailey fell on the lamp and cut his wrist. Edward W. Peters fell over Bailey and burned his hands on the rug.

TIP ON WHERE TO QUIT THIRST IS DANGEROUS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 22—(U. P.)—If you tell a friend where he can get a drink of liquor, you are just as guilty of violating the Volstead act as is the bootlegger who supplies him.

That was proved in federal court here recently. When a man was arrested on the charge, his lawyer scoffed at the accusation. But, on close scrutiny of one provision of the prohibition act, he advised his client to plead guilty and accept a $250 fine. The provision:

"No person shall solicit or receive, nor knowingly permit his employees to solicit or receive from any person any order for liquor, or give any information how liquor may be obtained."

That clause is all inclusive, and includes the next door neighbor, or fellow lodge member right along with liquor distributors, said W. L. Vandeventer, United States district attorney here.

CLEVELAND CONVENTION CITY

CLEVELAND, April 22—(U. P.)—More than 1,100 medical meetings and conventions are held each year in Cleveland, a survey by local physicians shows.

TITLED HURDLER HOLDS MANY ATHLETIC MEDALS

LONDON, April 20—(U. P.)—Lord David Burghley, Britain's leading hurdle champion, probably holds more titles than any other athlete in the world.

He is the eldest son and heir of Lord Exeter. He is a B.A., has been in the Grenadier Guards, and is a J. P. for Peterborough. He is a Cecil, a very fair English-looking young man who was 26 February 9. In 1929 he married Lady Mary Scott, the fourth daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch, at St. Clement Danes. Some day the former Cambridge crack hurdler will be the Marquess of Exeter.
