Brazilian
2024
Race Record 2-19

This well known sire, is a double Great Grand son of Hambletonian 10, he is therefore one of the best bred horses in America. Brazilian is a sure sire of speed and prize ring winners as has already been demonstrated. He has to his credit: Lottie P. 2, 14, 14, Lina Belle 2, 19, 12, Virginia J. 2, 23, 12, Brazilian Jr. 2, 13, Lancel Turle 9, 2, 2, 1, 4, d. Oson D. 9, 2, 2, 7, Facing King of the East, the last two colts holding the champion 3 yr old records of the Maritime Provinces. No further commendation need be given as this horse's bull-dog racing career and speed reputation is known to every one.

THE GUARDIAN
SHORT STORY

 a direct descendant of Lord Bromley and through him of William the Conqueror, the deacon didn't consider it derogatory to his dignity to make a rush for the head of a barrel appearing above the ice. He dared not go back and he dared not go forward, and he shouted for some one to come and shove a plank out on the ice to save his blue blood from being chilled.
 "My soul, but there's Deacon Bromley standing on that barrel in the middle of the goose pond!" exclaimed the widow as she heard the shouts and looked out of the window.
 "It's Providence," answered Aunt Selma, "and now you keep hands off. Providence and I are going to run this show. Get my hood and shawl and mittens, for the conversation may last some time."
 Five minutes later she stood on the bank of the pond, sizing the deacon up, and after a bit she said:
 "I am Mary's Aunt Selma from Michigan and here on a visit. Did you want to see any one in particular?"
 "Why—why, as I was just going by, you know, I thought I would stop and ask for any letters James might have written."
 "And did James know you were going to ask?"
 "No. I can't say that he did. I see a twelve foot board there by the wood shed. May I ask you to kindly bring it here and shove it out on the ice?"
 "What! What!" exclaimed Aunt Selma as she glared at him. "Sir, I want you to know that I was a Thompson before I married!"
 "Yes?"
 "And how dare you, sir—how dare a Bromley ask a Thompson to drag boards around? It's an insult, sir—an insult to our blood!"
 "I didn't mean it so. I didn't know I never heard that the Thompsons had—had!"
 "And any blood at all, you mean, sir? Another insult! Who do you think you are, sir?"
 "You may have heard of Lord Bromley of England," queried the deacon, trying to look dignified, but making a failure of it, as any man must have done, perched in the center of a goose pond.
 "Yes, sir, I have and with good reason. He stole a horse from a Thompson and was hanged for it!"
 "You don't say?"
 "In the next generation two Bromleys were branded on the palms of their hands for cattle stealing. In the third one of them went to prison for arson. He sought to burn down the castle of a Thompson."
 "Can it be possible?"
 "And in the fourth, fifth and sixth generations the Thompsons got together all their retainers and drove all the Bromleys out of the country, and the king rewarded them for it. Is it possible that you never heard that Lord Grassy was a Thompson? Doesn't history tell you that the Duke of York was a Thompson? Why, man, there isn't a noble in England today, that wasn't a Thompson first. He had to be."
 "—I have been told that I descended from William the Conqueror!" faltered the deacon, as he felt that he had lost his case.
 "But who was William the Conqueror? When he landed in England it was the Thompsons that lent him money and paid his house rent until he could strike a job. Deacon Bromley, do you want that board to get ashore on?"
 "If you please."
 "And is it to save an idiot or a sensible man?"
 "Um! I think I would like to talk with the widow a little while. I didn't know, you know."
 "No," replied Aunt Selma as she went after the board, "but you do now. It's the Thompson. It's Thompson with a 'p'. It's the Thompson family, descended directly from Adam and Eve, that have been making and unmaking kings and emperors and dividing up the earth for the last 6,000 years and are not through yet. There's the plank, and now you come in and have a talk and get over your foolishness."
 The marriage took place a month later, and Deacon Bromley hasn't had a chance yet to thrash the genealogist who paid half cash for his board.

Clever Birds.
 A gentleman tells the following in regard to the cleverness of two goldfinches upon which he kept a close watch while they were building a nest on a small branch of a tree. When the nest was finished he noticed that the weight of the birds and the eggs was too great for the strength of the supporting branch. The goldfinches also perceived that the nest would fall unless something was done, and, after a great deal of bird talk, they flew away and came back with a stout string. Then they cleverly fastened the bending twig to a stronger and higher branch of the tree, and thus preserved their nest and its contents from destruction.—London Standard.

HOUSE WORK

Thousands of American women in our homes are daily sacrificing their lives to duty.
 In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. A female weakness or displacement is often brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.
 It is to these faithful women that comes as a boon and a blessing, as it did to Mrs. W. Barrett, of 602 Moreau St., Montreal, who writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

 "For years I was a great sufferer from female weakness, and despite every remedy given me by doctors for this trouble, I grew worse."
 "One day a friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and am thankful to say that it made me strong and well."
FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.
 For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.
 Why don't you try it?
 Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.
