

The Wellington
THE UNIVERSAL PIPE

WDC
TRADE MARK

The Wellington is more than a good pipe—
it's a WDC Pipe, a genuine French briar; it's a good smoke; it's peace; it's comfort; it's quiet meditation—all done up in one sweet brown package. The well catches all moisture and the top-opening bit sends the clean, dry smoke up away from your tongue. Good dealers have the Wellington in the shape and size you want, at $1.00 and upward.

WEDNESDAY
WOUNDED.—Mr. William Kenny, Morell, has received a telegram informing him that his son Pte. Louis Charles Kenny was admitted to 22nd General Hospital, Camfers, Oct. 12th with gunshot wound in left arm.

There lately passed away in Montague, Mr. John McLean, a resident of that village for nearly 60 years. During all that time he carried on carriage building in all its parts. Of late years he had associated with him in the work two of his sons, J. H. and William. Mr. McLean was a first class workman, industrious, skilful and honest so that those who bought his carriages or wagons know that they had a first class article.

Mr. McLean was a regular attendant and supporter of the Presbyterian church and his christian character was above reproach. The funeral services were on Wednesday the 27th and were conducted at the house and in the church by Rev. R. G. Sinclair a former pastor who spoke briefly from the words "A workman who needeth not to be ashamed." He was buried by "The Masons" in Lower Montague.

MacGREGOR—STEAD WEDDING.
—In the presence of a few immediate friends Mr. John Wm. MacGregor and Miss Gladys Adele, daughter of Mr. Wallace Stead, both of Highfield, were united in marriage by the Rev. D. MacLean, at his residence Watermere on the evening of November 27th. The bride who was stenographer and book-keeper for the "Farmer's Co-operative store" in the city was very popular among her associates and was the recipient of many valuable presents. The bridegroom is a young man of pleasing manners, the only child with good prospects before him making a success of life. Both young, smart and attractive and host of friends wish them every prosperity in their journey through life. The Guardian extends its hearty congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. MacGregor.

ISLAND NURSE GRADUATES.
—The class of 1918, Framingham Hospital Training Schools for Nurses, whose exercises of graduates were held in High School Assembly hall last evening says a Boston exchange, was the largest class yet graduated from the school. It numbers 20, but only 19 were present last evening to receive their diplomas as Miss Ferguson the 20th member, is in service at a cantonment. A service flag was placed on her chair. The platform was decorated with palms and Green's orchestra furnished music during the exercises and for the dancing which followed. Miss Mary Beard, director of the Boston Educational Nursing Association, gave the address, which was both timely and very interesting. She spoke of the excellent work that has been done by the nurses during the war, and said that at all times the nurses have been ready before the beds have been ready to receive the wounded soldiers. She emphasized the great need for district nursing and made a special appeal to the members of the class to take that line of work. During the afternoon proceedings a reception was held at which a pleasing program was rendered, among the graduates was Miss Susanna McPhee, daughter of Mr. George McPhee, O'Leary, who has a diploma from the R. I. Contagious Hospital and the Boston State Board and is now superintendent of the District Nursing in Framingham, Mass.

THURSDAY
MISSIONARY ADDRESS.—Miss Audrey DeBlois (Missionary of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Canadian Church, working in Kangra, India, gave a most interesting and instructive talk in St. Peter's School on Tuesday morning on her work there amongst the Hindus and Mohammedans, illustrating what she said by many curios.

CONVALESCENT SOLDIERS ENTERTAIN.—One of the most enjoyable functions of the season was a Sing Song given Wednesday evening in the Soldiers Convalescent Home. This was the first of a series intended to be given during the winter for the double purpose of entertaining the soldiers and giving the citizens an opportunity to meet them and become mutually acquainted. Colonel Warburton, O. C. occupied the chair. The programme consisted of solos by Miss Gladys Bell and Miss Helen Large; a duet by Miss Allen and Miss Moore; reading by Miss Edna Gordon; piano solos by Mrs. (Lieut.) Ansty and Miss Katie Stanley. Instrumental music was furnished by a number of the soldiers of the Home. Sgts. McNeil, Durant, Sutherland and Pte. Sols giving a quartette in excellent voice and Sgts. Carmody, McNeill and Sutherland a comedy "Medical Examination" which brought down the house. The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion and the whole entertainment heartily enjoyed both by the soldiers and by the quite large number of citizens present. The Nursing Sisters and the whole Home staff did everything possible to make the affair pleasant and they succeeded so well that the next entertainment is already looked for.

INTERESTING SKETCHES OF OLD TIMES IN CHARLOTTETOWN.
The Legislative Library was recently presented by Colonel Ings with an almost complete set of volumes of the "Islander," which was published by his father, the late Mr. John Ings. The first number was issued on Friday, Dec. 2, 1842, the editor being Mr. R. B. Irving. Among the items in the number particularly interesting about this time, was the following report of the observance of St. Andrew's Day in Charlottetown:

The members of the Highland Society, like true sons of St. Andrew, celebrated the anniversary of their Patron Saint, by supping together on Wednesday evening last at the Prince Edward Island Hotel. The flowing cups added zest to the bon-mots, repartees and loyal and social toasts that pervaded the occupation of the meeting. Among the numerous toasts that were drunk, with that enthusiasm characteristic of the Sons of Old Scotia, were:—"The Day, and all who Honor it," "The Queen," "Her Royal Consort and Royal Offspring," "His Excellency, Sir Henry Vere Huntley, the worthy and respected Chief of the Society," "Lady Huntley and the Fair Daughters of Prince Edward Island," "The Parent Society of London," "The Branch Societies O'er all the World," and many other loyal and patriotic toasts. Several of the toasts were responded to with becoming spirit by some of the gentlemen present. Nor was the song wanting to impart sociality to the festive scene. As the sma' hours began to draw nigh, "doch an' dorrach" was given and all departed to their respective homes well pleased with the reminiscences of the Land of their Fathers that had been vividly brought before them by meeting together on such an occasion.

Another interesting item in the same issue had to do with the weather as follows:

"Since the evening of Tuesday, the 27th ult., up to the present moment, we have scarcely any other than one continued storm of snow; and as we now write without, raging with unabated or rather renewed fury. The roads in all directions we fear by this time are impassable, and if so Saturday the interior of our market house will present little else to the view besides, "a beggarly account of empty stalls." So much the better for the butchers of Charlottetown; but so much the worse for all besides."

Reference is made to the fact in another paragraph that the snow had put an end to all employment in the field a month earlier than the previous year including the operations of the Fox Hounds which the item says "are now consigned to the keeping of their kennels, after a most successful season having seldom returned home without some proof of their excellent successes." "We are informed" the item continues, "that in addition to others in the last twelve days of their hunting they pulled down fourteen foxes, and a number that must make some difference in the hopes of the feathered tribe, who may in many parts of the Royalty now cackle and crow in increased security. The most of these foxes were found in the neighborhood of Mr. Grubb's farm, between the Hon. Mr. Holl's house and the North River or between the Chief Justice's and Mr. Sherman's.
